We are planning to hold our Sunday evening service on the lawn. Leave your coat at home. Bring a fan. Let the Word of God refresh you and strengthen you for service and endeavor.

The service last Sunday evening which was conducted by Miss Sarah Throckmorton proved itself a visit to God's well of salvation. Three more of our young people have consecrated themselves as members of the Forward movement. We now have ten of our young people who have taken this forward step in christian service and fellowship. We certainly have cause to rejoice.

The district conference belongs to the past. It probably was the best attended, and one of the most interesting sessions ever held in the Charlton district. There were 104 out of town guests present. They all expressed sincere appreciation for the entertainment and hospitality accorded. The program proved most practical and helpful. The banquet served in honor of our retiring district superintendent, Dr. Allen A. Thompson and his good wife, was a surprise, indeed. All who attended, with one voice declared that they had never been present at a happier occasion. As pastor of the charge, I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to all who helped entertain the visitors in our midst, to all who contributed for the meals served, to all who helped serve them, and to any and all who in any way helped to make our district conference a memorable occasion.

The hot weather is trying the faith of the saints. My exhortation is that we hold fast in spite of the heat. The business of the kingdom must be attended to. Plans are being made to hold a service on the church lawn Sunday evenings whenever the weather is unfavorable to an indoor service.

Remember your Sunday school of next Sunday morning. The attendance has been good so far, practically all of the rooms of the church are comfortable and the graded work is proving exceedingly attractive. If you have no church home elsewhere you are invited to all of the services of the church.

Reception for Rev. Burkheiser.

A farewell reception was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Freeland for Rev. Father John P. Burkheiser, who leaves today for Harlan, where he will be pastor of the Harlan Catholic church. About sixty members of his parish were present to express their appreciation of the splendid work done by Father Burkheiser during his residence in this city. He has been pastor of St. Joseph's church since its establishment a year ago last October and has made many friends, not only among those of the Catholic faith but has commanded the admiration and respect of non-Catholics as well. A delightful social evening was spent at the close of which Rev. Burkheiser was presented with a purse as an expression of the high regard in which he is held. In responding Rev. Burkheiser referred to the cordial treatment he had received from the people of the community, the fact his home had been in a non-Catholic home and stated that he entertains the highest respect for the people of Mt. Ayr. The people of Mt. Ayr and vicinity will wish Rev. Burkheiser success in his new field. He will be succeeded by Rev. Father Mahr of Council Bluffs.—Mt. Ayr Record-News.

Letter from Mrs. Lois Kier.

The following letter written by Mrs. Lois Kier to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Millsap, of near Decatur City, will be pleasing news to Mrs. Kier's many friends, and especially so to the many friends who remembered her during her long illness with fruit and flowers:

Strassburg, Colo., June 28, 1916.
Dear Folks:—I will write you a few lines this morning. Eliza and Don are not up yet. I got up and dressed myself but thought maybe I had better not. Don woke up and found me gone and I think it kind of scared him. Well, we had a nice trip out here, all enjoyed it. I think everyone was so nice and seemed so willing to do something for us. One fellow carried our suit cases at Osceola and another brought a wheel chair. We went to a hotel just across the railroad track at Osceola and got a room and I layed down until train time and of course that rested me quite a bit. And they had my bunk made up so I got to bed as quick as I got on the train. Our car was the very last one on the train. The train was so long that our car was a way down the line and the conductor had the train pull up and stop for us so I did not have to walk down there. The porter let us eat our breakfast in the car the next morning. Don told him I was not able to go to the dining car so he fixed a table for us and was just as nice as could be about it. I lay in my bunk nearly all day and just before we got into Denver here came the porter, brushed everyone's clothes in the car. The bunks cost us $7.20. The conductor had telegraphed ahead for a wheel chair at Denver and it was not there when the train pulled in so the porter told me to just sit down and he would let me know when it come. It was quite a ways across all those tracks to the depot. Don hired a cab to take us to the Loveland hotel. It cost us $1 and our room $2. It was on the fourth floor and had two windows opened on Main street. It was very interesting to watch the people down below. Don went down to get us something to eat and run across Howard Bennett, Ann, Bennie and Bertie. They were going to come right up and see us but Don told them we were tired and he would rather they would not come then. They told him they were coming out to see us and sure wanted us to come and see them. There are the most trains along this road, there has been two since I have been writing. I think I will count them today and see how many there are. I can't hardly look out but what I see a car or a train. There seems to be lots of cars out here. It does not seem near as lonesome here as it did out at Glenn's. I suppose the trains and town makes the difference. You and daddie must sure come out this fall. It will be a fine trip for you. I have not seen the antelope yet. It is a very dry place here. Don said his oats were goners and the wheat is not very much good, but the corn and beans look fine yet but if it doesn't rain before long I am afraid they won't do much good. How are those brothers of mine. I could not help but cry when I saw Warren up at the depot, poor little fellow when we came out of the depot he could not keep from crying and turned his back and that got me. I did not get to tell him good bye. Tell him I wish I could send him the coyote. It is awful cute. My cabinet and wardrobe are very nice. I think our house looks pretty well for 2 rooms. Don's hip is bothering him quite a bit. I will close for this time, hoping you are all well. With love,
Lois Kier.

Fatal Accident Near Ridgeway.

J. K. Preston, a well known and highly esteemed farmer, who resides about six miles southeast of Ridgeway, met with a fatal accident last Monday morning, when a span of mules, which he was driving, ran away with him, throwing him from the wagon and causing injuries which resulted in his death.

Mr. Preston had brought hogs to Ridgeway that morning and was returning home about nine o'clock when the accident happened. He was passing the Young farm, on which Carl Maxwell resides, about two miles southeast of town, when a single tree in some manner became detached from the double trees and fell, striking one of the animals so as to cause it to lunge forward and start to run away. The wagon tongue dropped down, and evidently, at this juncture, Mr. Preston was pulled off the wagon. His hands were slightly split as if he had had the lines wrapped around them and the force of the mules, pulling hard, had wrought this injury, and evidently the wagon wheels passed over both his lower limbs and body.

His cries for help brought Mr. and Mrs. Carl Maxwell to his assistance and he was carried into the Maxwell home and Dr. J. H. Morrow was immediately summoned. Upon examination it was disclosed that the bones in the left ankle were broken and crushed, and about five ribs on each side of the spine were torn loose and broken and there were slight scratches on the face and ears.

Although Mr. Preston suffered the greatest agony, he was able to relate how the accident happened, and remained conscious the greater part of the time until he passed away between two and three o'clock in the afternoon. The doctor reports that death was largely due to the shock prolonged by internal hemorrhage.

The remains were taken to the home of the deceased Monday evening. Funeral services were held at the Midway church Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. G. L. Weik, and the body was laid to rest in the Ridgeway cemetery.

Mr. Preston was born, August 19, 1853, and on the day of his death was 62 years, 10 months and 7 days old. He is survived by a wife and five children, namely, Alva, William, and Melvin Preston, Mrs. Emma Lark and Mrs. Ruie Bishop, all of whom were present at the funeral. Also two sisters and one brother survive.—Ridgeway Journal.
