GAS GAS GAS

It would sound sensible if the Cumberland Gas Company would do themselves, as well as the general public, the favor of cutting down the waste of gas. It is an evident fact that there has never been any gas well that did not become exhausted, and as a matter of fact our well will soon become exhausted, so why not begin now; cut out your gas fireplaces and put your grates back in, put in heating stoves, in place of your gas heaters, save all the gas we have for cooking and lighting purposes; you will have it to do, don't wait for Mr. Newitt to come and tell you to do it, he will have it to do, so get busy.

DOGS A PUBLIC MENACE

Again it is our unpleasant duty to invite attention of the city authorities and the public generally to the great number of unmuzzled dogs that throng our streets night and day to the menace of people, women and children especially, who have occasion to be out of their houses at all, to say nothing of the constant dread of parents whose children attend the schools and require to go along the thoroughfares. It is unnecessary to say that one who would enjoy the privilege of possessing a canine should assume the obligation of caring for it in such manner as the municipal laws of all well regulated cities demand, so that it may not be a disgrace to the municipality and a detriment to all proper interests. It goes without saying to the observant that a measure of hatred of his neighbors attaches to the character of any one who will keep a brute unmuzzled where children are obliged to be daily exposed to have the image of their Maker torn out of their innocent faces through this unrestricted nuisance. Even the capital of the "unspeakable Turk, Constantinople, has recently shown sufficient regard for public safety and decency to banish or muzzle its dogs.

Circuit Court convened here Monday with the usual large attendance, with Hon F D Sampson presiding judge, and Hon Joseph B Snyder, Commonwealth's attorney; The docket is light in penal cases, but more felonies than usual.

The Grand Jury are as follow:

E J Miller, G D McDonald, J W Mills, J W Cottengim, Elijah Williamson, Pleas Bryant, Caleb Powers, James Franc, W C Warren, Read Hughes, Peter Jarvis, and Thomas Murphy

The instructions given by the court were very rigid, and it is believed that they will make many indictments.

The Petit Jury is as follows:

No. 1—George Carpenter, A J Fergusson, Green Edwards, James Terrill, Marshal Hubbard, Henry Gibson, Darlin Brock, James Gregory, Tommy Broughton, John Patterson, W H Broughton, and Boyd Cobb

No 2—Jasper Willis, Lee Thomas, John T Mills, Wesley Burnett, John A Jones, Isaac Warren, Charley Barnes, Matt Cobb, Henry Jordan, I B Hooper, Bart Tuttle, Henry Payne

Reserve—Calvin Miller, Richard Smith, Peter Baker, Ewell Messer, Boyd Hart

The Grand Jury returned an indictment against Nollie and Lee Henderson, charging them with murder, they are represented by Sawyer A Smith, and the case is set for today. The Grand Jury returned an indictment against George Neal, charged with murdering another negro, at Wheeler, Ky, his case was called, and, he being unable to employ an attorney, the court appointed Atty. S T Steele and V C McDonald to defend him as the case was passed until today.

A GREAT TRIP

Starting from New Years, the boundary line between, December and January, at midnight go straight out over the good road of good intentions (aution numerous water wagons for a short distance) straight ahead to Carnation day (20 miles from New Years).

LINCOLNS BIRTHDAY 12 m.

This is the first official stopping point on the tour. Continuing the next day, follow the main and only road through town of St. Valentines (14 m.) (Interesting and humorous Postcards on sale here) Do not stop, but continue to

WASHINGTONS BIRTHDAY 12 m

This is a town of historical interest and a stopping point. Resuming tour in the morning, leave town via Mt Vernon Avenue, then straight ahead to St. Patrick's day (1 m) This town will be recognized by the emerald-green paint on all houses, barns and fences. The inhabitants are exclusively Irish or Irish ancestry. Leave the town via Soamrock Avenue and continue straight ahead to the State line of Spring (12 m.) Continue the tour along the main highway straight ahead to the county line of April (31 m)

Just across this line is the All Fools Asylum. Make no inquiries at this point, as tourists will certainly receive wrong directions. Straigh ahead, crossing the Aqua River, into May County (30 m)

This is beginning of the beautiful and to many the most enjoyable part of the tour. Straight through to

MEMORIAL DAY 30 m.

In this town cemeteries line both sides of the road. All tourists stop here. The town is also noted for its interest in yachting and general sports.

One mile beyond the county line is crossed into June. Straight ahead on Bunting Avenue, through FLAG DAY (14 m.) continuing to the State line of Summer (21 m.) then to the county line of July (30 m.) and straight ahead, over Bunker Hill, into the old, historical town of

INDEPENDENCEDAY 4 m

Both sides of the road at this town are crowded with powder and match factories, and while many accidents have happened to tourists at this point, they continue making it a regular stopping place. Continue the next morning along the main and only road through agreeable country, but with occasional extremes of heat, to the August County line (31 m.) Straight through, with continued warm weather, to the September County line (31)

Shortly after crossing this line, a workmen's settlement is reached.

LABORDAY 7 m

This is a favorable spot to stop and overhaul the motor. Continuing on the following day, the tour leads through a cooler country, and the State Autumn (23 m) is crossed. Then straight ahead to the October County line (30 m.) Straight ahead to COLUMBUSDAY 12 m.

The tour next carries one past an old landmark, the haunted house at Halloween, just on the line of November County (31 m.) A lively town is next reached

ELECTIONDAY

There is always great excitement on the streets until midnight, and all tourists stop to join the crowd or dine at the numerous hotels.

Starting late the next morning, following the main highway to the most interesting old town,

THANKSGIVINGDAY 20 m

(Puritan Inn, official hotel.) The old tavern is noted for the abundance upon its tables, particularly its roasted turkey and its pastry, starting the next morning, the tourist will cross the county line into December (30 m.) and the traveling companion becomes less satisfactory, with possibly snow and ice. Many tourists from this point begin making purchases from the numerous shops along the route. The stocks are complete, and, although the prices are higher than at localities further on, the WINTER (22 m.) the next stopping place is

CHRISTMASDAY

This is a city of generous and merry inhabitants, and all tourists are showered with gifts and are expected to reciprocate. The long tour is now about completed, the road being straight ahead to the starting point, just at the county line—the celebrated

NEWYEARSINN

WATER WAGON

January 1st, 1914, traffic heavy, transportation in demand, excursion rates, one fare plus 25c, tickets good for 366 days. The water wagon is a contrivance propelled by imagination upon which men and sometimes women, mount for a safe journey to temperance over a rough and crooked road, a distance of 366 miles, and makes one round trip each year. The man who gets aboard usually gets off at the first station, some, of course, goes further. Some got off because they have business, and some fall off, because they are out of balance, and some stay to the last, but the latter are few. The trip is sometimes delayed by Rye, sometimes by Hog, usually White Hog, and sometimes by other things, and usually the man who is most anxious to get on is the easiest to get off.

Little Miss Helon Sampson had quite an elaborate entertainment, last Friday, inviting many of her little friends and they sure did have some time, Miss Helon is some entertainer too, well, a Sampson does not have to be large to do things, just any little Sampson has large ways
