J. R. Dobbins sells Princeton Hotel.

By a deal consummated last week, Mrs. J. R. Dobbins becomes sole owner of the New Fullerton Hotel, she having purchased the one-half interest in the business formerly owned by her husband. Mr. Dobbins is glad to have leased a hotel now in course of construction at Kansas City and will open it to the public about the first of May. Mr. and Mrs. Dobbins have been proprietors of the New Fullerton since its opening on April 28th last, and have made it one of the best and most popular hotels in this section of the country and one which the people of Princeton could justly point with pride. Mrs. Dobbins will continue the management of the hotel in the same manner in which it has been conducted in the past, which means that Princeton can continue to boast of one of the most modern and best hotels of any town of its size in the state.—Princeton Telegraph.
