CONSUMPTION

Nearly every city in the interior of Egypt is now lighted by electricity.

If you want to increase your strength, you must add to and not take from the physical. In other words, the food that you eat must be digested, assimilated and appropriated by the nerves, blood and tissues before being expelled from the intestines. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure adds to the physical. It gives strength to and builds up strength in the human system. It is pleasant to the taste and palatable, and the only combination of digestants that will digest the food and enable the system to appropriate all of its health and strength giving qualities.
Sold by Jno. X. Taylor.

AS THE PIKE OPENS.

A Gay and Picturesque Procession of People of Many Nations.

A Mile and a Half Parade of the Greatest Conglomeration of Amusements Ever Gathered Together.

On the afternoon of the thirtieth day of April next there will be a spectacle on a certain mile and a half strip of ground in the western edge of St. Louis such as the world never saw before. The Pike will celebrate its opening that afternoon. The rest of the great World's Fair will have had its opening ceremonies in the morning, and after luncheon The Pike will be the center of attraction.

Director of Concessions Norris B. Gregg and the members of the Concessionaires' Association are now arranging a programme for that event. They are not divulging the details, but it is understood that a grand parade of all Pike features that live and move will be the piece de resistance of the celebration. There are parades and parades, but this one will be different.

There will be camels in it—oh, yes! and elephants; but the human element will be the really interesting thing. Occident and Orient will be represented, and the isles of the seas. In the long procession that will swing up and down the great street of concessions there will be Turks, Egyptians, Arabs, Persians, Hindoos, Filipinos, Africans, Spaniards, Siamese, Coreans, Japanese, Chinese, and representatives of other races too numerous to mention—all in their picturesque native costumes.

Queer musical instruments will furnish marching melodies. Some of the Orientals will dance along in their peculiar styles. The howling Dervish will whirl, the whirling Dervish will whirl, and altogether it will be a howling and whirling affair.

There will be in line Jews, Gentiles and Moslems from Jerusalem—hundreds and hundreds of them. Dancing girls from the variety theaters of gay Seville—yes, and from the hilarious halls of gayer Paris—will be there. Beauties—stunning beauties—from many European and Oriental nations will lend the charm of their faces and figures and their picturesque costumes to the aggregation. Arab horses, Barbary steeds, sacred cows, tallness cats and hairless dogs will figure in the parade.

And all along the way the thousands of spectators will enter into the spirit of international gayety, humming and singing such familiar ballads as "She Never Saw the Streets of Cairo," "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town To-Night," and the like. For the opening of The Pike—the world's greatest amusement boulevard—will inaugurate a season of conglomerated gayeties such as the sons and daughters of mirth never knew before this eventful year of 1904.

No doubt that old gag, "It's the warmest show that ever came down the pike," will take on a new and more intimate meaning. There are already built and in course of construction on The Pike thirty-five important concession enterprises, beginning with the Tyrolean Alps and a village of the Tyrol at one end and leading to an eleven-acre reproduction of the city of Jerusalem at the other end, which is nearly a mile and a half away. The Pike is in the shape of the capital letter "L," the vertical stroke being a mile long. The angle of the "L" accommodates the Naval Exhibit, the Galveston Flood and Hale's Fire-Fighters. Jerusalem is at the farther end of the horizontal part of the "L."

All along this thoroughfare, on both sides, are the immense buildings, of picturesque and odd construction, that house the concession shows. On the opening day The Pike will be gay with flags and bunting, and for just seven months thereafter it promises to be the most interesting amusement district ever created.

VICTORIA'S JUBILEE GIFTS.

The Treasured Trinkets Have Already Arrived at the World's Fair at St. Louis.

The following are some of Queen Victoria's jubilee presents which have been received at the World's Fair for exhibition:

A silver casket from the Island of Trinidad, containing an address to the queen commemorating her majesty's jubilee and the anniversary of the occupation of the Island of Trinidad by English troops in 1797. Casket of satin wood, highly decorated with gold flowers from Jamaica. Inside are addresses and signatures of citizens. Caskets containing addresses from Indian communities.

The boxes are richly inlaid with silver and gold. A tiger skull, sent to the queen from India. In one of the eyes is a clock, in the other a thermometer, both mounted under magnifying lenses. The lower jaw contains an inkstand. All the mountings are of gold. Hanging lamp worked in chased bronze of a deep color, a present from one of the small states of India, from the Maharajah of Travancore. Two huge ivory tusks set as vases and decorated with gold. Between them is Lukshire, the Goddess of Prosperity. The tusks are supported by two elephants' heads in black ebony. This ornament stands over four feet high.

The collection is valued at $5,000,000 and will be strongly guarded during the entire Exposition.

A Complete Hospital.

A hospital, perfectly equipped, and presided over by a corps of physicians and trained nurses, is a feature of the Model Street at the World's Fair.
