POLITICAL STATE NEWS.

withstanding the fact that ment Republicans who are close to the President say that Commissioner of Internal revenue John V. Yerkes is to be appointed a dge of the Court of Claims, the ommissioner says he "hasn't heard it." However, it is certain that r. Yerkes is to get the judgeship, or something better.

It is the consensus of opinion here that the Kentuckian has the ability to fill any position to which he may be called and would serve in any capacity in a manner which would reflect credit upon the administration. —Washington correspondence Louisville Times.

Miss Mamie Dougherty, for several years matron at the Hopkinsville Asylum, has resigned and gone home to Bardstown.

Arrested at Henderson.

Dan Floyd and James Jackson, the two negro men who robbed the store of Ashby & Baker, at Madisonville Wednesday night were arrested at Henderson Friday by officers at that place.

Floyd, the first one to be arrested, was wearing a suit of the clothes at the time and when taken into custody made a full confession, implicating Blackwell, who was also arrested later and some of the stolen property was found in his possession. The negroes were given an examining trial Saturday and held over to circuit court. They reside at Henderson.

Injured by Jumping From Moving Train.

W. L. Croslin, a young man who mails from Robertson county, Tenn., and who considers himself an expert when it comes to getting on and off rapidly moving trains, had his arm broken and was otherwise injured while giving an exhibition of his prowess at this place Sunday. It seems Croslin was jumping off backwards and stepped on his toe and was thrown violently to the ground his arm striking the rail and breaking both bones. He was removed to the St. Bernard Hospital where Dr. E. A. Chatten dressed his wounds.

Nearing an End.

The trial of the nine negro murderers who killed an unknown man at Pembroke some time since is in progress at Hopkinsville this week and will in all likelihood be finished in a day or so. There is a mass of damaging evidence against the negroes and their efforts to establish alibis proved abortive. Dudley Boyles, a negro woman of Todd county, gave important testimony against the prisoners.

Restaurant Changes Hands.

Lawrence Kilroy, who has been yard master here for several years, has purchased the restaurant in the Eugene Cordier property on the corner from Walden & Eades. Mr. Kilroy is a hustling man and has a large number of friends on the road and in Earlinton who will be glad to patronize him. Mr. Eades has sold his share of the grocery to Mr. Walden and will move to Central City, where he will engage in business.

DR. CARLSTEDT'S GERMAN LIVER POWDER

Money refunded if you are not pleased with results; has cured thousands —why not you?

Mr. E. B. Hackett, a prominent merchant of Morganfield, Ky., was a sufferer for years from constipation and indigestion, and was prevailed upon to try Dr. Carlstedt's German Liver Powder by one whom it had done great good. He gave it a single trial, when he began to feel better at once. Troubled with piles, Mr. Hackett was surprised to find himself cured of this dreaded of bodily ailments. He is now cured and does not use any medicine. If cured in this manner, give it a trial; it costs 25 cents, and should it not be authorized to

IMPOSSIBLE

To Have Volcanic Disturbances in Kentucky.

If the reports of decidedly volcanic disturbances in the mountain section of Rowan county are true, says the Courier-Journal, the condition is an enigma to local scientists and geologists, all of whom agree that the geological formations of that section are not conducive to volcanic conditions. Prof. E. H. Mark, superintendent of the city schools, who is both a scientist and geologist, says he cannot account for the phenomenon, if it really exists, unless a coal bed underlies Sugar Loaf Hill, where, the reports say, smoke can be seen issuing from fissures on the mountain side.

"If a bed of coal underlies the mountain," said Prof. Mark, "under certain conditions the phenomenon is possible. If by reason of the fissures oxygen could reach the buried carbon, certain chemical conditions caused to exist by the contact of the oxygen and the minerals in the earth could cause the vapor to be thrown off."

Asked if there was any danger of troublesome volcanic conditions, Prof. Mark said he thought there was not, as the geological formations in that section are not of the description that cause such disturbances.

Prof. R. P. Hallock says he does not believe the stories are true, and if they are he will not attempt to explain the cause. He said he is not familiar with the geology of that section, and would not give an opinion on the subject.

"I take little stock in the stories," said Prof. Hallock, "and do not think it possible for such a condition to exist. The reports mention certain fissures in the mountain side, but do not say they are of recent formation, and if they were formed prior to this, I never heard of them. It seems as if so unusual a thing as a number of fissures forming in a mountain side had occurred it would have been heard of, especially as such things are formed by seismic disturbance of more or less violence, which has not been experienced in Kentucky, at least in recent years."

FRENCH LICK AND WEST BADEN SPRINGS.

In the highlands of Indiana—a two hour ride from Louisville there flow wonderful healing waters, that you'd spend hundreds of dollars to enjoy if they were in Europe.

A recent visitor from Philadelphia, who formerly went to Carlsbad every year, said: "I do not see why anyone goes to Europe for medicinal waters. The water is as beneficial, and the scenery and surrounding country, the air and the opportunities for recreation are better; the hotels and all accommodations are much finer at French Lick-West Baden Springs"—and this gentleman is a native of Switzerland.

The splendidly wooded hills with the cool, invigorating air of these highlands where one can enjoy rambles in the depths of the forest, or rides and drives among the numerous bridle paths and roadways, afford pleasure for those who desire rest and quiet; while at the splendid casinos one can have all the entertainment and social pleasures possible at the most fashionable resorts.
