An Axle Built to Stand the Strain

The rear axle of an automobile carries most of the load and drives the car.

Its work is most severe; and it is also subjected to the strains of traveling over rough roads.

So it must be strong enough to carry the weight, drive the car and resist the shocks of rough going.

In this particular the Hupmobile again stands head and shoulders above the average car.

Its rear axle is of the full-floating type—a type you rarely find except on cars much higher in price.

In this type, the casing or housing of the axle carries the load; the axle shafts drive the car.

Each part has its own work to do. Neither is forced to carry the weight and drive the car as well. And the axle is so strong and sturdy that it needs no support of truss rods, and reach rods, as most axles do.

Because of its exceptionally rugged axle construction, in conjunction with its other superiorities, the Hupmobile stands up notably well in country use.

Its owners know that they have nothing to fear from rough and rutty roads, because the Hupmobile axle will carry them through.

Won't you afford us a chance to demonstrate the easy riding qualities of this car?

BIG MUNICIPAL PIER COLLAPSES

Thirty-four Persons Killed at Long Beach, Cal.

SIXTY-FIVE SERIOUSLY HURT

Structure Proves Too Weak to Bear Weight of Nearly Ten Thousand Persons.

Long Beach, Cal., May 26.—Too weak to uphold the burden of nearly 10,000 human beings assembled for the festivities of British Empire day the land end of the big double decked municipal pier in front of the city auditorium collapsed. Hundreds of persons on the top deck were plunged down on the heads of other hundreds crowded on the second deck. The lower deck then gave way and all were dropped down a chute of shattered woodwork to the tide washed sands twenty-five feet below.

Thirty-four persons—mostly women—were killed by the shivered timbers, or crushed to death by the falling bodies of companions and friends. Sixty-five more were seriously injured, while hysteria and paralyzing fright disabled scores of others.

The crowd massed about the auditorium doors was composed mostly of women and children who had gathered there before the Empire day parade ended. When the section about the doors sank they went down with it and a half dozen policemen, who had been vainly striving to hold the throng in check, went with them.

Only a comparatively small number of men were caught in the trap, as most of the male celebrators were taking part in the parade. Many who were not standing on the section which collapsed were drawn or pushed into the vortex and those who escaped crowded, panic stricken, toward the outer rail of the pier, starting a wild scramble for safety.

Mass of Struggling Bodies.

Those who fell into the hole last were unable to scramble over the entangled bodies to the broken ends of the floor, so deep was it massed with struggling bodies. Fallen timbers and flooring were jammed among the limbs of those caught in the trap and ropes were required to pull back the jagged edges of the sunken flooring and broken joists before the dead and injured could be taken out.

It was fully an hour before the yawning hole in the floor of the pier could be emptied of its tangled mass of humanity, the dead separated from the injured and the dying extricated from the timbers.

The dead and seriously injured were laid in rows on the beach, while scores who had sustained less serious injuries wandered in a daze seeking missing relatives or friends. A number of these taken to hospitals were found unscathed, but suffering from a nervous shock. Many of the women and men collapsed on the pier when the search for missing ones ended at the long row of dead and injured.

Although most of the victims were from Los Angeles and Long Beach nearly every town in Southern California was represented among the dead and injured.

Prospective damage suits aggregating probably $1,000,000 or more and a grand jury investigation engaged the attention of city officials as the most imminent outcome of the disaster.

MAKE PRELIMINARY PLANS

Republican Leaders Confer on Coming Campaign.

Washington, May 26.—Leaders of the Republican party—members of the executive committee of the national committee from twelve states—gathered here and laid preliminary plans for the congressional campaign of 1914 and the national political battle of two years later, to regain control of congress and possession of the White House.

As a result the Republican national committee will meet sixty days after the adjournment of the extra session of congress and an extraordinary Republican national convention is expected a year hence. Changes in the basis of representation in national conventions and reform methods of party procedure which have been subject to criticism will be disposed of through these agencies. Close co-operation between the national committee and the congressional campaign committee was agreed upon.

Clergyman's Son Had Tuberculosis; Now Well

People who have Consumption are often filled with bright hopes of recovery, only to realize that improvement is but temporary. Consumption is dreaded by every clergyman, who had used Eckman's Alternative can testify to its beneficial effects. No one need doubt it—there is plenty of evidence from live witnesses. Investigate the following:

Amenia, N. Y.
"Gentlemen: Prior to Feb. 1908, I was located in Rochester, N. Y., suffering with La Grippe, which developed into Tuberculosis. My physician gave me one month to live. I was having terrible night sweats and mid-day chills and losing flesh rapidly, having gone from 155 to 135 pounds. I coughed and raised continually and became so weak that walking a few feet exhausted me. On my return home, my regular physician gave me little encouragement. My father, who is a clergyman, heard of Eckman's Alternative and induced me to take it. The night sweats and chills disappeared, my cough became easier and gradually disappeared and in a few days I developed an appetite, the first in months. I am now in perfect health, back to 155 lbs. I feel certain that I owe my life to Eckman's Alternative."
(Signed) E. H. COWLES.

"Gentlemen: I cannot find words to express my appreciation of what your remedy has done for my son. It changed despair into hope within two weeks after he began taking it, and without any doubt in my mind it saved his life. I wish to add my endorsement to every word of his testimonial."
(Signed) REV. J. J. COWLES, Pastor, Presbyterian Church.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa. for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

SUPREME COURT CHANGES POLICY

Decision Destroys So Called "Patent Monopoly."

RETAILERS CAN CUT RATES

Opinion of Full Court Virtually Reverses Decision of About a Year Ago in "Mimeograph Case," When Four of the Seven Judges Upheld Right of Patent Owners to Fix Selling Price.

Washington, May 27.—The so called "patent monopoly," which threatened to prevent cut rates by retailers in all patented articles on the market, was destroyed by a decision of the supreme court of the United States.

The court held that owners of patents are not given the right by the patent law to control the price at which retailers must sell to consumers.

The decision, in words, applied only to a nerve tonic for which a patent had been issued, but will control all patented articles which are being sold under restrictions not to resell at cut rates.

The court reversed the policy adopted in the famous "mimeograph case" decided a little over a year ago, when only seven justices were on the bench, but allowed that case to stand so far as it goes. Thus was accomplished what has been unsuccessfully sought in congress ever since the "mimeograph case" was decided.

In the "mimeograph case" Justices McKenna, Lurton Holmes and Vandevanter upheld the right of patent owners to place restrictions on the nature of articles to be used on the patented articles sold. Chief Justice White and Justices Hughes and Lamar dissented.

Justice Day, who was absent a year ago from the court, and Justice Pitney, appointed since then, joined with the chief justice and Justices Hughes and Lamar in overruling the policy advocated by the four justices who handed down the court's decision in the "mimeograph case."

Justice Day announced the decision of the majority members. The four minority justices contented themselves with a mere statement that they dissented.

Justice Day stated that the manufacturers relied chiefly on the "mimeograph case." An examination of the opinion of the court in that case, he said, showed that the restriction was sustained because the machine was sold at cost or less and that the owner depended on the profit realized from the sale of unpatented supplies to be used upon the machine for a reward for his invention. No such conditions existed, he added, in the present case.

COST FALLS ON SETTLERS

Supreme Court Decision Affects Ten Thousand Farmers.

Washington, May 27.—More than ten thousand farmers on reclamation projects of the West will be affected by the supreme court's decision that they must pay to the government the cost of maintaining and operating the various reclamation projects pending their completion.

The decision was in the suit of D. P. Baker and other farmers on the Sunnyside unit of the Yakima, Wash., project to have the reclamation service enjoined from cutting off the water supply to enforce collection of such charges, imposed under instructions from the secretary of the interior in 1902.

Nearly a million dollars have already been collected by the government. Half a million more is about due.

Justice Lamar announced the court's unanimous decision and declared that congress intended the settlers should pay the cost of maintenance and operation.

CAN'T REVIEW OWN CASES

Supreme Court Deals Death Blow to Consulting Jurist Plan.

Washington, May 27.—The practice of judges sitting in federal courts of appeals, even with the consent of the parties, to review, with other judges, cases they have decided in the district courts, was given a death blow by the supreme court declaring the judgment of such a court void.

Chief Justice White said that the courts of appeals, so composed, were no courts at all under the statutes.

The point was announced in a suit over the validity of patents for turbine engines, such as are used in the navy. Several other cases may be affected by the decision.
