ity merchandise for you to make your selections from, and prices to suit all.

We have invited you to come and look this stock of goods over, and also said you were under no obligations to buy. This invitation stands good at any time. And if we do not have the goods that you might want, we will try and get them for you.

The reason we have encouraged early buying is this: You might find some article in stock that you had in mind for someone and later it might be gone. Also, if it was an article that you wanted engraved, it would be giving me a fair chance to get it done.

Now, a great many have been doing this and they find it is quite a relief to get this and that present laid aside and start looking for another.

We want to call your attention to the different lines of goods we carry in stock, as it might help you.
