Iowa's Corn Crop Is Short.

DES MOINES, Oct. 6.—Director Sage of the Iowa weather and crop service said: "I think the corn crop will be more than 80 per cent of an average yield. A short time ago the prospects were good for a phenomenal yield and all Iowa was happy. Then conditions were materially changed, but the change was not sufficient to warrant the statement there will be more than 80 per cent loss on the crop. Where the promise of phenomenal crops is suddenly blighted people are apt to make the comparison with what they had expected, rather than with conditions in previous years, and my observation is they have done so this year. I believe the corn crop will average over 30 bushels to every acre planted and that would mean a good deal more than 80 per cent of a crop."

The strikers are elated over the governor's prompt stand in refusing to send troops here. Lukens will have another conference with the executive today. The miners assert they have not violated the law.

HOW THEY FOUGHT.

MAJOR GENERAL GREENE MAKES HIS REPORT.

High Praise for Manner in Which Troops Discharged Their Duties in the Engagements About Manila—Stood Up Well Under Sharp Fire From Spaniards.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The report of Major General F. V. Greene, who commanded the Second brigade, Second division of the Eighth army corps at Manila, at the time of the battle there on Aug. 13, has been made public. General Greene was then a brigadier. His brigade consisted of the First Colorado, First Nebraska and Tenth Pennsylvania, and the First and Second battalions of the Eighteenth infantry, Batteries A and B of the Utah artillery, a detachment of Company A, engineer battalion, First California, First and Third battalions, Third artillery, Company A, engineer battalion.

General Greene describes in detail the part performed by his command in the battles about Manila, recapitulating in the following:

"This brigade reached Manila bay July 17, landed and established camp July 19-21; was attacked by the Spaniards July 31, Aug. 1, Aug. 2 and Aug. 5; led the advance in the attack and capture of Manila, Aug. 13. Our losses were 16 killed and 66 wounded. It is impossible to give any accurate figures of the losses of the Spaniards, but it is probably safe to say that their losses from Aug. 1 to 13 were at least 40 killed and 100 wounded. The manner in which the troops performed their duties, whether fighting, working in the trenches, or sitting still under fire with strict orders not to return it, is worthy of the very highest praise.

"The resistance encountered on the 13th was much less than anticipated and planned for, but had the resistance been greater the result would have been the same, only the loss would have been greater. Fortunately the great result of capturing this city, the seat of Spanish power in the east for more than 300 years, was accomplished with a loss of life comparatively insignificant."

Account of Capitulation.

General Greene's account of the events from the day of his landing up to Aug. 13, the day of the decisive battle, shows that his troops were constantly on the defensive and that all of them were employed in skirmishes of greater or lesser importance. General Greene gives an account of what took place on various dates until the 13th, the American forces remaining on the passive defensive. Of the battle of the 13th he says:

"At 10:15 o'clock I sent forward the First battalion of the First Colorado along the beach and in the field on its right, and followed this up with the Second and then the Third battalions of the same regiment, at distances of about 300 yards. This met a light fire from the woods on the their right flank in the rear of the Spanish trenches, and in the direction of Singalon and Paco. They replied to this with volleys and the companies nearest the beach forded the creek, advanced through the water on the beach, turned the right flank of the trenches and entered Fort Antonio de Abad from the rear, hauling down the Spanish flag and hoisting the American flag about 11 a. m.

"Seeing the fort captured without resistance I ordered the Eighteenth United States infantry to move by the left flank over the trenches and along the road to Manila in column of fours, not anticipating any resistance. As they showed themselves, however, a sharp fire was met from the woods near Singalon and the Second battalion deployed to the right of the road in the formation for attack. Although the enemy could not be accurately located on account of his using smokeless powder, this fire was replied to by volleys, which had the effect of subduing it. The battalion then moved forward by rushes, followed by the First battalion until it reached the Spanish trenches, which had been abandoned, leaving three dead. When the Eighteenth United States infantry advanced, I sent orders to the Third United States artillery to advance to the front from its position on the right and their advance was made in the formation for attack at the same time as the Eighteenth United States infantry. They were subjected to the same fire from their right and front near the Singalon woods, to which they replied, subduing it and then advancing to the Spanish trenches, which they found deserted.

Movement of Troops.

"Just as the advance of the Eighteenth infantry and Third artillery began, the commanding officer of the reserve, which had been ordered up by the division commander, reported to me and I directed them to follow by the beach and ordered the artillery to follow on to Manila as soon as they could get the assistance of the infantry to haul their guns. As the bridge near the fort appeared to be broken by the artillery fire, I directed an engineer company to carry forward some large trestles and flooring of bamboo which had been prepared the previous day, and this was done under fire. Having made these dispositions, I rode forward rapidly by the beach and through the creek to the fort. A portion of the First Colorado was in the Spanish trenches replying to a fire from a second line of defense running along the road from Malate to Singalon, the rest of the Colorado regiment and all of the California were in the houses a few hundred yards in our front, replying to this same fire from our flank. The engagement here lasted about 15 minutes before the enemy's fire was subdued.

"The First Nebraska and Eighteenth United States infantry having now come up, I directed them to move forward, the former along the beach and the latter along Calle Real. The Colorado regiment was directed to protect the right flank from any possible attack from Otagalon and Paco. The California regiment was already in advance on Calle Real. In this way the brigade moved through Malate from Stroto street, meeting a straggling fire from the direction of Paco but no serious resistance.

"After passing through Malate and Ermita, the open space at the Luneta, just south of the walled city was reached about 1 p. m. A white flag was flying at the southwest bastion and I rode forward to meet it under a heavy fire from our right and rear on the Paco road. At the bastion I was informed that officers representing General Merritt Admiral Dewey were on their way ashore to receive the surrender and therefore turned east to the Paco road. On the morning of Aug. 14 I was appointed senior member of the commission to arrange the details of the capitulation. The commission met at the ayuntamiento (city hall) at 10 a. m. and concluded its labors and signed the capitulation at 5 p. m. on the same day."

The report of Major General Arthur MacArthur, who commanded the first brigade, Second division of the Eighth army corps at Manila at the time of the battle there on Aug. 13, has been made public. General MacArthur takes occasion to comment in strong terms the gallantry of Colonels Owenshine and Reeves, Captains Sawtelle, Bjornstam and Sevee and of Lieutenants March, Karnan and Whitworth.

Three Doctors In Consultation.

From Benjamin Franklin.
"When you are sick, what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place; what experience tells you is best, to be chosen in the second place; what reason, (I say, Theory) says is best to be chosen in the last place. But if you can get Dr. Incubation, Dr. Experience and Dr. Reason to hold a consultation together, they will give you the best advice that can be taken."

When you have a bad cold Dr. Incubation would recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is pleasant and safe to take. Dr. Experience would recommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recommend it because it is prepared on scientific principles, and acts on nature's plan of relieving the lungs, and opening the secretions and restoring the system to a natural and healthy condition. For sale by C. W. Houston, Exira; A. H. Roberts, Audubon.
