Lem Groves Injured.

Lem Groves had the misfortune to sustain a broken leg and injured hip in a runaway trip of cars at No. 9 mine last Thursday. He, in company with Foreman Geo. Wyatt, Tripp, rider Andrew Brown and Geo. Shaw were going into the mine when the trip of cars broke loose. His injuries were received in jumping. All the others escaped injury in this way except Shaw, whose lamp was extinguished, and he was forced to remain with the runaway cars until they wrecked. He was injured about the head and right arm.

Business Changes.

The tonsorial parlor, owned by George Toy, at this place, was purchased by John Coyle, of Madisonville, Monday. Mr. Coyle has retained the workmen employed before the deal and will doubtless receive a liberal patronage, as he is well-known in this city, having been engaged in this business here before. Mr. Toy has made no definite plans as to what he will do in the future.

"The Beggar Prince."

Knights of Pythias week at Oak Summit Park opened yesterday in fine style, and the Beggar Prince Opera Co. succeeded in drawing two capacity audiences. No better pleased audience has been in the theatre this season, and each member of the company, individually and collectively, made the greatest kind of a hit. The company numbers about twenty-five and includes a well-drilled and exceptionally pretty chorus. The comedians are of more than ordinary ability, and succeeded in getting plenty of laughs during the evening. "The Beggar Prince," or "The Mascot," which was presented at both performances yesterday, affords plenty of opportunity for good, clean comedy acts. The entire performance is almost one continuous laugh. The principal roles were in the hands of Harry Lea Velle, Allen K. Foster, Fred Godding and Eleanor Burton, and all acquitted themselves admirably. The costumes were all new and very pleasing to the eye. Each act was set in an admirable manner, and the performance was as good as many seen locally at high prices. Evansville Journal.

The Embroidery Club enjoyed a most delightful outing at Dawson Springs Thursday. Most of the ladies were accompanied by their husbands, who enjoyed the day thoroughly. Some of the members were unable to attend, which was to be regretted. The two visitors were Miss Carrie Cranshaw, of this city, and Miss Richards, of Hopkinsville.
Regimental Commissary Sergeant Henry G. Jones returned yesterday from a trip to Henderson, where he went to see some of his friends of the First regiment. He reports that the Henderson people are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the Third regiment. The camp is finely situated in a large grove at the old fair grounds and has fine drainage and an abundant supply of good water and splendid sanitary arrangements.
The stage of Temple Theatre will swarm the night of Tuesday, Aug. 24, with pretty girls, funny comedians, and all the necessary characters that figure in the cast of "The Beggar Prince," which, according to things told of it in other cities, has become a great success, judging from a musical standpoint. The play is excellently staged and presented by a company that has won the admiration and applause of the theatre going public for fourteen consecutive seasons. This fact combined with the beautiful costumes, pretty music, the bright and clever dialogue, should make the coming presentation an altogether notable event.
