

NEXT Saturday when you come in Your valued aid to lend, In picking out the candidates. Bear this in mind, my friend. Just write it down upon a card, And in your chapeau stick it, The day is cold, when Mason falls To raise her voice for Pickett.

THE city council meets this evening. Rev. J. N. BARBER, of the Baptist church, will preach at the Christian Church in Sardis, next Saturday evening.

COLUMBUS BURN, colored, was examined yesterday afternoon before Justices M. F. Marsh and John L. Grant, on the charge of Grand larceny, and was discharged, the evidence not being sufficient to justify his being held over for trial.

WE are requested by Rev. A. N. Gilbert to say that his assistance in the protracted meeting at the Mayslick Church will be only between Sundays, and that he will preach at the church in Maysville on Sunday morning and night as usual.

SAYS the Courier-Journal: Seven hundred cigarette-makers struck at New York yesterday for higher wages. This, in connection with the death at Syracuse of Dr. H. B. Wilbur, the pioneer educator of idiots in this country, would lead a believer in coincidences, to think that fate had set its face against the "dude."

CHAS. WILLIAMS, colored, was brought before Magistrates M. F. Marsh and John L. Grant yesterday afternoon to answer the charge of grand larceny,—the stealing of $13 from W. H. Harrison and $5 from Stephen Harrison, of Lewisburg precinct. He waived an examination and was sent to jail in default of $250 bail.

A LETTER received by a gentleman of this city from a friend at Louisville states that the Brush electric light in that city in many cases is being removed and replaced by that furnished by the United States Electric Light Company which is said to be greatly superior. "One Eye Open."

CARTHAGE, IND., April 29, 1883. Through the kindness of some Kentucky friend the writer was favored with a few copies of the DAILY BULLETIN this week. To a person with "one eye open" it looks like it had been enlarged and otherwise improved—full of readable matter and fresh advertisements, which make no newspaper man mad. Success to the publishers. Remember me "some more" occasionally.

"What shall I write about? Spring? No! by the great horn spoons let us forget that subject. I know nothing of spring, but I have a faint recollection of reading or hearing some one remark that "spring has come." Of course it has come. It gets here once a year, and everybody knows the date, and why forever prosecute our fellow beings by telling them that "spring is here." Well, then, I shall say something about crops? You say yes. All right. The farming season may not be as far advanced as in Kentucky, but the crops, will all be planted in good time. Corn is now being planted by some, and a great many yet have half their ground to plow. The 10th of May is the date that farmers wish to be through planting corn. Three weeks ago the prospect for wheat in this immediate neighborhood was not at all flattering, but thanks to Providence and favorable weather it has come out wonderful and bids fair to make an average crop. The fruit, as far as I can learn, is all right. The farmers are all happy, and another prosperous season is expected. Corn, wheat and hogs are the staple products of this section. Tobacco is an unknown quantity with the tillers of the soil in this part of the heritage.

Mr. McDonald, of this State, is bobbing up serenely as a candidate for the presidency in 1884. He is a good man and the Democrats can push him without any hesitancy or fear of his inability of filling the position.

A number of conductors on the Panhandle railroad have been given a vacation by the officers of the road. This was to give them a chance to spend the money they have stolen from the company. What is the use to discharge an old conductor who has "knocked down" all he wants, and put in his place a man that has nothing and will steal till he gets something? Railroads cannot keep a detective for each conductor, and if they did, conductors and detectives would join in and divide the spoils.

Maysville is to have a circus! Hands on your pocketbooks! We had a circus through here about a week ago, and heaven knows we never want another. Such another set of low down thieves and cowardly pick-pockets never passed through though here, and if they were to attempt to give another show here, they might meet the same fate that O'Brien's circus did last week over in Pennsylvania—be run out of town. As a general thing one circus increases the anxiety of the public to see the next one; but Van Amburg's left no such effect here. Once again I exclaim, "hands on pocket books!" and keep them there.

ONE EYE OPEN.

Aaron Burr's Pistols.

Louisville Courier-Journal. Some weeks ago I ran across perhaps the most famous and fatal firearms on this continent—the superb duelling pistols of Aaron Burr. They are a bone breaking brace of the first calibre, and the property of Capt. Brent Hopkins, of this city. One of these pistols fired the ball that killed Alexander Hamilton at Weehawken. It is identified by a long, deep notch indented on the handle. The pistols were made by Mortimer, of London, England, and were imported by Burr at the close of the revolutionary war. The barrels are thirteen inches long and carry an ounce ball. They are flint locks, and the pans for the priming are lined with gold, and the touchholes are bushed with the same metal. They are hair triggers and shoot with great force and accuracy. The locks are very superior and of exquisite mechanism. The pair came into possession of Captain Brent Hopkins, the present owner through his uncle, Captain Sam Goode Hopkins, of the Forty-second Regiment of United States Dragoons, who purchased them from Burr in Washington City in the winter of 1813 or 1814, paying $500 in gold for them. Burr remarked at the time that he would not let any one else have the pistols, as he had used them with Hamilton.

The weapons have surely a blood-stained history. They have been used with fatal effect in eleven duels. Among the sanguinary combats, Pettis, of Virginia, killed Biddie, on Bloody Island, near St. Louis; Edward Towns, of Virginia, killed a Frenchman near New Orleans; Captain Sam. Goode Hopkins killed a Spanish Count near Madrid, Mo.; Hugh Brent killed a man from Georgia on Diamond Island, below Henderson, Ky. They were used several times in South Carolina, and more than once in Kentucky, with deadly effect. Robert Triplett, of Owensboro, shot the old lawyer Phil. Thompson, of that city, through and through with one of them, but, strange to say, Thomson recovered, and grew as fat as a bear. Henry Clay and Captain Hopkins were fast friends, and the former was to have used the pistols in one of his duels, but they arrived a day too late.

THESE should be a full attendance at the convention on Saturday, as Mason is one of the leading counties in the State, and should be represented at Louisville, by her best citizens. All of our candidates for States offices will be selected on May 16th, and Mason should have her due influence.

A DOCTOR'S DEVILTRY.

A Chicago M. D. Charged With Murdering His Wife and Child. CHICAGO, May 2.—A great sensation has been created by disclosures implicating Dr. Henry Meyer, a wealthy German physician with a large practice, in a conspiracy with men whom he believed to be ex-convicts, but who were really detectives, to poison his wife, so that he might obtain her estate of $60,000. Meyer was suspected some time ago of poisoning his first wife and his present wife's first husband, and of drowning one of his stepchildren, who was heir to an estate which Meyer wanted to control.
