Off For The Cantonment.

Today there are forty-eight of the boys who have been drafted for services in the Army of the United States. This is the first time that the real patriotism of the city has actually been aroused. At 9:00 a. m. the parade will be formed and after some speeches delivered by the local talent they will board the train for their destination at Louisville, where they will be trained in the arts of warfare. As little as is thought the whole number leaving today, will never return to their native land we do not know who it will be that will fall either by the effects of sickness, accident or from gunshot wounds, but it is certain that all will not return.

These boys go without a murmur, to fight for the defense of our country, its flag and the principles of freedom. If they can offer their lives and future happiness, breaking all the friendly and lovingly relations with family and friends, we should not withhold anything from them that they might desire they are good boys let us do them honor and let their memory live green with us, let us show to each and every one that, though we cannot go with them, that our thoughts are with them.

We cannot yet tell what all will be done and said and for that reason we will give in detail next week just how the program was carried out.

STANFILL.

Last Thursday, while in the prime of life, with her little family around the bedside, Mrs. J. F. Stanfill laid down to rise no more until that day when the summons shall come for the dead to arise. She was the loved and devoted wife of J. F. Stanfill, who has lived in this city for many years, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Faulkner, who lives six miles south of this city, and was 44 years old.

The writer knew her well, and for him to try to find words adequate to tell of the goodness of this loved and loving woman is futile. She was reared on the farm, and as the glow of the summer sun came and passed, kissing the rosy cheeks of this beautiful girl, she grew into perfect womanhood and learned to love all about her; she was always that kind of God's handwork that knew nothing but kindness; and should everyone for whom she had a smile and a kind word bring a flower to her grave she would rest today beneath a mountain of roses.

She was the mother of six children, four sons and two daughters; W. A. Stanfill, of Hazard, Ky., J. L. Stanfill of Maryville Tenn., G. E. and Clyde B. and Misses Ruth and Carrie, the two daughters who are the youngest of the family.

Besides her father and mother, she leaves six brothers and four sisters as follow: A. W. Faulkner, of Ashville, N. C., G. J. Faulkner, of Knoxville, Tenn., J. H., J. C., J. W. and Drew Faulkner of this city, her brothers, and Mrs. W. D. King, Mrs. H. T. Miller, Mrs. V. C. McDonald and W. C. Hopper, sisters also of this city; but the one uppermost in her heart and that one that loved her as only do the true and faithful, was none other than that devoted husband, Josh Stanfill, whose ever watchful eye was upon her, until the last spark of life had glittered and faded into that fathomless darkness called death.

This is the sad tragedy that we are all sure to meet sooner or later, and everyone must face the great king called death, but to this good woman it may be justly said, that she is not dead, her body is only sleeping, while her soul is basking in the sunbeams of an ever-lasting bliss where she awaits with the faithful to welcome those whom she loved on earth, she lived the life that gains an eternal home above the skies, she was devoted member of the M. E. Church, South, and after the funeral services last Friday she was laid to rest in the city cemetery.

To those of her loved ones there is the consolation that though she cannot come back to kiss away the tear from the eyes of her loved ones, they can go to her. We tender to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy and assure them that the loss to them is felt by all who knew this good mother who was a kind and devoted wife as well as a dutiful daughter and a loving sister.

W. H. McD.

Are You Looking Old?

Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at forty, that is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When trouble with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

October Moonlight School Month.

October is to be moonlight school month in the state. Many teachers will begin on Monday evening, October 1, and teach five evenings each week, closing on Thursday evening, November 1st.

North Carolina in one month known as "Moonlight School Month" taught 10,000 illiterates to read and write. Kentucky teachers hope to teach 20,000 during October, principally men of draft age. Others, however, will be admitted.

Have you seen the new lessons for soldiers and the attractive new bulletin of drills used in the moonlight schools? History and geography of the warring countries is a prominent feature. Drills and all announcements in regard to medals and credits for moonlight school teachers and certificate and diplomas for pupils are given. Write to Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, President Kentucky Illiteracy Commission, Frankfort, and secure these.

How To Give Good Advice

The best way to give good advice is to set a good example. When others see how quickly you get over your cold by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they are likely to follow your example. This remedy has been in use for many years and enjoys an excellent reputation. Obtainable everywhere.

A Card Of Thanks.

To the good people of Knox Co. I want to extend to you my heartfelt thanks for your kind words and encouragement given me while I was a candidate for jailer in the late primary. I was advised to come off the track by my best friends, and did so, with good will for all. But if I live to see another four years I shall be a candidate for jailer, and ask the good people of Knox county, for their support. I now stand square for the nominees, and if any of them have opposition I am ready to mount my horse and help make a clean sweep of all who dare to oppose the regular nominees of the Republican party. I also want to thank the 31 loyal friends who voted for me after I withdrew from the race.

Yours very truly,

R. J. Blevins.

The Business Magazine.

Mr. F. A. Goodlin, of Knoxville, Tenn., was here this week. He represents the Business Magazine which is published at Knoxville, and which is the best magazine published in the entire South, and is the only one of its kind in the south. Mr. Goodlin, is a real pleasant man and a hustler. We hope that our people will give him the right kind of encouragement to come again, you know what that is, it is to give him your order for the paper.

Notice of Dissolution

High School Notes.

This week the attendance-punctuality banner was awarded to Mrs. Oldfield's room, the second grade as they had the least percentage of absences and tardies. The little 2nd grade children were delighted to think that they won the banner and are trying hard to win it for the next week. The following are the general averages of the various rooms in order of their rank this week.

Mrs. Oldfield	98.29
Miss Ligon	96.54
Miss King	96.23
Miss Barton	95.40
Miss Whaley	95.35
Prof. Faulkner	94.90
Prof. Oldfield	92.98
Miss McSpadden	92.90

Our enrollment is increasing each day, we have now about 450 students.

Miss Johnson opened her kindergarten last Monday, and has quite an interesting lot of little children between the ages of 3 and 6 years.

Last Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Parent-Teachers Association was organized in the High school chapel. Much interest and enthusiasm was shown by all present. Quite a number of parents were present and the following officers were elected.

Mrs. O. C. McClung, President. Mrs. Geo. Tye, Vice Pres., Mrs. Heidrick Sec., Mrs. F. D. Sampson Treas. Program committee: Mrs. Walter Neal, Mrs. C. P. Kennedy, Miss Barton. Constitution and by-laws: W. C. Faulkner, Mrs. L. C. Richards, Mrs. McDermott. Membership Com. Miss Ligon, Miss McSpadden, Miss Whaley. Press Com. Mrs. H. M. Oldfield.

It was decided to meet once a month at the High School, on the second Friday at 3 o'clock, the next meeting will be Oct. 12th. Every parent who has a child in school, and all who are interested in this movement for the betterment of our schools are urged to come and join this helpful organization on Friday afternoon October 12th.

Constipation the Father of Many Ills.

Of the numerous ills that affect humanity a large share start with constipation. Keep your bowels regular and they may be avoided. when a laxative is needed take Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. Obtainable everywhere.

Notice.

I have taken charge of the Millinery Store of Miss Sallie Hoskins, and will soon be ready to show you the best line in Ladies Furnishings and Millinery. Will announce the fall opening soon. Miss Laura Hays.
