Entered at the Greenville, Ky., postoffice as second-class matter.

COL. ROOSEVELT and Mr. Bryan may be trying to see who can silent the greatest length of time.

Now the great American Saturday night is safe. The bathtub trust is dissolved.

HEITZ GREEN advises the girls not to "overdress." Mrs. Green should consult an oculist.

NOBODY as yet has advanced the startling theory that the men shot by mistake for deer were bull moose.

SIDE whiskers are fashionable, but those who cannot grow them can get a comfortable muller for 50 cents.

CUTTING out the foolishness from Christmas giving will also eliminate much of the heart burnings that accompany the festive occasion.

ONE practical joke cost a South Dakota man $3,800 and a year in jail. The American standard of humor is being revised upward.

RECENT matrimonial episodes prove the need of something more than a speaking acquaintance between the contracting parties to a marriage.

INVENTORS are so impractical! The contriver of the bullet proof vest wishes to sell it to the European ministries of war instead of to hunters in American deer forests.

CHINA took seventy two hours to celebrate its Independence day. There is hope that it used up its total supply of firecrackers and will have none to export.

If it is all the same to New York, the rest of the country would be pleased to have the next news sensations from that center of interest relate to something other than murder and robbery.

SEEKERS after political appointments would do well to recall the remark of the late John J. Ingalls that "he is a mighty poor politician that won't promise his friends anything they want."

DEFEAT of the prohibition amendment in Colorado is attributed to the women. Possibly this is a foxy move to eliminate the opposition of brewers to woman suffrage in other states. If so, it is deep strategy.

ONE really ought to know something these days about the person one marries. It is so easy to masquerade as somebody else, and some women who want to get married will believe anything.

THIS movement for a sane Christmas to follow up the successful sane Fourth of July would seem to indicate that sanity is becoming popular, since we are to devote two entire days to it out of our small year.

WITH regard to a segregated vice district, it is pertinent to recall Sam Jones' query as to the number of good potatoes it would require to save a rotten one if the rotten one were placed among them.

Now and then the courts render a verdict that makes even the casual reader tingle with satisfaction. A window-cleaner for a big hotel in New York has just secured damages of twelve thousand five hundred dollars for disabling injuries due to a fall. At the trial he testified that he had made repeated but vain efforts to get the hotel people to install hooks and life belts. They will now have a chance to figure out how much they saved.

The total delay by troubles in electrical apparatus last year on the thirty-three electric locomotives operating in the New York terminal district of the Pennsylvania Railroad amounted to only 13 minutes. The total mileage run of these locomotives was 900,000, including a mileage of 56,000 for a single one of the locomotives.

ONE might grow incensed at Andrew Carnegie's colossal impudence in offering to take care of the nation's ex-presidents and their widows did not one reflect that the man's egomania is a disease that makes him irresponsible for his actions.

ELECTRICAL engineering is constantly at work seeking to transform the largest possible percentage of the total available heat energy in coal into electrical energy, and to this end has endeavored to improve the efficiency of steam engines, steam turbines and international combustion engines. Another way to conserve the heat energy of the coal used under the steam boiler is to protect this fuel from deterioration of the value that it has when purchased, that is from the loss of heat units, during long storage, by exposure to the air and also by spontaneous firing of coals containing sulphur. An Indianapolis electric light company has devised an under-water coal storage pit containing 25,000 tons, of which 15,000 tons can be submerged. This pit, which represents an investment of $20,000, will be filled by gravity, thereby limiting the cost of handling to one transfer.

Mr. Fred Irvin drove over from Owensboro last Sunday the new touring car for Mr. H. L. Stum, who has joined the growing ranks of automobilists.

Mr. James W. Oates is now serving as deputy sheriff, having entered the service last week.

Stock water is beginning to get a little scarce, and rain is needed.

Anybody can have pumpkin pie, anyway, as there was an immense output this year of the golden fruit.

Do you believe in old sayings? Well, get ready for 28 snows this winter.

Quail hunters are discouraged, and many of them wish they had the dollar back which they paid for hunting license.

Forest fires are doing much damage in various parts of the State, the continued dry weather bringing about conditions that are serious, once a fire is started, and hunters are said to be responsible for many of the fires. There has been no damage of this kind in Muhlenberg, so far.

Union Thanksgiving services at 11 o'clock this morning at the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Everyone invited.

Green Hampton, a ten year old colored girl, accidentally killed herself with a shot gun at her home west of town last Saturday afternoon. There were no witnesses to the tragedy, and Squire Henry Lovell was directed to hold an inquest, the jury returned a verdict that death was caused by the accidental discharge of a shot gun. Burial was at South Carrollton Sunday afternoon.

Central City High School Standardized.

Prof. McHenry Rhoades visited the Central City High School recently, and after examination of the course of study, method of teaching, and general progress made, declared that he would recommend the school being placed on the accredited list of High Schools of the State. This means that candidates or appointees for admission to the State University will be received by that institution on certificates being satisfactory as issued by any such school. It is an honor to be prized highly by any school, and we are glad to know that our neighbor is in line for it. For more than ten years Greenville has been on the list, and it has done much to cause improvement and watchcare in teaching. There has never been an appointee or applicant from our school that failed to make good. From the start we have been in Class A, the highest unconditional grade, and we hope our metropolis may make a like desirable landing.

Drug Store Changes Hands.

Mr. G. E. Countzler, of Hopkinsville, has purchased from Mr. John X. Taylor his drug store, and the new management will be in charge Tuesday, when invoicing will be commenced. Mr. Countzler sold the business to Taylor & Poole about two years ago, and moved to Hopkinsville, where he opened a fine new store. Some time ago he had a flattering offer and sold, and now has decided to return here, where he spent many years and is well known to the people of the county. He will move here with his family, and they will be welcome additions. Mr. Taylor has not decided just what he will do, but will soon engage in business at some point. He and his wife have made a host of friends here who regret to lose them.

New Kentucky Map.

Recognizing the value of detailed topographic mapping of its area, the State of Kentucky, through the Kentucky Geological Survey, is cooperating with the United States Geological Survey in meeting the expenses of the surveys in the field. The latest map issued by the Federal Survey as a result of this cooperation is that of the area known as the Nortonville quadrangle, in the west-central portion of the State. The surveys were made by Topographic Engineers Goodlove, Ballmer and Reiter, of the United States Geological Survey, in 1910 and the map published on the scale of 1 mile to the inch, with a 20 foot contour interval. This map depicts every physical characteristic of the country, the contour lines indicating the various slopes of hill and valley and showing the altitudes above sea level of all points. By various symbols all the works of man are also shown.

The Louisville papers featured our recent School Fair and Corn Show, both in news and pictures. Last Sunday the Courier-Journal printed three of the most effective pictures of the crowd and the parade, and our first Show has had more attention than any like affair that has been given in the State. It deserved it, though, for the State officials in attendance declared it to be the largest attended and best arranged affair that they had seen in the whole State.

Mr. John S. Miller left yesterday for Indianapolis and Booneville, Ind., where he will spend a fortnight with his children.

The Finishing Touch—Electric Light

She:—"Ah, there's an inviting house. What a difference light makes—especially electric light."

He:—"That's Jones' house. Yes, electric lighting is the finishing touch to a perfect home—large or small. It insures health, convenience and comfort. It's one of the strong attractions of a popular home."

She:—"Yes, that's very evident. Let's call on them and ask who wired their house. We must have electric light immediately."
