KY. GUARDSMEN ROUT SNIPERS

Members of Third Infantry Believe One Mexican Was Killed

MACHINE GUN USED BY GUARDS

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 25.—It was reported at the camp of the Third Kentucky Infantry to-day that at least one of the Mexican snipers who fired on First Battalion of the Third Kentucky Infantry was killed when the machine gun belonging to the battalion was used to rout the snipers, who were firing at the American army camp near the cement plant on the American side of the Rio Grande. The snipers fired twenty or more times into the camp of the American soldiers.

Maj. H. H. Denhardt, commanding the First Battalion of the Third Kentucky Infantry at the cement plant, said the sniping started from the vicinity of a little adobe house. There were about ten snipers near this house, M. J. Denhardt said. About as many more opened fire from a point above the house on the side of the mountain.

"This sniping was returned by our outpost," M. J. Denhardt said. "Our men were forced to abandon a fire trench which had been built previously near the river to protect our outpost. The sniping continued until the machine gun was brought into action, and about 100 shots fired. Then the firing stopped, and I am sure we got some of the men who were doing the firing unless they fled before the machine gun opened up. After being driven from the first line trench our men sought shelter in an adobe house and continued firing at the snipers until the machine gun scattered them," M. J. Denhardt concluded.

KILLS COMRADE; ENDS LIFE

Quarrel Cause of Double Tragedy at Dawson Christmas Day

Dawson Springs, Ky., Dec. 25. Walter Lantrip 18, son of Sherren Lantrip, was shot and killed by Leslie Bennett, 18, son of Dennis Bennett, this afternoon. Bennett then committed suicide. The only witness to the double tragedy was a young brother of Leslie Bennett, who was too far away when his brother shot Lantrip, to ascertain what led to the killing. The principals had been boon companions and schoolmates for several years. It is believed they had been drinking, as a party filled bottle of whiskey was found near the scene.

Lantrip and Bennett, accompanied by the latter's brother, were out hunting. According to the latter he was some distance away when he heard his brother and Lantrip quarreling. He was too far off to hear what they were quarreling about, and was horrified a moment later to see his brother level a .22 caliber target rifle at Lantrip and fire. The bullet entered the forehead just over the right eye, penetrating the brain.

Before young Bennett could reach his brother's side, the latter stepped up to the side of his victim, picked up the latter's shotgun, and placing the muzzle in his mouth, pressed the trigger with the toe of his shoe, blowing off his head.

NEEDY RECEIVED XMAS CHEER

Charity Workers Distributed Gifts to Poor of Earlington Saturday

SUNDAY SCHOOLS HAD EXERCISES

In Earlington Christmas was observed on a broader scale this year than in past years. Through the efforts of charity workers Christmas joy went into homes of the city's poor in greater abundance than before.

Christmas cheer was taken to homes of the needy Saturday afternoon when a committee, composed of men and women, representing the various churches of the city, distributed food, clothing, coal and toys.

Local merchants, individual Sunday school and members of the E. K. residing here contributed to the fund which made it possible to supply the wants of those in need.

The five Sunday schools of the city observed Christmas with appropriate exercises.

Probably the best exercises of the Yuletide period was held at the M. E. Church Monday night. The program consisted of carols, songs, dialogues, recitations and tableaux.

A Christmas tree and a specially arranged program were the features of the exercises at the General Baptist church Saturday night.

The Christian, M. E. Church, South, and Missionary Baptist Sunday schools held exercises Sunday morning. Interesting programs were rendered.

Family Christmas trees were in evidence in many homes.

In police circles the day passed quietly.

Work Obligatory. No man has a right to be idle, if he can get work to do, even if he as rich as Croesus.—Selected.

One day we are told that dresses will be three inches shorter next season, and the next we hear they are to be ankle length. Oh this exasperating uncertainty.

Doing it yourself has one distinct advantage. It prevents the uncertainty of speculating as to what the other fellow will do if correctly so get.

NOTICE

On and after Jan. 1, 1917, I will, of necessity, raise my price for horsehoesing.

I am forced to do this from the fact shoes have recently advanced about 50 percent, for calf 50 percent and for nails 40 percent and living expenses from 50 to 100 percent so that it is no longer possible to work at the old prices established forty years ago. I use the best material possible to buy, such as Jinetta steel shoes, Capwell nails, which is the highest priced nail made and I positively guarantee every job turned out at my shop and will endeavor to give every patron value received at all times. This I have done for the past fifteen years and will continue.

I wish to thank my customers for all past favors and earnestly solicit their future patronage. Ernest Newton, Earlington, Ky.

KENTUCKY TROOPS FIRED ON AGAIN

El Paso, Dec. 28.—A lively fusillade broke out shortly after midnight to the west of the city where the Kentucky outposts are situated.

Residents in the neighborhood were awakened by the firing and heard bullets singing overhead.

The Earlington Company is stationed in this locality.

Mr. Wilson wants the United States to assume control of wireless telegraphy. Better than that, we'd like to see the Old Boy control the price of oats.

Universal military service is simply universal defense of the universal home. And why, pray should the few be expected to do the work of the many, anyway?

700 Newspapers Die

Seven hundred newspapers in the United States suspended publication the last month, owing to high price of print paper.

Paper manufacturers admit prices they are charging will 25 per cent of the publication the country out of business the next twelve months.

These are two big features of the present situation in the reading public—and means the general public is a little interested.

Education has long been considered a public necessity, newspapers and periodicals regarded as such a prime necessity to the people of the United States that the Government made a rate of 1 cent a page for delivery through the mail.

Despite this provision made the Government that may be supplied with newspapers and periodicals, thousands of publications, big and little, now threatened with ruin because of inability to pay the price which the paper factors demand.

Many publishers are raising 300 per cent more paper than they did a year ago. Those who use large quantities of print paper and tract are paying nearly 40 cent more. Some of the papers have been unable to supply at any price.

Nearly all papers that have reduced their size in the last months have increased their subscription rates.

Many big city dailies, which depend chiefly upon advertising, are facing ruin by advertising forces that use to use large supplies.
