

We want to whisper in your ear, Of something you should do, And you will find the hint we give, Of interest to you.

Circuit Court is in session to-day.

A lot has been selected on which a building is to be put up for the machinery of the electric light company.

Workmen, employed by the street railway company, are engaged building a culvert on Second street, near Daulton & Bro.'s stable.

Mr. James Goodpaster, a young farmer living near Owingsville, died on Monday, from injuries received by a fall several days before.

Mr. T. J. Curley is laying down a large water main on Grant street, for the purpose of supplying the Alms House and Hord's Hill with water.

An exceedingly interesting feature in the Chester concerts will be the singing and recitations by the little folks. Go hear them and you will be delighted.

You must have it—a spring suit—and Windhorst & Blum can supply you to suit your taste and pocket book. Go and examine the elegant line of piece goods they are now exhibiting.

The grounds of Mr. Tilden's, New York residence is illuminated by the United States Electric Light. The capital building at Albany, New York, which is conceded to be the handsomest in America, also uses this light.

Do not fail to attend the concerts to be given at the M. E. Church, South, in Chester, Friday and Saturday evenings. Additional seating will be put in so as to accommodate large audiences. Admission, adults 25c, children 15c.

Mr. C. B. Cliff is exhibiting in his show windows a pair of shoes that are fourteen and a half inches in length. They were made to order for a colored man who lives on Mr. Benjamin Curn's farm near this city. They are probably the largest shoes ever seen in Maysville.

A letter received from Mr. Charles D. Sulzer, who is now at Tombstone, Arizona, announces that he has been successful in finding a vein of very rich silver ore, which is in a position that it can be economically and profitably worked. A sample of the ore sent is pronounced by persons, who know something of mining, to be very rich in silver.

The improvement of Messrs. Hunt & Doyle's dry goods store will begin about the first of August. It is to have an iron front and plate glass windows fourteen feet high. A freestone pavement is to be laid down and a vestibule constructed of the same material. It is to be one of the most attractive buildings in the city. We are glad to notice the prosperity of this popular firm.

Mr. Frank R. Phister advertises elsewhere that he has just received 500 copies of Dr. Kendall's Treatise on the Horse and its Diseases, a work that has had a wider circulation than any book on the subject ever published. It contains a mass of useful information that all owners of horses will appreciate, and is given in a simple and practical manner. The price of this valuable book is only 25 cents.

Rev. Jere Witherspoon, formerly pastor of the Southern Presbyterian Church of this city, but now living at Jackson, Tenn., will attend the meeting of the General Assembly at Lexington, on the 17th inst. On his way home he will stop at Maysville, on a short visit to his old friends and will preach at the Third street church on Sunday the 27th inst. He will be warmly welcomed.

"Old Gold" is the name of a new roller process flour just placed upon the market by Messrs. Robinson & Co., of the Maysville City Mills, and, if we are not at fault in our judgment, it is going to be an exceedingly popular brand. It makes a white, sweet bread, that is highly praised by all who have tried it. It is a really excellent flour and possesses qualities that will certainly create a great demand for it. If you have not tried it you should certainly do so, if you wish to have the best bread.

Sales of Land. The following changes in the ownership of land have been recorded at the office of the Clerk of the County Court, since our last report:

John Walder and wife to John S. Wilson, 1 acre, 2 rods and 1 pole of land; consideration $97.70. John L. Broshars and others to Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad, right of way; consideration $1 & c.

The Races. The entries for the meeting which begins on the 15th inst., are very numerous and the indications are that the greatest number of fast horses ever collected together in Kentucky will appear on our course next week, to compete for the very liberal purses offered.

PERSONALS. Miss Dora Pauluca, of Kenton, Ohio, is visiting Mrs. J. D. Kehoe.

Miss Emma Cablish, of Augusta, is visiting her uncle, Mr. F. H. Traxel.

Mr. J. R. Souley, who has been very sick for several days, we are pleased to say, is a little better.

The Lexington running races began to-day.

COUNTY POINTS.

FERN LEAF. Tobacco plants are doing well in this section.

Damsons are the only fruit that is injured to any extent by the late frosts in this locality.

Miss Katie Evans, of Dover, is the guest of Mrs. G. V. Evans.

Miss Amelia McIntyre and Johnnie Jones returned on Monday afternoon from a visit to the family of Wm. Bramble, near Lewisburg.

All of our citizens who have been visiting Cincinnati, have returned, and those who attended the Dramatic Festival, pronounce it a grand success.

Quite a number of our pupils attended the show at Maysville, Monday. Hope there will be no more shows till our school closes, as we dislike to have our pupils absent even for a day, being fearful that their minds may be turned into a channel aside from their books.

Charlie Wallingford has in his possession a penny, which was coined in 1298. Who has an older coin than that in his part of the State?

Miss Evaline Smith and Miss Maggie Moore, each went to Maysville, Saturday, to visit friends. Miss Smith returned on Sunday afternoon, a shade "Green-er" than when she left.

Miss Sallie Thompson and Miss Willie Burgoyno, of Washington, have been visiting the family of John Thompson.

We had a musical treat at our boarding house, Mr. G. V. Evans, on last Friday evening for which we return thanks to Miss Laura Evans, Messrs. Wallingford, Wood, and Calvert.

The morals of our community seem to be improving, as there have been no waggon beds taken off, nor sacks of meal lost during the past week, and good humor seems to be prevailing among all classes; and Cupid seems to be as busy here as elsewhere. One of our young gentlemen receiving a letter from his lady love a few days since, full of the tender passions, and containing among other things the following:

"The rose is red the violet's blue, If you loves me as I loves you, No knife can cut our love in two, pieces." P. E. M.

THE BAD BOY.

He Makes a Garden With his Pa, and Illustrates the Sticking Qualities of Shoe Blacking.

Peck's Sun. "See here, you coon, you get out of here," said the grocery man to the bad boy, as he came in the store with his face black and shining. "I don't want any colored boys around here. White boys break me up bad enough."

"O, philopene," said the bad boy, as he put his hands on his knees and laughed so the candy jars rattled on the shelves. "You didn't know me. I am the same boy that comes in here and talks your arm off," and the boy opened the cheese box and cut a piece of the cheese so natural that the grocery man had no difficulty in recognizing him.

"What in the name of the seven sleeping sisters have you got on your hands and face," said the grocery man, as he took the boy by the ear and turned him around. "You would pass in a colored prayer meeting, and no one would think you were galvanized. What you got up in such an outlandish rig for?"

"Well, I'll tell you, if you will keep watch at the door. If you see a bald-headed colored man coming along the street with a club, you whistle, and I will fall down the cellar. The bald-headed colored man will be pa. You see, we moved yesterday. Pa told me to get a vacation from the livery stable, and we would have fun moving. But I don't want any more fun. I know when I have got enough fun. Pa carried all the light things, and when it come to lifting, he had a crick in the back. Gosh, I never was so tired as I was last night, and I hope we have got settled, only some of the goods haven't turned up yet. A drayman took one load over on the west side, and delivered them to a house that seemed to be expecting a load of household furniture. He thought it was all right, if everybody that was moving got a load of goods. Well, after we got moved pa said we must make garden, and he said we would go out and spade up the ground and sow peas, and radishes, and beets. There was some neighbors lived in the next house to our new one, that was all wimmen, and pa didn't like to have them think he had to work, so he said it would be a good joke to disguise ourselves as tramps, and the neighbors would think we had hired some tramps to dig in the garden. I told pa of a boss scheme to fool them. I suggested that we take some of this shoe blacking that is put on with a sponge, and black our faces, and the neighbors would think we had hired an old colored man and his boy to work in the garden. Pa said it was immense, and he told me to go and black up, and if it worked he would black himself. So I went and put this burnt cork on my face, 'cause it would wash off, and pa looked at me and said it was a whack, and for me to fix him up too. So I got the bottle of shoe blacking and painted pa so he looked just like a colored coal heaver. Actually, when ma saw him she ordered him off the premises, and when he laffed at her and acted sassy, she was going to throw biling water on pa, but I told her the scheme, and she let up on pa. O, you'd a dide to see us out in the garden. Pa looked like Uncle Tom and I looked like Topsy, only I ain't that kind of a colored person. We worked until a boy threw some tomato cans over the alley fence and hit me, and I piled over the fence after him, and left pa. It was my chum, and when I had caught him we put up a job to get pa to chase us. We throwed some more cans, and pa come out and my chum started and I after him, and pa after both of us. He chased us two blocks and then we got behind a policeman, and my chum told the policeman it was a crazy old colored man that wanted to kidnap us, and the policeman took pa by the neck and was going to club him, but pa said he would go home and behave. He was offal mad, and he went home and we looked through the alley fence and saw pa trying to wash off the blacking. You see that blacking won't wash off. You have to wear it off. Pa would wash his face with soap suds, and then look in the glass, and he was blacker every time he washed, and when ma laffed at him he said the offuldest words, something like 'sweet spirit hear my prayer,' then he washed himself again. I am going to leave my burnt cork on, 'cause if I washed it off pa would know there had been smouging somewhere. I asked the shoe store man how long it would take the blacking to wear off, and he said it ought to wear off in a week. I guess pa won't go out doors much, unless it is in the night. I am going to get him to let me go off in the country fishing, till mine wears off, and when I get out of town I will wash up. Say, you don't think a little blacking hurts a man's complexion do you, and you don't think a man ought to get mad because it won't wash off, do you?"

"O, probably it don't hurt the complexion," said the grocery man, as he sprinkled some fresh water on the wilted lettuce, so it would look fresh while the hired girl was buying some, "and yet it is mighty unpleasant, where a man has got an engagement to go to a card party, as I know your pa has to-night. As to getting mad about it, if I was your pa I would take a barrel stave and shatter your castle scandalous. What kind of a fate do you think awaits you when you die, anyway?"

"Well, I am mixed on the fate that awaits me when I die. If I should go off sudden, with all my sins on my head, and this burnt cork on my face, I should probably be a neighbor to you, way down below, and they would give me a job as fireman, and I should feel bad for you every time I chucked in a nuther chunk of brimstone, and thought of you trying to swim dog fashion in the lake of fire, and straining your eyes to find an iceberg that you could crawl up on to cool your parched hind legs. If I don't die slow, so I will have time to repent, and be saved, I shall be toasted brown. That's what the minister says, and they wouldn't pay him two thousand dollars a year and give him a vacation to tell anything that was not so. I tell you, it is painful to think of that place that so many pretty fair average people here are going to when they die. Just think of it, a man that swears just once, if he don't hedge, and take it back, will go to the bad place. If a person steals a pin, just a small, no account pin, he is as bad as if he stole all there was in a bank, and he stands the best chance of going to the bad place. You see, if a fellow steals a little thing like a pin, he forgets to repent, 'cause it don't seem to be worth while to make so much fuss about. But if a fellow robs a bank, or steals a whole lot of money from orphans, he knows it is a mighty serious matter, and he gets in his work repenting, too quick, and he is liable to get to the good place, while you, who have only stole a few potatoes out of a bushel that you sold to the orphan asylum, will forget to repent, and you will sizzle. I tell you, the more I read about being good, and going to Heaven, the more I think a feller can't be too careful, and from this out you won't see a better boy than I am. When I come in here after this and take a few dried peaches or crackers and cheese, you charge it right up to pa, and then I won't have it on my mind and have to answer for it at the great judgement day. I am going to shake my chum, 'cause he chews tobacco, which is wicked, though I don't see how that can be, when the minister smokes, but I want to be on the safe side. I am going to be good or bust a suspender, and hereafter you can point to me as a boy who has seen the folly of an ill-spent life, and if there is such a thing as a fifteen year old boy, who has been a terror, getting to heaven, I am the hair-pin, I tell you, when I listen to the minister tell about the angels flying around there, and I see pictures of them purtier than any girl in this town, with chubby arms with dimples in the elbows and shoulders and long golden hair, and think of myself here cleaning off horses in a livery stable and smelling like an old harness, it makes me tired, and I wouldn't miss going there for ten dollars. Say, you would make a healthy angel, for a back street of the new Jerusalem, but you would give the whole crowd away unless you washed up, and sent that shirt to the Chinese laundry. Yes, sir, hereafter you will find me as good as I know how to be. Now I am going to wash up and go and help the minister move."

As the boy went out the grocery man sat for several minutes thinking of the change that had come over the bad boy, and wondered what had brought it about, and then he went to the door to watch him as he wended his way across the street with his head down, as though in deep thought, and the grocery man said to himself, "that boy is not as bad as some people think he is," and then he looked around and saw a sign hanging up in front of the store, written on a piece of box cover, with blue pencil, "Spoiled canned ham and tongue, good enough for church pic nics," and he looked after the boy who was slipping down an alley and said, "The condemn little whelp. Wait till I catch him."
