FROM PETOSKEY, MICH.

The Bulletin's Germantown Correspondent Writes of His Trip, and His Experiences in the Northwest.

PETOSKEY, MICH., August 23, '97. If you so will I will use your columns to comply with many requests "to let them hear from me." On board the train to Cincinnati I met my professional friend and fellow sufferer, Dr. Mc Nutt, of Minerva, like myself fleeing from home to avoid the same dreaded disease. At Cincinnati we parted company, he going to Biloxi, Miss., on the gulf and I to the far North.

I am indebted to the elder Dr. Ricketts and the junior members of the firm and the young ladies who are devoting their lives to nursing the sufferers, for a delightful afternoon spent at their private hospital. I was much interested in the microscopic exhibition of the infusorial animals to whose inroads we are indebted for much of life's sufferings, and also in the wonderful powers of the X-ray tube. Looking at the hand its skeleton was minutely distinct. Looking through his chest from the front the backbone was visible. Look through a large book, he asked me what I saw. I told him a key, and sure enough when he opened it there was a small trunk key in the middle of it. In a box he had thirty specimens of gall stones that he removed from as many human gall bladders. For surgeons comparatively young they are building a fine reputation and business.

On Wednesday morning I reached this place in a cold dismal rain, but clearing up that night the weather is all that we could wish, the days are bright with sunshine, the nights are cool and clear, a constant breeze from the North with thermometer ranging from 45 at night to 70 in the day time, not even a sneeze or a snuffle to torment me; sleeping well and eating more so. You may know I sympathize for the poor sufferer who is compelled to remain at home; but for him who remains for fear he will lose a few plants, &c. I have no compassion.

On last Friday I rode over to Bear Lake to visit some relatives from Huntington, Ind., at whose delightful cottage I spend many pleasant days. The kind lady told me "the men were out fishing, but there was a row boat, to go out on the water and enjoy myself." How sweetly I skimmed over the blue waters like a bird, farther and farther like the boy chasing the butterfly. Suddenly I realized that the wind was getting up; the white caps were flying, and perhaps I had better go back. Then I realized I had never literally "paddled my own canoe." I pulled on the right oar and it went too far to the left. I pulled on the left and it went too far to the right. I "pulled for the shore" and it went the other way; around and around I whirled until almost exhausted. I concluded to let her "rock in the cradle of the deep," while I collected my senses if I had any left. Never before did I realize so forcibly the beauty of the hymn I had so often heard Daisy and the Sunday schooling,

"Jesus, Savior, pilot me,
Over life's tempestuous sea,
Unknown waves before me roll,
Hiding rocks and treacherous shoals;
Chart and compass come from thee,
Jesus, Savior, pilot me."

Sing about "leaving the old stranded wreck behind," why all the gold in Klondike wouldn't have bought that little boat. After a while the wind subsided and I succeeding in making a landing, with blistered hands and wet with perspiration, a thankful heart and I trust a little wisdom gained by a severe experience. It is my first and last attempt at "paddling my own canoe."

Sunday I attended Methodist Church and Sunday school, day time; Presbyterian at night. This morning spent on dock fishing. To-morrow at 4 a. m. am going on a tug to see the fishermen hoist their nets with fish that they ship down South. Friday I propose going to Maumee and on up St. Mary's river to Sault St. Marie. If anybody say this letter is all personal, tell them I know it, and it is written for those who had an interest in the writer. C. E. S.

The Coming of Baby.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. The care and anxiety count for nothing against the clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Over thirty year ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by thirty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of those children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates.

JAPANESE STATESMAN DEAD.

Ex-Premier Mutsu Passes Away After a Long Illness.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—A telegram was received at the Japanese legation yesterday announcing the death of Count Mutsu, ex-minister of foreign affairs and Japanese minister to the United States in 1888. The news was not at all unexpected as the count has been ill with lung trouble for a long time and was compelled by ill health to resign his office about a year ago.

Count Mutsu was one of the most distinguished men in the history of the new Japanese movement, and with the Marquis Ito moulded the policy of the modern empire and successfully carried the country through the crisis of the Chinese war. Count Mutsu was well known and well liked in Washington, where he made many warm personal friends during his residence here as minister.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

New York, Aug. 25.—Cables were lower to-day, but foreign inquiries for grain accompanied them, and the crowd consequently became bullish. Western markets led the advance. Options gained decidedly, while spot wheat was also up 1/2c. per bushel. December started at 97 1/2c, 2 cents higher than the last price yesterday. Further buying carried the price to 98c, where selling orders were met, which caused a sharp break to 96 1/2c. Corn and oats advanced with wheat. The first named cereal was independently firm, owing to the light acceptance of bids for corn sent out by Western elevator men.

St. Louis, Aug. 25.—Wheat—Cash, 97 1/2c bid; August, 97 1/2c bid; December, 97c. Corn—Cash, 77c bid; September, 29 1/2c.

Baltimore, Aug. 25.—Wheat—Cash, $1.03; September, 1.02 1/2. Corn—Cash, $1.03 1/2; September, 34 1/2@34 3/4.

Cincinnati, Aug. 25.—There was a good business in grain to-day. The undertone to all of the markets was very firm, but values were only steady, excepting for wheat, which was higher in sympathy with speculative markets. Wheat—Sales: 700 bushels sample red, landing, 94c; No. 2 red nominal at 90c; sales were unofficially reported at 90c. Corn—Sales: 3 cars No. 2 mixed track, 30c; 1 car No. 2 yellow, track, 30 1/2c; 1 car do, 31c. Oats—Sales: 30 cars No. 3 mixed, track, 18c; 2 cars do, 18 1/2c; 4 cars mixed, track, 19c; 2 cars No. 3 white, track, 30c.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Wheat—Liverpool was secured to-day, and for the first time in many weeks gave credence to the domestic break in prices in an appreciable manner. Cables came 4c. lower. Chicago, however, opened at a good advance and was bullish partly because of the foreign demand, which accompanied the decline, but mainly because of knowledge that the big clique in wheat, corn and oats was pretty well out of its long line. The break Monday and Tuesday was credited to liquidation by this ring. Options in the pits this morning scored good advances. The pit crowd thought that natural conditions were against a further break, although the market looked "tired." Despite the efforts of the bear, the bull clique sent December and September wheat on a steady climb. It was no task at all to send September to 97c, but a half-cent decline followed. December reached 96 1/2c. At the close September was 96 1/2c, December 94 1/2c.
