

INJUNCTION MADE PERPETUAL.

Federal Judge Evans Makes Order in the Case Against Union Miners.

CASE OF ST. BERNARD MINING COMPANY.

Court Mentions the Rights of Employers in Rendering Judgment.

Labor Agitators Get a Black Eye By This Decision.

Louisville, Ky., June 3.—Judge Walter Evans handed down an opinion yesterday in the United States Circuit Court declaring that the injunction against James D. Wood, of the National Mine Workers of America, and other leaders of that organization to prevent them from interfering with the employes of the St. Bernard and Reinecke Mining Companies should be made perpetual. Judge Evans said that grounds for an injunction pendente lite had been given in the opinion handed down December 23, 1901.

The injunction was granted during the trouble in the Western Kentucky coal fields in 1901. It was secured for the Reinecke Mining Company by Helm, Bruce & Helm, of this city, and afterward for the St. Bernard Mining Company. During the trouble in the western part of the State, union miners from Indiana, Illinois and other counties in Kentucky flocked to Hopkins, Webster and the other counties adjoining and attempted to induce the miners employed by the companies affected to become members of the national miners' organization. They attempted to persuade the nonunion men employed at the mines to leave, and established an armed camp at Madisonville, while they were in that part of the State. There was much marauding and disorder in the vicinity of Madisonville, Earlington and Nortonville, and Gov. Beckham was finally forced to send troops to the scene to maintain order. Several men were wounded in the brushes with the strikers and their sympathizers and Robert Coffey, a private detective, was murdered.

The suit for the injunction was brought against the leaders in the United Mine Workers of America individually and not against the organization. The injunction was granted. It enjoined the strikers and their sympathizers from interfering with the non-union men employed at the mines, or with the operation of the mines by any means whatever. In sustaining the injunction, Judge Evans said that his reasons for doing so were to protect the employers' rights. The non-union men, he said, had the right to work where they please, and they should not be interfered with. The injunction was contested by the labor leaders, against whom it was issued, and was carried along in the courts until the decision of yesterday.

GUN CLUB NOTES.

We understand some of our Nebo friends came up to shoot with us Thursday and were told there would be no shoot and went back. We are sorry they were misinformed, as we have a shoot every Thursday. Come again, boys, we will be glad to have you.

We would be glad to have more come out and shoot with us than do. We ought to have 20 or more every Thursday. Come out, boys, and take more interest in our shoot.

Dan Donahue says if his gun would not snap he could do better. Get you a better gun, Dan.

Chas. Robinson was not out Thursday. Something wrong. What is it, Charlie.

Henry Bourland says he does wish he had gone out to the shoot Thursday. If he had he would have now been wearing the medal. No one to blame but yourself, Henry.

Albert Keown says he would have beat Frank Arnold shooting off that tie Thursday, but he had worn the medal once and knew that would be Frank's only chance.

Cal Martin started out as if he was going to break all of them, but like some of the balance, he fell down and only got 10.

Joe Huff was out Thursday to try his hand. Joe shot at 14, but let them all get away. Try it again, Joe, you can't do any worse.

Doin' Her Best.

Pretty good world
With her roses and rest;
Don't you believe
She is doin' her best?
Don't you believe
She is rollin' the way
That leads to the light
Of the perfectest day?
This for life's comfort
In all the unrest;
This here old world
Is just doin' her best!

CALIFORNIA PIONEERS

Numbers Few This Year But Plan Jaunt For Next Meeting.

CAPT. SANDUSKY DUBBED THE "KID."

The annual meeting of the California Pioneer Society of Western Kentucky was held at Providence last week. The meeting this year was conspicuous for the small number of original forty-niners present. When the society was organized fifteen years ago there were about twenty-five members, but each year they have been narrowing down, and when the roll was called at this meeting only six could answer present. The meeting was held at the home of the President of the society, J. W. Montgomery. Those present were: J. W. Montgomery, Thomas Givens, Providence; R. B. Nunn, J. M. Moorman, Owensboro; A. J. Jackson, Slaughter'sville, and Capt. W. H. Sandusky, Central City.

All present were past seventy years of age. Thomas Givens was the oldest, being eighty years old. Capt. Sandusky is just seventy, and was dubbed the "Kid" by the others present. Mr. James Moorman, of Owensboro, was the only man present who crossed the plains as early as 1849, the others going in 1851 and 1852. The members are planning to go in a body to St. Louis next year and meet the California delegation at the World's Fair.

Labor and Raw Material.

There is scarcely anything of value that does not come from labor. This is a truth so universally admitted that it may be considered an axiom. Why man is so constituted that he does those things which come to him spontaneously and without effort is inexplicable, but the fact still remains. Labor produces wealth, not simply material wealth, but mental and moral wealth. Labor gives knowledge and discipline to the mind and strength and solidity to the moral prosperity. Take a piece of iron ore that lies buried in the ground; it is of small value. A whole ton is not worth more than 50 cents. Let labor dig it out, put it in the furnace, smelt it, puddle it, roll it, wrap it up in a grave of charcoal for cementation and convert it into steel either in this way or by some other process; cut it into small strips, file, polish and temper them for watch springs and the ore once worth 50 cents will be worth a thousand pounds of silver, or $13,000. All this value has been derived from labor upon raw material, worth originally one-twenty-six-thousandths of its value as a manufactured product. Labor is the greatest magician known to man; it is a ligament that binds us to civilization; it is the master that rules the world.—Southern Farm Magazine, of Baltimore, for June.

ASLEEP ON THE TRACK.

Negro Boy Killed by a Freight Train Near Barnsley Monday Morning.

Eddie Harrison, a negro boy of Clarksville, Tenn., was struck by the engine of a south bound freight train near Barnsley Monday and instantly killed. Harrison and two companions were hoboing their way north and had gotten past the little town of Barnsley, about two miles from this place, when they stopped to rest on the railroad track. Harrison sat down and leaned his head over the rail, going to sleep. The train came swiftly around the curve and was upon him before his companions could awaken him and get him out of the way. When he was struck by the engine he was hurled several feet from the track. One side of his head was crushed in and death was instantaneous. The boy was about 16 years old and was sent to Hopkinsville on 51 Monday evening. The colored people of this city made up sufficient money to purchase a plain coffin for him. Coroner Kogers was summoned and held an inquest over the remains. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts and attached no blame to anyone.

Monster Catfish Caught on

Trot Line Near Henderson.

When Mr. Sylvester Jewel, a fisherman, attempted to raise a trot line near Stanley's Orchard, a few miles above town, a monster catfish jumped out of the water, nearly overturning the skiff. After a lengthy struggle he managed to get a dip net under the whale and, with the assistance of a man in the boat, finally landed him. A large rope was put through his mouth and, hanging him on an oar, they brought him to town. He tipped the scales at 96 pounds, and was as large as a 10-year-old boy. His mouth was nearly as large as a water bucket and on both upper and lower gums were hundreds of needle-like teeth. They were fully a quarter of an inch long and looked as if they were capable of masticating a crowbar. He was a channel cat of the finest type.—Henderson Gleaner.

GAVE UP THE UNION.

Smith & Wesson Men Quick to Quit Labor Movement and Sign Agreement With Employers.

COMPANY REFUSED TO WORK ANY MEMBERS OF THE UNION.

"The Smith & Wesson Company, of Springfield, Mass., maker of revolvers, has always been a non-union plant," says the New York Sun. "Recently the employes held an informal meeting to organize a union. The company heard of it and objected, discharging several of the leaders. The men persisted in the organization. Thereupon the company posted one night last week a notice that the factory would close at once indefinitely, but saying that any employe desiring to resume work could notify the officers.

Before 7 o'clock next morning the street was filled with men anxious to return to work. They filed into the office and were told to sign this statement:

"I hereby affirm that I am a member of no labor union whatsoever, and agree that I will not join any such union while in the employ of the Smith & Wesson Company without first notifying them in writing of my intention of doing so."

"During the day 387 of the 500 employes signed the agreement. This all happened last week, and on Monday the works reopened. The managers say the works could have opened at once with a complete force, but that the delay was taken at the request of old employes who have worked for the company twenty or thirty years and have felt the crisis keenly. Smith & Wesson began the manufacture of revolvers in 1856, and this is the first time that the company has had any trouble with its men."

RAILROAD WINS.

Damage Suit for Personal Injuries Because Team Took Fright at Locomotive.

TEAMSTERS MUST "LOOK OUT FOR THE LOCOMOTIVE."

Henderson, Ky., May 30.—In the Henderson Circuit Court today a peremptory instruction was given to the jury to find for the defendant in the action of A. B. Sights vs. the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company. Sights sued for $10,000 damages for personal injuries alleged to have been received by him on or about February 6, 1903, by reason of a team of horses he was driving taking fright at noises made by an engine of defendant near to the point where the defendant's tracks cross Second street in Henderson. Defendant contended that the noises made by the engine were only those usually incident to the operation of engines, and, furthermore, that plaintiff knew where the engine was, and that if he could not control his team when they were near to an engine, that he ought not to have driven close to the track until after the engine had passed beyond the crossing. There was no contact between the engine and the team, vehicle or driver.

Big Mortgage of a Million and a Half Dollars.

A special to the Times from Sturgis says:

Probably the biggest mortgage ever recorded in Union county has been filed at Morganfield by the United States Coal Company, of Sturgis, calling for a million and a half dollars and filling almost a volume of items from the big hole itself down to picks and car wheels.

The company recently purchased the property from the Paducah Coal Company, and is composed of Eastern capitalists, of whom the multi-millionaire, Thomas J. Nevins, of New Jersey, is the principal stockholder. It is supposed the company proposes a new organization and greater developments by putting bonds on the market.

RAILWAY TIME TABLES.

Novel Method of Teaching Geography Used by One Teacher.

"I never realized the value of time tables until I got hold of a class of boys old enough to study geography," said Albert S. Ransom, a New York school teacher.

"So far as the study of maps goes I can get better results from the use of time tables than all the geographies in the market. Maps that have been prepared for the purpose of cultivating the youthful mind in the matter of locality are shunned as bugbears by all except the studious few. But just set a dozen boys around a pile of time tables and tell them to locate certain cities, towns, lakes and rivers, and they will work like beavers and come out letter perfect every time. For most children time tables and the accompanying maps are a source of unending delight, both in and out of school hours.

"It is true that this unorthodox method may give the boys an exaggerated idea as to the importance of certain railroads, but they seem to get enough good out of the investigation to counteract such impression."—Washington Star.
