

SCOVILLE HERE ONE MORE NIGHT

Evangelist Offers Services in Helping Clear up Debt That Bobbed Up Unexpectedly Yesterday.

WILL GIVE A PROGRAM

Lecture on Passion Play at Tabernacle Last Night Drew Huge Audience—Mrs. Scoville Pleases.

A crowd that packed the tabernacle from the choir loft to the last row of seats in the rear, heard Dr. Charles Reign Scoville deliver his illustrated lecture on "The Oberammergau Passion Play" at the tabernacle last night.

The program was one of the most interesting and instructive that has ever been delivered in Keokuk and the huge audience hung on the words of the evangelist to the very end.

The stereotyped views used were excellent ones and gave the complete story of the famous passion play. The program was opened last night with concert numbers by Mrs. Ariene Dux Scoville and Haldor Lilienas.

Rev. F. B. McAllister gave the introductions. The first number consisted of two spring songs by Mrs. Scoville. In these she displayed to good advantage the remarkable range and sweetness of her voice.

Later in the evening, when C. F. McFarland was making an announcement, he said, "I have heard grand opera singers and concert performers galore but I can honestly say that I never heard a voice as sweet and as beautiful as Mrs. Scoville's."

Following Mrs. Scoville, Haldor Lilienas, the choir leader, sang for the audience a song of which he wrote the words and music. He was also called back and warmly applauded.

Before the lecture proper started, Prof. P. C. Hayden made announcement of a program to be given in the tabernacle on Friday night for the benefit of the high school orchestra. The program will consist of orchestra numbers by the high school orchestra, songs by the school chorus, which will pack the choir stand, and other special features.

Before turning off the lights and throwing the views on the screen, Dr. Scoville gave a brief description of the passion play. He asked if there were any in the audience who had seen the production and found that there were six present who had been witnesses of the famous feature. Dr. Scoville saw the passion play in 1900 and intended to see it again in 1910 but a great campaign he was conducting, interfered.

Dr. Scoville started out by describing the journey of his evangelistic party from the time it left New York, until it reached Oberammergau in Germany. There were also shown a number of views of scenes and incidents in the holy land. Following came the views of the passion play and individual characters.

Program Tonight. Dr. Charles Reign Scoville will be

In Keokuk for one more day. His staying here is a sacrifice for the benefit of the finance committee of the Scoville revival. Yesterday, unexpectedly and out of a clear sky, bills totaling $200, which were thought to have been paid, were presented to the finance committee. All other bills had been paid in full, taking the last cent, and the committee faced a disagreeable situation. However, when Dr. Scoville heard of the predicament, he immediately volunteered his services toward clearing up this debt. He offered to give another lecture here tonight, the proceeds to go to the debt fund. The program will be presented at the tabernacle and the price of admission will be ten cents for all.

Dr. Scoville will give a part of one of his famous chautauqua addresses, also an illustrated lecture of his trip around the world. Then there will be singing by Mrs. Scoville and Haldor Lilienas, songs by the choir and music by the orchestra. Dr. Scoville does not get a cent of the receipts. He has volunteered his services. The money will go to pay the unexpected debt and if there is any left, it will be divided equally between the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. Dr. Scoville has promised a varied and interesting program for tonight and the meeting should be of unusual interest. He has a large number of views that he did not show last night, which will be put on the screen this evening.

"I have some very interesting slides that I have wanted to show for a long time, but I have never before had a chance to slip them in. We ought to pack this building, pay off that debt and give a large amount to both of the deserving associations."

The announcement of the debt was made last night at the tabernacle by C. F. McFarland. It was thought that all bills had been paid. Practically no collections had been taken during the final two weeks as it was believed that enough had been taken in to settle all claims.

Will Bring Company Out. Before the close of the meeting last night, Dr. Scoville said: "It was my intention to have the entire company come on the platform, sing a song and bid you all good bye. Now that we are going to be here again Tuesday night, we will put it off until then."

Because of the meeting at the tabernacle tonight, the services planned for this evening have been called off. The reception of new members into the Baptist church will be held on Wednesday evening and the special services at the Christian church will begin tomorrow night.

The local committee, who are working up the matter, want it understood, they said today, that the evangelist does not receive any of the money taken in tonight. Whatever amount may be left after all the bills made in the campaign have been paid in full, will go to the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. This fact has caused the two found to pack this building today for the entertainment. Secretary Durgens of the Y. M. C. A. had 7,000 cards announcing the programme printed and distributed throughout the city today.

The churches of the city and the ministers, of course, are co-operating in the move to wipe out the current expense debt. Neither the evangelist nor any of the members of the company were aware until after the programme last night had started that there was any deficiency in the expense fund. Immediately Dr. Scoville authorized C. F. McFarland to announce that he would give an entertainment and concert this evening to wipe out the shortage. The fact that all other religious meetings were postponed and that the Y. M. C. A. is boasting the proposition so assiduously, leads the committee to believe that fully 3,000 persons will be present this evening.

Also Party to Stay. Dr. Scoville asked the members of his party who had not already left the city, to remain with him for tonight. Haldor Lilienas and Miss Stella Robinson, who had already engaged berths on a midnight C. B. & Q. train, cancelled them. Dr. Waldraven was to have left at 2:45 this morning as were Dr. and Mrs. Scoville.

The evangelistic company will have nothing to do with the business end of the entertainment tonight. Tickets

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulified coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

will be sold and collected by local men. Dr. Scoville will show from fifty to seventy-five views of his tours of the world—among them some of the most interesting of any of the hundreds in his possession. Mrs. Scoville, Mr. Lilienas and the "Billy Sunday" male quartette will furnish a musical programme of rare interest. The concert will begin at 8 o'clock.

ion of all Germans with whom I have talked, that the U boat commanders have received such explicit instructions that there is little possibility that they have violated either international law or the pledges Germany gave America. For that reason the Germans feel that the American edicts written before Germany presented her side of the case are entirely unfair.

The final draft of the German reply to President Wilson's inquiries, regarding the Sussex and the four freighters, has been approved by Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and Admiral Von Holtzendorff. It will be transmitted to Ambassador Gerard for forwarding to Washington within a few hours.

diana, also a committeeman, while he declines to discuss the situation, is understood to oppose Lewis. Illinois Voting Today. CHICAGO, April 11.—Factional fights for organization control characterized the Illinois preferential primary today.

The ballots contained the names of only two presidential candidates, Lawrence V. Sherman, "favorite son" republican, and that of Woodrow Wilson, on the democratic side. Early reports from the polls indicated many voters were writing in the name of Roosevelt, Hughes or other preference.

The republican organization fight is between Mayor Thompson's faction and the wing led by former Governor Deenen. The long standing political feud between Roger Sullivan and former Mayor Harrison was evident again in the democratic fight.

against Dead Man's hill and the positions northwest of Verdun. The crown prince's attack has been brought to a complete halt on every sector, excepting on the barren northeastern ridge of Dead Man's hill, where the Germans, the French war office admits, gained a footing in portions of the French trenches last night.

German losses since the Verdun battle began fifty-one days ago total more than 200,000, the French war office estimated today. The German semi-official news agency claims the capture of 36,000 French prisoners, indicating that French losses have at least exceeded 100,000.

Official statements from both the German and French war offices this afternoon indicated that the stubborn French resistance is breaking the power of the German offensive. A terrific battle is still going on northwest of Verdun, but the fighting has narrowed to the three mile front of Dead Man's hill.

Debouching along the Chattanooga road, the French attacked the German flank with such viciousness that the German assault against Dead Man's hill was almost completely checked. North and northeast of Verdun the attack has not thus far attained the violence of the engagements west of the Meuse. Berlin this afternoon announced further gains southwest of Fort Douaumont, but reported the French on the aggressive around Poper heights.

Why Is the Sun Hot? Popular Science Monthly. If we could build up a solid column of ice from the earth to the sun, two miles and a half in diameter, spanning the intervening distance of 93,000,000 miles, and if the sun should concentrate his entire power upon it, it would dissolve in a single second, according to a calculation made by Professor Young. The great German physicist Helmholtz was the first to explain satisfactorily what keeps the sun hot. The sun is not burning; it is heated to the glowing point, like a piece of white hot iron. Helmholtz found that if we suppose the sun to be contracting by only 259 feet a year we would receive our present amount of heat. In other words, heat is being literally squeezed out of the sun. Professor Newcomb estimated that when the squeezing process has continued for about 7,000,000 years, the sun will be one-half its present size.

PRIMARY BALLOTS ARE ALL COUNTED

John T. Adams Wins National Committeeman's Place From Olson on Republican Ticket.

MARSH FOR DEMOCRATS

Few Progressive Votes Are Cast, Several Wards Having no Progressive Votes Recorded.

In the first presidential primary held in Keokuk yesterday, 456 votes were cast in the seven precincts in the city. The election of John T. Adams over Olson for republican national committeeman was accomplished by a vote of three or four to one in Keokuk, and W. W. Marsh was given the choice of the democrats over E. G. Dunn.

Albert B. Cummins heads the republican ticket; Theodore Roosevelt was given two republican votes in one ward. Woodrow Wilson heads the democratic ticket with Elliot W. Major as vice president. Burkett seems to have the choice over Webster as Cummins' running mate. There was one vote to Thomas R. Marshall for democratic vice president. Theodore Roosevelt received all of the progressive votes cast in Keokuk, and they were only scattering votes, several of the wards reporting no progressive votes.
