UNRAVELED.

The Mystery Surrounding the Murder of Steve Boyd—The Shooter Behind the Bars.

Louis Miller, an Eye-Witness, Tells How Enos Barnes Did the Deadly Work.

The mystery surrounding the murder of Steve Boyd, colored, has been solved. Enos Barnes, the party accused of the crime, is behind the bars, and there is but little, if any, doubt as to his guilt.

Marshal Heflin is satisfied he has a clear case against the accused.

When Captain Heflin heard of the murder yesterday morning he at once hunted up Barnes and Louis Miller, another negro, and landed them in the station house telling them they were wanted on the charge of drunkenness. But this was not the real cause of their arrest. He had seen them in company with Boyd the night of the murder, a short time before the shooting was heard, and he was convinced they knew something about the killing.

Early yesterday afternoon Deputy Marshal Dawson learned of a difficulty Boyd and Barnes had the night in question at Harriet Banion's, in "Snag Alley," during which Barnes made the threat that he "would get him (Boyd) before morning." Investigation confirmed the story about the difficulty.

In the meantime, however, the negro Miller had confessed that he was an eye-witness to the killing. Miller's story is that on the night in question he and Barnes ran across Boyd. The three went to Eitel's saloon, where they drank several glasses of liquor. From there they went to Harriet Banion's in "Snag Alley."

While at the Banion house, Boyd, who was considerably intoxicated, began cursing and abusing Banion. Barnes took up for the woman and a difficulty ensued between him and Boyd. They were soon separated, however. Barnes was heard to make the threat mentioned above. Afterwards the party left and came down town. They separated but met again near the Hill House and proceeded west on Front street. When nearing Wall, Barnes hurrahed for Harrison and then accused Boyd of having sold out to the Democrats election day.

Boyd denied this and one word brought on another until the two clinched. Boyd soon cried out to "let go," and Barnes replied: "D—n it; I'll let go." The pistol shot followed at once, and Boyd staggered away with his death wound. Miller and Barnes turned and ran east on Front, separating at Sutton, the latter turning south on that street. Judge Coons and others residing in the neighborhood heard the hurraing for Harrison, the cry to let go, and the pistol shot, followed by the steps of persons running east on Front.

Miller was warned that his story would hang Barnes or send him to the pen for life. He replied: "I can't help it. It's the truth if it hangs both of us." His home is in Richmond, Ky.

Barnes lives at Washington where he is a well-known character. He was one of the leaders in the election riot at that place a year or so ago. He is looked upon as "a bad nigger."

Barnes was transferred to the jail last evening. His examining trial comes up this afternoon before Judge Coons.

CLERK AL SLAVENS of the steamer Fashion, that went down at Manchester Island a week or so ago, says that another boat will be placed in the trade at once—probably during the coming week. The boat has not yet been selected, but one will be obtained that is in every respect worthy of the fine patronage the trade presents. The occasion of the disaster to the Fashion was the dense darkness that prevailed on that night. There was a heavy storm raging and both pilots were placed on watch. Neither could see the shore, however, and the boat was allowed to float. This was done on two different occasions, but at last she was started up again and a few moments later the bank appeared just off her bow. She was immediately set to backing, but from some cause the machinery failed to respond, and the boat, after striking, drifted from the shore and went down. She was built in 1877 and was insured for $12,500.

Its Delicacy of Flavor and the efficacy of its action have rendered fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, immensely popular. It cleanses and tones up the clogged and feverish system, and dispels headaches, colds and fevers. For sale in 50 cent and $1 bottles.

Miss BETTIE C. DEARING, of Fleming County, and Mr. J. F. Ballard, of Louisville, were married a few days ago in that city. The groom is traveling salesman for a Cincinnati clothing house.

WEDDED AT MAYSCLICK.

Marriage of Mr. P. P. Parker and Miss Mollie Ryan Piper.

Brilliant Nuptials Uniting Two of Mason's Prominent Families.

The Presbyterian Church at Mayslick was the scene of a brilliant nuptial event yesterday morning at 10 o'clock.

At that hour the marriage of Miss Mollie Ryan Piper to Mr. P. P. Parker, of this city, was solemnized in the presence of a large number of their relatives and friends. The church was crowded long before the arrival of the bridal party. The room was elaborately decorated for the occasion with lovely flowers and plants, and the scene presented as the contracting parties entered with their attendants was a lovely one.

Rev. W. T. Spears, pastor of the church, officiated and the nuptial ceremony was soon ended.

The party then drove to the home of the bride's parents where an elegant wedding lunch was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Parker took the afternoon train at Helena for Old Point Comfort and the East where the honeymoon will be spent.

The following were the attendants: Misses Mamie Caldwell, Mary Robb, Sallie Shanklin, Sudie Laytham, Maria Warder, and Messrs. John C. Adamson, Sanford Roff, John C. Everett, E. H. Martin and Dr. C. C. Owens.

Messrs. Thomas Hopper, Perrine Jenkins, John Downing and H. C. McDougle acted as ushers.

The costumes of the bride and bridesmaids were unusually rich and elegant. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Piper, of the Mayslick precinct, her family being one of the old and prominent of that section of the country. The groom is one of the promising young business men of this city, being connected at present with the Oddfellows' Hall Clothing House.

The couple were the recipients of an elegant list of valuable presents from a host of admiring friends.

On their return from the East Mr. and Mrs. Parker will take up their residence on East Third street in the dwelling lately occupied by Mr. Ed Browning.

At West Union, Wednesday, Allen Adamson shot Sam Greenlee four times with a forty-four caliber revolver. Greenlee died from the effects of the wound a half hour after the shooting. Adamson is in custody.

The Ashland correspondent of the Louisville Commercial telegraphed his paper Wednesday that there was a great falling off in the Democratic vote in this end of the district. This is about as near as that paper ever gets to the truth.

The examining trial of George W. Fleming and John Ross, charged with robbing Dr. Phillips of a diamond, stud the night of the rally, will take place tomorrow before Mayor Pearce. They have employed George R. Gill, Esq., to defend them.

SOME people can't save money. Mrs. Alexander T. Stewart started out after her husband's death with an estimated fortune of $25,000,000 and died ten years after in debt over $1,000,000 to her friend, ex-Judge Hilton, who managed her estate.

The handsomest line of diamonds ever shown here are those that Hopper & Murphy, the jewelers, are now displaying. Also a fine line of ladies' and gent's gold watches, at prices lower than they have ever been sold in Maysville. Prices guaranteed the lowest. dtf

The official canvass of the returns from the election in this county is in progress to-day, Judge Coons, County Clerk Ball and Sheriff Perrine, the parties duly authorized by law, doing the work. The result will not vary much from the majority already given—538.

JOHN L. SHUFF, of Jacksonville, Fla., a son-in-law of Mr. Henry Thompson of Mayslick, is buying a car-load of horses for the Southern market. Captain J. H. Maginnis, with whom he was in business, died a short time since, and a foreman of the stable died last week of yellow fever. Mr. Shuff will return to his home as soon as the fever is over.
