Our Washington Letter.

The attention of the national democracy is being turned to Iowa, not only because of the forthcoming election in the second district, but because the national organization believes there is a greater likelihood of electing a Democratic United States senator from Iowa than ever before. In addition to this, the fight that has developed in the Republican camp over the Republican nomination for governor is held to be an almost certain forecast of the election of a Democratic governor in Iowa for the first time since Horace Boies' day.

As Washington views it the candidacy of John W. Rowley is destined to become more formidable as the campaign progresses. Several weeks ago, before the Rowley candidacy was announced in these columns the forebodings of returning Iowa Republican congressmen were mentioned. It was not known then that the Capitol grounds extension issue would be brought out so prominently, but it was known that the question of increased valuations, increased assessments and increased appropriations, adding greatly to the individual taxpayer's tax burden, would be a potent issue in the campaign. The primary comes after the taxpayer will have paid the first half of his taxes. The election comes after he will have paid the second half of his taxes. The republican congressmen know that Gov. Clarke will have to stand the brunt of the blame for these tax increases, whether justly or not, because he withheld his veto from the legislative acts which caused the added tax burden. So no matter what happens to the Capitol extension issue, the tax issue remains.

Mr. Rowley's campaign announcement sounds like an echo of the Bull Moose and he seems to have adopted some of the Bull Moose planks in his platform, though he is a standpatter and is given strong standpatter support. "We are not going to lie down," he declares. "We went into this contest to sustain a principle." He appeals to voters who he proclaims to be "the sovereigns of legislative bodies, executive councils and courts. What he asks the voters to do is virtually to recall the judicial decision by which the supreme court sustained the Capitol grounds extension after the lower court had annulled it. He would recall the executive who refused to veto the measure and invoke the referendum to place the matter before the people.

As viewed here, such a fight is not one that can end at the primary. It is not a fight for Rowley but a fight on Clarke. And Clarke as the head of the ticket will take the ticket down to defeat with him if beaten.

In Washington it is felt to be practically a certainty that the Democrats will retain their hold on the Second Iowa district. There is a wealth of strong democratic timber in the substantial Second district. The campaign will attract national attention because it will be the first expression of the views of the people of the middle west on the achievements of the Wilson administration, and the first election held anywhere in the country since the passage of the currency bill. The Democrats doubtless will base their campaign on President Wilson's successful administration. State Chairman Reed will open headquarters in the district and prosecute a vigorous campaign. Chairman Doremus of the national congressional committee is expected to throw the strength of the national organization into the district, not only because of the national aspects of the campaign, but because it is Congressman Pepper's district, and there was the closest bond of friendship between Congressman Pepper, who was secretary of the congressional committee, and Chairman Doremus and the other members. The announcement of Congressman Hinebaugh, chairman of the national Progressive committee, that a vigorous campaign will be made for a Progressive congressional nominee and the probability that this nominee will be City Attorney P. J. Hanley, of Muscatine, who commands a large progressive Republican vote, makes the situation appear all the more bright to Iowans in Washington.

The Senatorial situation, as viewed in Washington, appears brighter as new factors enter the campaign. The Progressive party conference in Des Moines this week is expected to go far to solidifying the Progressive strength in the state. Observers here declare that Senator Cummins cannot count on the progressive support he once received. The progressives in Congress are not pleased with his votes with the standpatters on the tariff and currency. At the recent national committee meeting when his plan for a special national convention was defeated by the standpat strength there were brought out evidences of bitterness that proved the fires of factional discord were burning brighter rather than dying down. Then politicians point out that a fight on the Republican state ticket is certain to have its effect on Senator Cummins candidacy on this same ticket. This only adds another point of weakness which Washington sees in Senator Cummins' candidacy, weaknesses, as was said, which have inspired the national organization with the confident belief that a Democratic senator will be elected.

The Old Line Plan.

There was a recent sale in Des Moines, Iowa, of the Des Moines Life, a stock insurance company. There was $100,000 worth of stock. The Rawsons owned fifty-one per cent, or a controlling interest. Each share was for $100. They sold each share of their interest to a Chicago concern for $1,000, or $900 more than the face value.

Under the charter of this concern the policy holders are supposed to get all the profits after paying death claims and a reasonable expense account. This Chicago concern would not have paid the Rawsons $1,000 for every $100 worth of stock unless they expected to make back the $900 on every share by withholding from the policy holders a portion, or all, of the dividends to which they have just claims under their policies.

Practically every old line company in the country is a stock company, and the owners of the stock fleece the policy holders. This sale of the Des Moines company is a stronger indictment against the practice of the old line companies than any fraternalist has ever drawn. It was in effect and morals exactly the same as if the officers of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen had sold the salaried positions which they occupy to strangers and turned the management of the Association over them.—Yeoman Shield.

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee."

TRUTH TRIUMPHS.

Cresco Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Cresco citizen given in her own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Cresco citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

Mrs. John Light, of Cresco, Iowa, says: "For years I suffered from kidney complaint and rheumatic pains in my joints and limbs. The kidney secretions were unnatural, at one time my limbs became so badly swollen that I was unable to put on my shoes. I tried various remedies, but became discouraged, as nothing helped me. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt better in a short time. I can now rest well and my kidneys are normal. I do not believe I would be alive today had it not been for Doan's Kidney Pills."

"Your Back is Lame—Remember the Name." Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same as Mrs. Light had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Made Strong and Well by Vinol. When we tell you that Vinol is the best remedy in our whole stock for making weak, puny, ailing children strong, robust and rosy we are only telling you what has been proved by hundreds of mothers.

J. L. Fickling, Macon, Ga., says: "My child was very thin and delicate, no appetite, nervous, and did not sleep well. Doctors did not help her. Vinol was recommended and the change after a fair trial was wonderful. She sleeps soundly all night, has a splendid appetite and has gained in weight. I wish every mother knew what Vinol will do for delicate children."

What Vinol did for this little girl it will do for every weak and ailing child because sickly children need the strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic iron that Vinol contains—that is why Vinol builds them up quickly and gives them a fine, healthy color. It is pleasant to take and we guarantee that the results will satisfy you—money back if they do not.

Praises This Remedy for Lung Trouble

Many people are led to believe that Lung Trouble is a disease which cannot be conquered. This is wrong, as many have fully recovered their health. A change of climate has helped some, but many more have been restored to health by breathing the freshest air, eating well-cooked, wholesome food, being temperate in their habits and adding the tonic qualities of Eckman's Alternative, a medicine for Throat and Lung Troubles. Investigate this case:—

Bowling Green, Ky., R. No. 4. "Gentlemen: The spring of 1908 I had a severe cough for six months. I tried all the medicine that my doctors recommended to me, but no results came from the better. I had night sweats and would cough and spit until I got so weak I could hardly do anything. But at last, doctors hearing of Glasgow Junction, Ia., advised that I try your medicine. In one week's time there was quite an improvement in my condition, and after I had taken several bottles I felt as well as ever in my life. I firmly believe that Eckman's Alternative will relieve any case of lung trouble if taken before the last stage.

(ALBION) A. C. BETTERS WORTH. (Name abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Tracheitis, Asthma, Strabismus, Colds and in rebuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.
