RIGHTS OF THE SOUTHERN DEMOCRATS.

The Washington Post has a clearer and more comprehensive appreciation and understanding of the true position of the South as a political factor in this country than any other journal north of the Potomac river. If not, indeed, than any paper in the land, and the people of the South entertain a lively appreciation of its friendliness, and the frequency and forcefulness with which it gives expression to its sentiments. No paper in the country more nearly reflects the general trend of public sentiment throughout the United States than the Post, located as it is at the nation's capital, in constant touch with the leaders of thought from every section of the country, and free from local opinion and prejudice, so that when it speaks it is as one with authority.

The Post says that "the South is not discharging its duty to the country, to itself, or to the Democratic party by looking to Northern Democrats for guidance in all things political; that there is no need in postponing the performance of a long neglected duty; no need for the South, whose votes are the chief factor in a Presidential election, to be waiting for New York to name the candidate."

There is no need indeed for the South to wait for any other section or State to name the candidate. Right here can be found as good Presidential timber as anywhere else in the country, and there is no evidence that there would be any great prejudice to a Southern man in the North. The fact is that the South has only recently demonstrated her loyalty to the Union in unmistakable terms, and we believe that our Northern brethren would be glad of an opportunity to show their appreciation of this loyalty, and to give tangible evidence that sectional prejudice and animosity are things of the past.

Admiral Dewey was vain enough to suppose four years ago, when some few admirers thought he would make a good president, to think that was the sentiment of his party, and expressed his desire for the nomination. It turned out that that very few favored the move, and he had the mortification of finding out that his great feat at Manila did not convince the politicians that he was fitted for the presidency. Now it seems, some are tickling the fancy of Admiral Schley, and trying to persuade him that he is the man for the first place on the ticket, and if he should fall for the first, he would surely make a good second. It is to be hoped that the Admiral's head will not be turned in that direction as he must know, as popular as he is as a naval officer, he is not the man for the Democratic nomination. The country does not want a revival of the Schley and Sampson controversy.

Two New York members of Congress spoke in Richmond on Wednesday—Messrs. Sullivan and Sulzer. It is reported that Mr. Sullivan declared that the candidacy of Mr. Hearst amounted to nothing and was not seriously considered in New York. Mr. Sulzer did not agree with his colleague and expressed the belief that Mr. Hearst was a very important factor and would have to be reckoned with in the coming National Convention. From the present outlook we are rather inclined to think that Mr. Sulzer is right. Up to this time it is reported that Mr. Hearst has every delegate that has been appointed except six, and he has a fine prospect of carrying over States. Having now over one hundred delegates, and no other avowed candidate in the field, and the leaders not openly opposing him, he has a fine opportunity of adding to his strength.

The question as to whether Columbus was the son of a nobleman or of a weaver can have but little to do with his discovery of America and the honor due his memory for such an important work. History has written Columbus down as a great man, and his greatness will grow as the centuries pass and America shall increase in wealth and power. And no writer of this day will have the public with him who abuses or belittles or undertakes to detract from the reputation of Columbus, as Henry Vignaud has done in declaring him to have been "boastful and lying, greedy, violent and brutal." And yet the same writer admits that Columbus is the discoverer of America, and that alone assures his rank among those to whom grateful humanity raises statues.

It appears that Russia and Japan are both troubled with traitors in their own ranks, and some of the parties implicated occupy high places in governmental service. Capt. Leontieff, of the Russian army, had been arrested for selling military secrets to Japan, and Tetsuke Akiyama, a member of the Japanese parliament, is now under investigation, charged with being in the secret pay of Russia, and another member is under strong suspicion. These crimes are high treason and if the guilty of the parties is proven, amid the state of excitement now prevailing in these countries, they will no doubt lose their heads.

MR. HEARST AND THE PRESIDENCY.

We cannot believe that the Democratic party will so far forget the lessons of 1896 and 1900 as to allow the nomination of W. R. Hearst, and yet he is the only candidate so far mentioned who has any organization to speak of. Not only are he and his friends at work in every State in the Union, but it is reported that he offers, in the event of his nomination, to supply the Democratic committee with a million and a half dollars as a campaign fund to insure the success of the Democratic ticket. The Democratic party has not so far left its ancient moorings, nor is it so far lost to honor, nor has repeated defeat and discouragement rendered its predicament so desperate that it will sell itself for a price to a man who does not measure up to the requirements of an nominee for the highest office in the gift of the people. The party has made many serious blunders, it has gone astray after strange gods and at times has made mistakes in the selection of nominees, but it has never made sale of the nomination to any man, and never will. To nominate Mr. Hearst would be equivalent to the renomination of Mr. Bryan, and all the old dead and discredited issues of 1896 and 1900 would be revived, with a resultant defeat more humiliating and disastrous than on either of those occasions. To avoid such a calamity and to insure at least a respectable showing if not success in the coming election, the Democrats must organize along conservative lines, nominate a safe man and make a declaration of principles which will appeal to the conservative business element of the country. We cannot believe that the leaders of the Democratic party, with the recent disasters fresh in their minds, will again allow populism and fanaticism to run riot in the ranks of their party, but in order to prevent this, some anti-Hearst organization should be commenced at once.

The ministers of the various Christian churches have no idea of abandoning their efforts to stop the wholesale divorcements now carried on in courts of many of the States. A conference was held in New York at which twelve denominations were represented, and the spirit of the gathering seemed to be renewed energy and greater determination. The hope of changing the laws is not entertained, but the evil, it is thought, can be lessened, if not stopped by ministers refusing to unite in marriage any couple, either one of which, male or female, has been divorced. Such action would no doubt do much to lessen the evil if ministers of all denominations would unite and work in harmony to that end.

There is a warm contest going on in the Sixth Alabama Congressional district between Congressman Bankhead, who has served his people for eighteen years, and Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson, who wants to represent the district. Mr. Bankhead at first laughed at the idea of Hobson's entering the field against him and paid no attention to his candidacy, but he now finds that Hobson is a dangerous competitor and stands a good chance of carrying off the prize. Hobson may not be a shrewd politician, but being a good speaker, with fine address and a good record behind him, he appears to advantage before an audience and makes a fine impression.

Judge Christian, commander of the Grand Camp of Confederate Veterans, does not approve of the proposition of holding the Grand Camp in Lynchburg at the same time the horse show is in progress there. He gives as one of the objections that the hotel accommodations are not sufficient for the two, which appears to be a good reason, but in addition to this, the horse show might draw more veterans to its exhibition than would be drawn to the business meetings of the camp.

THE SOUTHERN FAST MAIL.

The House passed the postoffice appropriation bill, while a number of members were clamoring for recognition to offer amendments. Mr. Overstreet moved that debate close and the bill be reported and put upon its passage, which was carried. Mr. Moon made an eloquent statement to support the bill with various actions to strike out the appropriations for special mail facilities over trunk lines south of Washington and west of Kansas City. His motion was voted down by 121 to 114. The provision relating to carriers, as adopted, makes the salary $720 a year, and prohibits the soliciting of business by carriers, but permits the carrier, under certain restrictions, to carry merchandise for hire. A provision for a purchaser, as set out for the Post Office Department, with a salary of $4,000, was adopted unanimously. Mr. Baker proposed an amendment which the clerk began reading as follows: "To reimburse the great railroad lines the cost of supplying the President of the United States with special trains, cigars, wines."

The reading was stopped by a point of order which was sustained. Mr. Fox (New York) accused the Republican of being "in the interest of the automobile" and "treating the rural routes only where there were good roads." The Republican factions in the State Representative Sleep, Judge L. L. Low, Thomas C. O'Brien, accused the Republican of being "in the interest of the automobile" and "treating the rural routes only where there were good roads." The organization faction, which has had the disposition of Virginia post-offices, had recommended the nomination of Postmaster Brown, although the anti-organization people have been successful in this particular case, it is not understood that the president proposes to change his recognition of the organization people. This case he regards as a special one.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

A primary to nominate city officers will be held in Richmond April 26. R. V. L. Cave, of Atlanta, Ga., has declined a call to the Christian Church at Charlottesville. Mr. Goldthorpe sold his mill property last week to Mr. Robert Muesler for $1100.—Warrenton Times Index. We regret to announce that Mr. G. S. P. Triplett is seriously ill at his home near Jefferson—Culpeper Enterprise. The president has sent to the senate the nomination of Walter D. Sharp, of Virginia, as assistant paymaster in the navy. W. E. Spittle, of Prince William county, died a few days ago. He was nearly 90 years of age, and active up to a short time ago. Mrs. G. G. Galleher, of Prince William, died Tuesday in Washington, where she had undergone a surgical operation at Columbia hospital.

The residence of the late G. D. Gray, which was sold at public auction Saturday was bought by Mr. C. M. Waite. The price paid was $4,625.—Culpeper Enterprise. Senator John N. Ogle, of Staunton, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Tenth district against Congressman H. D. Flood. Congressman Rixey has presented to the House a petition of Lawson B. Moore and others, of Gordonsville, in favor of the Hepburn-Dalver bill; also a petition of citizens of Retortown, and vicinity, in favor of the Brownlow good roads bill. Plans of the proposed hotel just north of the passenger depot are all ready of the builders. We understand that Mr. Porter expects to build this summer. The plan calls for a handsome structure, costing over $30,000.—Massachusetts Journal. Bishop Gibson visited the parish of Ivan, Abingdon and Petersburg, Gloucester county, a few days ago, preaching and confirming classes in Abingdon Church on Tuesday, Ivan Church on Wednesday morning and Grace Chapel Wednesday evening.

H. W. Stockton sold his warehouse and lot on Equine Avenue to R. H. Hargraves of Lynchburg for $1,500 cash. J. E. Flewelin has sold his property at Barboursville and has purchased a farm in Fairfax county, where he goes with his family to reside.—Orange Observer. The next meeting of the farmers of Hanover will be held at Ashland April 12. These meetings are under the auspices of the Ashland Business Men's Association, which will give a dinner to the farmers who attend. At the next gathering Congressman John Lamb, of that district, and a member on the committee on agriculture of the house, will make an address. Theron H. Brown, former cashier of the Life Insurance Company of Virginia of Richmond, pleaded guilty to the charge of grand larceny in Richmond Saturday and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. The court announced that sentence would be suspended until March 31 to give counsel an opportunity to use efforts to secure a commutation of sentence. The indictment charges Brown with stealing $17,177.33.

REFUSED TO SIGN BILLS. Gov. Montague Disapproves Norfolk Road Measure and Franchise Act. Gov. Montague refused to sign the bill which authorizes the supervisors of Norfolk county to acquire a toll road on a toll bridge. This is the third time that the same bill has passed the legislature and failed to become a law. Regarding it, the governor gave, among other reasons, the following for disapproving the bill: "There is no provision that the toll roads will become free if purchased by the county. There is no maximum price named for the purchase. The general laws and statutory custom are violated in not safeguarding the county in voting large sums for internal improvements." The governor also declined to approve the bill extending the time for the assessment and payment of the franchise tax of corporations for the year 1904. He gave these reasons: "This bill is plainly unconstitutional; it discriminates between those corporations which have paid the tax and those which have not, and is therefore unjust."

THE NEW SCHOOL LAWS. The new school laws will have almost a revolutionary effect in the State, bringing in many new teachers, to some extent breaking up the nepotism where it exists and cutting the commissions of the county treasurers out of the school fund in half. Mrs. Davis Rallies. M. J. Brown Davis, who has been ill in New York, is now at Atlantic City. N. J. She was stricken at her hotel with an attack of acute indigestion, but Sunday she rallied. Britt Defeats Young Corbett. In a hard fought 20 round contest in San Francisco Friday night, Jimmy Britt was given the decision over Young Corbett.
