PROMINENT 'T'ON MERCHANT MARRIES

Henry Dunstan Coward and Miss Lynna Galloway a Charming Young Lady of St. Charles

SURPRISE THEIR MANY FRIENDS

What came as a surprise to the people of this community was the marriage of H. D. Coward, of this city, and Miss Lynna Galloway, of St. Charles. The wedding took place at Madisonville Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock at the residence of Ben Plain, who's wife is a sister to the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. T. Stanley the Christian minister, of this place, and took place in the presence of the family and a few friends. As soon as the impressive ceremony was over the happy pair entered a closed carriage and were conveyed to the depot where they took the early morning train for Chicago. The bridal pair will visit several cities in the East before returning to Earlington where they will be at home to friends after December 10th. Miss Lynna Galloway was one of the best known and most generally liked young ladies in the St. Charles neighborhood and is the youngest daughter of Mrs. W. E. Raimor, of this place, she is attractive and accomplished and numbers her friends by her acquaintances. Mr. Coward is a member of the Barnes Mercantile Co, manager, secretary and treasurer of the Earlington store. He has made this store what it is, one of the most up-to-date department stores in this section of the country and is a very successful business man. The Semi-weekly Bee joins other friends in hearty congratulations.

Chronic rheumatism contracts the muscles, distorts the joints and undermines the strength. A powerful penetrating and relieving remedy will be found in BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It restores strength and suppleness to the aching limbs. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co. Incorporated, Drug Department.

Shriners Banquet a Success
The banquet given by the Shriners Wednesday night at the Masonic Temple was a complete success. There were a great many visiting Shriners and a very interesting program was carried out. Mr. James R. Rash did more than justice to his office as toastmaster and called forth several witty, clever and helpful toasts. Delightful music was furnished by Blackmore's orchestra, and another attractive feature of the evening was a recitation by Master Frank Brown Jr. but the most enjoyable part of the program were the delicious, palatable courses prepared by a committee who knew its business. The evening was closed by singing the Doxology.

LAID TO REST Under a Mound of Flowers in The Earlington Cemetery

All that was mortal of Mrs. Edgar Trasher was laid to rest yesterday in the Earlington cemetery surrounded by her relatives and a large concourse of loving friends. The handsome white casket was literally covered with beautiful flowers in several appropriate designs. The funeral services were held at the residence of her mother Mrs. Stokes at 2 o'clock. Rev. Brandon of the Methodist church her pastor conducted the service. Mrs. John Long her life long friend sang "Sometime Somewhere" in a sweetly solemn manner that reached the hearts of all present. Jas. R. Rash offered a touching prayer after which the choir sang "Nearer My God to Thee". The white casket was then placed in the white hearse by pall bearers Frank D. Rash, H. L. Browning, Dr. A. O. Sisk, Baker Fugate, Waiton Perry, Elsworth Evans, Brick Southworth and John Long. They were preceded from the residence by honorary pall bearers Mrs. Walter Daves, Mrs. W. L. Morrison, Misses Annie Ashby, Pansy Rule, Katie Murrell and Elizabeth Kemp, carrying flowers. A long line of carriages and other vehicles followed the hearse to the cemetery and there in the silent tomb was placed all that was mortal of "Miss Werdna" her bright spirit had already winged its way through the ether blue to make its eternal abode in that celestial home on high.

Earlington Physicians Honored
The Hopkins County Medical Association met in Madisonville Thursday and held their annual election of officers. The Association is in splendid condition, and a great number of the doctors attended the meeting. The following named gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year: Dr. Eldred A. Davis, of Earlington, was elected president, Dr. A. F. Finley, of Cardondale, vice president, Dr. A. G. Sisk of Earlington, secretary, Dr. J. D. Sory, of Madisonville, the retiring president, was elected delegate to State Association.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes Thos. E. Williams, Middleboro, Ky. "Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me." For sale by all dealers.

LIFE

Life is too brief
Between the budding and the falling leaf,
Between the seed-time and the golden sheaf,
For hate and spite,
We have no time for malice and for greed;
Therefore, with love make beautiful the deed;
Fast speeds the night.

Life is too swift
Between the blossom and the white snow's drift,
Between the silence and the lark's uplift,
For bitter words,
In kindness and in gentleness our speech,
Must carry messages of hope, and reach
The Sweetest chords.

Life is too great
Between the infant's and the man's estate,
Between the clashing of earth's strife and fate,
For petty things,
Lo! we shall yet who creep with cumbered feet,
Walk glorious over heaven's golden street,
Or soar on wings?

—Margaret E. Langster.

Brilliant Reception
A most beautiful reception was given, on Tuesday afternoon at the elegant home of Mrs. W. J. Dulin on South Main Street in this city, in honor of her charming guest, Mrs. Neel Glenn of Springfield Tenn., and Mrs. H. L. Dulin of Murfreesboro Tenn.

The house was decorated, in quantities of pink bridesmaid roses, southern smilax and Blechnum roses.

Mrs. Dulin with her guest of honor received in the delicate blue French parlor, which was artistically decorated in southern smilax and bridesmaid roses, while the daintiest strands of southern smilax formed a floral portiere of greenery, between the reception hall and parlor, being caught back with bows of white tulle and roses.

The color scheme, of the dining room, was beautifully carried out in red and green in the ices, cakes and minis, as well as the floral decorations.

Boquets of Richmond roses, ferns and smilax were prettily arranged on the mantle shelf, buffet and serving table, while a flat centerpiece of
