

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

IT WILL BE HELD IN CHICAGO, JUNE 19, 1888.

The National Committee Has so Decided by a Vote of Twenty-five out of a Total of Forty-seven—The Choice Made Unanimous—Why Chicago Was Selected.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The Republican National committee, after hearing the Missouri delegation urging the selection of St. Louis as a suitable place for holding the National convention in 1888, took a recess for an hour. On reassembling the Chicago delegation was admitted, and Mayor Robt. of Chicago, in a business-like manner, detailed the conveniences which could be accorded the members of the convention by Chicago in case that city secured the favorable vote of the committee. Chicago proposed to do as much and more for the accommodation of the convention than she had done four years ago, and he claimed that she was better prepared than any other city in the country to care for the visitors to the convention. He, as mayor, would be pleased to have the convention meet in a city which had grown to be what she was under the protecting influences of a tariff.

Senator Cullom earnestly urged the committee to select Chicago, and he made a brief resume of the hotel, railroad and telegraphic facilities of the city. Chicago to-day was in favor of protection, and had been improved in other ways since 1854. It had had much to do with grappling with the element of Communism and Socialism that had been spreading over the country. It had been settled by the authorities of Illinois that a man who disregarded the rights of property and the law and government could not live in Chicago, or in the commonwealth. [Applause.] He hoped that Chicago would be selected, but whether it were or not, Illinois, and Minnesota, and Nebraska, and Kansas and Iowa would stand by their colors and vote the Republican ticket.

Senator Manderson spoke for Omaha—that young giant of a municipality, situated in the heart of a continent, upon the banks of the greatest river in the world. He then proceeded to detail the advantages of Omaha.

The delegation from Ohio was then admitted, and Congressman Ben. Butterworth presented the claims of Cincinnati as a place peculiarly suitable for holding the next National Republican convention. Mr. Murat Halstead, of Cincinnati, seconded Mr. Butterworth in his praise of Cincinnati.

Congressman Harry Bingham in an eloquent speech, presented the claims of Philadelphia.

The committee then proceeded to take a formal vote viva voce. It resulted as follows:

For Chicago, 11; Omaha, 10; Cincinnati, 8; Minneapolis, 6; Philadelphia, 9; St. Louis, 2; Washington, 1.

The committee then proceeded to vote formally by ballot, each state or territorial representative stepping up to the chairman's table as the state or territory was called, and depositing his vote in a hat. The ballots thus deposited were counted by two tellers, Haynes, of Maine, and Conger, of Ohio, and the result was afterward announced as follows: Whole number of ballots cast 47, necessary to choice 24, of which Chicago received 23, Omaha 4, Cincinnati 9, Minneapolis 3, Philadelphia 3, St. Louis 1. The second formal ballot was then taken and resulted as follows: Whole number of ballots cast 47, necessary to choice 24, of which Chicago received 25, Omaha 1, Cincinnati 13, Minneapolis 3.

On motion of Mr. Morey, of Louisiana, the choice of Chicago as the place of holding the next convention was declared unanimous.

On motion of Mr. Rollins, of New Hampshire, the time for the meeting was fixed for Tuesday, the 19th of June, 1888.

Mr. Littler, of Illinois, moved that the chairman and secretary of the committee be instructed to prepare and publish a call for the National convention. Agreed to. Mr. Littler also thanked the committee for having selected Chicago as the place for holding the convention, and said that it would give the Illinois delegation great pleasure to entertain the committee at the Arlington hotel immediately after its adjournment.

A vote of thanks was given to the National Republican league, of Washington, for the kindness and courtesy extended to the committee in placing the club-house at the disposal of the committee; and then the committee finally adjourned.

On the vivi voce vote, the states and territories, as nearly as could be ascertained, voting for Chicago were: Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Nevada, North Carolina, Vermont, Wisconsin and New Mexico. Those voting for Cincinnati were: Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, South Carolina, Tennessee and Idaho. Those voting for Minneapolis were: Louisiana, Minnesota, Dakota, Montana and Washington Territory. Those voting for Philadelphia were: Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia. Those voting for Omaha were: California, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Nebraska, Oregon, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Wyoming and Utah. Those voting for St. Louis were: Missouri and Arizona.

Why Chicago Was Selected.
CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—There was no surprise when the news was telegraphed that the National convention would be held in this city, as the Chicago delegation kept their friends here pretty well informed as to the probabilities, which were at all times in favor of Chicago. Already orders for reservation of rooms for the convention are being sent to the leading hotels. The Pennsylvania state delegations are negotiating with the Ireland.

The postponement of the date holding the convention to June 19, makes it possible to have the auditorium in a more completed state than was expected.

THE CHICAGO AUDITORIUM.
One of the reasons why Chicago was selected is on account of her superior hall advantages. That city will soon have the largest auditorium in the United States, and one of the largest in the world. On the lake front, just south of the exposition building, in whose temporary hall Garfield, Blaine and Cleveland were nominated, a large force of men are now at work on a building of mammoth proportions. This building is the Chicago auditorium for which a number of wealthy men have raised $2,000,000. This structure when completed will overlook the lake, and possess a central and most admirable location. The building has a frontage on Michigan avenue or lake front of 187 feet; on Congress street of 361 feet; and on Wabash avenue of 161 feet, making a total of street frontage of 709 feet. It is to be ten stories high, 140 feet from curb to cornice. The auditorium is to be a vast opera hall, containing 5,000 chairs, and with a total capacity of seating 9,000 people. It is expected to have this part of the building complete by June 19, ready for the convention.

How a Dying Child Was Saved!

CICERO, HAMILTON CO., IND., Sept. 19, 1887.—The following is a true account of what your S. S. S. has done for our little daughter, Hazel, now four years old. When 12 months old a lump appeared on her heel, which slowly grew larger. The family physician thought it was caused by a piece of broken glass or needle, but failed to bring anything to light. The child became feebler all the time, seeming to lose the use of her leg, and finally quit walking entirely. The middle finger and thumb of either hand became enlarged, the flesh becoming hard. The hip joints became involved, so that when seventeen months old she could not stand, having lost the use of leg and arm. Partial curvature of the spine also followed. The nervous system was wrecked, muscles contracted, and there was general wasting of flesh and muscle. At eighteen months of age she was placed under the treatment of a prominent physician of Boston, Mass., but at the end of ten months she had declined to such a degree that she was in a dying condition. This was in April, 1887. We took the child away not knowing what to do. In this dreadful dilemma we were over-persuaded by friends to try "one bottle" of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC, which we did, and before it had all been taken we saw a change for the better in her symptoms. We kept it up, and have done so to this day, and will keep it up, if the Lord will, for many days to come, for it has brought our dying Hazel to life, to vigor, to strength and health again. The ashen hue of her cheeks has changed to a rosy tint. She is able to walk anywhere, her languor and melancholy have passed away, and she is now a blithe, cheerful, happy romping child. Should you wish to increase your testimonial of proof of the virtue of S. S. S., our names and what we have said is but a portion of what we owe to you, should you wish to use them.
