LOCAL BUZZINGS.

News Notes—Personal Paragraphs and Other Doings at Home Worthy of Special Mention.

Charlie Jones is now with J. M. Victory & Co.

Hunt Withers is making himself useful in the St. Bernard grocery. He succeeds Will Clark.

Wm. Walton, of Barsley, left for New York last Sunday. From there he sails for Europe, to be absent about six months.

The dancing fraternity gave a social dance last Friday night in McLeod & Dulin's Hall. Among those present were several visitors from Madisonville. In all some twenty couples were present.

Married—On November 30th by Esquire James Priest, R. V. Todd and Miss Viola Harper, both of this city. All success to the newly married couple is the wish of their many friends.

Several hogs were sold at auction last Monday to satisfy fines and court charges. These hogs had been taken up for running at large in violation of our town laws, and there being no claimants for the property, were sold to the highest bidder.

A team belonging to T. K. Devant, which he left standing in front of Stevens' blacksmith shop yesterday morning, concluded they didn't like the surroundings and started off of their own accord. After consuming five minutes' time going one square, they were overhauled by Marshal Flannery and his able assistant Tom Deaton. No damage was done.

James Albert Clarke and family, for several years residents of this place, living just on the outskirts of the city, have moved to Logansport, Ind. Mr. Clarke has served faithfully and long the consumers in this city, to vegetables and other garden "sass" all of whom will miss seeing his familiar face both in season and out of season. He will engage in the same business as heretofore in his new field of operation.

A son of Mr. M. D. Pusey, a merchant of Gibraltar, N. C., was so badly afflicted with rheumatism for a year or more as to be unable to work or go to school. His father concluded to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm on the boy. It soon cured him and he has since walked one and one-half miles to school and back every school day. 50 cent bottles for sale by St. Bernard drug store, Earlington; Ben T. Robinson, Morton's Gap; George King, St. Charles.

One of the greatest treats of the season will be Hon. John Henry Powell's lecture on "Typhoid Exposed" which will be delivered here Wednesday Eve, Dec. 21st. This lecture abounds in wit and humor as well as sound logic, and will miss some child who fails to hear it will miss something of great value. So if you want to enjoy an evening of pleasure come and bring your wives, sisters, daughters and sweethearts, and laugh as you never have before. Tickets for sale at the St. Bernard Company Store by Chas. McGary.

A full line of hair, tooth, cloth and shoe brushes, cheaper than ever before, at Woolfolk's.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

If you have any visitors send for their names for mention in this column. We will appreciate the favor.

Duncan Gallagher spent Sunday last in Hopkinsville.

Several visitors are expected here during the holidays.

Ross W. Davis is in Hopkinsville enjoying a brief visit.

Owen Nisbet was among Earlington visitors last Sunday.

Col. A. W. Howard of Nashville was in the city Tuesday.

Prof. McCall, of Bethel College, Hopkinsville was here last Saturday.

Miss McGregor, of Beatrice, Neb., is visiting Miss Lillie Robinson.

Edgar Bramwell and wife of Nashville spent Sunday with relatives in this city.

Miss Senora Blakely returned from a visit to friends at Nebo yesterday morning.

Miss Mary N. Atkinson attended the Barnett-Dallam nuptials in Henderson yesterday.

Don't fail to see the beautiful Xmas presents L. R. Woolfolk has in his Xmas display.

Barry Notice.
Taken up as an stray by T. H. Green, living one and one-half miles south-west of White Plains, in Hopkins county, on the 20th ult., one bay horse, aged about 15 years, has a knot on right fore knee and white spots on each shoulder caused by collar galls; small white spot on each flank, and a few white hairs in center of forehead, and a few white hairs on the inside of the hind legs. There are no other marks or brands that I have discovered, and which I have approved to the value of $25. Witness my hand this October 23, 1922.

L. F. BAILEY, J. P. H. C.

We are the people who will save you money on Christmas goods.

MADISONVILLE.

A WEEK'S HISTORY OF OUR NEIGHBORING CITY.

Picked Up—Individual Mention—Religious and Social—Consular—Worth Reading—Amusements.

Picked Up.
Spent the holidays in Madisonville. The Reinecke Coal Company had a break down last week.

Go out and hear John Templer Graves next Thursday night. Do not fail to see the New York Stars, Thursday, December 29th.

The Spring Lake and Park Company is to be sold by order of court.

Prof. T. H. Smith's Broadway school is apparently in a flourishing condition.

John Templer Graves, the Georgia orator, at the Christian Church, Dec. 2nd.

Prof. Horing is instructing a limited number of pupils at his residence on Union Street.

We have actually been relieved of Post office and Cleveland's Cabinet a whole week.

A dime museum was the attraction last Saturday. The people did not seem to bite very readily.

A new "cheap clothing" man has taken his stand within the Morton building, on Main Street.

The City office of the Madisonville Coal Company is now connected with the mines by a telephone.

Another saloon is being opened within the new Nisbet building. Our saloon members now register five.

The court house contractors are about to involve themselves in litigation with an iron company of Cincinnati.

The railroads will offer reduced rates for those who desire to attend the Sam Jones sermons at Hopkinsville next month.

It is frequently reported that the Creamery has suspended operation. This is not only unjust but damaging to the business.

The tobacco merchants are now ready buyers, and the delivery season has been prolonged by the recent rains and damp weather.

The merchants, jewelers and proprietors of novelty houses are making huge preparations for the holidays. Trade was excellent last Saturday.

We are glad to note that Harry Scott, who was shot at Hopkinsville last month is rapidly improving and will soon be able to out on the streets again.

Your representative has just gained the intelligence that a number of local capitalists are considering the feasibility of connecting the cities of Madisonville and Earlington by an electric line.

Everett McGrew has embarked into the confectionery business again. He carries one of the most complete lines of fruits in the city. His present headquarters are on Center street, next door to Roser's dry goods house.

The rumor is current that Mat Ray contemplates the erection of a pressed brick structure on Center street. The site has been chosen as a good one, and we hope that he will not give up the idea when the lazy spring days arrive. This is not the Hotel Bluff.

Individual Mention.
Will Bailey, of Texas, is in the city.

Jim Ross was in Hopkinsville Friday night.

Miss Ella Pratt spent Wednesday at home.

Miss Annie May Willis returned home last week.

Miss Hill, of Hopkinsville, has been visiting friends at the Hotel Lucile.

Mrs. W. H. Jennings returned from Lexington Monday night with her daughter, Miss Birdie, who has been attending school at Hamilton College, but was compelled to return home on account of illness.

Religious and Social.
A protracted meeting is in progress at the Methodist church, conducted by Eld. T. C. Peters. Some interest seems to be manifested, and during services a number of conversions have been made among them. Mr. I. Bailey and wife. The latter was formerly a Catholic.

Elder J. S. Fall preached to a large audience at the Christian church last Sunday morning.

The Baptist church is without a regular minister.

Consular.
GEORGE-TUCKER—Mr. Lee George, of St. Louis, and Miss Ida Tucker, of this city, were united in marriage at the residence of Mr. William Tucker, on Union street, last Tuesday. Eld. Hoppel performed the rites. While we are not intimately acquainted with the contracting persons, we feel safe in saying that they are highly respected, as Miss Ida Tucker is the youngest daughter of John Tucker, an old and well-known citizen of this place. They have the good wishes of THE BEE.

BASSETT-Pritchett—Mr. Lucien Bassett and Miss Aggie Pritchett, both of this city, were to have been married yesterday. We go to press too early to give a complete account. They both figure prominently in Madisonville circles, and we wish them joy and happiness through life.

The Library Party.
One of the novel and interesting entertainments during the holiday season will be the "Library Party," on Friday evening, December 30, 1922. It will be given by the Chautauque Circle, and the proceeds derived will be used in the attempt to establish a Public Library here.

All members of the Circle will represent a character from the book of a standard author, and when a lady or gentleman desires a certain book, they go to the librarian, ask for their selection and the volume is forthcoming in the shape of the lady or gentleman representing the principal character in that book. If the volume is kept out of the library over twenty minutes a small forfeit must be paid.

Light refreshments will be served at a light price.

If you want a liberal education in a very short time, come to the "Library Party," ask the librarian to push the button and the books will do the rest.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pritchett have very kindly offered the use of the Lucile and their spacious parlors will be thrown open for the reception of guests from 8 o'clock until 11.

Everybody come, enjoy the fun, and assist in a laudable undertaking.

For all kinds of holiday gifts go to J. M. Victory & Co's.

AMUSEMENTS.

GREATEST ATTRACTION OF THE SEASON DURING THE HOLIDAYS.

The New York Stars—A Guaranteed Attraction—Backed by the Citizens and Evidently a Refined Entertainment.

The New York Star Concert Company will make its first appearance before a Madisonville audience, Thursday night December 29th, at a high opera house. This will evidently be a highly refined entertainment and is doubtless one of the best concert companies on the road.

A number of the prominent citizens of this place and Earlington have raised a guarantee fund to insure this superior attraction, and lovers of music should take advantage of this opportunity we give below some press notices that are worth your time and attention.

The solo of Scott Heywood on the cornet was one of the most pleasing features of the program, and he immediately became a favorite with the audience. His tone is of the sweetest kind and his execution faultless.—Chicago News.

Miss Flora Drescher, the violinist, received an encore on her solo, "Scene de Ballet," and responded with "The Old Folks at Home." Her playing was superb in the various numbers and stamps her as a player of the highest order of excellence. Dewey Heywood's flute solo, "Hungarian Rhapsody," was received with vociferous applause which it well deserved. Mr. Heywood and his company will do well to return to South Bend since they have struck up so good an acquaintance with our amusement lovers.—South Bend (Ind.) Times.

As an impersonator, Mr. Eaton has no superior and few equals. His strongest point lies in his ability to assume the role of a female. This he does to perfection, and his last two selections, "A Day of Troubles," by Josiah Allen's Wife, and an opera singer—both in costume—were the best of the program. His falsetto singing is something remarkable.—New Orleans Times Democrat.

Mrs. Lou J. Mitchell, the blind poetess, gave some selections from her poems at the Christian church last Tuesday evening. Her attraction was not judiciously advertised and only a small crowd was present.

The cantata, "Joy Bells," will be produced by the children of the Christian Sunday-school during the holidays.

A local theatrical club has been recently organized with the following members: Misses Brewitt, Farley, Sinclair, Fieley and Mary Nisbet. Messrs. W. K. Nisbet, Lafont, Franceway, Cunningham, Plaine and Pratt. It is the intention of the club to present the comedy, "Not So Bad After All," at an early date.

After constant effort and expense of time and means, it is possible that the Chautauque Society will have a lecture course, comprising of four lectures, the first one to be delivered next Thursday night at the Christian church, by John Templer Graves, the "phenomenal orator," of Georgia. His subject has not yet been announced. All who desire to encourage this noble organization, yet in its infancy, should lend aid by attending the initial lecture next Thursday night.

$85.00 organs for $70.00 Must go. L. R. Woolfolk.

ISLLEY.
We will have a Christmas tree. Perry Anter's eyes are improving. The new building is in the hands of the painter.

Judge Salmon went to Nortonville last Sunday.

The east side of the public square is being graded.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Salmon went to Dawson last Friday.

Billy Williams is back again at his post in the blacksmith shop.

Thomas Crews, of St. Charles is painting the inside of the new block.

Local talent is preparing for an entertainment to be given on the 23d.

Send your children to Sunday-school next Sunday so that their names may be enrolled.

Charles Dyer, the company's efficient foreman carpenter, has moved into the Hall block.

Brother Quill, of Boxtown, is doing some excellent timber work for the Carbondale Company.

If you have any presents to give, bring them in and let them be placed on the Christmas tree.

Children from a distance can easily attend the Sunday-school here now as it is held in the afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Boyd, our photographer, took several views last week, among which was the store, tippie, blacksmith shop, stable and mules with drivers.

Mont Ray met with quite a serious accident last week while at work in the mine. A piece of slate fell on him, injuring him severely, but not fatally.

We heard that Brother Squib, of St. Charles, made the trip from that place here in twenty minutes one day last week, but did not stay more than half that long.

In the Isley court last Saturday, Judge R. J. Salmon presiding, the case of Davis vs. Fieley, was tried before a jury, who gave a verdict of $12 and costs in favor of plaintiff.

The next masquerade ball will be given at an early date, either in the new house or the school house, and Monek will have an able assistant and the affair will be the event of the season.

Young man, if you go to St. Charles to a ball be sure to take a partner with you if you want to dance. Courtesy and hospitality to strangers is an unknown gentility among St. Charlesites.

Judge R. J. Salmon, A. T. Bone, James Lacy, William Cook, Jake Jackson and John Salmon attended the lodge at St. Charles last Saturday night. Our captain (named the royal bawler).

You should have seen our Claude at Jim Day's party. He reminded us of our worthy Chief Templer with his right and left supporters. Let no man say the luminous haired youth is bashful, for we know better than that now.

As we have over one hundred and fifty children of school age in this district. The attendance at both common and Sunday-school should be much larger than it is, and we hope that parents will do their duty by their children and see that they attend both.

The Carbondale folks seem to be awakened up as we learn that the force has been increased on the grade, and several carpenters employed. One house is about finished and two more have been commenced. That is right Mr. Maclewed has your name, get a move on Carbondale, for it will make a good suburb for Isley.

Some people seem to think that we have an assistant. We wish we had, but the fact is that many of our friends could and should help us, yet they are so far from doing so that they try to hide what is helping. Now friends, we want you to help us and tell us what you know, and our items will be more interesting.

The debating club met on the night of the 6th and transacted some routine business, and changing the meeting to Monday instead of Tuesday night. This was done so as not to conflict with any religious appointments. After an hour's debate, the question was allowed to stand over until the 13th, when it will be settled.

For watches, rings, breast pins, car rings, silver knives and forks, and all kinds of jewelry go to J. M. Victory & Co's.

Bushels of pipes at Woolfolk's—all styles.

HAMBLY STATION.
Mrs. Hambly was in town Tuesday. Mr. Caldwell went to Dawson Tuesday. Mr. Boyanton has returned from Princeton.

Dr. Cahill, of Louisville, was here Monday.

Joe and Oscar attended Crabtree Sunday school.

Miss Ida Wilson was shopping in Dawson, Saturday.

Ke Day, of Dawson, visited his brother James, Saturday.

Charlie McDonald, of Memphis, was here on business Tuesday.

The party at Penticost, Friday night, could hardly be called a success.

Neelie Hamby is happy. It's a boy, and mother and little fellow doing nicely.

Mr. Wallace, an expert machinist, is here from Princeton, at work for the Coal Co. Bennie Craynor had business in Clifton last Thursday. Friday he spent in Dawson.

Dr. Finley, of St. Charles, spent a few hours with T. D. Caldwell and family last Monday.

Bennie Craynor was one among the jolly crowd at Mr. Williams' entertainment Saturday night.

Mr. Beasley, a very handsome and popular young man of this place, visited friends and relatives at St. Charles last Sunday.

Last Saturday night James Day entertained a large number of his friends at his home. All report having had a delightful time.

Robert Taylor, of Dawson, met with a painful accident last Saturday while at work between end and Isley switch. He was cutting bushes near the railroad track, and by some mishap struck his foot, cutting it badly. He was helped to the depot and sent home, where a physician attended to his injuries. We hope he will soon recover.

An endless variety of Christmas books of pretty designs among the collection Woolfolk has for sale.

I can save you money on Xmas goods. Get my prices and be convinced. L. R. Woolfolk.

CHARLESTON.
Let's hear about that Christmas tree. Christmas is coming—to this neck of the woods.

Miss Effie and Mary J. Nixon visited Crabtree Friday on a shopping expedition.

The farmers in this locality have disposed of nearly all of their crop of tobacco, realizing good prices.

Some of our boys, a few only, are saving their small change for a general siem-winding tearout on Christmas.

Quite a change has come over Jake of late. I could say "all on account of Eliza," but you know that's not her name.

Cord Hamby and Emerson Alexander swapped guns the other day and both claim the worst of the trade and want to swap back.

Our debating society is to be resurrected once more, making the third or fourth time. This is fun for the boys as they all enjoy the past-time.

Our neighbor, Isley, is booming right along. Besides an addition to the company store, several new dwellings have been built the last few weeks.

Isley is now "picture"-esque. Photos of the principal places and distinguished citizens, including "Uncle Dan," have been taken and are in great demand over that way.

WANTED.
I want your Xmas trade. If variety, low prices and kind treatment are inducement, I will catch you. L. R. Woolfolk.

MORTON'S GAP.
J. F. Meyers was in Madisonville this week on business.

James Dixon, of Providence, is a frequent visitor at our place.

E. A. Holmes, has sold his stock of confectionaries to L. D. Smith.

Committees have been appointed preparatory to getting up a Xmas tree.

Ferdinand Halder, of St. Charles, paid out on a pleasant call last Friday.

Our town is on a boom as there are four new houses being built at present.

Miss Vincent, of Earlington is the guest of Mr. W. B. Courtney, of our village.

Our jolly townsman, B. C. Rice, was in Madisonville last Monday on business.

Mrs. Jane Clark has gone to Henderson to meet a sister en route from Nebraska.

There are only fourteen applicants for our postoffice. Wonder who will get the pie?

Will Hinkle was here for a short time Saturday evening to see somebody else's girl.

John Weldon has sold his property to Walter Davis. The consideration is not known.

Hart Morton has sold his home place to the St. Bernard Coal Co. for the consideration of $2,000.

We are glad to note that Henry Downer, who has been very low with fever, is able to be up again.

Joe Adcock, who has been working for the St. Bernard Coal Co. for the past five or six years, has gone to Providence to work.

Billie Webb went to Providence, where he was joined in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Clark. "My they never be less happy.

On last Wednesday night the singing class met at the usual time and place with Prof. C. B. Pittman, temporary chairman, and organized a society, to be named hereafter, and elected the following officers: Ben T. Robinson, president; J. E. Williams, vice-president; Miss Ora Barron, secretary; Cortis Harris, assistant secretary; J. E. Cook, treasurer, and Miss Pearl Barnes, assistant treasurer. A committee was appointed by the president to draft a constitution and by-laws, to be acted upon at the next meeting.

MINING BEES.

Ed Phillips' fine residence will soon be completed.

Several Heels parties attended "Squire Priest's" stock last week.

They Farnsworth, after several week's illness, has returned to work.

The Dulin mine now has telephone communication with Madisonville.

Paul Moore was called to Evansville last week on business for the St. Bernard.

Hall Shelton, after an absence of several months, has again returned to our burg.

Important business called Messrs. Umstead and Robinson went to St. Charles last Monday.

"Squire Priest was on the sick list for a day or two last week, caused by lung and heart trouble.

Why should there be a cry for free fall when 20,000 barrels are mined in this country every year.

There is such a demand for coke during the winter season that recently a dealer expressed himself as wishing for twenty acres of stock coke on hand.

The Empire mines was represented here last week by Foreman Thomas Robinson, who, on account of a run of business, could only make a brief visit.

The supply of slack at times is not sufficient to keep the coke ovens here running at their full capacity, hence the necessity of crushing coal occasionally.

Supt. Harris, of Morton's Gap, will soon have his new residence completed and a beautiful edifice it will be when the painters have given it the final touch.

Hunt Harris, who for years has been a faithful employe of the St. Bernard Coal Co., has disposed of his home and lot to Mr. Dean for the consideration of $625.

Perhaps there is no place in the State where miners take such an interest in religion as they do at this place, and which is no doubt the cause of the peace which exists here.

Mr. Hancock, of the Dulin mine, was down here last week in search of a new gun which had been taken from his house without leave. Two houses were searched, but no lost property was found.

New Yorkers are kicking because they have to pay $5.75 ton for hard coal. What would they do if they were in St. Louis, where that amount of money doesn't buy much more than half a ton?—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Usually about the first of the year the roads are full of people who are ready to take a step in the direction, but not being willing to wait until that time, two of our leading lights have thrown aside the filthy pipe and plug of tobacco and will smoke a grape vine and chew gum.

Supt. Dunning, of the Barsley mines, and several miners were called down here last week to attend court, on account of the supposed action of several bad boys who, it was thought, mischievously turned a car loose while it was standing above the tip, and they were brought up before the court for investigation, and upon failure to prove they were guilty of the charge they were released, only one being held for the use of profane and vulgar language.

There is much excitement in the western part of the State of Sonora, Mexico, over the recent discovery of a gold mine of fabulous richness. The find was brought about in a remarkable manner, the fortunate discoverer being Arthur O. Corna, a merchant of Altair that State. About two weeks ago Mr. Corna bought a piece of quartz from an Indian, which contained a little over six pounds of pure gold. A few days later the Indian appeared again with another lot of rich gold-bearing quartz, which Mr. Corna bought for $20. Mr. Corna then offered the Indian $30 to show him where the gold had been obtained. The offer was accepted and the two went off to the hill, and after a little while from the mine the Indian failed Mr. Corna where to go and see the gold for himself.

The Indian would not approach the mine, because of the tradition that any one of the native race showing a mine to a Mexican would die within a few days. Mr. Corna went where directed and found the rich gold mine, which he named the Teedrona. The mine shows evidence of having been worked for centuries, and it is believed to be one of the lost mines of the Aztecs from which they obtained such great wealth centuries ago. Mr. Corna will begin working the property on an extensive scale.

Below we quote what W. M. Becker said among other things about labor, in a speech lately delivered at Lexington: "You have all no doubt heard the story of the young man who walked into Lexington with all his worldly goods tied in a handkerchief and carried on a stick across his shoulder. He sought employment for his muscles, how he found work on the farm of Drummond Hunter near this city, and how afterwards he died a leader in the United States Senate, and himself the owner of a handsome estate. The cheapness of land and the scarcity of labor made it easy for all to become freeholders under the old order of things. Conditions are changing, however. A State with fifteen hundred miles of river front, with a coal field larger than that of Great Britain, with a greater area of hard wood timber than can be found elsewhere in the Union with beds of iron ore whose value is beyond what even our proudest boosters have yet claimed, with a rich soil and a genial climate, and above all, with a location in the heart of the country, which will make distribution of our products easy, most develop to those lines that will compel rapid and vast increases in the number of our laborers.

Legislators, like the rest of the human family, are liable to err, both in mind and action, but we venture the assertion that never were affairs more mixed up in a State in regard to the legitimacy of the acts passed than exists at present in this State. They have got the World's Fair appropriation bill in such a muddle that it is thought that at least four distinct decisions will soon be handed down by the Supreme court of the State as regards the legitimacy of that bill. This is truly a lamentable condition of affairs when we take in consideration the necessity of said bill afforded by this bill toward the proper representation of the State's products of all kinds at the Fair and with the understanding that the State would most develop to those lines that will compel rapid and vast increases in the number of our laborers.

Legislators, like the rest of the human family, are liable to err, both in mind and action, but we venture the assertion
