OBITUARY.
 FOSSE.
 Mabel Luretta, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foss, was born at Dorchester, Iowa, Oct. 7, 1898. She passed from this life to her home beyond at ten minutes of seven, Wednesday morning, Feb. 25, 1914, aged fifteen years, four months and eighteen days.
 She leaves to mourn her loss a loving father and mother, two sisters, Hazel and Lillian besides a host of relatives and friends.
 The greater part of Mabel's life was passed at Saratoga, where she has always been closely identified with the Sunday School. She graduated from the country school and commenced attending High School at Cresco, Sept. 1st, where she continued until the last of Dec. when her health failed. The last few weeks brought much bodily pain and suffering, but with a patience born of grace divine, it was uncomplainingly borne. All that skilled physicians and loving friends could do availed nothing. The legacy she leaves her family and friends is the memory of her cheerful ways, her loving disposition and her unselfishness.
 May we ever remember that "Our dear ones wait the coming o'er, Of those who have not crossed the [tide, But linger on the other side, a little [time."
 The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the church in Saratoga, conducted by the pastor Rev. C. W. Hempstead, and was attended by a large concourse of friends. There were many beautiful flowers. Her remains were laid to rest in the Saratoga cemetery in a snow white casket covered with beautiful flowers representing her pure life.
 CARD OF THANKS
 To those who so kindly rendered assistance during the sickness and death of our beloved Mabel, and to her schoolmates and friends who remembered her with beautiful flowers, when she was at the hospital and since her death, we wish to express our gratitude and appreciation.
 Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foss and Daughters.
 Young Mother Called.
 Mrs. M. C. Robinson passed away Wednesday of last week at Mercy hospital, Dubuque. Her death drew forth expressions of profound sorrow and sympathy. A few months ago her life was crowned with the unutterable joy of motherhood's priceless crown, but she emerged from the "valley of the shadow" only to be denied an opportunity to shower her love upon her newly-born infant son. After a brave struggle to regain health through weary weeks of pain and anguish she went to that better land where is known "no sorrow, nor day, nor night."
 To the heart-broken young husband and father the community offers the most sincere condolence. His devotion and sacrifice and loyal attention was most unselfish and entire, and with his tears are mingled the genuine grief of our people, and the tender solicitude for the motherless, infant son.
 The funeral was held last week at Cresco, and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.
 Nature sorrow as when a mother dies,
 No sorrow is as great as this—
 Beyond the clouds, beyond the skies
 She dwells in Heaven's bliss.
 —Waukon Republican.
