

Just go and get a piece of chalk To straightway mark it down That represented here you see Some live men of the town.

Snow yesterday.

The river is uncomfortably near the top of the banks and is still swelling.

The time for removing the old market house has almost expired. Wake up Mr. T.

There will be no session of the Court of Appeals until April 9th as Judge Lewis will be absent on a bridal trip.

Mrs. Maria Warder, a lady much beloved in the community where she lived, died at her home, near Mayslick, on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank McClanahan, who lives on Short street, on Saturday, by a fall was so unfortunate as to dislocate her right shoulder. Her injuries were very painful.

Mr. Patrick Byron, of this county, a few days ago, sold his crop of tobacco to John Bacon for $15 and $5. Wm. Byron sold his crop to Mr. Bacon also, and received for it $12 from the ground up.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Perrie, on Saturday afternoon, were visited with the loss of their only child, an interesting little girl of ten months. They have the sympathy of all their friends in this severe affliction.

We are much obliged to our esteemed contemporary, the Sunday Morning Call, for the following kind notice:

The DAILY BULLETIN has been enlarged to a twenty column paper, and greatly improved otherwise. This certainly denotes prosperity, and we are glad to see it. You have our best wishes, gentlemen.

Mr. Charles H. Frank, who has discontinued business on his own account, will hereafter be connected with the firm of Agnew & Allen, at the corner of Third and Market streets, where his old friends and customers are invited to call.

Parson Gilbert in his remarks yesterday on the subject of "What can a Young Lady do?" neglected to mention the BULLETIN's suggestion about wax. He had probably noticed that Owens & Barkley have lately received a large invoice of broom handles.

Messrs. Baldwin & Co., on Saturday shipped six horses to B. F. Kindig, at York, Pa. Four of the animals had been sold to Mr. Kindig by the above named firm, and two by Moses Daulton. They were the finest horses that have been sent from Maysville for some time.

Mr. Charles Shockey has sold his newspaper route in this city, to Mr. Charles Walz and is no longer in the business. Mr. Walz will deliver the Cincinnati Enquirer, Morning Journal, Times-Star, Volksblatt and Louisville Courier-Journal to subscribers as usual.

Dan Perrine, like love, laughs at locksmiths, at least you would have thought so if you had seen him go through a door last Saturday afternoon, to serve a legal notice on a man who was not particularly anxious to receive it. The door opened did not lead into a flower conservatory, either.

The Maysville and Lexington Turnpike Company on Saturday, served notice on Judge Coons and County Attorney, Whitaker that a motion will be made at the April term of the Circuit Court to have issued a writ prohibiting the Judge of the County Court from attempting further to hear, try and determine proceedings against the road in that court for failing to give in its property for taxation in certain years. The ground of the motion is that the County Court has no jurisdiction of the proceedings.

Mr. William Winn, of Silver Lake Place, has filed a suit in the Circuit Court, against Mrs. Ann F. Henry, of Washington for specific enforcement of contract. It is claimed by the plaintiff that the property was sold to Mrs. Henry for $12,500, the contract being reduced to writing and that she has refused to receive possession of the property when tendered to her. Under the conditions of the contract one-third of the purchase money was due when possession of the place was given. The petition prays for an enforcement of the contract and judgment for the amount of money claimed to be due.

Cause of the Coolness.

Last Saturday morning, Colonel Noyes washed his face, blacked his boots and set himself to rights generally. Clerk Ball adorned his button-hole with a fresh tube-rose, applied a few drops of Heliotrope to his cambric handkerchief and bore himself with a mysterious air. The habitues of the Clerk's office were in an anxious state of expectancy, for this is never done there except when something out of the usual run of things is to transpire.

The parlor had been put in perfect order. The figure of Cupid, in the corner, at the suggestion of Col. Noyes, had been supplied with a coat, vest and hat, to avoid any unfavorable criticism of the aesthetic appearance of the apartment while the Greek Slave, Clerk Ball's pet fancy, for modesty's sake, had been turned face to the wall. The Clerk's library, "Among the Poets" and "Familiar Quotations," stood primly on end on the desk, the little black paper weight with the magnetic needle inside was in its accustomed place, the cuspidors were filled with flowers and a low fire burned in the grate. All this meant a wedding and one took place there a little later.

The bride was from Cincinnati and the groom from Columbus, O., and they had arrived the evening before. Judge Coons, who had been engaged to officiate, tied the knot according to the statutes, delivered the customary address and had reached the point where it is proper to offer congratulations.

Just here Col. Noyes, who claims that in the matter of kissing the bride, Clerk Ball has been lately getting largely ahead of him, rushed in to assert his rights. The groom seemed to be of the same mind and as the bride stepped toward him, Col. Noyes made a grab where she ought to have been, fell into Judge Coons' arms and planted a rousing smack on his ruby lips, while Clerk Ball, who had darted in the same direction, deposited a modest kiss on the back of his head. Both were promptly knocked down for contempt of court. Thus the wedding ended and there has since been a decided coolness between the County Judge's office and the Clerk's department. Judge Coons glares at Col. Noyes when they meet, while the latter holds his stomach and looks as though he had just swallowed an emetic. The end is not yet.

Too Much Sugar for a Cent.

Last Thursday afternoon, Frank Devine and Lewis McCarthy arrived at Washington on their way home from a business trip through the country. Frank had gotten for his good wife nine pounds of the best butter in Mason county, and then he didn't think it was quite good enough for her. This with a new water-proof overcoat and a valise belonging to Lewis McCarthy were left at one of the stores while the two were attending to business outside in the town. On their return they found that some light fingered person had cut open the valise and walked away with the overcoat and butter, beside. There was no clue at the time. The next day they sent word of the affair to George C. Goggin and by noon the same day, a colored man was in custody as the supposed thief. Devine and McCarthy were in high feather over the arrest until it suddenly dawned upon them, that in addition to the loss of their property, they would have to go to Washington to-day, as witnesses, and that next week they will probably have to dance attendance for several days at the door of the grand jury room, so they have unanimously passed the following: RESOLVED, That it is entirely too much sugar for a cent.

For the information of "A Farmer's Boy," who has written to the BULLETIN, we state that the law referred to was enacted by the National Congress and not by the Legislature of Kentucky as he supposes. Under its provisions a farmer, provided he is not at the same time a store keeper, may sell in any one year tobacco to the amount of one hundred pounds, independent of the restrictions heretofore placed on such sales. The law does not particularly benefit tobacco growers, further than that they may now sell what they formerly had to give away.

Mr. Thomas Allen, a member of the firm of Allen, Harbeson & Co., of Augusta, was a passenger by the train that was wrecked Friday, near Mason, Ky. Mr. Allen had one of his legs broken below the knee, his foot crushed and was severely bruised about the neck and shoulders. It is feared that it may be necessary to amputate the limb. He was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital at Cincinnati, where he is receiving the best surgical attention.

DRUM HEAD.

Members of the Emmet Rifles who Failed to Respond to Roll Call at Grayson to be Court Martialed.

Capt. E. W. Fitzgerald, of the Emmet Rifles, has received notice that charges have been preferred by Adjutant Henry Kincaid of the Second Regiment, of the State Guard, against the members of the company who failed to respond to the call for troops to go to Grayson during the murder trial at that place. The court martial will take place in Maysville and will be held some time this week.

The members of the company who will be notified to appear for trial are as follows: Wm. Conley, John Moore, John M. Hanley, James Cullen, James Kehoe, Mike Lynen, Daniel McCarthy, M. F. Kehoe, Wm. Moran, P. J. Clark, Mark Brannan, John Ford, Henry Hasson, John O'Keefe, James Redmond.

M. F. Kehoe, Dan. McCarthy and Jas. Redmond were on the sick-list when the call was made and they will probably be excused. There are others too who have excuses for their absence that will perhaps be accepted as valid.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mr. Daniel Runyon was in the city, Saturday.

Mr. Hiram Pearce has returned from New York.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Hall have returned from New Orleans.

Mr. George Bendel left for Cincinnati, Saturday, where he goes to work in Mr. Lewis Cook's carriage factory.

Mrs. Charles Stallcup, of East Maysville, who had been sick for some time, died on Friday.

Mrs. A. G. Browning, of Mt. Carmel, and Miss Cora Amis, of Luray, Va., are the guests of the family of Judge Stanton.

The Lexington Transcript of Saturday says: Capt. E. W. Fitzgerald, of Maysville, was in the city yesterday. The Captain is a prominent business man of his town, and the leader of one of the best fighting military companies there is in the State.

Mr. Sprigg Shackelford, who is now a successful member of the Gunnison, Colorado, bar, is in the city on visit to his relatives. Western life evidently agrees with him as he is looking unusually well.

Miss Mamie Wall, of Flemingsburg, will be married this morning at that place to Mr. Charles Cralle, of Montana. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party will leave for their home at the summit of the Rocky Mountains.

Major J. H. Humphreys, of Memphis, Tennessee, and lately of Norfolk, Va., is visiting his father, Mr. Robert Humphreys, of this county. Major Humphreys is a distinguished Civil Engineer and has lately had charge of some very important State work in Virginia. His venerable father is now in his eighty-eighth year.

Mrs. Wm. Bly has complained to the Mayor that while passing along one of the roads near this city, Saturday afternoon, she was met and insulted by Charles Dinger, and that her son, a boy of fifteen years, who was with her, while acting in her defense, was struck by Dinger on the head with stones and severely hurt. A warrant was issued for Dinger's arrest, but Marshals Dawson and Broning after tracing him out of the city were obliged to give up the pursuit. It is thought that the walks that knew him will know him no more for some time to come.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla, the first blood medicine to prove a real success, still holds its place as first in public estimation, both at home and abroad, as shown by its miraculous cures and immensely increased sales.

When a cold or other cause checks the operation of the secretive organs, their natural healthy action should be restored by the use of Ayer's Pills, and inflammatory material thereby removed from the system. Much serious sickness and suffering might be prevented by thus promptly correcting those slight derangements that, otherwise, often develop into settled disease.

AN ORDINANCE

To prevent vagrancy and drunkenness in the City of Maysville. Be it ordained by the Board of Councilmen of the City of Maysville: SEC. 1. That if any able-bodied person be found loitering or rambling about in the City of Maysville, not having the means to maintain himself by some visible property, or who does not betake himself to labor, or some honest calling to obtain a livelihood, or who not possessing such means has quit his habitation, having a wife or child or other dependent person, or who is drunk, or who is in habits, without visible means of support, shall, upon conviction thereof before the Mayor of said city, be fined in a sum not less than ten dollars, nor more than fifty dollars, to be paid, recovered or enforced with costs as other fines under the ordinances and charter of said city. SEC. 2. That all fines imposed and paid or worked out under the provisions of this ordinance by a person having a wife, child or children, without suitable means of subsistence, may be appropriated to their support. SEC. 3. That this ordinance shall take effect from its passage. Adopted in council March 1, 1883. L. ED. PEARCE, President. Attest: HARRY TAYLOR, City Clerk. 29-31

THE FINE LARGE TROTTING STALLION,

JOHN BURDINE,

TIME 2:26.

Will stand the present season at the livery stables of Moses Daulton & Bro., and will be permitted to serve mares at

$25 to Insure a Mare With Foal.

Breeders of fine stock will please call and see him. Colonel Dick West says he is a better horse than his sire, Almont. He will certainly make a fine stock horse and if he should fail to get trotters he will get extra fast roadsters and coach horses. He will be as likely to get trotters as any of them. JOHN BURDINE is by Almont, the great sire of trotters, dam by Brown Chief, son of Mambrino Chief, sire of Lady Thome, Mambrino Patchen, Mambrino King, &c. Call and see the horse before breeding elsewhere.
