

SESSION CLOSES NEXT TUESDAY

Stanley is Expected to Call Special Session on Tax Revision

TURMOIL AMONG G. O. P.

Who Hold State Convention in Louisville.—Closing Days of Legislature a Scramble to Pass Bills.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (Special).—With the Rules Committee in charge of all bills in both houses of the Kentucky Legislature, the closing hours of the 1916 session is marked by long hours of service on the part of the Solons. Administration pledges of the Democratic party are being given preference and it appears that most of those promised the people in the campaign of last fall will be passed.

In convention in Louisville, Kentucky Republicans reduced the representation of its negro element to one half vote, and instructed its delegation from the State-at-large to the national convention at Chicago, June 7th, to "vote for Charles Warren Fairbanks, of Indiana, as long as his name is before that convention."

The lone negro on the delegation is Phil H. Brown, of Hopkinsville, and the white delegates are Edwin P. Morrow, of Somerset; Congressman John W. Langley, of Pikeville; former Governor A. E. Willson, of Louisville; Colonel Richard P. Ernst, of Covington; Judge E. C. O'Beir, of Frankfort; Congressman Caleb Powers, of Barbourville, and William Marshall Bulitt, of Louisville.

Morrow offered to surrender his place in order to avoid a split in the Log Cabin party, and Caleb Powers also announced his willingness to yield for harmony's sake, but the delegates held both tight.

Judge McEneaney, of Bowling Green, was permanent Chairman of the State convention.

There was no opposition to the reelection of E. T. Franks, Owensboro for Chairman of the State Central Committee, nor was there anybody offering for the place of Alvis S. Bennett, of Louisville, who was re-elected Secretary.

The election of John W. McCulloch of Owensboro, as National Committee man from Kentucky, which occurred before daylight early in the morning at a meeting of a faction which was represented by 102 of the 26 representatives, has created a big stir among Kentucky Republicans, and threats of a contest are being made.

The negroes are also dissatisfied with only a one-half of vote representation and may make a contest also it is stated.

Senator Stricklett presented a resolution fixing March 20th as the date for convening the Senate to try the articles of impeachment against J. E. Williams, Judge of McCreary County, which have been filed. This date did not meet with the approval of many of the Senators, some of them saying that urgent business called them home at the close of the session. Others argued that the time intervening between the adjournment of the Legislature and March 20th would not give Judge Williams and his attorneys sufficient time to prepare their case. The Senate finally fixed Monday, April 10th, as the time for the trial.

The Rules Committee of the Senate is authorized to prepare rules of procedure and practice for the government of the Senate while sitting as a Court of Impeachment.

Judge Williams is charged in the petition asking for impeachment with issuing warrants in felony cases without affidavit; being delinquent in paying money into the State Treasury; exceeding his authority in suspending sentences imposed by his court and being intoxicated when on duty.

The Overstreet bill, to reduce the appropriation of the Kentucky Children's Home Society of Louisville from $50,000 to $25,000 annually, and to provide for the payment of all expenses incident to the running of the home by the State Sinking Fund Commissioners, was killed by the Senate by a vote of 23 to 9.

The Mathers bill, to license and regulate roving horse traders, passed by a vote of 46 to 25. The purpose of the bill is to regulate the movements of roving bands of kysles. The bill fixes a license of $10.

Representative Minor's bill, to prohibit banks from declaring a dividend until their surplus amounts to 10 per cent of the capital, was passed 46 to 27.

Senator Muter's bill providing for the working of convicts on the public roads, and a companion bill to prohibit interference with convicts employed outside of the prison walls, was passed in the Senate with little opposition.

The bill provides that the Board of Prison Commissioners of Public Roads shall assign such prisoners as are not prohibited from being worked outside of the prison walls to be used in the manufacturing, quarrying, mining and preparation of road and bridge material to be used by the State Department in the construction of roads and bridges. The Commissioners will pay for the services of these convicts from the State road fund at the rate of $1 a day for each convict hired.

The Commissioner of Public Roads, with the approval of the Governor, is empowered to purchase the necessary machinery and equipment for the construction of roads and bridges. The sum to be expended is limited to 10 per cent of the State aid fund. It is estimated that $70,000 will be available for the purchase of machinery and equipment.

The Senate, by a vote of 23 to 11, passed the substitute for the bill of Senator Stricklett to rearrange the 35 senatorial districts of Kentucky, the substitute having been prepared by Senator Stricklett.

The rearrangement gives the Republicans more power in some sections and works likewise for the Democrats in other parts of the State. It was an administration measure and will likely pass the House.

The bill of Senator Evans to recodify the militia laws passed 26 to 0, after having several amendments tacked on. It limits the amount to be spent for salaries to one-half of the appropriation known as the State military fund.

Senator Montgomery's bill to prohibit pandering passed 22 to 0, with an amendment fixing the punishment for violation from one to five years instead of two to ten years.

By a vote of 27 to 1, the Senate passed the bill of Senator Lewis to permit counties to vote tax for roads and bridges. Under the provisions of the bill an additional levy of 20 cents may be voted for building roads and bridges. The bill does not in any way affect the provisions of the present law as to bond issues.

Although defeated two weeks ago, the bill of Senator Speer to require consideration to be named in deeds passed 21 to 5. The bill met no opposition on the floor of the Senate when called up for passage by the Rules Committee.

The House passed unanimously Senator Comb's bill to permit telephone companies to consolidate. This measure, which passed the Senate some time ago to the Enrolling Clerk. There was no discussion when it passed the House. Being a constitutional amendment, it needed sixty votes in the House. It received 86. Since the Governor has no power to disapprove constitutional amendment bills, this amendment, having passed both Houses, will be submitted to the voters at the next general election.

The House concurred in the Senate amendments to the Vance-Speer corrupt practices act which will now become a law.

Fraternal benefit societies are placed under the supervision of the State Insurance Commission by a bill introduced by Representative Greene, which passed unanimously. The purpose of this bill, called an act to regulate fraternal benefit societies, is to protect the public from "wildcat" orders.

Representative E. D. Smith introduced a bill proposing to increase the State license on saloons to $750.

Governor Stanley has signed the administration text-book bill. It provides that not more than three text-books may be changed at any text-book adoption. The bill was introduced by Senator Rogers.

Representative Hutchcraft's bill requiring concerns engaged in the trading stamp business to pay a license of $1,000 passed the House by a vote of 51 to 23.

The bill imposing a jail sentence in addition to a fine on operators of handbooks was called from the orders of the day in the House by Representative Murphy and passed, 75 to 8.

The House passed the bill of Representative Hutchcraft providing for the assessment and collection of inheritance taxes. He claimed the bill will bring in revenue to the State between $500,000 and $800,000 annually. The vote was 74 to 6.

The bill of Representative Weed providing for State depositories and regulating them was passed unanimously.

The Woman Suffrage amendment appears to be doomed. An effort was made in the House to bring it from the order of the day over the head of the Rules Committee, but this failed the necessary two-third vote by only two votes. Another effort may be made to bring it out during the closing hours of the session.

The bill of Representative Nichols changing the name of the State University to the University of Kentucky passes unanimously.

There was no opposition to the bill of Representative Hobbs making the desertion of a child under 16 years of age by either parent a felony.

TANLAC SECURES HIGHEST RECORD

Demand Considered Marvelous by Those in Business World

When one realizes that exactly one million bottles of Tanlac were sold nine months to the day after its introduction, it can be readily understood why Tanlac's success—success built on merit alone, has been considered a romance of the staid business world. Its instant leap to popularity throughout the United States in such a comparatively short period has been looked upon as almost a miracle.

Tanlac must have wonderful merit, or why would a quarter of a million people unhesitatingly come forward and publicly endorse it? Tanlac appeals to the best people. In every community where Tanlac has been introduced, it will be noticed that prominent and professional people, whose reputation and word are beyond reproach, are among the first to endorse this Master Medicine.

The secret of Tanlac's success, which has surpassed the record of any other preparation ever known in the annals of proprietary medicines, is its good reputation, which has been established in every community where it has been introduced.

Tanlac's best advertiser, it has been shown, is the grateful man or woman who has suffered all the agonies of stomach, kidney, liver disorders, or kindred ailments, and has found relief through this wonderful reconstructive tonic—Tanlac. It is his person, who spreads the good news to his or her friends in order to give them the best fit of the discovery, that has paved the way to success for Tanlac.

Another great point in Tanlac's record is the large repeat sales. In other words, the sales record established by Tanlac is due to satisfied customers, who have realized the benefits of this wonderful tonic and have returned for their second, third, fourth and often fifth bottle.

It is true, however, that only one bottle of Tanlac often has been found sufficient to relieve. In long standing cases, however, it is beneficial to take thorough Tanlac treatment.

Tanlac has proven very effective in stomach, liver, kidney, and intestinal disorders, and through its system-cleaning powers and tonic effects gives the best results for catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes.

Nervous, run-down men and women, whose strength has been sapped by modern maladies springing from a disordered stomach, liver, kidney or catarrhal troubles, which are the base of so many ills, and who need more strength, better assimilation, quick and effective toning up of the nerves; in short, a purification of the system, will find that nothing compares with Tanlac in its remedial effects.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Barbourville Ky. at the Herndon Drug Co's. drug store where its merits are being explained daily to scores of men and women.—[adv.]

The New Farmer

It used to be said a few years ago that the county fair, as an institution, was on the decline in the United States. But the county fair seems to be "coming back" and coming back strong. The annual report of the County Fair Managers Association, just published, shows that 1915 was a banner year. There was hardly a fair in the United States which did not show a profit to the agricultural society or association which managed it. And as to the state fairs, they were record breakers. Kansas made the experiment of a "free gate" and the experiment was a success for in spite of almost continual rain the attendance was the largest in years. Several seasons ago given for the general success of all fairs. The almost universal use of the automobile and the consequent ease with which the farmer and his family can get from one part of the county, see the fair and get back the same day, is one reason advanced. But the real reason, and the encouraging sign of modern trend is the fact that the farmer has awakened to the fact that the county fair can teach him something and he is eager to learn. The old-fashioned, hide-bound agriculturist, the "jay" of the comic papers, the "hayseed" of the stage has disappeared and in his place has come a shrewd business man, alive to improvements, willing to learn new and better ways and ready to put modern methods to the test. He is the prosperous farmer of today, the man the banker is ready to back and the man who sees in the county fair a chance to learn something which will improve his condition in life.

Hon. Jackson Morris, Presidential Elector.

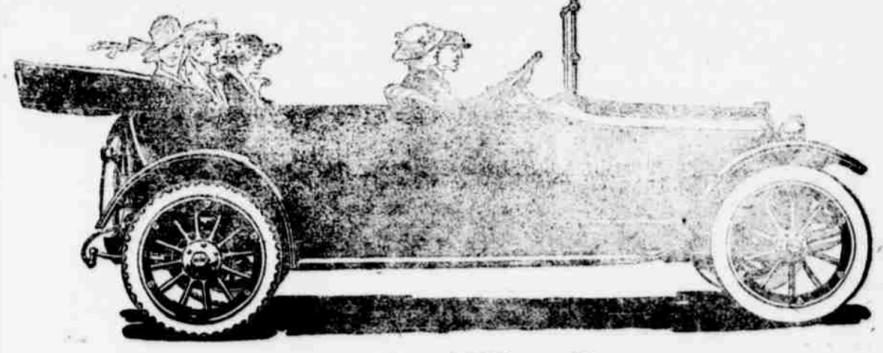

Hon. Jackson Morris, of Pineville, was elected Presidential Elector for the Eleventh District at the District Convention held in London, February 29. Jackson Morris is well known in this district, and he will certainly take all the hide off the bunch that has caused so much confusion in and about the Capitol at Washington. When he starts to do anything he does it right, and they had better take to the tall timber.

BANKERS AND STOREKEEPERS

Bank Jokes is a humorous paper opposed to big mail order houses, department stores, chain stores, five and ten cent shops. Bank Jokes believes that true prosperity follows home trading. Bank men are "Bank Jokes" when they trade out of town, so are clergymen and town officers. Bank Jokes has been $1 a year, but for the present it is but ten cents a year. Do not send postage stamps.
