Death Angel Visits Earlington

The death angel visited Earlington Wednesday afternoon about five o'clock and bore to her eternal resting place the spirit of Mrs. Geo. W. Bates the young wife of Geo. W. Bates.

Mrs. Bates had been ill for a number of weeks, and her life hung by a thread for several days. She was kept breathing by the inhalation of oxygen for some time. During her illness with typhoid pneumonia her mother and father and two brothers visited her and two of Mr. Bates' sisters were here but all had returned to their homes and her father was the only one of these relatives present at the time of her death. She had long been a member of the Baptist Church and was a consecrated Christian.

She was moved to Lebanon, Tenn., her childhood home for interment and was accompanied by her husband and Chas. Webb of this city. The many friends of the bereaved husband extend their heart felt sympathy in this hour of sorrow.

Chilblains, frosted feet or hands, can be cured with one or two applications of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It quickly relieves itching or tenderness of the flesh. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co. Incorporated, Drug Department.

Seriously Injured

The little son of J. W. Elliott of the Mortons Gap country was kicked by a mule Wednesday and seriously injured. His skull is thought to be fractured. The many friends of this excellent family trust the injury will not prove fatal.

Taft Not a Party To Brownsville Affair

In view of a disposition to lay part of the blame for the Brownsville affair on William H. Taft, who was Secretary of War when Theodore Roosevelt as President of the United States dismissed the Twenty fifth Colored Infantry from the service of the government, the New York Age, a newspaper printed by and for the colored people of this country recalls that on the seventh of August, 1908, President Roosevelt telegraphed to Secretary Taft from Porto Rico directing that his order of dismissal be enforced unless "there are new facts of such importance as to warrant your cabling me." "I care nothing whatever," said the President, "for the yelling either of the politicians or the sentimentalists—the offence was heinous and the punishment I inflicted after due deliberation."

"It is a matter of record," says the Age, which proposes to put the responsibility exactly where it belongs, that Secretary Taft held up the discharge order for five days, while President Roosevelt was on the high seas, and that he did not release the order for execution until he received President Roosevelt's cablegram from Ponce."

That is all true enough. Nothing was ever heard about Secretary Taft's responsible participation in this Brownsville business, until after the Colonel got ready to run for the Presidency again, and the Colonel's friends thought they could gain a point for him and take one away from the President by contriving a new history.

William H. Taft was at the time of the Brownsville incident the subordinate of Theodore Roosevelt. He knew it; Mr. Taft knew it; the Twenty fifth Colored Infantry knew it; the country knew it. When he announced that "the punishment I inflicted I imposed after due deliberation," Col. Roosevelt assumed the responsibility—all the responsibility. That ought to end the controversy.

LEXINGTON LEADER

Brilliant Reception in Honor of the VICTORY-HART Wedding Last Wednesday Evening

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Victory, of this city, and Mr. Brent Hart, of Madisonville, which was solemnized Wednesday evening at 5:30, was most beautiful and impressive. Rev. McFarland, of the Catholic Church officiating, the bride's sisters, Misses Margaret and Catherine, being her attendants.

The reception given at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. M. Victory, in this city, from the hours of 8 to 11, was the most brilliant event given in this part of the State in years. The typical old Colonial home was on this occasion more than beautiful, each room being transformed into a veritable bower of roses.

The floral environment of the French parlors, finished in blue and gold, where the bridal party received, was exceedingly attractive, tall Dresden jars and antique vases being filled with gorgeous American beauty roses. The music room and library were decorated in the same flower, the mantel shelf, windows and tables being banked in Southern smilax and beauty roses, while jars filled with American beauties were arranged in every conceivable place.

The halls were decorated in quantities of huge white chrysanthemums arranged in a greenery of smilax and ferns and from an alcove in the back hall floated soft, sweet strains of music furnished by Charley's Band.

The color scheme of pink and white was artistically carried out in the decoration in the dining room. Quantities of pink La France roses were arranged in vases of cut glass on the buffet, mantel and china cabinet, while the table was wreathed in La France roses and ferns. Cut glass candle sticks holding white tapers and hooded with pink silk rosebud shades were placed at intervals on the mahogany table on lace doilies. The wedding cake iced in white with a gorgeous bouquet of crystallized chrysanthemums was placed as a center piece.

A canopy of interwoven pink tulle draped from the four corners of the room was caught over the central chandelier with an exquisite bouquet of La France roses and southern smilax which was festooned over the rosebud electric light bulbs.

The bride was beautifully gowned in an entrain creation of brocaded charmeuse, trimmed in Venetian point lace and pearls. The tulle veil, which fell in graceful folds to the end of the train, was arranged under a cap of real lace, being held in its place by a bar of diamonds, a gift of the groom. She carried a bridal shower bouquet of valley lillies.

The groom was handsomely clothed in the conventional black.

Miss Margaret Victory wore an exquisite gown of yellow crepe meteor veiled with French chiffon and trimmed with pearls, the court train being caught at the shoulders with exquisite pearl trappings. She carried a shower bouquet of Marshall Neil roses.

Miss Catherine Victory wore an entrain gown of Median blue crepe meteor gorgeously trimmed in strands of dewdrops and veiled in pink chiffon and carried a French bouquet of pink bridesmaid roses.

A three course luncheon was served, the individual cakes, ices and mints were pink rosebuds.

Those who assisted in entertainment were Mesdames C. A. Morton, H. H. Holeman, Clyde Ruby, H. F. Head, W. C. Morton and W. P. Ross.

The many gorgeous presents given to this popular couple were tokens of love from their legion of friends.

Miss Victory has been one of the most popular and most accomplished young ladies in the society circles in this community and has been the hostess of many beautiful social functions.

Mr. Hart is in the coal business known as the Brent Hart Coal Co. and is a most promising young man of Madisonville.

As Mrs. Hart ascended the stairway to don her traveling suit, she tossed her bridal bouquet to the young girls in the hall below, which was caught by Miss Louise McPherson, Miss Aileen Davis cutting the wedding ring in the wedding cake, it being a ring of Mrs. Victory's on a like occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart left after the reception for Denver and points in California and the West, returning by the way of New Orleans and will make their home in Madisonville.

The Great Comedy Hit "SEVEN DAYS"

"Seven Days," one week of hilarious fun compressed into two hours and forty-five minutes of riotous laughter. That's the play, and it's coming to the GARRICK THEATRE Madisonville, Wednesday, Nov. 6. "A veritable conspiracy of fun," is the way Louis V. DeFoe, dramatic critic of the New York World, described this comedy. Said he in his review, "Seven Days" is filled with uproarious fun, with never a dull second. It convulsed its audiences. It contains every element of uncommonly good entertainment. The wonder of the play is that the authors, Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood could have started their fun flowing so spontaneously and kept it going so unflaggingly." Now in the second year of its run at the Astor Theatre, "Seven Days" has kept New York in paroxysms of merriment since its opening night, as for six months it created a hurricane of laughter in Chicago. Everybody agrees that it is the best comedy produced in this country in a decade, and it will be seen here under exceptionally attractive conditions, for Messrs. Wagenhals & Kemper are sending a brilliant New York cast and a gorgeous Astor Theatre scenic equipment. So get in training for this comedy, because, as Harper's Weekly said, "Seven Days" makes one weak—from laughing."

Special prices: 25c to $1.00.
