

ROSSER & MCCARTHY, Publishers and Proprietors, TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

A SABBATH DAY Well spent, Brings a week Of good content.

Read the holiday advertisements. Services will be held as usual at St. Patrick's Church to-morrow.

MANY Kentucky office-seekers have already arrived at Washington.

Diaries for 1885, blank books and memorandum books, at G. W. Blatterman's.

Mr. George W. Ellis, of Brown County, Ohio, has been granted a pension. The arrearages amounted to $900.

Dr. J. T. Hendrick will preach at the Third street Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning and evening at the usual hours.

The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church, in this city, have prepared a lot of fancy articles suitable for Christmas presents, and will have some on exhibition and sale, at the office of Joseph E. Broderick, Esq., adjoining the M. E. Church, South, commencing Thursday December 17th. Prices very moderate.

A PRIVATE masquerade ball will be given at Riverside Hotel, on Wednesday evening the 31st, inst., under the management of Messrs. R. L. Dawson, James Devine, George F. Brown, Albert Huff and others. The music will be furnished by the East End orchestra, and the occasion will certainly be a very pleasant one.

The Flemingsburg Times-Democrat says: The trial of Rev. Wm. Shoemith, at Tilton, this week, on charges of conduct unbecoming a minister, (untruthfulness, we believe, being the principal charge), was concluded on Wednesday, the committee finding him guilty on fourteen of the seventeen charges, and suspending his ministerial functions.

Revival.

The revival services at the Southern Methodist Church still continues. One addition to the church last night, Mr. Charles Greenwood. Rev. J. H. Young will preach at 7 p. m. this evening, also at 11 a. m., and 7 p. m., to-morrow. The public is invited to all the services. The services this afternoon will be a song, praise service.

The $75,000 Prize to an Unknown Hero.

It is collected by the Louisiana National Bank for an unknown depositor. The lucky 78,454 was presented at the main Offices of The Louisiana State Lottery Company by Mr. A. Luria. Cashier of the Louisiana National Bank, for a depositor. This is all that the Lottery Company knows of it, and Mr. Luria declined to name the fortunate holder. A check for $75,000 was deposited to the credit of the lucky depositor—[New Orleans City Item October 18.

The Manchester (O.) Signal says: Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick, of Cincinnati, lived at Georgetown, O., during Buchanan's Administration. She had a son, an intelligent young man and a hard student named Pat, who was admitted to West Point. While firing a salute one Fourth of July, a cadet from New York touched off a cannon too soon, and cadet Fitzpatrick's right arm was torn off. He was then retired on half pay. The New York cadet made him a present of the interest on $15,000, in six-per-cent. Union Pacific Railroad bonds, and at his death these bonds were to go to his mother. About six weeks ago Pat died of consumption, at the residence of his uncle, John Kelley, near Georgetown, O., Mrs. Fitzpatrick returned last week from New York with the $15,000 in bonds.

FATAL SHOOTING.

Lewis Berry, Colored, Shot and Killed by Lee Montjoy.

A shooting affray, resulting in the death of Lewis Berry, colored, a worthless character, occurred last night, between nine and ten o'clock, at a house on the Fleming pike, this city. Berry was shot by Lee Montjoy, a young man of good family connections. The particulars of the affair as learned by a representative of the BULLETIN, are as follows: At an early hour last evening, Montjoy and Seymour Porter, a son of Mr. Ed. Porter, of this city, met at the house where the shooting took place. It is kept by Frances Fields and Ellen Turner, two dissolute colored characters of this city. It seems that Berry's woman lived there also. Between nine and ten o'clock Berry entered the house, and seeing Montjoy in the room, began to curse and abuse him, and at last ordered him to take his coat and leave. At this stage of the proceedings, Berry, with his hand on his pistol pocket, is said to have been advancing towards Montjoy, who drew his weapon and fired twice, striking Berry near the heart and in the right side. Berry lived about twenty minutes after being shot. The weapon used was of large caliber and the latest design. Berry was a dissolute and worthless character, and was a pal of Albert Taylor, colored, who was shot by William Combs not long ago. After the shooting Montjoy came down town and surrendered himself to Deputy Marshall Henry Hasson; later he was taken before Mayor January, and at the suggestion of his counsel, Hon. E. C. Phister, was placed in Mr. Hasson's custody to answer his examining trial, which was set for this morning at nine o'clock.

LATER.

At the examining trial before Mayor January this morning Montjoy was held to appear at the Circuit Court in the sum of $1,000 which was promptly given.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Harry Burgoyne, of Fern Leaf, left on Thursday for New Orleans, La.

Mr. J. S. Atwood, of Ripley, will visit the New Orleans Exposition as one of the Ohio Commissioners.

Miss Mattie Boulden, of Charlotte County, Va., has shown the BULLETIN several copies of the National Intelligencer printed in 1811, and a history of Virginia printed at a very early date.

School Notes.

DISTRICT NO. 9—FRANKLIN SEMINARY.

This house is located on the Maysville and Germantown turnpike road about one-half mile east of Fern Leaf. The house has been repaired this year and presents a very comfortable appearance. The main room, the one used for the school had been painted and papered. This is a step in the right direction, though, we are sorry to say, it is the exception and not the rule. The general idea in the construction of school houses seems to be that it is only a question of physical comfort in which the element of taste has no part. James Asbury, Isaac Rees and Simon Gray are trustees. Mr. Rees has visited the school once, Mr. Gray twice and Mr. Asbury four times. Of the patrons Mrs. Simon Gray and Mr. and Mrs. James Evans have visited the school. Misses Katie Moore and Sallie Smoot have not recited an imperfect lesson this season. Miss Scott C. has missed no time. This is the eleventh week of the term. Miss Alice Dorsey is teaching her third term at Franklin. She is one of the subscribers for the teachers' library on the offer made last institute and takes an educational journal. She uses written methods in grammar, arithmetic, history and spelling and also printing for the little folks who cannot write script. The alternate Fridays are used for compositions and declamations respectively. Miss Alice also gives especial attention to letter and note writing. She is a pains-taking teacher and her school appears to be doing well. The census report shows seventy-three pupils, the roll thirty-nine and the attendance, when visited, was thirty-eight. We understand that Miss Savage has a private school in district No. 9, in which she is assisted by Miss Cooper, but we did not have the pleasure of visiting the school and can not speak with more accuracy.

DISTRICT NO. 11—TWO LICK OR WOODWARD.

This school house is located on a new pike, the Germantown and Mt. Olivet pike, about four miles from Germantown and one mile from the bridge on the North Fork. The house is small and not in extra repair and the furniture is the old backwoods style. The census report shows a pupilage of fifty-one, the school roll thirty-one and twenty-eight were found in attendance when the school was visited. The school had been in session four weeks and eighteen pupils had missed no time. The trustees, Mr. Will Woodward and Mr. Robert Woodward, have not visited the school and of the patrons only Mr. Joseph Hinson, Miss J. A. Buding is teaching her first term here. She takes an educational journal. The discipline of the school was very good and the school getting on very nicely. L. W. GALBRAITH.

For Dainty Feet.

Gaiters of ladies' cloth to match the costume are still worn by Parisian ladies for walking and are considered an elegant finish to costume. The high cut Moliere shoe, with its large square buckles is used for full dress occasions, and is often made of brocade of which the dress is composed. If these brocades are in brilliant colors the effect is to make the foot look rather large. A very high heel and sharply pointed toe is uncomfortable but must be bore with this shoe if one does not want to appear to have the foot of a giantess.

ABERDEEN ITEMS.

The people are happy. The bottom is out of pork, but turkeys are plenty.

"Comlug events cast their shadows before them."

Mrs. John Lamar, of Indiana, is visiting relatives in this place. J. W. Chiesman and son, David, visited Georgetown Wednesday.

Charles Brooks and wife, of near Columbus, Ohio, are visiting friends and relatives in this place.

We have many persons in our midst eminently qualified and perfectly willing to serve as postmaster.

William Flaughner and Jack Canagan, two of Huntington township's successful farmers, were in our village Friday.

Walter Fossitt, of Bentonville, O., was associating with friends here a few days since. He is one of the faithful. Come again Walter next.

That prince of good fellows, S. C. Bradford, with several others of this place, contemplate taking in the inauguration on the fourth of March next.

Thomas and Jeremiah have lately arrived. Billy, at the "hotel," will wait upon you politely when you call, and Cal and Shooq, at the "office," will prepare to suit the taste of all. They will wait.

Dr. J. W. Guthrie is now receiving taxes at his office. As you pass through the drug store you will see Bro. Campbell's smiling face, who will attend to your wants in his line with great politeness.

The Dude and His Pop.

[Cincinnati Merchant Traveler.]

One day there appeared on the streets of a Texas town a dude of the dullest type, and of course he was the observed of all observers. He was quiet in everything but his dress, and until about four o'clock in the afternoon he got along very well, and at that hour he went out for a walk, and as he passed a saloon on the opposite side of the street he was saluted by a chorus of yells from a lot of cowboys in front.

"Put a thimble over it," "Tie a blue ribbon to it," "Do it up in pink cotton," "Grease it and slide it into a knot hole," "Give it to a tailor," and such exclamations rang out, and the dude walked very slow and took it all in.

Finally Bolus Hankus, the terror, shouted:

"Hold on boys; git still a mimit an' watch the fur fly. Stick your pepers on to that tubular biler hat and see me shoot a hole clear through it."

Bolus pulled his gun, and the other boys stood back to enjoy the sport, while the dude walked slower than ever.

Pop went the gun and the hat flew, but the dude, quicker than flash, whirled around and a long, pearl-handled revolver shone in the sunlight for an instant and then cracked. Bolus's hat jumped six feet off his head, and before any of the boys could think, five more hats jumped off, after five little puffs of blue smoke rose from the other side, and then the crowd, with a yell, broke around the corner as if a cyclone had been after them.

The dude smiled and scratched his chin, reflectively.

"Well," he said to himself, "clothes does make some diff in a man's looks: I'm a thinkin' if the boys had knowed I wuz Jim Beardsley they'd a let me had my little sport, and not got their hats spoiled. Well, well, sich is life. I guess I'd better go over and let them irrigate their selves on my bank account."

Life Among the Nihilists.

[New York Sun.]

Among the Nihilists the spies that creep in and the informers that creep out, have a hard road to travel. At Moscow the other day one of the latter, a student named Rochoff, gave to the police authorities the names of several of his associates, who of course, were arrested and imprisoned. The Nihilists condemned him to death, and he was put under police protection and allowed to take up his quarters in one of the prisons, where it was thought he might remain for a time in perfect security. He soon tired of this sort of life, and was permitted to receive a few friends in whom he confided. At his last reception his guests were unusually gay and happy. They remained with him for a long time and after giving him a parting toast, they wished him a good night and pleasant dreams. Just as he was about to retire to rest he became suddenly ill, and in less than an hour he died with all the symptoms of poisoning. The director of the prison was dismissed, and another informer, named Lavrouchine, who was kept in the same prison, was spirited away by the police, who can find no trace of Rochoff's guests.

New Phase of Lager.

A show card in the window of a saloon bore the words, "Burnt Beer."

"What is it?" the bartender was asked.

"I'll show you." He drew a pint of beer in an earthen mug, and carrying it to the stove, picked up a bar of iron, one end of which was glowing white among the coals. He plunged the hot iron into the beer and stirred it around, while the beer hissed and sputtered. The beer was much more bitter for the burning, it but was a pleasant burn.

"The English burn their ale," said the bartender. "They call it mullled ale. Cider is mullled sometimes. The aesthetic tastes of my customers demanded a new drink this winter and they have got it. It has the advantage of making their eyes snap in half the time required by ordinary lager."

Among the many elegant displays of seasonable goods for the approaching holidays none surpass that of G. W. Blatterman & Co., in the January Block. The good old custom of making happy hearts and enlivening the approach of winter by a liberal interchange of presents has been not only maintained, but greatly extended until some recognition of the "joyous season" when we listen to the "bells across the snow," is observed by old and young. Our numerous readers will do well to read the advertisement of this firm in our issue to-day, and will be well repaid by visiting their store where their stock is now displayed for inspection.

Cure for Piles. Piles are frequently preceded by a sense of weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, when getting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, bleeding and itching piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the tumors, allaying the intense itching, and effecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address the Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, O. Sold by Geo. T. Wood.
