

Oakfield and Brayton

Mads Nelson's baby is ill of some lung trouble.

Charley Sikes' baby is struggling with a very bad cold.

There is talk a new grain firm being established at Lorah.

A sister of Mrs. Henry Kleuver, from Griswold, is here for a good visit with that lady.

Mrs. Blom and two of her children were slightly ill of bad colds, the first part of the week.

Charley Thompson has quit working Mr. Johnson, the big farmer, and is at home for the winter.

Hon. Tom Kelley sold Charley Jenkins thirty-six head of very fine steers Tuesday afternoon.

The Brayton Odd Fellows will elect new officers next Saturday night, and they want you all to be there.

Mrs. John Harter and daughter, Maude, went as far as Atlantic with the newly married folks, Tuesday.

They are preparing a fine program for the Christmas tree, at Brayton, for the evening of December 24th.

Wm. Gingery was up from Atlantic last Sunday visiting with his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Hardwick.

Little Arine Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Bartlett, has been quite ill for the last few days.

N. P. Maler, that lively painter, was over from Kimballton this week visiting his countryman, Erik Hansen.

Our friend, J. C. Hardman, is just going one eye on things these days—great big sty is roosting on his left eye.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hardman are home from a good visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roudy, at Galton's Grove, near Harlan.

Jack McGovern, the newly elected Supervisor of Cass county, was a guest of his friend, Tom Kelley, and other old neighbors, last Sunday.

Rev. Post has arrived and is assisting in the revival meetings. The gentleman was recently called to Kansas by the death of his father.

Up at Carroll, last Friday, Hon. Tom Kelley jumped stiff legged from an engine and as a result he went about for a few days with a visible limp.

If your old "fuser" wont shoot straight take it to Tom Hardwick at the Pearson blacksmith shop, in Brayton, where he is ready to do all kinds of gunsmithery.

Erney Cotton will commence teaching the J. L. Anderson school next Monday.

Charley Wilson, of Greeley, was a business visitor at the B. F. Simpson stock farm, last Tuesday.

Ernest Plantz will conduct one of his successful dancing parties at the Oakfield Hall, next Saturday night.

Mrs. John Curry, of Atlantic, passed three or four happy days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. P. Hallock, this week.

Misses Ollie Pippin and Grace Campbell, of Exira, were guests of Mrs. Arthur Merrick three or four days this week.

Will Bintner and Ellis Cannon will conduct one of their successful dancing parties at the Oakfield Hall at Christmas time.

The bride and groom shook hands, said good-bye to their relatives and left on the noon train for their new home at Omaha Tuesday noon.

Remember that next Friday night, at the Academy, in Oakfield, the contract will be let to furnish wood for the several school houses in Exira township.

Little Miss Mamie Bopp, of Atlantic, is passing her vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Tom Kelley.

Tuesday was the last day that Nels Boose drove J. A. Stender's grocery wagon out into the country for this season.

Miss Genevieve McCarthy came down from Audubon, Wednesday, and visited until Saturday at the John Noon home.

Next Monday Mr. Harry Finkbine will be in Brayton when the annual invoice of the Green Bay Lumber Yard will commence.

Frank Greer went to Des Moines Tuesday evening. If you will look real close you will see that Frank has placed an advertisement in this week's Journal.

The house on B. F. Simpson's farm, occupied by Lauritz Jorgensen caught fire last Sunday and despite all efforts was soon reduced to a smouldering mass of ruins.

On December 1st the last helper on the Brayton section, John Doyl, was laid off and now Thos. Hardiman, will patrol his section alone for the next three months.

Last Saturday Kees Hallock, Hon. Tom Kelley and Tom McGovern came home from the country, west of Sioux City, where they purchased three car loads of young cattle.

Johnny Anderson and Miss Maude Harter attended the dance and oyster supper, near Lorah, on Wednesday evening of last week. They pronounced it a great success.

Mrs. Dave Carpenter and Mrs. Charley Cotton were up to Exira the first of the week visiting with their relatives, the W. H. Fowler, William Carpenter and Bert Leamon families.

Rev. Jacob Aurocher, who formerly preached at Oakfield, but now of Des Moines, came from that city on Thanksgiving day to perform the ceremony at the Harter-Wade wedding.

George Fiechtmeier's sale, last Tuesday afternoon, was a good success and things sold well. Mr. Fiechtmeier and family are now comfortably settled in their new home, near Old Louisville.

Wednesday Owen Ide shipped a car load of sheep, from his own yards, and a car load of hogs to Chicago. Owen went along with the stock for the purpose of seeing the city and getting a mouth full of Lake Michigan breeze.

Charley Boy Bison found a couple of boxes of De Witt's Little Early Risers, in his wanderings about the drug store, and thinking they were candy he "slickered'em down." Now Charley says: "I feel all right but Oh, my, I'm so tired!"

Mr. Carson Walters, that successful farmer and stock raiser, just west of Brayton, was in town Tuesday afternoon and sold to Ide & McGovern thirty-six head of as fine hogs as you ever clapped your optics upon. Mr. Walters has just completed a handy barn and some stock sheds and that's the reason why he raises such good stock.

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Nels Brons were quietly jogging along in their farm wagon when the team became skittish and away they went. After running a short distance they dumped the lady out and then when they had skipped a few rods further over went the wagon box, bottom side up, and Mr. Brons on the under side. And by jocks, the woman had to walk two miles to get a neighbor to help before she could get the poor man out of his prison.

Program for Educational Meeting to be held at the Brayton school house on Saturday, December 4, 1897:

Are the Privileges and Compensation of the Teacher Equal to the Responsibilities? Mrs. F. Heath

What Changes Should be Made in the Text Books of the Country Schools and What Can the Teachers do to Effect This? Mr. Honnison

To What Extent Should Etiquette be Taught in Our Schools? Miss Koxxy Huxey

How to Make Term Reports so as to Comply with the Requirements of Law? M. E. Pruitt

An Exposition of the Law Regarding Narcotics and Stimulants as Pertaining to Our Public Schools? John Noon

On Friday evening, December 3d, our County Superintendent has consented to deliver an address at Brayton. The public is invited. Committee.

On Thanksgiving day about twenty relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Harter assembled at their pleasant home, south-east of Oakfield, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Ilona M., to Mr. James O. Wade, of North Dakota. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jacob Aurocher, of Des Moines. After Mr. and Mrs. Wade had received the congratulations of the company, all repaired to the dining room where each did ample justice to a bountiful wedding dinner. After passing a few hours in social chat the guests departed, wishing the newly married people a long and happy voyage on the matrimonial sea. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. Wade has a new home prepared for his bride, at Omaha, to which place they went on Tuesday.

P. H. Griffith, of Anita, visited his sister, Mrs. Clarence Noon, the first of the week.

Uncle Si Clark lost one of his best young heifers, Monday. Eat too much "smut."

Dick Powers is now installed as clerk in the J. P. Bindixen Hardware Company's store.

Chester Stender had a horrible old wrestle with the croupe last Monday night—Chester licked.

Miss May Jenkins is assisting in the postoffice at the big mercantile establishment of Jenkins & Vail.

Little Miss Mamie Bopp, of Atlantic, is passing her vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Tom Kelley.

Tuesday was the last day that Nels Boose drove J. A. Stender's grocery wagon out into the country for this season.

Miss Genevieve McCarthy came down from Audubon, Wednesday, and visited until Saturday at the John Noon home.

Next Monday Mr. Harry Finkbine will be in Brayton when the annual invoice of the Green Bay Lumber Yard will commence.

Frank Greer went to Des Moines Tuesday evening. If you will look real close you will see that Frank has placed an advertisement in this week's Journal.

The house on B. F. Simpson's farm, occupied by Lauritz Jorgensen caught fire last Sunday and despite all efforts was soon reduced to a smouldering mass of ruins.

On December 1st the last helper on the Brayton section, John Doyl, was laid off and now Thos. Hardiman, will patrol his section alone for the next three months.

Last Saturday Kees Hallock, Hon. Tom Kelley and Tom McGovern came home from the country, west of Sioux City, where they purchased three car loads of young cattle.

Johnny Anderson and Miss Maude Harter attended the dance and oyster supper, near Lorah, on Wednesday evening of last week. They pronounced it a great success.

Mrs. Dave Carpenter and Mrs. Charley Cotton were up to Exira the first of the week visiting with their relatives, the W. H. Fowler, William Carpenter and Bert Leamon families.

Rev. Jacob Aurocher, who formerly preached at Oakfield, but now of Des Moines, came from that city on Thanksgiving day to perform the ceremony at the Harter-Wade wedding.

George Fiechtmeier's sale, last Tuesday afternoon, was a good success and things sold well. Mr. Fiechtmeier and family are now comfortably settled in their new home, near Old Louisville.

Wednesday Owen Ide shipped a car load of sheep, from his own yards, and a car load of hogs to Chicago. Owen went along with the stock for the purpose of seeing the city and getting a mouth full of Lake Michigan breeze.

Charley Boy Bison found a couple of boxes of De Witt's Little Early Risers, in his wanderings about the drug store, and thinking they were candy he "slickered'em down." Now Charley says: "I feel all right but Oh, my, I'm so tired!"

Mr. Carson Walters, that successful farmer and stock raiser, just west of Brayton, was in town Tuesday afternoon and sold to Ide & McGovern thirty-six head of as fine hogs as you ever clapped your optics upon. Mr. Walters has just completed a handy barn and some stock sheds and that's the reason why he raises such good stock.

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Nels Brons were quietly jogging along in their farm wagon when the team became skittish and away they went. After running a short distance they dumped the lady out and then when they had skipped a few rods further over went the wagon box, bottom side up, and Mr. Brons on the under side. And by jocks, the woman had to walk two miles to get a neighbor to help before she could get the poor man out of his prison.

Program for Educational Meeting to be held at the Brayton school house on Saturday, December 4, 1897:

Are the Privileges and Compensation of the Teacher Equal to the Responsibilities? Mrs. F. Heath

What Changes Should be Made in the Text Books of the Country Schools and What Can the Teachers do to Effect This? Mr. Honnison

To What Extent Should Etiquette be Taught in Our Schools? Miss Koxxy Huxey

How to Make Term Reports so as to Comply with the Requirements of Law? M. E. Pruitt

An Exposition of the Law Regarding Narcotics and Stimulants as Pertaining to Our Public Schools? John Noon

On Friday evening, December 3d, our County Superintendent has consented to deliver an address at Brayton. The public is invited. Committee.

On Thanksgiving day about twenty relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Harter assembled at their pleasant home, south-east of Oakfield, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Ilona M., to Mr. James O. Wade, of North Dakota. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jacob Aurocher, of Des Moines. After Mr. and Mrs. Wade had received the congratulations of the company, all repaired to the dining room where each did ample justice to a bountiful wedding dinner. After passing a few hours in social chat the guests departed, wishing the newly married people a long and happy voyage on the matrimonial sea. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. Wade has a new home prepared for his bride, at Omaha, to which place they went on Tuesday.

P. H. Griffith, of Anita, visited his sister, Mrs. Clarence Noon, the first of the week.

Uncle Si Clark lost one of his best young heifers, Monday. Eat too much "smut."

Dick Powers is now installed as clerk in the J. P. Bindixen Hardware Company's store.

Chester Stender had a horrible old wrestle with the croupe last Monday night—Chester licked.

Miss May Jenkins is assisting in the postoffice at the big mercantile establishment of Jenkins & Vail.

Little Miss Mamie Bopp, of Atlantic, is passing her vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Tom Kelley.

Tuesday was the last day that Nels Boose drove J. A. Stender's grocery wagon out into the country for this season.

Miss Genevieve McCarthy came down from Audubon, Wednesday, and visited until Saturday at the John Noon home.

Next Monday Mr. Harry Finkbine will be in Brayton when the annual invoice of the Green Bay Lumber Yard will commence.

Frank Greer went to Des Moines Tuesday evening. If you will look real close you will see that Frank has placed an advertisement in this week's Journal.

The house on B. F. Simpson's farm, occupied by Lauritz Jorgensen caught fire last Sunday and despite all efforts was soon reduced to a smouldering mass of ruins.

On December 1st the last helper on the Brayton section, John Doyl, was laid off and now Thos. Hardiman, will patrol his section alone for the next three months.

Last Saturday Kees Hallock, Hon. Tom Kelley and Tom McGovern came home from the country, west of Sioux City, where they purchased three car loads of young cattle.

Johnny Anderson and Miss Maude Harter attended the dance and oyster supper, near Lorah, on Wednesday evening of last week. They pronounced it a great success.

Mrs. Dave Carpenter and Mrs. Charley Cotton were up to Exira the first of the week visiting with their relatives, the W. H. Fowler, William Carpenter and Bert Leamon families.

Rev. Jacob Aurocher, who formerly preached at Oakfield, but now of Des Moines, came from that city on Thanksgiving day to perform the ceremony at the Harter-Wade wedding.

George Fiechtmeier's sale, last Tuesday afternoon, was a good success and things sold well. Mr. Fiechtmeier and family are now comfortably settled in their new home, near Old Louisville.

Wednesday Owen Ide shipped a car load of sheep, from his own yards, and a car load of hogs to Chicago. Owen went along with the stock for the purpose of seeing the city and getting a mouth full of Lake Michigan breeze.

Charley Boy Bison found a couple of boxes of De Witt's Little Early Risers, in his wanderings about the drug store, and thinking they were candy he "slickered'em down." Now Charley says: "I feel all right but Oh, my, I'm so tired!"

Mr. Carson Walters, that successful farmer and stock raiser, just west of Brayton, was in town Tuesday afternoon and sold to Ide & McGovern thirty-six head of as fine hogs as you ever clapped your optics upon. Mr. Walters has just completed a handy barn and some stock sheds and that's the reason why he raises such good stock.

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Nels Brons were quietly jogging along in their farm wagon when the team became skittish and away they went. After running a short distance they dumped the lady out and then when they had skipped a few rods further over went the wagon box, bottom side up, and Mr. Brons on the under side. And by jocks, the woman had to walk two miles to get a neighbor to help before she could get the poor man out of his prison.

Program for Educational Meeting to be held at the Brayton school house on Saturday, December 4, 1897:

Are the Privileges and Compensation of the Teacher Equal to the Responsibilities? Mrs. F. Heath

What Changes Should be Made in the Text Books of the Country Schools and What Can the Teachers do to Effect This? Mr. Honnison

To What Extent Should Etiquette be Taught in Our Schools? Miss Koxxy Huxey

How to Make Term Reports so as to Comply with the Requirements of Law? M. E. Pruitt

An Exposition of the Law Regarding Narcotics and Stimulants as Pertaining to Our Public Schools? John Noon

On Friday evening, December 3d, our County Superintendent has consented to deliver an address at Brayton. The public is invited. Committee.

On Thanksgiving day about twenty relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Harter assembled at their pleasant home, south-east of Oakfield, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Ilona M., to Mr. James O. Wade, of North Dakota. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jacob Aurocher, of Des Moines. After Mr. and Mrs. Wade had received the congratulations of the company, all repaired to the dining room where each did ample justice to a bountiful wedding dinner. After passing a few hours in social chat the guests departed, wishing the newly married people a long and happy voyage on the matrimonial sea. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. Wade has a new home prepared for his bride, at Omaha, to which place they went on Tuesday.

P. H. Griffith, of Anita, visited his sister, Mrs. Clarence Noon, the first of the week.

Uncle Si Clark lost one of his best young heifers, Monday. Eat too much "smut."

Dick Powers is now installed as clerk in the J. P. Bindixen Hardware Company's store.

Chester Stender had a horrible old wrestle with the croupe last Monday night—Chester licked.

Miss May Jenkins is assisting in the postoffice at the big mercantile establishment of Jenkins & Vail.

Little Miss Mamie Bopp, of Atlantic, is passing her vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Tom Kelley.

Tuesday was the last day that Nels Boose drove J. A. Stender's grocery wagon out into the country for this season.

Miss Genevieve McCarthy came down from Audubon, Wednesday, and visited until Saturday at the John Noon home.

Next Monday Mr. Harry Finkbine will be in Brayton when the annual invoice of the Green Bay Lumber Yard will commence.

Frank Greer went to Des Moines Tuesday evening. If you will look real close you will see that Frank has placed an advertisement in this week's Journal.

The house on B. F. Simpson's farm, occupied by Lauritz Jorgensen caught fire last Sunday and despite all efforts was soon reduced to a smouldering mass of ruins.

On December 1st the last helper on the Brayton section, John Doyl, was laid off and now Thos. Hardiman, will patrol his section alone for the next three months.

Last Saturday Kees Hallock, Hon. Tom Kelley and Tom McGovern came home from the country, west of Sioux City, where they purchased three car loads of young cattle.

Johnny Anderson and Miss Maude Harter attended the dance and oyster supper, near Lorah, on Wednesday evening of last week. They pronounced it a great success.

Mrs. Dave Carpenter and Mrs. Charley Cotton were up to Exira the first of the week visiting with their relatives, the W. H. Fowler, William Carpenter and Bert Leamon families.

Rev. Jacob Aurocher, who formerly preached at Oakfield, but now of Des Moines, came from that city on Thanksgiving day to perform the ceremony at the Harter-Wade wedding.

George Fiechtmeier's sale, last Tuesday afternoon, was a good success and things sold well. Mr. Fiechtmeier and family are now comfortably settled in their new home, near Old Louisville.

Wednesday Owen Ide shipped a car load of sheep, from his own yards, and a car load of hogs to Chicago. Owen went along with the stock for the purpose of seeing the city and getting a mouth full of Lake Michigan breeze.

Charley Boy Bison found a couple of boxes of De Witt's Little Early Risers, in his wanderings about the drug store, and thinking they were candy he "slickered'em down." Now Charley says: "I feel all right but Oh, my, I'm so tired!"

Mr. Carson Walters, that successful farmer and stock raiser, just west of Brayton, was in town Tuesday afternoon and sold to Ide & McGovern thirty-six head of as fine hogs as you ever clapped your optics upon. Mr. Walters has just completed a handy barn and some stock sheds and that's the reason why he raises such good stock.

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Nels Brons were quietly jogging along in their farm wagon when the team became skittish and away they went. After running a short distance they dumped the lady out and then when they had skipped a few rods further over went the wagon box, bottom side up, and Mr. Brons on the under side. And by jocks, the woman had to walk two miles to get a neighbor to help before she could get the poor man out of his prison.

Program for Educational Meeting to be held at the Brayton school house on Saturday, December 4, 1897:

Are the Privileges and Compensation of the Teacher Equal to the Responsibilities? Mrs. F. Heath

What Changes Should be Made in the Text Books of the Country Schools and What Can the Teachers do to Effect This? Mr. Honnison

To What Extent Should Etiquette be Taught in Our Schools? Miss Koxxy Huxey

How to Make Term Reports so as to Comply with the Requirements of Law? M. E. Pruitt

An Exposition of the Law Regarding Narcotics and Stimulants as Pertaining to Our Public Schools? John Noon

On Friday evening, December 3d, our County Superintendent has consented to deliver an address at Brayton. The public is invited. Committee.

On Thanksgiving day about twenty relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Harter assembled at their pleasant home, south-east of Oakfield, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Ilona M., to Mr. James O. Wade, of North Dakota. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jacob Aurocher, of Des Moines. After Mr. and Mrs. Wade had received the congratulations of the company, all repaired to the dining room where each did ample justice to a bountiful wedding dinner. After passing a few hours in social chat the guests departed, wishing the newly married people a long and happy voyage on the matrimonial sea. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. Mr. Wade has a new home prepared for his bride, at Omaha, to which place they went on Tuesday.

P. H. Griffith, of Anita, visited his sister, Mrs. Clarence Noon, the first of the week.

Uncle Si Clark lost one of his best young heifers, Monday. Eat too much "smut."

Dick Powers is now installed as clerk in the J. P. Bindixen Hardware Company's store.

Chester Stender had a horrible old wrestle with the croupe last Monday night—Chester licked.

Miss May Jenkins is assisting in the postoffice at the big mercantile establishment of Jenkins & Vail.

Little Miss Mamie Bopp, of Atlantic, is passing her vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Tom Kelley.

Tuesday was the last day that Nels Boose drove J. A. Stender's grocery wagon out into the country for this season.

Miss Genevieve McCarthy came down from Audubon, Wednesday, and visited until Saturday at the John Noon home.

Next Monday Mr. Harry Finkbine will be in Brayton when the annual invoice of the Green Bay Lumber Yard will commence.

Frank Greer went to Des Moines Tuesday evening. If you will look real close you will see that Frank has placed an advertisement in this week's Journal.

The house on B. F. Simpson's farm, occupied by Lauritz Jorgensen caught fire last Sunday and despite all efforts was soon reduced to a smouldering mass of ruins.

On December 1st the last helper on the Brayton section, John Doyl, was laid off and now Thos. Hardiman, will patrol his section alone for the next three months.

Last Saturday Kees Hallock, Hon. Tom Kelley and Tom McGovern came home from the country, west of Sioux City, where they purchased three car loads of young cattle.

Johnny Anderson and Miss Maude Harter attended the dance and oyster supper, near Lorah, on Wednesday evening of last week. They pronounced it a great success.

Mrs. Dave Carpenter and Mrs. Charley Cotton were up to Exira the first of the week visiting with their relatives, the W. H. Fowler, William Carpenter and Bert Leamon families.

Rev. Jacob Aurocher, who formerly preached at Oakfield, but now of Des Moines, came from that city on Thanksgiving day to perform the ceremony at the Harter-Wade wedding.

George Fiechtmeier's sale, last Tuesday afternoon, was a good success and things sold well. Mr. Fiechtmeier and family are now comfortably settled in their new home, near Old Louisville.

Wednesday Owen Ide shipped a car load of sheep, from his own yards, and a car load of hogs to Chicago. Owen went along with the stock for the purpose of seeing the city and getting a mouth full of Lake Michigan breeze.

Charley Boy Bison found a couple of boxes of De Witt's Little Early Risers, in his wanderings about the drug store, and thinking they were candy he "slickered'em down." Now Charley says: "I feel all right but Oh, my, I'm so tired!"

Mr. Carson Walters, that successful farmer and stock raiser, just west of Brayton, was in town Tuesday afternoon and sold to Ide & McGovern thirty-six head of as fine hogs as you ever clapped your optics upon. Mr. Walters has just completed a handy barn and some stock sheds and that's the reason why he raises such good stock.

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Nels Brons were quietly jogging along in their farm wagon when the team became skittish and away they went. After running a short distance they dumped the lady out and then when they had skipped a few rods further over went the wagon box, bottom side up, and Mr. Brons on the under side. And by jocks, the woman had to walk two miles to get a neighbor to help before she could get the poor man out of his prison.

Program for Educational Meeting to be held at the Brayton school house on Saturday, December 4, 1897:

Are the Privileges and Compensation of the Teacher Equal to the Responsibilities? Mrs. F. Heath

What Changes Should be Made in the Text Books of the Country Schools and What Can the Teachers do to Effect This? Mr. Honnison

To What Extent Should Etiquette be Taught in Our Schools? Miss Koxxy Huxey

How to Make Term Reports so as to Comply with the Requirements of Law? M. E. Pruitt

An Exposition of the Law Regarding Narcotics and Stimulants as Pertaining to Our Public Schools? John Noon

On Friday evening, December 3d, our County Superintendent has consented to deliver an address at Brayton. The public is invited. Committee.

On Thanksgiving day about twenty relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Harter assembled at their pleasant home, south-east of Oakfield, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Ilona M., to Mr. James O. Wade, of North Dakota. The cere-

So We Do... ..So We Do