The post-offices in the United States on the first of last July numbered 148,993, and by next July the number is expected to reach 50,000.

George F. Garrison, the legally elected Representative of the First Virginia district has been given his seat in Congress which has heretofore been occupied by Robert M. Mayo.

The sub-committee on elections will report in favor of seating Maj. McKinley, Republican in Congress, as representative of District 18, Ohio, against J. H. Wallace, Democrat, the other contestant.

Rev. N. M. Love, of Memphis, has created a sensation in that city by declaring that Sunday laws are unconstitutional; that they are a positive burden on one class of people and an outrage upon the rights of citizens.

The Cincinnati Evening Post explains it satisfactorily: Foot and mouth disease is the fashionable complaint convention days. It attacks the mouth early in the day, but does not affect the feet until well on toward evening.

Hon. R. M. T. Hunter, ex-Secretary of State of the Southern Confederacy, and ex-United States Senator, and who for the past fifty-one years has been prominent in Virginia politics, is dying at his home in Essex County. He was a classmate of Edgar A. Poe, the poet, at the University of Virginia.

Fashion Notes.

High shouldered capes of white lace or of embroidered muslin are newer than fuchs for wearing with home dresses of satin, silk or velvet.

Ivory-white silk pongees and nun's veiling, embroidered in many colors in South Kensington designs, and in antique tapestry figures, are among the new spring goods.

Flowers are once more worn in the hair. They form a small wreath to go far back around the crown of the head, and the slender filaments of an aigrette spring upward in the centre.

A group of tiny red birds is placed just inside the brim of a red velvet bonnet, which is of the close princess shape except just at the left side, where the brim pokes outward as if to take in the birds.

Toggles of the material of wool dresses will be worn through the spring. They are made of cashmere with a velvet bow for trimming or of fancy checked or heather cloth to match the Newmarket, or the tailor-made jacket, with a bunch of quills for ornament.

New bonnets that look wintry, yet have a dash of spring about them, are made of silk embroidered net puffed over gold cloth crowns, and the brim is made up of rows of small flowers thickly set without foliage, such as forget-me-nots, daisies or mignonette.

Gold bonnets tied in loops or arranged in set rows of loops to form a rosette from which rises a cream aigrette is added to dark velvet bonnets to freshen them for spring. New black lace bonnets have have much gold trimmings and may be lined with gold cloth.

Embroidery plays a prominent part in spring stuffs, thick or thin, dark or light. Daisies, carnations and cornflowers are embroidered on basques and drapery of wool dresses. Gilt and silver embroidery is limited to scarlet, brown, rose and white tulle worn for ball dresses.

Black lace aprons over gold or red aprons are a new English fashion. They are fastened by silver clasps at the waist, or they have a rib of many ruffles of lace attached to the dress waist by fanciful gold pins. For simpler aprons Madras lace, flowered cottons and "Serym" canvas are used with linen braid lace for trimming.

The best effect of princess dresses is given to rich toilets by the prevailing mode of hooking a full train above the edge of a plain painted corsage. The front of the dress must be cut off in a point at the waist and the closed skirt front be covered by lace flounces, or bag puffs, panels, or a draped tablier. Small paniers across the top of the skirt are retained by ladies who have too long waists and need fullness around the hips.

The latest English sporting novelty is an Arab race at Newmarket, for which three or four horses are on their way from India.

Minister Sargent's invitation to a soiree on the Emperor's birthday does not mean anything beyond inevitable politeness.

The Buddhist craze has spread from London to Paris. There are now 300 Buddhists there, and probably their demand for a temple will be granted.

A DISPATCH from Cneyenne says that the snow has ceased and that it is clear and warm. The danger of a blockade is now considered averted.

JOSEPH C. POSTER, the wealthiest gambler in San Antonio, Tex., the man who killed Ben Thompson and King Fisher March 11th, has died. He leaves a large estate valued between $100,000 and $200,000.

BISMARCK is having a rough time of his anti-Socialist bill. There have been fierce party scenes. The Socialist Belbel declares that there were private detectives in the reporters' gallery and the bill is in serious danger.

A PUSHING London tradesman has asked through the papers for twenty baldheaded men willing to have an advertisement of a patent medicine burned on the back of their heads. Meantime a bill is brought into Parliament to render the sale of patent medicines illegal.

A SARDONIC London writer has brought out a book called "The Wife-Beaters Manual," giving a horrible list of attacks by men on women in England. The book is intended to help Baron de Worms, a legislator who proposes a bill inflicting flogging on wife-beaters.

Mlle. Nevada's debut in "Lucia" at the Orleans, in Paris, was a great success. Her notes were so like echoes of the flute which accompanied her that it was sometimes hard to distinguish the sound from the instrument. She looks a simple but emotional girl, but was badly dressed.

The special war correspondents are reaping great honors from the Egyptian campaign. A correspondent of the Times wrote his account while suffering from a severe bullet wound in his thigh. When Davie's square was beaten at Tanniel, several correspondents saved their lives by using their revolvers.

As Hunt Goodman was sitting in his woodshed at Pleasant Valley, Ind., a man named Meeks entered, drew his revolver and shot Goodman in the back, the ball passing through his body. Goodman turned, threw Meeks down, secured the revolver and shot Meeks three times, twice in the forehead once in the chest, killing him instantly. Goodman is still alive but his physicians say he will die. The cause of the tragedy was an old grudge of several years standing.

The Pawling Murderers in Prison. FORTKEEPSIE, March 24.—The pawling dynamite murderers, Miller and George Mulkins, sentenced to Sing Sing Prison for life, were taken to the prison to-day by Deputy Sheriff Shields. As they left the jail here Mulkins bade good-by to Griffin, who was sentenced to be hanged. The latter said: "Good-by; I am sorry to see you go." Miller refused to notice Griffin, saying he had nothing to say to him. On the train going to Sing Sing the prisoners smoked cigars, and chatted about everything else but the murder. When they arrived at the prison the usual routine was gone through, and afterward they donned their prison garb. Mulkins laughed as he surveyed his suit; Miller was downcast and dejected. They have been assigned work in the stove-polishing shops. There are sixty life convicts in Sing Sing Prison.

Is It a Volcano?

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 24.—A remarkable discovery has been made in Chester County. For some time a rumbling sound has been heard on the plantation of Nicholas Calvin, and two days ago it was found that the noise came from an opening in the ground from which smoke was issuing in a considerable volume, and for quite a distance the ground was heated. The inhabitants are also unable to account for the phenomenon. A party of diggers worked with pick and spade to ascertain the cause of the incipient volcano, but were forced to desist in consequence of the intensity of the heat and the dense volume of smoke. Many of the residents believe it to be an actual volcano and others think it is a geyser, judging from the vapors and surrounding moisture. Great excitement and some alarm prevail.

Brave Capture by a Constable.

ELWOOD, N. J., March 24.—Constable Jarvis yesterday made a most daring arrest. He had traced the burglars who robbed Froer Gee's store to Hammond Park, where they took to the woods. He could not obtain assistance, and decided to follow them single handed. Toward evening he found them in an abandoned house in a thick wood. He entered the house and one of the thieves ran past him and escaped. The other seized the pocket officer and a desperate struggle ensued. The burglar was finally brought into submission and handcuffed. Nearly all the stolen property was recovered.

A Murderer Hunted Down.

FORT SMITH, Ark., March 24.—Mason Holcomb, a white man, who murdered Seigal Fisher near South Canadian, I. T., on the 23d of last July, was brought to this place last evening and placed in jail by a brother of the murdered man, who caught the fugitive at Mt. Vernon, Ky., after a long and persistent chase. A writ was issued for Holcomb, when the killing first occurred, but he eluded the officers and escaped into Arkansas, where he was chased through several counties and fled to Kentucky. Here the trail was lost and the chase abandoned for a time, but the brother of his victim trailed him like a sleuth-hound, and getting him at Mt. Vernon effected his arrest with but little trouble.

A Clever Swindler.

MEMPHIS, TENN., March 24.—Private Detective Officer William Price, of Vicksburg, Miss., arrived to-day, having in charge James Porter, alias James Cummings, alias Slippery Jim, who was recently arrested at Bayville, La. He is wanted here for obtaining $500 from the barkeeper of the steamer Kate Adams on a bank check purported to have been drawn by Messrs. C. P. Hunt & Co., but which proved to be a forgery. Porter also forged a letter of recommendation from the Postmaster at Vicksburg to the Postmaster at Delhi, La., and, taking him altogether, he deserves the cognomen of Slippery Jim.

Analysts by Dr. A. Voelcker, F. R. S., Consulting Chemist Royal Agricultural Society, England, shows only a trace of nitrates in Blackwell's Bull Durham Tobacco. The soil of the Golden Belt of North Carolina, in which this tobacco is grown, does not supply nitrates to the leaf. That is the secret of its delicious mildness. Nothing so pure and luxurious for smoking. Don't forget the brand. Nongenuine without the trade-mark of the Bull. All dealers have it.

When feline concerts drive away sleep, your best solace is found in Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco.
