

NEW TRAINS BEGIN CHRISTMAS MORNING.

New Stations at Victoria, Hecla, South Diamond and Oak Hill.

Six New Telegraph Offices Put in to Block Interurban Trains.

The officials of the Louisville and Nashville railroad have planned a Christmas gift for the working, shopping, visiting, pleasuring traveling public. Many of the people have "cried for it" and "would not be satisfied 'till they got it," and now it is to be landed plumb right down in the toe of the public Christmas stocking and may be used and enjoyed by anybody who has the small pittance of a fare at any hour of the day from almost sunup 'till well after candlelight, beginning at 7:15 o'clock Christmas morning.

The schedule, which is published officially below, leaves no gaps in the day's travel, particularly when taken in connection with the accommodation runs already in effect north of Earlinton, and the six through runs, in the present time of which there are only the slight changes mentioned below.

Work at stringing of the additional telegraph wires between Nortonville and Madisonville and the placing of the little houses for the block system operators at the several new offices to be established along the line was being done yesterday.

A carload of coal is being distributed at the various block offices. All these arrangements will be completed in time to run the first interurban train Christmas morning with all the safety of the complete block system.

Trainmaster Sargeant and Assistant Trainmaster Wise spent several days in Evansville this week and last, helping to make the new time card, which is here announced.

Princeton Woman Lost a Fort. ne.

Because she left temporarily the palatial home of her father-in-law, Capt. S. S. Brown, against his will, Mrs. Grace M. Brown, of Princeton, Ky., lost $1,000,000, says a telegram to the Philadelphia North American.

Instead of getting the son's portion, which would have come to her in the will of the turfman, the young woman will receive only the interest on $30,000, in bonds for life.

Several years ago, when she came to visit her wealthy father-in-law, he desired her to make her home with him.

The failing turf king said he had need of a woman to take care of his household and that he wanted the widow of his only son to do so.

Young Mrs. Brown refused to give up her home and friends in Kentucky, and the young church worker, Marty Lewis, slipped into the niche which S. S. Brown had created for his daughter-in-law. She has reaped the reward originally intended for young Mrs. Brown.

It is hinted that Capt. Brown proposed marriage to his son's widow, but was refused.

TON OF COAL

Crushes Life Out of Jasper Ward.

Jasper Ward, assistant night yardmaster in the Illinois Central yards at Central City, met death there last Friday in a peculiar manner. While standing on the edge of the tender, preparatory to coaling the engine, holding to the chain that released the chute door of the Central Coal and Iron Company's tippie, he lost his footing and fell into the tender. Failing to release the chain the chute door of the tippie was opened and eight tons of coal thrown upon him. The engineer and fireman of the engine hurried to his assistance, quickly removing the coal, but he was dead when they reached him. He was twenty-five years old, single, and lived in Central City with his sister.

FIFTY-THREE SUNDAYS.

The Year of 1905 Will be the Last for 110 Years to Have Surplus.

When this year is ended it will be 110 years before it happens again that there will be fifty-three Sundays in the year. Although not peculiarly noted as a period for the pious observance of the moral code, the year that is dying has afforded the peoples of the earth more opportunities for the worship of God than any other of its predecessors for many decades. Fifty-three Sundays were marked on the calendar, a circumstance that will not happen again during the lives of any of the persons now living.

The explanation of this mathematical problem is simple—the year began on Sunday and will end on Sunday, thus throwing in an extra day of worship and giving the people one Sunday in excess of any other working day.
