The Record

Muhlenberg County is rich in coal, iron, timber, potter's clay, etc., and the most inviting field in Kentucky for investment of capital and pluck.

VOL. XIV. NO. 3.

GREENVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1912.

50c. PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE

CURTAIN-FRONT HEN HOUSE Excellent Building for Poultry Except in States Having Long and Severely Cold Winters.

Except in states having long and severely cold winters the curtain-front type of house is the thing. It keeps the fowls nearer a state of nature, there are no colds, roup and other diseases and with proper feeding and care, as many, if not more, eggs. The wire netting on the south side of my henhouse is covered in stormy or cold weather with duck curtains, 32-inch board is hung at the upper edge of the 1-foot wire netting on north side, to be raised or lowered according to the weather. The wire in netting will give free ventilation through the house in hot weather.

FEED TURKEYS FOR MARKET Give Them Only What They Will Clean Up—Should Be Penned Up With Shelter Over Roost.

Turkeys for the midwinter markets should be penned up with a shed to roost under at night. The yard should be large enough for them to exercise in. A successful New England turkey raiser has two herds, one smaller than the other; when the birds are first brought in they are put in the lower, when ready to fatten they are put into the smaller yard. By keeping the same flock together they have confinement and have a better appetite. Feed only what they will eat up clean. The grain for fattening should be sound and of good quality, give a variety mixed grain, vegetables boiled and mixed with wheat bran and corn chop. Give turkey tops and cabbage leaves once a day. Rice pasture may take the place of vegetables. Give an abundance of fresh water, have the troughs clean, the yard and sheds clean and dry, feed four times a day. The birds should be fed by same person and not frightened.

DOULTRY NOTES Hens are high jumpers when they can get a faint by it. Correct feeding and successful keeping go together in fowling. Be on your guard against drafts. They are disastrous this time of the year. The busy fowl is never sick. A breeding stock must be strictly hardy. Laying hens will eat and digest 25 per cent. more feed than hens that are not laying. Feed when dry and warm for breakfast. There is nothing better for cold weather egg making. Perfect health and warm, not too warm, but comfortable quarters are necessary to insure eggs. Don't lose sight of the fact that it is the early hatched pullets that make the best winter layers. Care out the droppings at least once a week. Too much work? Not half as much as to fight 10,000,000 lice. There should be separate quarters for pullets if they are expected to do much of the laying during winter. Every fowl should be perfectly tame, and the taming process should be commenced as soon as feeding begins. Hens infested with vermin are not in a condition to be profitable to their owner; you can avoid that condition by proper care. One important secret of winter laying is to give the flocks all the work possible. And this is but one of the many ways of doing this. Never tell either eggs or birds that you have not considered good enough for your own use; it's a bad business policy for anyone.

WONDERFULLY INTELLIGENT.

'A better horse you'll not find, zur,' declared the old farmer, enthusiastically. 'Obey every word you say to 'un, and is worth three times the price I'm askin'. Try 'un, zur, try 'un!' The prospective buyer did 'try 'un,' and returned an hour later with a frowning countenance. 'Somewhat lavish in your swaves, friend!' he said as he dismounted. 'Sevah wote a worse horse in all my life!' 'Well, well!' exclaimed the old farmer, disappointedly. 'And what's wrong with 'un, zur?' 'Whys,' retorted the man who didn't want the horse, 'the brute kept on stoppin'—stoppin' every twenty yards, an' cocked up his ears.' 'But that's jest his conscientiousness, zur,' replied the farmer. 'Don't you see? He's so afeared you may say 'Whoa,' and he won't hear you, that he stops to listen.'

Where to Stop. Rabbi Wise, when he visited Boston for the first time, was undecided at what hotel to stop. As he wandered up Summer street from the South station he determined to inquire for a good hotel. So he accosted a fine-looking man who was coming toward him, confident that from such a citizen he would be sure to get the very best advice as to his choice of a stopping place. 'What would be a good place to stop at?' he inquired of the stranger, writes J. W. Torrance of Ripley, Okla., in Missouri Valley Farmer. A 'Just before you reach the at.' was the disconcerting reply.—Cosmopolitan Magazine.

IN THE CHARMS.

nettes have more admirers than blondes? 'Ask Dottie Bleacham. She's been both!'

So Depressing. Who has a cold is apt to think The whole wide world Is on the blink.

Resented it. 'The trouble with you,' said the literary editor, 'is that you write over the heads of the people.' 'It's mighty mean of you, Nagus,' indignantly exclaimed the struggling author, 'to throw it up to me that I have to do my writing in a miserable attic!'

Revenge. 'I say, my dear,' exclaimed a 'golden youth' to a pretty nursemaid in Hyde Park, 'I wish I was a youngster in your charge!'

'So do I,' responded the girl, 'I should then have the chance of teaching you better manners!'

Peevish Patient. 'You are unreasonable,' declared the physician. 'Why so, doc?'

'You stuff yourself with twenty kinds of rich food and then kick because you have to take two kinds of medicine.'

TOOK THEM VERY OFTEN.

Miss Giddy—Yes, I'm troubled with bromnia; the doctor tells me to take long walks. Mr. Barnstormer—Ah! If you could be with our company for a while you would think that all of us were troubled with it.

No Wonder. His wife complained a pretty maid—Furness, he much admired her; And now you know just why 'tis said His wife got mad and died her.

The Idea. 'If any ships are ordered to quell the disturbance in the Philippines, they will be entrusted with a paradoxical duty.' 'In what way?' 'They will start out to fight with a Pacific outlook.'

Couldn't Walk!

'I used to be troubled with a weakness peculiar to women,' writes Mrs. Anna Jones, of Kenny, Ill. 'For nearly a year, I could not walk, without holding my sides. I tried several different doctors, but I grew worse. Finally, our druggist advised Cardui for my complaint. I was so thin, my weight was 115. Now, I weigh 163, and I am never sick. I ride horseback as good as ever. I am in fine health at 52 years.'

TAKE The CARDUI Woman's Tonic

We have thousands of such letters, and more are arriving daily. Such earnest testimony from those who have tried it, surely proves the great value of this vegetable, tonic medicine, for women. Cardui relieves women's sufferings, and builds weak women up to health and strength. If you are a woman, give it a trial. It should help you, for it has helped a million others. It is made from pure, harmless, herb ingredients, which act promptly and surely on the womanly organs. It is a good tonic. Try it! Your druggist sells it.
