TEXAS has in her treasury something over $3,000,000 in cash.

FIRE insurance in Kentucky the past year cost the people $1,390,858.

An estimate from Leavenworth puts the Kansas corn crop at half a yield.

The Michigan Senate has passed a bill creating a commissioner to hear complaints against railroad companies.

GEN. WICKHAM, of Virginia, who has acted with the Democrats for two or three years, will hereafter be fully identified with that party.

The last Legislature of Tennessee repealed the charters of thirty-five towns in the State to enable them to abolish whisky selling within their limits.

The Salt Lake City papers denounce the Utah Commission as unfaithful and incompetent and declare that its action thus far has thrown back indefinitely the cause of good Government in the Territory.

MR. BLAINE, in a private letter speaking of the liquor question in his State, says: "Intemperance has steadily decreased in the State since the enactment of the Prohibitory law, until now it can be said with truth there are no people in the Anglo-Saxon world among whom so small an amount of intoxicating liquor is consumed as among the 650,000 inhabitants of Maine."

A REPORT comes from Washington that Secretary Chandler has formulated a plan for the organization of young Republican clubs all over the country. At the proper time these will spring into existence. They will be composed of young men whose cry will be that they will not stand by and see the party ruined by the rivalries and jealousness of the old leaders.

The plan for consolidating the Internal Revenue collection districts, in accordance with the action of Congress at its last session has been practically agreed upon by the President and Secretary of the Treasury. Arrangements have been made for this consolidation in all the States except two, in regard to which there is some doubt. It is expected that the matter will be finally settled this week.

The following is from the American Grocer and Dry Goods Chronicle: In England the number of grasses that form the basis of permanent grazing, comprise some twenty-six different and distinct varieties. On this side of the Atlantic the number is reduced to very few, indeed. One great obstacle in the way of preventing these grasses from coming more practically under the notice of graziers is the almost prohibitory duty of 20 per cent. ad valorem, to which they are subjected. The report of the Treasury Department shows that the amount of duties collected on agricultural seeds for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1879, was $44,522; 1880, $48,831 25; and 1881, $67,327. These show on the average of three years, annual revenue from seeds of $53,570 and in these returns are included farm, garden and flower seeds. As already mentioned, owing to the limited cultivation of artificial grasses in the United States, we may safely say that in these returns there were not more than 10 per cent. of that class of seeds, on which the duty collected amounted to the insignificant sum of $5,357. On looking over these figures, we thought it might be well to ascertain in what relation agricultural development stood before foreign States. We find that in France, United Germany, Spain, Italy, Belgium, Holland, England, European and Asiatic Turkey, all agricultural seeds and seeds producing fodder and grazing are free of duty, and in some of these countries a State premium is awarded to farmers who can produce the best and largest quantity to the acre. We wish right here to call the attention of the intelligent farmers and graziers of the United States to the above facts, and let each one ask himself who is responsible for this heavy tariff on common hay or fodder seeds. The farmer, cultivating his grass field, be it either for dairy or stock fattening purposes, has to pay his Government the same ad valorem duty on the seed he sows as the millionaire pays on the rarest exotic for his conservatory. Farmers have it in their power to remedy this incongruity. We advise that they, when three or four of them meet together in their respective market places, talk of this matter and point out to each other the small interest their representatives at Washington take in their affairs. Let them form themselves into clubs, and by their united action they can compel their respective representatives to urge the repeal of the obnoxious duty on agricultural seeds and have them admitted free, as do all other enlightened governments who take an interest in the prosperity of their respective countries.

The Amount Peter Got.

One New Year's day James Gordon Bennett arrived at the Union Club towards night, having made many calls. He sat down in a chair, and observing that some members of the club were presenting Peter, the venerable porter of the club, with $5 bills as a New Year's present, he called him over and fishing down into one of his pockets brought up a bill.

"Peter, my friend he said, without looking at the bill, "take that."

"Thank you, sir," said Peter, his eyes glistening at the sight of a $20 bill.

Bennett gazed at him for a second, said sleepily:

"Wait, Peter," and diving down into another pocket, brought up another bill. "Take that Peter."

This performance went on for fully five minutes. Every time that the astonished Peter attempted to retire he was called back, and the presentation of every kind of bill from $1 to $50 went on to the amusement of the spectators. When no more bills came forth Bennett stopped and went away. Peter asked some of the members what he had best do with his full bag of money. He was advised to ask Mr. Bennett the next time he came whether he had not given him by mistake more than he had intended. So the next day when Bennett appeared Peter said to him:

"Mr. Bennett, I think you gave more of a New Year's present than you intended last night."

Bennett looked at him for a few seconds, not having the glimmer of an idea, how much he had given, or whether he had given anything at all.

"How much did I give you Peter?"

"Eight hundred dollars, sir."

The position was a delicate one, but not so much so to a man with an income of a million a year as to an ordinary mortal. "That was the amount I intended for you, Peter," said Bennett without a sign of annoyance.—Letter in Charleston News and Courier.

A Mean Trick.

A man who probably hailed from Buffalo played a powerful mean trick on a Detroit bridal couple at Niagara Falls the other evening. They went to a hotel and registered, had supper, and then started out for a night view of the Mighty Roarer. They had not gone far when a man called to them and said:

"Have you just been married?"

"We have," answered the groom.

"Going to stay here a day or two?"

"Yes."

"Having registered at my hotel you probably intend to remain there?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I want to say a word to you. I don't want any ducky-deary nonsense around my house. I want no popsywopsey business on the verandas. I want no squeezing hands on the balconies, or feeding each other at the table."

The groom let his arm fall from his bride's waist in a slow and painful manner, and the stranger continued:

"The first time you call her peaches and cream, or she calls you darling out you go!"

"Yes, sir."

"She's no sweeter than ten thousand other girls, and you are no more of a darling than I am, and I won't stand love sick nonsense. He walked away with that, and people at the falls who knew the bridal couple, were amazed to hear them address each other as Mr. and Mrs., and to see what precautions they took to prevent touching hands or betraying any symptoms of love. They put in two wretched days, and it was only as they were upon the point of leaving that they discovered how a base villain had duped them.

The need of merit for promoting personal aesthetics is due to J. C. Ayer & Co., whose incomparable Hair Vigor is a universal beautifier of the hair. Harmless, effective, agreeable, it has taken rank among the indispensable articles of the toilet. To scanty locks it gives luxuriance; and withered hair it clothes with the hue of youth.
