BONAPARTE.

W. S. and A. V. Blackford were called to Hillsboro Monday by the serious illness of their father, John Blackford. He passed away before they reached his home. Heart trouble was the cause. He was eighty years old.

Ernest Huff was thrown from the spring seat of a high wagon last Friday and fell on his left knee, breaking the leg at that point. His team became frightened at a passing automobile and started to run away.

Mrs. Margaret Cressap is the owner of a new model Overland touring car, purchased last week.

ELECTRO-METALS PLANT IS STARTED

Electric Power Was Turned Into the Furnaces in This Big Plant Here Yesterday Afternoon.

PRODUCT IS EXHIBITED

The Output From This Factory Will be Used in the Manufacture of Steel in Eastern Plants.

Current was turned into the electric furnaces at the Keokuk Electro Metals company's factory yesterday for the first time, and the plant is now in operation. The first product from this plant "ferro-silicon" was being displayed today. It is an extremely hard substance, dull on the outside but bright within, and with numerous holes, looking as if the metal had bubbled violently under intense heat and then had cooled quickly.

The Electro Metals plant is located just south of the old Taber mills, and is one of the latest of the Keokuk industries. The factory has been erected and the equipment placed in the building since last September, when the first announcement of the factory was made. G. E. Weissenburger of Yonkers, N. Y., is the president of the company controlling the factory and is in charge of the local plant.

The product from the Electro Metals plant will be used in the manufacture of steel. It will be shipped to the big steel plants in the east, where it will enter into the output of these big industries.

The plant started off yesterday without a hitch. The power was turned into the furnaces from the power plant, and everything was going smoothly. Terrific heat is furnished by the electricity and this keeps the electric furnaces going "full blast."

MEXICANS STEP ASIDE FOR VILLA

cert in the Juarez plaza. Then Juarez was to be captured and held for Felix Diaz.

Gavira announced that fourteen Villistas were captured at Madera yesterday.

Carranzista Co-operation.
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 11.—Once driven against the wall of Carranzista, the Villistas are reported heading, the bandit will encounter fierce opposition. Major General Funston believed today. Increasing indications of co-operation heightened Carranza's hopes of a decisive clash with Villa, herded into the fray by the dashing American column.

Funston regarded the frequent mention of Carranzista's friendship as official and unofficial dispatches, as an encouraging indication.

General Pershing, Colonel Dodd and Consul Letcher at Chihuahua, all have emphasized the friendly attitude of the detacho government's officials and troops.

Funston said no important news had been received for twenty-four hours. Routine information, he said, came over Mexican telegraph wires. The major general himself was as much at sea as civilians here as to troop movements. The latest official message was from General Bell, at El Paso, stating he had received word that General Gutierrez was displaying a friendly interest in the American activities.

[By Carl D. Groat, United Press Staff Correspondent.]

30,000 Troops Engaged.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Thirty thousand troops are now engaged in Mexican service, leaving only two thousand stationed throughout the remainder of the country, it was learned officially today.

About 12,000 troops are in Mexico. The largest part of this force is guarding General Pershing's lines of communication. About 18,500 are on border patrol. The two thousand are scattered in little groups at Spokane, Van Couver Barracks, San Diego, Alaska, Kansas, the lake district and the northeast.

The war department has referred to the white house inquiries as to the advisability of drawing from the state militias any additional forces that may be needed. Some means must be found of maintaining the border patrol. The recruits gathered in the past few weeks will not be fit for active service until they have had at least three months training.

General Pershing was asked today to furnish further details of his conferences with Generals Herrera and Gutierrez, which he previously reported satisfactory.

Duplication of Dodd's dash which routed Villa's ragged band at Guerrero is to be overtaken by American pursuers, army men said today. But, they felt, the man hunters will be equal to the task. All reports agree Villa is a day or more ahead of General Pershing's riders. To overtake him will be a tremendous task, but authorities suggest the trail is still warm and they still predict that dispatches within the next few days will bear tidings of success.

The line of communications between Columbus and the heart of Mexico offers a problem for administrative men, but the opening of the Northwestern railway to private supplies for the army has relieved anxiety materially.

Dispatch of the Twenty-fourth (colored) regiment to Columbus, has solved in part the question of protecting the treacherous auto trail to Chihuahua. Other forces will be available if needed.

Senator Fall's report that Villa is not wounded, found no credence in the war department, for Pershing had reported again Villa was injured in the knee.

Citizens Unduly Alarmed.
COLUMBUS, N. M., April 11.—(Censored.)—A request for militia, from Silver City, which was not honored, resulted from baseless rumors which caused great uneasiness last night.

The presence of Carranza troops near the border ostensibly to flank Villa, gave rise to alarming stories of imminent attacks on the base camp here. Major W. R. Sample, commandant, asked Mayor Hoover to notify residents to remain in the house in case of attack. Deputy Sheriff Hulsey telephoned for the militia, but state officials expressed complete confidence in the regular army forces here.

"We are watching the Carranzista movements with anxiety," said an army officer of undeniable standing today. "There are large numbers of them near the border, as many as 9,000 in one place. We cannot overlook the fact that their positions in every case are strategic points commanding our lines of communication. In event of a break they are in position to cut our line at once and leave the expedition in Mexico cut off from supplies."

In addition to double outposts and provost guards here last night, heavy cavalry patrols went north where many Mexicans are employed in zinc mines.

List of Injured.
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 11.—General Pershing today wired General Funston the list of wounded in the Guerrero engagement with Villistas March 29 in which sixty Mexicans were killed. Five American soldiers were hurt instead of four as previously reported. The list follows:

Private Thomas P. Brown, shot in cheek, back and shoulder.

Private Joseph G. Bennett, shot in ankle.

Private Joseph Garrell, shot in arm.

Private Walter N. Gardner, shot in left arm.

Funston today awaited Consul Letcher's report on a telephone conversation the consul had with General Pershing. Pershing conversed via long distance from Cushtirchic, Letcher being at Chihuahua City.

Concert on Friday Night.

The concert which is to be given in the Coliseum at Twelfth and Main streets on Friday night promises to be one of the interesting musical events of the year in Keokuk. The concert will be given for the benefit of the official magazine of the Keokuk High school, "The Comment" and for the orchestra movement in the public schools. There are many of the old graduates of Keokuk high who would like to assist the Comment management in getting out their annual edition this year. They can do so by buying tickets to this musical event on Friday night. The Keokuk High school orchestra under direction of P. C. Hayden will give a program, and the excellence of this orchestra alone is worth the price of admission. The orchestra will be the 26 piece band under the direction of J. C. Hedvick. Mr. Hedvick has a fine group of musicians under his direction and the numbers which the band will play will be of high standard. There will be a community chorus, also which will give several selections. The Comment has been an institution of Keokuk of superb beauty and a sublime simplicity of the Gokgotha of a woman's heart. The theme of the story is entirely modern, but there is a wonderful element of romance deftly woven into the plot. The romantic element is not at all lacking in our modern life, but it takes the eye of an artist and a dramatist to find it. This picture is ample proof of what can be extracted from modern life in the way of romance and sentiment if one has a real divining rod.

Cut His Throat.
DES MOINES, Iowa, April 11.—George Koons, 34, died on the way to a hospital early today from deep gashes in his throat and his wife was arrested by the police, but later released when the police became satisfied that Koons cut his own throat.

Koons was unable to make a dying statement, but when he was asked if his wife slashed him, nodded in the affirmative.

Mrs. Koons says she and her husband quarreled all night, that dawn when they went to get breakfast he assaulted her with a hammer and that she then fled to a neighbor. It is supposed Koons then cut himself with a razor. The body was found by the seventeen year old daughter. There are five young children.

Short Skirts Not Immoral.
CHICAGO, April 11.—Short skirts are not immoral, because every one knows any way that a woman has legs.

This was the view expressed today by Miss Ruth Astor Noyes, prominent suffragist, here with the congressional Union party touring the suffrage states.

"What if short skirts do show a woman's leg?" queried Miss Noyes. "Every one knows we have legs. We want freedom in our walk and movement, just as we want freedom in other things in life."

Miss Noyes recently danced on the steps of the capitol at Washington in the suffrage pageant.

The Congressional Union party was entertained by prominent suffragists here today. Governor Duane was to address the party from the steps of the Art Institute.

Benefits of the River.
Rock Island Union: The dispatches carry a telegram from Washington to the effect that "because of keen water competition the interstate commerce commission today granted railroads permission to maintain the roads between points on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers in contravention of the long arm short haul clauses. Stations in Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri are affected."

And yet there are those who claim the work of the deepening the channels of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers "pork." They point to the lack of freight on the rivers as evidence that this public money is wasted. If there was a total absence of the saving in freight in these five states alone would more than offset the money that is being expended.

But, the river will come back. The time will come when the Mississippi like the Ohio, will become a great artery of commerce. The growing time will come when the Mississippi great thoroughfare are growing more rapidly than elsewhere. The entire country is prospering. The entire eastern bank of the Mississippi from St. Louis to Alton is practically one great manufacturing community—it is cities touching elbow. It will not be many years until this district is extended to Keokuk and this side of it. We have the example of the great manufacturing development of this community during the past fifteen years.

When the cities improve their river terminals the river boats will be provided and freight flotillas will sweep down the great river.
