CHARLESTON, IOWA VOTED FOR WOMEN

Mistake was Made in Tabulating Results and Amendment Carried There.

A mistake was made in tabulating the votes on the woman suffrage amendment from Charleston in The Gate City. The amendment carried in Charleston as the following letter will show:

CHARLESTON, Ia., June 9.—Dear Sir: I see in your paper of the 8th, a mistake in the number of votes you have recorded in your list of votes for woman's suffrage. You have the "no" 47 and "yes" 32. These numbers should just be reversed, "yes" 47, "no" 32. We don't want it said of us that we didn't like the women." GEO. H. PICKARD.

—"Don't Park Here," signs made their appearance on the electric light poles at Fifth street just south of the Main street intersection today. These signs will do away with the congestion and danger at this point, it is believed.

The Gate City last evening printed the papers read at the senior day exercises of St. Peter's high school held on Wednesday afternoon and evening. Among them was one called "St. Peter's in 1917," written by Joseph Code, from which the name of the author was unintentionally omitted. The paper, which very cleverly described the changes that had come over Keokuk between the years 1916 and 1917, was prepared by Mr. Code and read at the exercises on Wednesday.

E. C. Lynn, county superintendent of schools, was in the city today to attend the commencement exercises of the grammar and high schools. Dr. F. C. Eastman of Iowa City, who delivers the commencement address tonight, arrived this afternoon.

—500 pair Phoenix Hose, Lowitz, Raymond Erhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Erhart of this city, is a member of the graduating class of Western Military academy at Alton this year. The graduation exercises will be held June 12 and 13. A number of friends of the cadet are receiving announcements of the graduation exercises.

Members of the board of supervisors have run up against a peculiar situation in Jefferson township which looks like residents there are putting pecuniary benefits ahead of public service and patriotism, says the Fort Madison Democrat. The whole good roads program of the county hinges on the improvement of the sand prairie road through Jefferson township, a road way which has needed improvement since it was platted and which demands first attention in preference to all other localities.

After tedious investigation the board decided to go ahead on work on this road, making a substantial clay road this year and shaping it preparatory for applying gravel in the near future. Now it is found that the only two available veins of suitable clay in the township cannot be had because the owners of the land where the clay is situated objected.

COUSIN OF KEOKUK MAN LOSTS LIFE

Lieutenant E. E. A. Collison of Bedfordshire Regiment, Killed in Action.

The current issue of the London Illustrated News contains a picture of Second Lieutenant E. E. Collison of the Bedfordshire regiment, who is a cousin of H. R. and Allan Collison of this city. He was the only son of the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Collison of Gravenhurst rectory, Amthill, Eng. The picture appears on that page "For King and Country: Officers on the Roll of Honor" which has been a feature of the News since the beginning of the war and contains the pictures of officers killed in the service.

The Rev. Thomas Collison lived in Keokuk years ago and was a business partner of L. H. Ayer, Sr. At the time of Lieutenant Collison's death, his parents received personal letters from the king and queen of England in appreciation of his gallant service. Perhaps no one in Keokuk has more kinsmen in the war than the Collisons. They have three relatives fighting with the allies and three first cousins have died in the service.

To Continue Organizations. Instructions are being made out at the state suffrage headquarters at Des Moines, asking all equal suffrage associations to continue their organization. That the amendment did not pass at the recent election does not mean that Iowa women are not to have the franchise, it is only deferred. Women worked for years and years for the privilege of going to college; they worked for years and years to be admitted to the professions and history is but repeating itself.

Senior Class Breakfast. Because of the weather conditions a commencement breakfast was substituted for the senior picnic. WARRANT ISSUED FOR BREGENZER

He Must Appear Before Judge Hamilton Tomorrow Morning to Show Why He Should Not be Prosecuted.

CONTEMPT OF COURT

Affidavits Concerning Alleged Sale of Liquor Were Filed With Papers in This Matter.

A warrant ordering him to appear before Judge Hamilton tomorrow morning and show cause why prosecution for contempt of court should not be made, was served on John Bregenzler this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Montgomery. The warrant was issued from the clerk's office this morning under an order from Judge W. S. Hamilton. The order from Judge Hamilton sets out that information under oath being presented to the court in the case of the State of Iowa vs. John Bregenzler, "charging the defendant with violating a temporary writ of injunction issued by the court on the eighth of February restraining defendant from illegally selling intoxicating liquors and the court being duly advised doth order that the clerk of the court shall cause a warrant to be issued and placed in the hands of the sheriff of Iowa county for producing the body of said defendant before the undersigned judge of the district court at 10 o'clock on June 10 in the district court at Keokuk, at which time and place the said Bregenzler can show cause why he should not be proceeded against as in contempt of court."

Elks Moonlight Tonight. The Elks excursion on the steamer Sidney tonight promises to be one of the most enjoyable outings of the season. The annual Elks excursion is an event that has always been looked forward to with anticipation by a large number of Keokuk people and from present indications the excursion will have a large patronage.

The weather promises to be just what boating weather should be and there will be a fine new moon tonight to make the excursion a real moonlight outing. The Sidney will leave the local wharf at 8:00 o'clock and on its return the street cars will meet the boat.

As usual dancing will be the chief recreation of the evening, and the Sidney's special orchestra will provide the music for the dance program. Whoever misses this outing will miss one of the most pleasing affairs of the river season as the Elks never leave anything undone in providing for a good time on their excursions.

The Warsaw Gate City

Warsaw, Ill., June 9, 1916.

The social of the Wythe Christian church that was to be held Thursday evening on the church lawn, has been postponed until Friday evening, June 9, because of the rain.

A new doctor from Missouri is figuring on locating here, but has not quite decided.

W. F. Laughlin, chemist at the laboratory of the state water survey reports under date of June 5, that the analysis of Warsaw's filtered water indicates that "it is safe for use for drinking purposes."

Milton T. Hunt, Jr., is home from Knox college, Galesburg. Dr. A. R. Stanbery and wife of Van-dalia, Ill. are here visiting relatives.

SUFFRAGE BARGE 3 A. M. TUESDAY

Steamer Quinoy Carrying Delegation of Women on Way to St. Louis Will Be Here Early in the Morning.

DEMONSTRATION ON WAY

Where Stops Are Made at Daylight, Suffrage Workers Will Be Met by Local Delegations.

The "suffrage barge" will pass Keokuk in the wee sma' hours of Tuesday morning, June 13, at 3:30 a. m., to be exact, according to word received here today by the local suffrage women. Mrs. Edith Drage Briggs, secretary of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association, sends a letter to the workers here in which the time of arrival is given. The letter is appreciated as it will no doubt, save some watchful waiting on the part of the Keokuk women. It is expected that at many of the towns along the river, at which the boat touches in day-time, there will be suffrage demonstrations.

When the steamer Quinoy makes her initial trip to St. Louis, leaving St. Paul June 10, at 8 p. m., she will carry a number of enthusiastic suffragists on their way to participate in the huge suffrage demonstration which will take place in St. Louis the opening day of the democratic convention.

A large number of Minnesota women will embark on the "suffrage barge," many of whom are rushing back from the Chicago parade to go to St. Louis. A number of women will leave Chicago on the morning of the 12th and join the party on the Quinoy at Davenport, Iowa, Monday at 3 p. m. Mrs. David F. Simpson of Minneapolis, president of the Hennepin County Suffrage association, will have the Minnesota delegation in charge, and Mrs. Andreas Ueland, state president, will join the Quinoy at Davenport.

At all the daylight stops on the way down the river, suffragists will meet the steamer and wherever time, speeches will be made and suffrage literature will be distributed. Women are expected to join the party all the way to St. Louis.

The "Walkless Parade." The demonstration in St. Louis, which is designed to secure a woman suffrage plank in the national democratic platform, will take the unique form of a "walkless parade," which will consist of a mile of suffragists, dressed in white, bearing yellow parasols, standing shoulder to shoulder on both sides of Locust street between the Jefferson hotel, the democratic headquarters, and the Coliseum where the convention will be held. Unless he goes in an airship, no democratic delegate can reach the Coliseum without passing between these lines of silently protesting women.

St. Louis women plan to keep their guests busy for their short stay. June 13, at 8 p. m., there will be an all fresco production of Wagner's "Siegfried," with Gadsdi, Frieda Hempel and Schumann Heink. June 14, the opening day of the convention, the walkless parade from 10 to 12 a. m., at 12:30 at suffrage tent lunch opposite the Coliseum, 2:30 to 3, the woman's council will entertain, at 6 a dinner will be given by the town club and at 8 p. m. a monster lantern lighted suffrage demonstration at the 12th street plaza. The delegates will leave St. Louis the morning of the 15th.
