INDICATIONS—Generally cloudy weather; probably showers in northern portion in the morning, cooler in the eastern portion; light to fresh northerly winds, shifting to southerly.

REPUBLICANS who now oppose the civil service so bitterly would be just as strongly in favor of the law were the offices in their possession. Why do the heathen rage?

DURING the first four months of the Wilson law the custom receipts amounted to nearly $50,000,000. During the first four months of the Dingley law the receipts were not quite $35,000,000. The Wilson bill was all right.

Wherever plenty of water is there electric light, heat and power can be generated, whether there be any great quantity of coal or other fuel or not. A waterfall will turn machinery anywhere, and the machinery will run a dynamo. This use of water power is now extensively made in Central and South America and Mexico, likewise in some of our southern states. In Alaska and on the land route to the goldfields the rapids of the great Yukon and its tributaries might speedily be utilized to run electric cars and supply power and light as well as heat. It is much to know that wherever water flow is there man has the means of lighting and warming himself and running cars, mills and factories.

Organization is the order of the day. It is the sign of the times. Those whose interests lie along the same path are uniting everywhere. They consult together; they form clubs; they hold conventions, at which measures are taken to strengthen the bond of union and to forward the interests of all the members as of one man. The solidarity of the race is showing itself. The original truth that all mankind are brethren and that the good of one and the good of all is identical shines sun clear as the nineteenth century vanishes and the twentieth steps upon the scene with its glad young face and elastic step. Surely this universal tendency to organization among men and women is the foreshadowing of better things to come, the portent of that time when all mankind, rich and poor, will be organized into one great union, the interests of whose members will be the same.

New Use For Peanuts.

A new use for peanuts is developing as the peanut butter industry becomes better understood. The product of the peanut answers in the place of ordinary butter for the table use, and is said to be excellent for shortening purposes, and for gravies, sauces, &c. In point of purity it is well designed for the use of vegetarians who strenuously object to anything animal. There is already a considerable demand for this butter substitute, and it is very probable there will be an enlarged market for the nuts. At present the product of the United States is about 500,000 bags annually, and that of the world is 600,000,000 pounds.

A rat trap operated by electricity is one of the late inventions. It entices the rodents into its little parlor by the sight of tempting bait. As they enter the parlor they are trapped completely. In a restaurant where the invention was tried 123 rats were caught in one night, it is said. That restaurant must have been an awfully ratty place.

COMPARISON

Of New Tobacco Grown by H. Holbrook,

Of Scott County, Gives Some Valuable Information—Louisville and Cincinnati Prices.

[Western Tobacco Journal.]

The following is a comparison sale of new tobacco, grown for John H. Carson, by H. Holbrook, of Georgetown, Scott County, Ky. This crop, consisting of 17 hhd., was divided between the Bodmann House, of Cincinnati, and Rice & Turner, of Louisville.

Eight hhd., consisting of two hhd. bright leaf, one hhd. long red, one hhd. short red, one hhd. lugs, two hhd. trash and one hhd. spodge, were shipped to Louisville and sold December 8. Nine hhd., consisting of two hhd. bright leaf, one hhd. long red, one hhd. tips, two hhd. lugs, one hhd. trash and two hhd. spodge, were shipped to Cincinnati and sold December 9th.

The average price realized in Louisville was $10.70, while that in Cincinnati, with one hhd. more of spodge than was shipped to Louisville and one tip hhd. instead of short red, was $12.01. The following is a comparison of the prices on the individual hogsheads:

Cincinnati.	Prices.
Bright leaf.....	$16.75 and 16.75
Colory lugs.....	14.75 and 13.75
Long red leaf.....	13.75
Colory trash.....	9.35
Spodge.....	7.70 and 7.00
Short tips.....	8.00
Short red.....	—
Louisville.	Prices.
Bright leaf.....	$14.50 and 14.00
Colory lugs.....	10.75
Long red leaf.....	12.75
Colory trash.....	9.90 and 8.70
Spodge.....	5.00
Short tips.....	—
Short red.....	9.50

The comparison should satisfy the shippers of tobacco that Cincinnati is very much "in it," and that Cincinnati is the market for new tobacco, with facilities superior to any other market. Farmers contemplating the early marketing of their tobacco should be convinced by the above true comparison and not be misled by shipping to any other market.

The Bodmann, established in 1852, has been time-tried and fire-tested, and nowhere can a farmer obtain better security than at this house. L. T. Anderson, Jr., solicitor of this house, can be seen weekly at Central Hotel, Maysville, Ky. He has represented the "old reliable" for the past fifteen years in the Mason County district and refers to any reputable farmer of the county as to his competency in representing tobacco entrusted to his care.

All people enjoy being humbugged, apparently the hard headed, practical farmer better than anybody else. He likes to hear of extraordinary new vegetable growths that will make him a fortune in a year or two without any more culture than planting the seed. He might know from his common sense, however, that when the story of some new plant or grain reads like a fairy tale it is a humbug. Such stories originate in two ways. In the one case they emanate from the brain of the space writer for the newspaper, a person who will concoct any lie, however impossible, for the sake of getting his $3 or $5 a column. In the other case the fake story comes from unscrupulous seedsmen and seed agents who want to trap the agriculturist into buying their stuff. Little they care whether the thing grows at all or if it does grow whether it may not be a noxious weed that will be a pest to the universe. It is a pity that among so many honest and worthy seedsmen there are some of that kind. One of the fake stories that went the rounds was about the fortunes to be made in chill peppers. Another told of the extraordinary virtues of a Russian weed called by some saghalien. Then there is the Idaho pea, no doubt extremely useful in its way, but it will not grow everywhere, and it will not do all that is claimed for it.

Time after time the farmer has been trapped with machines, with chemical preparations and with plants only to find when his money has been spent that if one wishes to be successful there is nothing like pegging away at the work immediately under your nose, at the same time watching every opportunity of bettering yourself that comes your way.

How to Make Camphor Ice.

To 4 ounces of pure olive oil take a half ounce of white beeswax, a half ounce of spermaceti and a half ounce of gum camphor, broken into small pieces, as camphor takes a little longer to melt. Put all in a small earthen crock and set in hot water to melt. Beat with a silver fork until you can just pour it, then pour quickly into large mouthed jars, as it stiffens rapidly.

HANDKERCHIEFS are such a popular Christmas Gift, we know a tempting offering of them now will be most welcome. We have secured a sample line of one hundred dozen, entirely up to our standard, but no maker sets much value on samples after they have served their purpose. He cannot sell them in the regular way, because there are too few of any one sort. This line represents a great variety. Every individual preference seems to have been considered for hemstitching, embroidery and Lace. They'll go by sixes and twelves, so hurry. Twenty-five cent Handkerchiefs for 10c. are not an every day chance. "Things seen are mightier than things heard," so convince yourself of the rightness of our statement.
