

NOTABLE NUPTIALS.

A Former Maysvillian Wins One of Clifton's Fairest Daughters.

Marriage of Mr. Provence Pogue and Miss Lavinia Resor Law at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati Enquirer: "Never did the marriage bells ring out more joyously in beautiful Clifton than they rang Thursday night for the nuptials of one of that suburb's most fascinating girls, Miss Lavinia Resor Law, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Law, of Clifton.

"The bride is also a descendant of the old Resor family, who were among the early pioneers of Clifton. She is a womanly and beautiful girl, one of the greatest favorites in society and is a musician of much talent.

The groom is Mr. Provence M. Pogue, a son of Mrs. Francis Pogue, of Avondale, a junior member of the law firm of Pogue, Pottinger & Pogue, and one of the most prominent young attorneys of this city.

"The beautiful church was in its most attractive bridal array for the happy occasion. It has lately been remodeled, and the bride of Thursday night was the first to kneel at its new communion rail. The Christmas garlands of holly and evergreen still festooned its walls and formed a canopy from the high dome over the chancel. The decorations were magnificent, all in green. A vase filled with Easter lilies stood on the pulpit, which was placed there as a memorial to the late Isaac M. Jordan, while the golden lectern, which was in the Gorman display at the World's Fair, a gift from Mrs. Wm. H. Hulbert, is among the church's most beautiful ceremonials. On either side of the altar were great cedar bows, and behind a mass of evergreen in the organ gallery were seated twenty-eight musicians of Mr. Guckenberger's Orchestra.

"At 6:30 o'clock, the soft, beautiful notes of the 'Lohengrin' wedding march were played, as the ushers entered the door of the center aisle followed by the maid of honor, Miss Fannie Law, and last by the bride with her father, who was met at the altar steps by the groom and his best man, where Mr. Law gave away the bride. The bridal party then ascended the steps to the chancel, where the full and impressive Episcopal service was read by Rev. Dr. Small, rector of Calvary. The ushers were Mr. Joe Woods and Mr. Robert Reid, of Pittsburg, Pa.; Mr. Dan Morgan, of Maysville, Ky., and Mr. Morrison Waite. The groom's best man was his brother, Mr. Thomas Pogue. The only maid, Miss Fannie Law, was beautiful in a gown of white embroidered gauze over satin, huge puffed sleeves of satin, and a diamond aigrette in her dark hair.

"The bride was a perfect picture in her gown of pure white satin, with a bertha of duchesse lace, and the long tulle veil enveloping her graceful form was fastened with an aigrette of pearls. She carried a bouquet of bride roses, and wore her mother's wedding gift—a set of superb pearls.

"Following the ceremony was a brilliant reception at Lawriston, where the decorations, as those of the church, were most graceful, and all in white and green, masses of lilies of the valley mingling in profusion with feathery ferns. The bride and groom stood under a canopy of smilax in the bay-window of the splendid drawing room to receive the congratulations of their friends.

"A superb banquet was served by the Hotel Alms. At the bridal table, decked all in white, with a large center piece of lilies of the valley and roses, sat Mr. and Mrs. Provence Pogue, Miss Fannie Law, Miss Clara Law, Miss Luella Crane, Miss Hanna Davis, Miss Clara Lewis, Miss Helena Brauns of Baltimore; Miss Katherine Morrison, Mr. Thomas Pogue, Mr. Herbert French, Mr. Will Wood, Mr. Robert Reed, Mr. Joseph Woods, Mr. Dan Morgan and Mr. Morrison Waite. The souvenirs for the bride were dainty white maple leaf pins set with pearls, and the groom's souvenirs to the men were monogrammed card-cases in silver.

"Every family of note in and around Cincinnati had representatives at the church or house, and there is seldom seen at any social gathering a more magnificently gowned gathering of society women. Among the well known families represented, were the Sherlocks, Pendlatons, Fosters, Probasco, Miller, Stettinius, Anderson, Cook, Whiteman, McDonald, Kilbreath, Perin, Webb, Trevor, Morrison, Halstead, Van Antwerp, Hulbert, Stewart, Stallo, Harrison, Longworth, Kilgour, Fletcher, Hinkle, White, Sanford, Tilden, Neave, Galbreath, McAlpin, Shoemaker, Holmes, Chatfield, Goodman, Lippencott, Huntington, Lawson, Mendenhall, Wright, Galway, Burton, Gallagher, Chambliss, Tullidge, Price, Wilberg, Redway, Lloyd, Whelpley, Kenney, Buchanan, Espy, Proctor, Thralls, Goshorn, Neff, Paxton, Kellogg, Resor, Burnet, Evans.

"Mr. and Mrs. Pogue left for Florida, and go to St. Augustine and Ormond, and will be at home Fridays in February after the 16th. Mr. Pogue will at once build a home for his bride in Resor Park, near the old family mansion where she was born."

The groom is a son of the late H. E. Pogue of this city, and is a brother of Mr. Henry Pogue of the West End.

Bode has not been apprehended. It is not known where they got the hogs. They were seen last night near the distilleries in the West End.
