

MURDERERS' ROLL CALL

A Killing, a Dream and the Discovery—Was it Accidental?

Road Agents Felled—Fatal Political Discussion—Annihilating Horse Thieves—Fight Between Cowboys and Thieves.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 22.—This morning the dead body of Jacob Klink was found in the mountains about five miles up the Youghiogheny River from this place, under circumstances that are, to say the least, very peculiar. Last Thursday Rice Orbin, a young man living with his parents two miles north of here, was out hunting in the locality indicated. This morning when he entered the breakfast room he disclosed that he had dreamed of having shot a man on the day named. He described his victim vividly, and seemed impressed with the vision. His parents laughed it to scorn, but young Orbin came to town and persuaded a relative here by the name of Jones to accompany him to the scene of the shooting as portrayed in his dream. Reaching the spot where he had fired the last charge at a squirrel they traced the line of the bullet as near as they could imagine its course, and two hundred and fifty yards up the mountain side, behind a dense growth of laurel so thick as to completely hide anything from view, they found the cold, stiff body of Klink, lying face downward among the leaves. He had been standing with his back to the fatal marksmanship, and the leaden messenger of death had entered the base of his skull, traversed the seat of life and come out at the forehead as the unfortunate victim fell to the earth a corpse. The horrified discoverers hastened back to town and laid the story before Justice Richard Campbell, who impaneled a jury of inquest, visited the scene and brought back the corpse. The inquest was adjourned until to-morrow morning. Orbin's relatives state that he did not seem the least disturbed in mind until after his dream last night. Orbin's story is received with some degree of incredulity, the general opinion being that he shot Klink accidentally and was afraid to confess. Both men bore good reputations. The air of mystery surrounding the killing is the source of a great deal of comment and makes the tragedy the sole topic of conversation on the streets.

Road Agents Felled.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 22.—The coach which left here yesterday for Boulder, forty miles south, was stopped by five armed men at the top of the Boulder range. On board were Chief Justice D. S. Waite, District Attorney J. A. Johnson, E. W. Tolle, W. E. Cullen, Judge Chumassero, T. H. Carter, Rev. L. L. Wood, and Sheriff Cameron, of Meagher County. As soon as the robbers ordered a halt, Sheriff Cameron and several members of the party opened fire which the desperadoes returned. Charley Warfield, one of the robbers, was shot dead, and the others retreated and took to the mountains. No one in the coach was hurt. Sheriff Cameron received a shot through his coat. It is believed the attacking party wanted to rescue Neill Murphy, a road agent now under arrest, who was supposed to be on the coach en route to Boulder for trial. Murphy, however, was left in jail at Helena. This afternoon two possees of five well armed men left for Beaver Creek, where they expect to intercept the desperadoes. Sheriff Cameron, with another posse, is following the trail from the point where the encounter took place.

Fatally Carved.

READING, Pa., Oct. 22.—A cutting affray, arising out of a political discussion, between two Republicans, one of whom, named Brouch, was considerable the worse for liquor, occurred at an uptown hotel early this morning. Mr. Long, with whom Brouch was talking, used some insulting epithet. A scuffle ensued, the landlord vainly endeavoring to separate the combatants until it was noticed that Long was bleeding freely, and that his opponent had a knife in his hand. Long was cut over the forehead. There was a large gash in his right cheek, and another which severed the lip and chin to the bone, and a cut over the wrist which was deep enough to lay in a finger. He was walked to the houses of several physicians before one could be found to dress his wounds, after which he was conveyed home nearly dead from exhaustion. His condition is critical, and it is said he can not live the night through. Brouch was arrested on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill.

Annihilating Horse Thieves.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 22.—A telegram was received from Collierville, Tennessee, yesterday that three young men, residents of that vicinity, had been shot by a pursuing party near Oxford, Mississippi. For some time a gang of men, including one named Scott and two brothers named Davis, had been suspected of committing depredations in the way of horse-stealing around Collierville and Germantown, Tennessee. From additional news received through Memphis last night by passengers on the train, it seems that three horses had been stolen and that a posse followed the thieves to near Oxford, Mississippi, when they were caught up with and a fight ensued, resulting in the killing of Scott and one of the Davis boys and the wounding of the other Davis and the recovery of the three stolen horses.

Fight Between Cowboys and Horse Thieves.

MILES CITY, Mont., Oct. 22.—The fight at Mingsville between the cowboys and horse thieves must have been a hot one. A report reaches here that five empty cowboy's saddles were found on the field. The cowboy vigilantes are said to have come from Wyoming. If so, they are bent on vengeance, and the four that were hanged on the Beaver, seventeen miles north of Mingsville, near Grish & Wibaux's ranch, are a part of their prey. Ole Berg, who led one gang of cowboys, was a prospective son-in-law of Judge Allen, of Glendive, whose son was recently arrested charged with horse stealing, and taken via Glendive to Miles City. Berg has not been heard from since this recent raid, and is believed to have fallen. Jim Costello, one of the four hanged, was only twenty-two years of age.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 22.—A dispatch from Shelbyville, this State, reports the killing of Elijah Kirk by Robert Clark, near there. Kirk accused Clark of circulating evil reports about his daughter and threatened to kill him, and having procured a shotgun, he rode to Clark's house and was riding up and down the road in front of it, waiting for Clark's appearance, when the latter opened the front door and fired two shots with a gun, riddling Kirk with buckshot and almost shooting his
