Baldness.

Baldness is a relentless and cold-blooded malady which strips the human head of its verdure and leaves it in a state of glistening decollete. It is one of the most determined ailments in all materia medica, and when once firmly seated is harder to shake off than the one-piece bathing suit.

Science has long studied the cause and cure of baldness, but has not succeeded in locating either. We pay out a great deal of money in this country every year to keep science from dying a natural death, and what do we get for it? Some of the best and longest winded scientists on the pay roll carry with them to their daily tasks a translucent dome which is entirely denuded of everything except thought and glittering beads of perspiration. And yet all that science has to offer to the victim of this merciless epidemic is a vacant look and some new dandruff remover.

Baldness seldom attacks any but men of bulging intellect. John Quincy Adams, president of the United States, was so bald that he could shave himself in a dark room by moonlight, and his massive, bump, besprinkled dome would easily generate 200 candlepower on a bright, sunny day. All over this fair, strictly neutral land of ours, so rich in history and ammunition factories, are to be found smart, brainy men with shining cupolas from whence all but reason hath fled. In its search for intellectual companionship, baldness seems to settle upon newspaper men with great violence, which probably accounts for the large number of doctors, ministers and lawyers who have more hair than an Angora goat.

Although the bald headed man has much to sadden and depress him, he is never downhearted except in flytime, when he circumvents the domestic house fly with a skull cap.
Baldness is never the result of disposition, but is caused by thinking upon deep subjects which other people haven't room for. Some forms of baldness have a nefarious accomplice in the person of the derby hat worn during working hours, which has the same degree of ventilation as the roller skating rink.

Baldness never attacks the female sex, except in some spot which can be immediately poulticed with a switch four shades removed from the color of the original hair. This is one of the two beauties of being a woman. The other is housework.— Howard Rann.

The Improving Auto.

You can buy a better automobile now for $1,000 than you could get five years ago for $5,000. You can buy a better car now for $1,000 than you could get ten years ago at any price. No other merchandise has improved in the same time to anything like the same extent, and no wide-awake manufacturer pretends that the bettering process is finished.

Part of this amazing improvement is due to the favorite American specific, "quantity production." The enormous increase in the output of cars has enabled makers to standardize, specialize, and turn out a better article at a smaller price. But part is due to what foreigners call "research work," and Americans, "trying it out."

No man not an expert can so much as name half the advances made in automobile construction in the last few years; and American builders now lead the procession. They have caught up and passed the French engineers who so long reigned supreme in this field. They have broken away from their dependence on foreign steel—the best automobile metal now made is made in America. They have shown the national genius for devising comforts and trouble savers. They have gained a leadership which Europe can not challenge for ten years, if ever; and each season they are giving more for the money than ever before.

Coughs and Colds are Dangerous.

Few of us realize the danger of coughs and colds. We consider them common and harmless ailments. However statistics tell us every third person dies of a lung ailment. Dangerous bronchial and lung diseases follow a neglected cold. As your body struggles against cold germs, no better aid can be had than Dr. King's New Discovery. Its merit has been tested by old and young. In use over 45 years. Get a bottle today. Avoid the risk of serious lung ailments.

The Price of Gasoline.

The automobile industry of the United States is confronting a serious menace. It has made wonderful advances. It has conquered a thousand technical and commercial problems. It has a limitless market for further development. But unless it can find some way to check and turn back the climbing price of gasoline much of the energy, genius, foresight and courage which have made the automobile business the wonder of the century will miss their just reward.

Gasoline that sold for 8½ cents per gallon a few months ago is selling for 25 cents now and it is hinted that the price may go to 40 cents.
There is no shortage of crude oil from which gasoline is made—on the contrary, the stock of oil on hand is larger than ever before. There is no new difficulty connected with the process of manufacture—government chemists have found ways of extracting more gasoline from a given quantity of oil than used to be thought possible. The price has gone up simply because the trust is able to put it up.

If the price stays high or goes higher thousands of people will give up their ambition to own a motor. A great and growing business will meet a disastrous check. Can not that business do something to help itself and save the whole community from extortion?

The automobile industry has a marvelous endowment of brains, resourcefulness, inventiveness and genius; also abundant capital. Surely, if the chiefs of this industry will unite for the work they can find a way to produce gasoline and sell it at moderate prices to consumers. They need not cover the whole country with a selling organization. It would be enough to smash trust prices in five or six centers of population.

Without the slightest wish to teach automobile makers their business, the Journal commends this matter to their earnest attention. It believes they can do quickly what government action could accomplish only after long delay, and what ordinary private effort can not accomplish at all.—Chicago Journal.

All Balled Up Again.

The department of state is all bal-led up again in licensing automobiles.
With less than half the cars reported with applications the department is 30,000 behind in plates and is giving "immunity" receipts. Last year it was just as bad and the year before. We would have just as much trouble getting our mail if we had to receive all our letters in Iowa from Des Moines postoffice.

What is the sense of it all? Why shouldn't an automobile tax be paid at the court house where all other taxes are paid? Why dump 200,000 collections into one office at Des Moines, collect the money there only to send 90 per cent of it home again and swamp one office trying to handle the business that belongs to ninety-nine?

Gun licenses are issued by the county auditor; why not auto licenses?
We used to think that we needed the numbers all registered at a state office and the plates issued there, but now the law makes one plate good for three years so all we need to do is to send a bunch of plates out to the county auditors, six months in advance and have him send the secretary of state a triplicate copy of each receipt he issues. How simple that would be? How much more convenient for an auto owner to drive over to his county court house and drive home with his auto number? How much less excuse for the man who tries to take cover behind all this confusion and "immunity" business to evade his license? Why not introduce some common business sense into this auto license collection?— Marshalltown Times-Republican.

The Newspaper and the Jury.

The Republican acknowledges a letter from a law firm asking us to kindly refrain from mentioning certain cases pending in the Grundy courts because we are likely to influence the jury and prevent justice being done, or words to that effect.

When we stop and reflect how court procedure is done, and how a lawyer, skilled and trained in cross-examining and probably drawing $50 a day, is brought into a case for the express purpose of asking confusing questions, and when we see this lawyer take a witness who probably never was on the witness stand before and probably has not even a common school education, and ask him such adroit questions that even the opposing attorneys and the judge himself must have the reporter read the question over before it can be decided whether the question is a proper one to answer—we say when we see all of this transpire, as it has actually happened in Grundy county within a few months, then we are moved to say that all the articles a newspaper might print, so long as they are confined to the petitions and what they set forth, won't influence a jury in any way or have any influence upon justice. Justice, as between a legal shark and a witness not even skilled in ordinary every-day English, is a missing quantity.

The Republican will continue to print court news.—Grundy Republican.

A Yelp From the Grass Roots.

Mr. Editor, I have gazed into the crystal and these things have been revealed to me:

Brave Teddy, he is roaring loud and high.

His battle flag is soaring in the sky.
Old Mexico he'd slice, Lick the Kaiser once or twice,
And soak J. Bull one in his bloomin' eye.

Billy Bryan, he is leaking from the craw.

Peace at any price he's squeaking, O how raw.

If we would do his way
We will fold our arms and pray While our enemies, they swat us on the jaw.

Our munition makers, all are doing well.

They are coining dollars making shot and shell.

They are handing out the talk That will make the eagle squawk, So they can keep on making stuff that raises hell.

Hyphenated yahoos sneak around With sticks of dynamite that weigh a thousand pounds.

And while darkness hovers o'er Our land from shore to shore They blow things up for fifty miles around.

Our congressmen are sitting on the wall.

All they do is hump their backs and spit and squall.

They would act quick enough If they only knew the stuff They will need to re-elect them, one and all.

Expert Palmer says we could not lick a rabbit;

Though it's true, I'm scared to death
To hear him blab it.

He'll have a horde of Chinks Over here in forty winks, And all the wealth we've got they'll quickly grab it.

The people in dumb terror shrink and quail.

They can hear the shriek of shells on every gale.

And in their dreams they see Hostile fleets on every sea.

While an invading army swipes their kale.

Our president is using every means To perfect a plan that from all danger screens.

But when he suggests a way, Politicians snort and bray Until they jar the scalp loose on their brains.

Cow Hooked Man in Eye.

Thos. L. Cain, who resides northeast of town, met with a peculiar accident on Tuesday night of last week which nearly resulted in the loss of his left eye.

He had gone to the barn to milk and had put some feed in a box on the ground for the cow. Some hogs were in the barn and trying to get the feed out of the box and the cow threw her head and hooked at the hogs to drive them away. Just at this juncture Thomas stooped down to pick up the milk bucket when one of the cow's horns struck him over the eye causing a serious injury and of course great pain.

He came to town where he received medical attention and the eye dressed. An examination showed that the point of the horn did not enter the eye cavity and therefore the eye is not lost. The eye was operated upon last July and has been very weak since the operation but was gaining in strength slowly. It will be some time now before it can recover its normal strength.

He is getting along as well as could be expected under the trying circumstances.—Cainesville News.

Davenport Woman Escaped Knife

Mrs. S. T. Oliver of 1226 East High street, Davenport, Iowa, was so ill that her physicians told her she must go to a hospital.

An operation appeared necessary.
Her case had been diagnosed, she says, as gall stones.

She was able to move about but little—to go any distance was torture.

She sent for Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. Then she wrote:

"I am greatly obliged to you for your wonderful remedy. I had been very bad with gall stones and the doctors said I would have to go to the hospital. Last February I sent to you for a treatment, and when I received it I could not walk a block.

"I never have had a pain since I took the first dose. I fell off fifty pounds, but have gained it back."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much

Just over the line in OLD MIS-SOURI we are offering the best bar-found anywhere in the CORN BELT today. These farms are located in Harrison and Mercer counties, just over the Iowa line and only 15 to 25 miles from LEON, IOWA. Many of the owners have grown rich farming and raising stock on these farms; and as they now want to retire, offer to sell these fine tracts of land at far below what they would be asked for similar lands in Iowa. Taxes on these lands average about $35.00 per quarter section. Look them over and drop right down and see us, and see these real farm bargains.

No. 5—500 acres, 10 miles from Iowa line, on the Cannon Ball auto and blue grass. Price $100 per acre.

proved farms in the country, all in tame hay and blue grass, but 25 acres scattering timber. Price $125.
$10,000 cash, carry balance long time at 6 per cent.

No. 8—360 acres joins No. 7 on the south, all prairie land. Now in tame hay and blue grass. 15 acres good timber, lays level to gently rolling. Price $100, will carry $25,000 long time at 5 per cent.

No. 9—140 acres, fair improvements, 8 acres timber, balance prairie land, fine location. Price $100, carry strong loan at 5 per cent.

No. 10—320 acres 1¼ miles from No. 9, all in tame hay and blue grass, no improvements. 200 acres lays almost level, balance rolling blue grass pasture. Cheap as dirt at $80. Carry back strong loan at 6 per cent.

All of the above farms are within 30 miles of Leon, Iowa. All on the Cannon Ball Auto Trail, and they are the finest in North Missouri. We will add that the taxes on these fine farms are about one-third what they would be in your own county. If sold at these prices, you must act in the next twenty days. Many other farms at from $45 to $70, with fair to good improvements. These farms
