A Question Often asked, but seldom answered satisfactorily: "Is there a remedy known to the medical profession that will allay the sufferings peculiar to women who are subject to Dysmenorrhoea and its attendant discomforts?" Ladies If you have not tried it, do so AT ONCE. There is relief for you; it has been found in Songaline Read what an eminent physician has to say upon the subject: "I have derived particularly gratifying results from the use of Songaline in cases of Dysmenorrhoea. In the case of a lady of rheumatic condition, and a chronic sufferer from this disease, who had been driven almost to the verge of insanity by her monthly sufferings, its action has been most satisfactory. It relieved her promptly, and she now passes the once dreaded periods with but little discomfort. I could mention other instances of a similar character, but this is a remarkable case." T. F. WAR IS ALMOST CERTAIN.

WHAT THE CITIZENS OF EL PASO HAVE DECLARED.

Prisoner Cutting After Receiving His Sentence Makes an Appeal to Governor Ireland, of Texas--An Interview With Secretary Bayard on the State of Affairs. EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 10.--Mr. Cutting, who on Saturday received a sentence of one year's imprisonment and a fine of $500, has received information that he would be taken to Chihuahua on the south bound Mexican Central train. He feared that he would be massacred on some pretext if they take him away from the border, and he has sent the following telegram to Governor Ireland: "As a citizen of Texas I ask of you the protection that my friends assure me you can and will extend to me."

"A. K. CUTTING." A body of determined and well-armed minute men has been organized on this side, and are ready for any emergency. They are under the command of cool-headed officers, and will not precipitate an outbreak. The Mexicans have increased their force, and the soldiers in the barracks were paraded through the streets yesterday, when a great many Americans, as is the custom, had crossed the river. It is very evident that the officials and people of Chihuahua believe the government of the United States will back down. They think our state department will be satisfied by Minister Mariscal's efforts, and will submit to the punishment of Mr. Cutting. The conviction and sentence of Cutting, in the face of a peremptory demand of the American government for his instant release, has produced a profound sensation here, and has occasioned, exciting comment and much uneasiness in El Paso. The feeling is prevalent that our government has taken a position that it cannot back down from and that war is certain.

An interview with a United States army officer gives an alarming view of the defenseless condition of El Paso in case of war. Undoubtedly the first blow would be struck here at El Paso. The men of El Paso will simply have to depend upon themselves for protection. The forces at Fort Bliss would not be sufficient to protect the town. The Mexicans could place two or three cannon in a sheltered place behind the mesa on the other side, and in half an hour lay this city in ruins, or at least make it so unhealthy that the people would be glad to move in a hurry. Capt. Drum, commander of the fort, said he had not received a word of instruction of any sort in relation to the Cutting affair.

Secretary Bayard's Opinion. BALTIMORE, Aug. 10.--Secretary Bayard, speaking to a special correspondent last night of the Cutting case, said he saw no reason why a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulty should not be reached. He has been assured that such was the desire of the Mexican government.

Senator Romero, the Mexican minister here, said some days ago that his government would promptly settle this matter. Secretary Bayard seems to think that the difficulties in the way have been created not so much by Mexicans as by obliging friends in this country, who, in their efforts to embarrass the administration, have suggested to the Mexican authorities methods of opposition which, perhaps, they would not have thought of.

Mr. Bayard himself feels strongly in the matter, and said with much impressiveness that he considered the principle involved in the Cutting affair to be one of the gravest importance, and one as to which the whole country, without reference to party, should be a unit. The personal merits or demerits of Cutting himself has nothing to do with the matter. It made no difference whether he was an angel of darkness or an angel of light, but it did make the greatest possible difference to the American people whether the contention raised by the state department in his case should be maintained or not. Mexico claims in Cutting's case the right to try an American citizen for an offense committed in the United States, and Cutting has been actually convicted and sentenced for publishing a libel in Texas.

Secretary Bayard thinks this raises the gravest possible question between the two countries, and if Mexico's claim were once conceded to American traveling in Mexico would be safe. Mr. Bayard is deeply in earnest in his determination to resist the position taken by Mexico, and he expresses full confidence of the popular approval of his course. "My countrymen," he said with evident feeling, "will not be deceived by partisan misrepresentations. They will recognize the gravity of the question involved, and will never consent that one of their fellow citizens shall be tried by a foreign power for an offense committed in this country. Suppose Cutting had stabbed his Mexican rival on Texas soil instead of merely attacking his reputation. Does any one pretend that Mexico could have tried him for murder? Certainly not.

The case, Mr. Bayard thinks, is too clear for equivocation, and he has no idea of retreating from the position taken by the department weeks ago, when it demanded Cutting's release. The secretary will not anticipate the action of Mexico, but he evidently looks for full reparation from that country. That the local court should have convicted Cutting does not necessarily imply that the Mexican government will refuse to set him at liberty and go to war.

Speaking of this feature of the affair Secretary Bayard said both countries were pledged by the treaties of 1848 to exhaust every possible means effecting a peaceful settlement of all political questions. Should Mexico persist in her present attitude, the question would then arise as to what action should be taken by this country to enforce acquiescence in its demands. The rupture of diplomatic negotiations would naturally follow, but in this connection it may be stated that the rumored resignation of Minister Jackson has no significance. Secretary Bayard says he has received no intimation of Mr. Jackson's resignation, although it is quite possible he may wish to come home. Congressman Mills on the Mexican War. CORNICANA, Tex., Aug. 10.--Congressman R. Q. Mills reached here from Washington,

In an interview he said: "I believe there will be war unless Diaz pardons Cutting, which will smooth things over some, but the National government will then demand and insist on indemnity being paid. President Cleveland and Secretary Bayard have taken action and they will not recede."

FATAL STABBING.

A Disgraceful Row at a Tennessee County Election. MILLIGAN, Tenn., Aug. 10.--Our county election which took place here did not pass off with that quietude always to be desired. Whisky flowed very freely, and there was much unseemly noise. There was a stabbing affray which resulted in the death of Mr. William Carroll, a respected citizen. It seems that Mr. Harrison Bowman, also a citizen much respected, and who is noted for his readiness with the knife, became very drunk, and in that condition took occasion to remark that he could whip anybody on the ground. Several citizens were dissatisfied with this statement, and Mr. Carroll caught up two rocks and made at Bowman with intent to do him bodily harm. Bowman dodged effectually.

Then Mr. Carroll stooped for another rock, but before he could straighten himself Mr. Bowman was upon him, and seizing him by the arms, began stabbing him with a knife. He cut Mr. Carroll sixteen times, finally severing an artery in the neck. By this time the crowd thought proper to interfere, and Mr. Bowman was dragged away from his bloody work. Mr. Carroll then threw two more rocks at Mr. Bowman both of which took effect, though but slightly, as he was not in good condition and the muscles of his right arm had been cut. Mr. Carroll then seated himself on a rail near at hand and a moment after fell over quite dead without having expressed himself in any way. The crowd became very much excited and began to throw stones at Mr. Bowman, who was trying to escape. Several policemen appeared on the scene and an attempt was made to arrest Mr. Bowman. This attempt was frustrated by a friend of Mr. Bowman's who drew his pistol and threatened to shoot the first man who attempted an arrest. Then, with cocked pistol, he let Mr. Bowman away and no communication has been received from either of them since. Public sentiment much condemns the action of Bowman, and regards it as very improper in a civilized community, and in sight of a college and a town noted for the sobriety and good moral training of its people.

A Religious Pilgrimage.

AUBREYSVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 10.--The second annual pilgrimage from St. Joseph's parish at Troy, to the shrine of our Lady of Martyrs at this place, will be made August 15, and will be the second religious pilgrimage ever made in this country. It is expected that 4,000 persons will go on the excursion, and four special trains over the West Shore railroad have been chartered. Services will be held on the train, and there will be exercises at the shrine, including masses, sermons and recitations to the solemnities of St. Joseph's church. About ten clergymen will accompany the pilgrims; one from Montreal, one from Philadelphia, and the others from Albany, Troy and Amsterdam. It is expected that the church at Amsterdam will also send about 2,000 people on the same day. The pilgrims will fast from midnight until nearly 1 o'clock in the afternoon of August 15.

Another Sacrilegious Pretender.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.--A man who registered his name at the International hotel on Friday night as Q. C. Eaton, of Bryant, O., was found in the morning lying across his bed in an unconscious state. Being taken to the Chambers street hospital, he awoke from his trance and asked for food. Having eaten heartily he informed the house physician that he was a man of God, and again became insensible. He was taken to the Bellevue hospital to be examined as to his sanity. The man was suspected at first of feigning illness in order to procure free board for a time, but there is now no doubt that it is a well defined case of religious mania. He has frequent intervals of apparent lucidity, in which he imagines himself to be Adam, Abraham, and sometimes one of the apostles, but most of the time he lies in a semi-conscious state muttering, "I am a man of God." He will be transferred to Ward's Island.

Father and Son Shot Each Other.

HUNTSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 10.--W. A. Brockman and his son, Richard, engaged in a hunt for thieves, which resulted disastrously to both. The father, after the family had retired, loaded his shotgun and concealed himself in the bushes near his beehives to guard them from the ravishment of thieves, by whom he had recently been robbed. After he had been on duty for awhile his son concluded that he would guard the hives, not knowing that his father was engaged in the occupation. He loaded his gun and walked to the door, where he stood and listened, and hearing some one moving around in the bushes, fired and shot his father in the breast. The latter, thinking he had been shot at by a thief, returned the fire, filling his son's face with buckshot. Both are seriously wounded.

Lynched and Hiddled With Bullets.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 10.--One week ago last Saturday some of the people living at Birdseye, Dubois county, and the surrounding country gave a picnic. Among those present were a family by the name of Waller, two daughters and a man named Faulstich, who, while going home, were attacked by Thomas Hobbs and his son, who shot and killed Faulstich and Waller, the young ladies escaping. On Saturday citizens of Birdseye and surrounding country organized a mob, went to Hobbs' house and after a wild chase captured the murderers, who they strung up to trees and riddled the bodies of the lynched men with bullets. A feud had existed between Waller and the Hobbs family. Faulstich was entirely innocent of it.

Senator Wallace a Candidate for Governor. BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., Aug. 10.--Ex-Senator William Wallace, in an interview last evening, said: "Until within three weeks I was not a candidate for governor. Within that time the earnest desire of friends have made me see that it is my duty to my friends and to the organization to accept a nomination, if it should seem to the convention that I am the man to unite the Democracy, and bring its whole vote to the polls."

AUGUST SPIES A WITNESS.

WHAT HE TESTIFIED TO IN JUDGE GARY'S COURT.

He Attracts the Largest Crowd That Has Thus Far Visited the Court Room During the Trial--He Acknowledged Writing the Noted "Revenge Circular."

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.--The rumor current that August Spies would take the stand in the Anarchist trial this morning served to attract the largest crowd that has thus far visited Judge Gary's court. Among those present was Gen. Parson, brother of one of the defendants.

Michael Schwab was the first witness called. He testified that he left his home at 5 Florimel street the evening of May 4, at 7:40, and went to the Arbeiter Zeitung office. There a communication was received over the telephone requesting that a speaker be sent to Deering. Spies was the speaker wanted but he was at the Haymarket, and Schwab hastened there to find him, but failed and saw his brother-in-law, Rudolph Schraubel, then took a car east to Clark street and boarded another, going up Clayborne avenue to Deering. At the factory he spoke to the strikers about twenty minutes, then stopped into a saloon, had a glass of beer and some lunch and got back home about 11 o'clock.

The witness further testified that on May 4 he saw Spies for the last time in the afternoon and did not see him again until the next morning, did not walk west on Randolph street, with Mr. Spies, was not in Crane's alley with him, and did not see Spies hand his brother-in-law a package that night in the alley at Crane Brothers.

Schwab was cross-questioned sharply at considerable length, but he stuck to his story. In reply to the question, "Are you an Anarchist?" the witness said, "That is a question on which there is a good deal of difference of opinion. The court held that he was not compelled to answer 'yes' or 'no.' August Spies was next called to the witness stand. The noted Anarchist held up his hand and was sworn. The witness testified that on May 4 he was one of the editors of the Arbeiter Zeitung and had held that position for six years. He was also a member of the Socialistic publication society which is organized under the law of the state of Illinois and by which the Arbeiter Zeitung was published. The society, the witness said, exercised complete control over the policy of the paper, and he was under their control as editor.

The witness attended the meeting on the Black road by invitation from some trades union delegates. When he got there there were some very poor speakers addressing the crowd, and the witness was almost prostrate from speaking continually two weeks previously. He told the men in as calm a voice as could be stood together, and if not their ends would be defeated.

"While I was speaking," continued the witness, "I heard some one cry out in a language that I did not understand, and immediately some 200 men detached themselves from the group and ran off. I did not know where they were going, but after a short time I heard some firing. I stopped speaking and asked what it was about. I was told that part of the crowd had attacked the 'scabs' at McCormick's, and that the police had been dispersing them. Then the police came up and I saw them chasing people round some freight cars. They were blind with fear, and the police were firing after them. As a matter of course my blood was boiling, and I think at the moment I could have done almost anything. I say, however, that I could do nothing, and I took a car and came down town.

"How soon after that was it you wrote the editorial in the Arbeiter Zeitung on the next day?"

"I wrote it that evening."

"You wrote the revenge circular, I suppose?"

"Yes."

"Were you still laboring under the excitement of the scene and the hour?"

"I was. I was very indignant, and I know by the experience I had in the past that the butchery of the people was for the express purpose of defeating the eight-hour movement in the city. I cannot account for how the word revenge came into it."

INDIAN RAID.

Several Conflicting Reports of an Indian Massacre.

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., Aug. 10.--Three different reports have been received relative to the Indian raid near Uras last week. One was that they killed eleven teamsters, all Americans, and forty mules. Another report said seven Mexicans and two Americans were killed. The last and probably more reliable report is that they attacked a train of four wagons and killed Mexican teamsters, thence raided near Ninesa Prietas and killed two Mexican wood choppers, then made another detour and raided round back toward the Mulatos mountains, stealing horses as they went, and came from the direction of Puerto Careja, their old trail. The country is terrorized, and ranches for almost a hundred miles around will be abandoned.

It is thought to be a portion of Geronimo's band, sent out by him to divert the attention of Capt. Lawton, who has been pressing the wily chief to his utmost. Geronimo is engineering for time. What his next maneuver is no one can tell, but it is hardly probable that Lawton's pursuit has been so perturbed as that he has concluded that the Sierra Madres are untenable. The moon is out, and we may expect to hear from him on some flank movement up here or on some Mexican base of operations very soon.

Collector Hedden's Resignation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.--Collector Hedden's resignation, and his probable successor, is the leading topic talked about in the treasury department and in political circles here. The change is attributed to dissatisfaction on the part of the president and treasury officials with Mr. Hedden's management of the office, and to his civil service disputes and complications. A number of names are mentioned as Mr. Hedden's successor, among them Silas Burt, naval officer at New York, and Mr. Bissell, of Buffalo, N. Y., the president's former law partner.

IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Arrival of the First Delegate to the National Convention at New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.--Michael Davitt, the originator of the land league, is the first to arrive in this country of the Irishmen who are coming over to attend the national convention of the Irish National League of America, at Chicago. He is not a delegate representative of the parliamentary party, but he will attend the convention. He arrived by the Germanic Sunday, and after dining at Patrick Ford's house, in Brooklyn, registered at the Grand Central hotel.

"I thought I was going to escape being interviewed," he said to a reporter. "I thought I could slip into the country unnoticed, and so traveled under an assumed name. I came over for my health, and to deliver some lectures. I shall be in Chicago Friday, and will lecture there at a demonstration of the united Irish societies on Saturday. Then I will visit some friends and take a rest for about a month. I will probably begin lecturing in the west, possibly in California. I shall lecture on the Irish question, and in particular on the condition of the Irishmen on the west coast of Ireland."

"What do you think of the outlook for Home Rule?" "It is very satisfactory. Of course we had a reverse in the recent elections, but the fact that Mr. Gladstone and his party are on our side is in itself a tremendous victory. It is now only a question of a few years when Home Rule for Ireland will be an accomplished fact."

FOREST FIRES.

An Entire Village Swept Away and Other Towns Surrounded by Fire.

CHIPPewa FALLS, Wis., Aug. 10.--Chippewa Falls is surrounded by forest fires, and hundreds of men are working to save the city while the fire companies are kept in readiness for service at a moment's notice. The village of Spencer, west of here, was entirely burned over to-day, and several hundred people left homeless to-night. The heaviest losers are P. A. Hays and W. J. Clifford, mills and 3,000,000 feet of lumber. The total loss is estimated at $500,000. Telegraphic wires are down, and it is impossible to get the details of the losses, which must be large.

At Eau Claire.

Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 10.--Great alarm is manifested here at the progress of forest fires along the tracks of the Wisconsin Central and Omaha roads. The fires are burning fiercely and destroying fences, culverts and much farm property. At Colby, Prentice and Spencer the fires have surrounded the town and burned the depots and water tanks. Should a high wind spring up there is no telling what the damage would be or where the fire would stop.

A Close Call.

LOVELAND, O., Aug. 10.--A painful, and what might have been a fatal accident, happened here. While Eddie Twitchell, a newsboy, was trying to clean an old rusty No. 22 caliber revolver, his mother was sitting at the table. As he was trying to knock some rust off the handle the revolver was discharged, the bullet striking Mrs. Twitchell above the right temple, and plowed its way under the scalp three inches, where it was extracted by Dr. Carmichael. Mrs. Twitchell was prostrated by the shock, but is out of danger.

Shot at a Dance.

SARINA, O., Aug. 10.--John Sherry and Frank Reardon were shot in a riot by Alexander Culbertson and Clint Carter, at a dance at Bloomington. With brandished revolvers they shot indiscriminately into the crowd, and defied arrest. They are still at large. Sherry was shot through the right arm, and Reardon, a boy of twelve years, through the thigh. Culbertson has been the terror of this community for years, and may yet die with his boots on.

Our Fishers Have Plenty of Kope.

HALIFAX, Aug. 10.--A firm interested in the fish trade in Lockport has received a letter from the captain of one of their seiners in North Bay, in which he says: "Americans get all the fish they want, and as for the cutters, they do not bother them. They do just about as they like. They dress their fish in the harbors when they wish to and buy all the barrels and salt they want."

"Grant's Personal Memoirs."

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.--In the suit brought by Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) in behalf of C. L. Webster & Co., of Hartford, Conn., Judge Butler, in the United States district court to-day, rendered a decision refusing to grant an injunction to restrain the sales of copies of "U. S. Grant's Personal Memoirs" in this city, by J. J. Wanamaker & Co.

Death of Toronto's Third Baseman.

TORONTO, Aug. 10.--Smith, the third baseman of the Toronto base ball club, while bathing at the island yesterday afternoon, placed his hands upon the shoulders of a companion, leaning his whole weight upon him. His companion suddenly dived and Smith went down head first, striking the bottom with his head, dislocating his neck and seriously injuring his spine. He died this morning.

Sailing of the Yachts.

NEWPORT, Aug. 10.--The yachts of New York squadron now on their annual cruise, sailed at 9:30 o'clock this morning, for New Bedford. Crowds of people witnessed the departure of the yachts.
