DR. ROBERT B. S. HAMMOND DELIVERS SPLENDID ADDRESS

Those who were fortunate enough to hear Dr. Robert B. S. Hammond, Rector of St. Barnabas Episcopal Church, Sydney, Australia, realized that they had before them a man of magnetic personality and one who works for the work's sake. The address was delivered in the Methodist Church, Dr. Allen of the Baptist Church delivering the invocation and Rev. J. Owen Gross introducing the speaker.

Dr. Hammond spoke on World Wide Prohibition under the auspices of the World League Against Alcoholism.

He spoke of the 85,000 convicted drunkards in the city of Sydney who had gone through the courts.

He gave certain data relative to Australia, such as that it is not only 10,000 miles away from Barbourville, but that at 7:30 p.m. the hour at which he was speaking, it was then "10 minutes to 12 tomorrow," proving that Australia is a long way ahead of us in time, at least. It has 3,000,000 square miles of territory, yet has but 5,500,000 population. While Australia has less than two foreigners to every 100 population, the United States has 30. One sixth of the population live in Sydney, a beautiful city as big as Detroit. It has however, all the horrors of civilization.

Speaking as an Australian of America, the speaker paid a splendid tribute to our people, their idealism and progress. He also told of what appealed to him as strange and humorous.

The cafeteria was new to him and he most amusingly told of his first experience in one of them. When possible he uses them and tips himself instead of the usual waiter, using the fund for a special purpose. The speaker said one is even expected to tip the basin in some lavatories. The automobile is a mark of distinction in Australia. It is a pest here. The warmth of the Sedan struck Dr. Hammond as unbearable, Australians being fresh air people.

"Safety First" signs, the hygienic cup, "don't expectorate on the floor," all come in for praise if the people keep the law, but they don't. We are overlooking what is more dangerous than diseases and that is the motor car. Ninety-nine children were killed in Los Angeles last year. It is wrong to let anyone drive who is not competent. Many have forgotten that liberty is civilization guaranteed by law. Those who break the 18th Amendment have done despite to those wonderful pioneers who built up a country second to none in the whole world.

Dr. Hammonds mentioned a certain individual who hoped Australia would not get prohibition because "it has played hell here." Dr. Hammond told him he was "a thirst in trousers" and bade him good day. Breakers of the Amendment are doing an appalling thing. Australia is laughing at you and pointing you out as an example of evils of prohibition. The law is so important you are going to ask your Judge in carrying it out.

Mentioning the sucker which grows after the tobacco leaves have been gathered, he said the 15th Amendment had gathered in all of the saloons but a crop of moonshiners and bootlegger suckers had sprung up. When the Christian breath gets abroad these suckers will die. Instancing what prohibition has done, the speaker said that with 1700 men on strike in Coraja, only two were seen drunk in five months. Bootlegging and moonshining are the greatest menace to American civilization, making unsafe and tending to the destruction of the greatest law ever put on your or any other statute books.

Dr. Hammond quoted statistics to prove that prohibition is a wonderful help in city law and order. For instance, arrests for drunkenness in San Francisco in 1917 were 17321. One year later 1814. St. Louis 7660 against 993. New York in 1917 19452 drunks against $169 in 1921. St. Louis 521 beggars before prohibition against 77 last year. Cruelty to animals before prohibition 137, last year 10. Unfortunate women before prohibition 1623, last year 603 or 1020 less such women in St. Louis. Did you ever hear of a purity crusade or a revival that did it? Yet some doubt prohibition. It has cleaned unhappy women off the streets as never before. England with saloons has a 47,000 increase of cases of arrest for drunkenness.

"I have been connected with charity all my life. I went to Kansas and found it did not have a single Charity organization. Instead, they have good homes, decency and self respect and one out of every two families owns a car. They have no more need for philanthropic organization than a fish has for a bathing suit.

Fifty years ago, California was further from Kentucky than Australia is from you today, said the speaker. He said never finish the job of prohibition until we have made the whole world dry. While Australia is a splendid Commonwealth, it had 1,175,000 people convicted of drunkenness last year."

Quoting the saving of the crew of a ship on fire on the Pacific recently, the speaker likened the S.O.S. of the ship in distress to a wireless for help from Australia.

"Where man is a brute, the child is a martyr".

The whole world must come within the scope of the nation that started the job.

Jesus Christ died for the whole world. Be as big as your religion. If you are a denominational christian you are a curse and not a blessing. Australia is shortly to vote on a referendum and the speaker appealed for help to get the organization against liquor strengthened for the fight.

LABOR, EX-SERVICE MEN, FARMERS

All Pay Tribute to Congressman Robsion

Truth is mighty and will prevail. Some people have endeavored to question the record of J. M. Robsion Congressman for the 11th district of Kentucky.

Facts are stubborn things. Saturday we had a splendid expression (not defense, because he needs none) of the record of Mr. Robsion from the mouth of Judge J. T. Stamper, followed by a detailed account of his stewardship from Congressman Robsion himself,—practically the same details we printed last week. It was a complete refutation of his reported non-labor sympathies. If this is not sufficient, we quote the following letters to show where Mr. Robsion stands on labor and where we know he has always stood.

Robsion Has Always Stood by Labor
Read what Congressman John G. Cooper, of Ohio, a Railroad Engineer and Union Man, says about Mr. Robsion

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21, 1922
Mr. L. T. Philpot, Striking Shopman, Corbin, Kentucky.

My Dear Mr. Philpot:—It is with much regret that I learn that Congressman J. M. Robsion will have opposition for re-election. I might say that for many years before my election to Congress I was employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad as Locomotive Engineer, and while I am not now in actual service, I still hold my Membership in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Having been a railroad worker myself and a union man I am always deeply interested in legislation that will benefit the railroad workers. Mr. Robsion has always been ready and willing to help other friends of labor and myself to fight for legislation that has appeared to us to be to the best interest of labor and to help oppose legislation that appeared to us to be against the interests of the working class. I think he is a real friend of labor and has the best interest of labor at heart.

He has been a friend of labor and I think labor should back him. I feel that it would be a most serious mistake and a tremendous loss to the common people if he were not returned to Congress.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) JOHN G. COOPER.

Big Mentally and Physically
The National Tribune, of Washington, D. C., the official organ of the soldiers of America, on December 15th, 1921, devoted six columns of that great paper, praising and reviewing the record of Mr. Robsion. It concludes with the following:

"All of which goes to show what manner of man this good friend of the colder is, and how his heart beats. He has worked hard all his life, and works hard now every day at the capitol. But when his week's work is done, he still remembers the Seventh Day. Each Sunday morning he may be found addressing a large class of men at the 9th Street Christian Church in Washington. 'Hall fellow, well met,' in political, social and civic life.

"This Kentuckian, big mentally and physically, adds to his popularity every day by his frankness and his honesty of purpose. His armour is invulnerable because there is no crack or crevice in which the darts of criticism may lodge to do him injury. He is jolly, a good story teller, quick in repartee, and in all is a man's man."
