NOTABLE YEAR FOR IOWA ATHLETICS

Two Worlds Records Made in This State and Not Since 1898 Has Competition Been so Strong.

FEW STARS WILL FINISH

Most of the Present Field Cracks Still Have Year or More of Schooling Before Them.

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 2.—Nineteen sixteen will go down in the history of track athletics of Iowa as a noteworthy year. First two worlds records were made in the state, one by an Iowa man, Charles Hoyt of Grinnell. This in itself is noteworthy as not since 1898 has an Iowa collegian dallied with world college records. Homer Holland at that time setting a still existent world's record in the hop step and jump of 46 feet 10 inches. This was followed by a track season in which most of the teams of the state demonstrated their ability to hold their own with teams from outside of the state and with a noteworthy state meet in which probably the best class of men who ever competed in the classic entered competition. The high school competition did not present world's records but it did present the largest number of athletes who ever took part in competition in the state. The state meet was the most stirring competition of its kind, twenty-three teams winning points, many of these teams which never scored in the state classic before.

Few Stars Graduate. In spite of the showing this year, there is every indication next year will be as good or better than the present. Few of the stars graduate or are through school this year. Ames loses but one first place winner of its band which won the state meet but will not have the services of Williams and Noble, second place men, both graduating. Coe loses its particular star, Lighter, while Tracy of Highland Park expects to change schools, which will keep him out of competition for a year. Drake suffers the largest loss in the fact that Shearer and Davidson, members of the greatest sprinting team ever in the state are through with athletics while Krull, winner of the shot put the last three years and Blackburn a place winner for three years also are through. The last three graduate, but Shearer who is taking a combined liberal arts and law course will not finish until next year but has had his three years in athletics.

In addition to the men they retain from their present teams all the schools have good freshmen. Ames has a star in Paize, the former Fort Dodge jumper who promises to break the long list of Drake victories in the broad jump, although the Drake jumpers could go farther if it had been necessary to do so to win. Grinnell will have the services of another good sprinter to help out Hoyt and a high jumper who looks good in any class. Coe has a high jumper and a hurdler who will be heard from next year. Drake, the hardest hit by graduation also has the best aid from its freshmen with good hurdlers, good sprinters, a good broad jumper and a fair distance man. Drake, however, still will retain its long tradition of not having a high jumper. It will establish a new tradition also of not being good in the shot put, an event in which the blue and white has been a winner with monotonous regularity.

Several to Conferences. While all the competition within the state is ended it is probable several Iowa athletes will enter the Big Nine meet at Evanston, Ill., Saturday. The State University is a member and Drake, Ames, Grinnell, Coe and Cornell have accepted invitations to be present. The best known absentee of the Iowa athletes will be Lighter who has served his three years before this year in athletics and is not eligible for competition in the larger show. Drake's sending a team will depend on whether Shearer is able to run. He was not in shape at Columbia last Saturday, where his presence would have pulled Drake into second place. If he is in shape Krull in the shot put and Ervin in the pole vault will be sent with him and possibly one or more men. Hoyt and the Grinnell entry while Ames has the problem of deciding upon the men it will send with Paize, as the competition in the events in which Ames is strong also is of the strongest and it is doubtful if any other Ames man, with the possible exception of Hawthorne can place in the Big Nine events.

Moran Still in Running. NEW YORK, June 2.—Even if Frank Moran was whipped by Jess Willard, it did not put him out of financial running. Frank's name was signed today to papers that will give him $25,000 for his share of a match with Jack Dillon of Indianapolis at Washington Park, Brooklyn, June 29. Dillon will get $10,000.

The Memorial service held at the Baptist church Sunday morning was attended by a large number of people. After the singing of a number of patriotic songs, I. L. Henry, who is a descendant of Patrick Henry and has John Logan as his namesake, gave a splendid address, using Joshua 4:6 as a basis for his sermon. He showed how God had often resorted to memorials as a means of perpetuating the recollection of great events. The stones on this occasion being a memorial of the opening of the Red sea for His people. This idea was practiced by the Patriarchs and in the New Testament—Baptism as a memorial of his death, burial, and resurrection. The Lord's Supper as a memorial of his body and blood offered for the sins of the world and resurrection. He stated that memorial day as we are celebrating it today is not to show the glories of war but to pay our respect to the memory of those who offered their bodies and blood for our country.

Secretary of State Finds That 109 Concerns Failed to Make Statements in 1915.

Henry T. Saberson, superintendent of the investment division of the secretary of state's office yesterday reported to the department of justice that 109 corporations of Iowa are delinquent in filing reports for 1915.

Each firm is now subject to penalties of $71. The total sum which the state may collect from the firms is $7,723.

The state requires each corporation to make an annual statement to the secretary of state, giving the officers, capital, and value of the stock. No business details are required. A fee of $1 is required for filing the statement. Following the filing of the statement the corporation is issued an annual permit.

The corporations which do not send in the report are subject to a fine beginning September 1, increasing monthly thereafter until the statement is in.

Last year 109 corporations neglected to send in the statements in question. Some of the firms probably have ceased to operate. Nevertheless the officers of these defunct firms are held responsible until the corporation is dissolved and proof of dissolution is filed at the state house.

The attorney general's office wd at once begin action against the delinquents.

The secretary of state's office is preparing to send out notices to 10,000 corporations to send in annual reports for the fiscal year ending 1916.
