

THE NEW DYNASTY

Prince Peter Kara-Georgevitch Elected King of Serbia by the Senate-Skupshina.

HARDLY ANY EXCITEMENT SHOWN.

Election Took Place in the Wing of the Palace Where Alexander and His Queen Were Shot.

A Deputation of the Parliament Will Arrive in Geneva Thursday and Escort the New Ruler to Belgrade, Serbia.

Belgrade, June 16.—With scarcely the excitement which marks an ordinary fete day in the capital, Serbia Monday instituted a new dynasty. Within less than two hours from the time of meeting in the wing of the royal palace, where King Alexander and his queen were shot down, the senate and skupshina in joint session had legally and with due formality elected Prince Peter Kara-Georgevitch king of Serbia and had notified him by telegraph of the fact.

A resolution of general amnesty was passed. The latter action insures that so far as Serbia is concerned there will be no punishment of the regicides. The senate and skupshina on assembling Monday listened to a proclamation signed by all the ministers which was read by President Velimirovitch and which was as follows:

"Every one knows of the events which took place last Wednesday night, when the late King Alexander lost his life. Serbia remains without a king or heir to the throne. The friends of the fatherland, having heard of the event, met to discuss what should be done for the country. The result of their consultation has been the constitution of a government as has already been announced in last Thursday's Official Gazette.

"The government having undertaken the task of administering the country considered its first duty was to maintain peace and order and convoke parliament to elect a king. In order that the election should occur in accordance with the constitution the government has put in force the constitution of April 6, 1901, with the addition of the laws existing before the coup d'etat of March 24 last. It has convoke the parliament actually existing, which was elected by constitutional means.

"The government declares with gladness that, helped by wise conduct of the people and the patriotism of the brave Servian army, it has maintained peace and order throughout the country. The government is convinced that in this way it has fulfilled its chief duty to the fatherland. In the present difficult circumstances the government leaves it to parliament to deliberate on the events of Wednesday and on the government's conduct since that day.

Vienna, June 16.—According to present arrangements a deputation from the skupshina will arrive here Tuesday evening and reach Geneva Thursday morning. After conferring with the deputation King Peter will take a special train for Belgrade. He will not interrupt his journey at Vienna and will not be received here either officially or semi-officially.

Aggi Toma, one of the king's advisers, who is now here, denies the report that King Peter will not receive Col. Maschn. Toma gave out that it would be foolish for the king at the outset to offend the entire Servian army.

Geneva, June 16.—Prince Peter Kara-Georgevitch has telegraphed his acceptance of the Servian throne.

King Peter also telegraphed to the emperors of Russia and Austria and to the king of Italy, announcing his election and adding that he hoped to work for the good of Serbia.

COMMERCIAL TREATY.

Shanghai, June 16.—The terms of the American commercial treaty have been settled, except the clause providing for the opening of two Manchurian ports. The treaty abolishes all interior trade barriers in the shape of internal taxation of goods in transit in China or Manchuria, except the duties collected by the native custom houses at the treaty ports under foreign customs management and allows sur taxes of 1 1/2 per cent. on import duty and 1/2 per cent. on export duty.

Fired Four Bullets Into the Woman's Body.

Lexington, Ky., June 16.—Ben Graham, colored, of Frankfort, occupies a cell in the county jail, while his wife lies fatally wounded at the Good Samaritan hospital with four bullet wounds in her body. Graham and his wife came to Lexington on a colored excursion, and while at the home of some friends at Peach Orchard, a colored suburb of this city, they became involved in a quarrel. Graham drew his revolver and shot four times at his wife, one shot taking effect in the lung, two in the back and one in the shoulder. Graham was arrested and sent to jail.

A JILTED LOVER.

He Shot Into a Crowded Carriage, Knocking Off a Plait of Hair.

Owensboro, Ky., June 16.—George Thompson, a young man, fired into a carriage loaded with people, his object being to kill a girl who had refused his attentions. The only damage done was to shoot a plait of hair from a little girl's head. Thompson escaped, but if he is captured by the men who are looking for him it is believed he will be killed. He shot a young woman a year ago on the same ground, it is alleged, and is under indictment for the alleged offense.

RIVAL LOVERS.

They Met at Girl's House and Later She Took Poison.

Falmouth, Ky., June 16.—Miss Frata Chiles, daughter of Leroy Chiles, a prominent farmer, who was frustrated in a love affair, attempted suicide. William Brown and Clarence Crabcock, rivals for the heart and hand of this young lady, had just left her presence, after a stormy scene. The incident and a sharp reproach from the young lady's mother ended in the girl swallowing carbolic acid. There is a bare possibility that she may recover.

A WALL OF WATER.

To the Height of 20 Feet it Rushed Down a Gulch in Oregon.

HEPPNER PARTIALLY WRECKED.

Boulders Weighing a Ton Were Rolled Along by the Force of Water Crushing Everything in Their Path.

Nearly One-Half of the 1,250 Inhabitants of the Town Were Drowned—The Terrible Flood Followed a Cloudburst.

Portland, Ore., June 16.—Following a cloudburst a wall of water 20 feet high rushed down the gulch of Willow creek at dusk Sunday and drowned nearly one-half of the 1,250 inhabitants of Heppner, Ore. The furious water carried the residence part of Heppner away. So great was the force of the water that boulders weighing a ton were rolled along the gulch, crushing everything in their path.

Wires, bridges and railroads were swept away and complete reports have not been received. The most reliable reports Monday night say that the loss of life at Heppner will be at least 500 though the number of dead probably is larger.

A report from Ione, 17 miles from Heppner, says that 300 bodies have been recovered. The flood came with such suddenness that the inhabitants were unable to seek places of safety and were carried down to death by the awful rush of water. Some of the business part of Heppner, which is on high ground, escaped.

Early in the afternoon a thunder storm occurred covering a wide region of country and later a heavy rain storm set in, many of the small streams overflowing their banks in a short time. Bridges were swept away like straws, and the darkness of the night soon made the situation more appalling.

As soon as possible after the flood subsided the work of relief was begun by the surviving residents.

Bodies Two and Three Deep. Dozens of bodies were found lodged along the bends of the stream, and in several places they were piled two or three deep. Up to 2 o'clock Monday afternoon 200 bodies had been recovered within the town.

Many of the buildings which were not carried away were moved from their foundations or toppled over. Hundreds of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs that had gone into the creek bottoms for water perished.

As soon as possible news was sent by courier to the nearby towns asking relief for the stricken people. The Oregon Railway and Navigation Co. started a relief train with doctors and supplies from The Dalles shortly after noon with a party of 100, including three doctors, four nurses and supplies of all kinds. At 1:30 Monday afternoon a relief train with doctors and supplies started for the scene from Portland. The citizens of Portland started a relief fund as soon as the news of the disaster spread over the city and within a few hours $5,000 was raised. Supplies will be rushed to Heppner as soon as they can be collected.

Hundreds of Coffins Sent.

Portland, Ore., June 16.—Word was received here from Ione late Monday afternoon that 300 coffins were needed at once at Heppner. The weather is hot and it is necessary that the dead should be buried at once. One hundred coffins were sent on the Oregon Railway and Navigation Co. overland train Monday night and 100 will be sent from The Dalles and Portland.

The Portland office of the O. R. & N. Monday afternoon received the following message from Heppner, via Eco:

"Roughly estimated almost all the people living on the banks of Willow creek drowned.

"Need relief in shape of large body of men to help clear away debris and recover bodies. Haste is essential, as the weather is turning warm and the dead must be recovered before putrefaction set in.

"Damage to track unknown, further than ten miles below here, which to that point is more than two-thirds washed out.

"Agent Kerman and wife presumably dead, as they have not yet been found.

"Depot and all loaded and empty cars still intact, but the yards are washed away."

Verdict of Guilty.

Grayson, Ky., June 16.—The trial of George Davis, late marshal of Grayson, for the killing of Owen Leedy while attempting to make an arrest for disorderly conduct one year ago, resulted in a verdict of guilty, with a five-year penitentiary sentence.

EXPLOSION OF GAS

Caused Death of the Late Thomas Mulcahy. Particulars of the Sad Accident.

Brief mention was made a few days ago of the death at Jefferson, Texas, of Thomas Mulcahy, a former well-known resident of Maysville. The Jefferson Jimplecote gives the following particulars:

"The sad accident by which this most estimable gentleman lost his life is not infrequent in furnaces. It is beyond the power of man to control or prevent such sad occurrences. The accident causing the death of Mr. Mulcahy was caused by an excess of gas, which was forced, by a heavy slip in the furnace, to find an exit through the down comer, causing a terrific explosion as it came in contact with the air. A world of fire, fully twenty feet in diameter and possibly forty feet high, enveloped everything within reach. Unfortunately Mr. Mulcahy and Mr. Coshen, master mechanic, were sufficiently near the down comer to be within the fatal circle. It was perfectly apparent to those who saw Mr. Mulcahy when rescued that his burns were fatal. It was a most heart rending scene. Burned almost to a crisp, this noble man never forgot his duties, nor lost sight of the comforts of those he loved so dearly. He gave instructions to start the ore crusher promptly on time and requested the Secretary of the company to look after the receiving of coal, and other things pertaining to the company's interest. While Thomas Mulcahy had only been a citizen of our city for a brief period, yet in that time he had made every person with whom he became acquainted his friend."

Next Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the Christian Church, Mrs. Ida Harrison, of Lexington, President of the Christian Women's Board of Missions of the State of Kentucky, will deliver an address on the subject, "The Burgess Memorial." A most cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

Rev. C. F. Evans, Mr. W. W. Ball, Mr. W. H. Wade and Rev. E. G. B. Mann are at Mt. Carmel attending the annual conference of the Maysville district M. E. Church, South. Prof. H. K. Taylor, of Louisville, passed through here Monday going to the conference to make a Sunday school address. The meeting will adjourn Wednesday night.

The funeral of the late John S. Wilson, of Dover, takes place this afternoon at 2 o'clock in that city. His death occurred Monday morning at 1 o'clock, resulting from the injuries received last Friday by a belt striking him while he was in the engine room at the Dover brick yards. Mr. Wilson was married twice, his last wife, who was Miss Nellie Jenkins, surviving him.

To-morrow night a lodge of Oddfellows will be instituted at Burgin. During the coming month lodges will be instituted at Dawson Springs and Providence. An application has been filed with Grand Secretary Elliott for a lodge at Fillmore, Lee County, also an application for an encampment at Campton, Wolfe County. Since the first of January twenty new lodges have been instituted.

FOR THE DEFENSE.

Curtis Jett and Tom White Took the Stand in Their Own Behalf.

OTHER WITNESSES EXAMINED.

Jett, in His Testimony, Was Deliberate and at Times His Memory Was Defective.

Swore That at the Time of the Assassination His Hand Was So Badly Swollen That He Could Not Pull a Trigger.

Jackson, Ky., June 16.—The trials of Curt Jett and Tom White were delayed Monday because of the hearing of the cases of the alleged incendiaries.

Attorney Golden outlined the defense in a speech before the jury prior to calling Jett. He said the defense would show that White alone had entered the courthouse prior to the killing of Marcum, and that Jett was near the post office.

Jett was for the first time placed on the stand in his own behalf. In telling the story of his whereabouts he put on a bold front. He says he was near the post office and heard nothing. He then went into the courthouse by a side door to investigate.

Jett, in his testimony, named persons he said he saw while standing near the post office when the shots were fired. He said he saw Mrs. Mary Johnson, Marcum's sister, and said to her: "Guess you want to lay this on me. I get blamed for every murder committed here." Mrs. Johnson testified that Jett said to her: "Hargis money killed him. I fired the shots."

Jett said at the time of the killing his right hand was so badly swollen that he could not pull a trigger. He said he had a finger cut off two weeks before, and could not use his hand. He said he and White slept at the home of Jim Hargis' mother that night. He said he went to Winchester on Saturday, and then to his mother's home, where he was arrested. He denied saying anything to Henry Freeman about Marcum. Jett was deliberate, and at times his memory was defective.

Tom White was the next witness and corroborated the testimony of Jett in many particulars. Clarence Hadden followed White on the stand. He said he saw Jett on the courthouse square corner a few minutes after the shooting. Mrs. Lulu Smith, Hargis' sister, made the same statement. She is Jett's aunt.

Dodge Banks told the same story as the two former witnesses. He also said Even did not look into the corridor. He is Jailer Spencer's adopted son. John Shouse, Hargis' barn foreman, said he saw Jett on the corner of the square only a few seconds after hearing the shots. He was confused on cross-examination.

John H. Noble made the same statements. Concerning Jett's position after the shooting, as the other witnesses, he was an intimate friend of Jett's and used his own money to go to Winchester to offer his services. He said that he spends much of his time in Hargis' store. Court adjourned until Tuesday morning.

ALLEGED INCENDIARIES.

Ed Tharp and Joe Crawford Held to the Grand Jury.

Jackson, Ky., June 16.—Ed Tharp and Joe Crawford, the Hargis employes, suspected of setting fire to the Ewen hotel early Sunday, were taken before Judge Redwine by the militia Monday, and after a hearing of evidence in habeas corpus proceedings, held to the grand jury. A. H. Short testified to seeing the men going across the bridge to South Jackson in the direction of the Ewen hotel about 5 o'clock, and Gray Haddicks and Jerry Lunsford say they identified Crawford as one of the men seen coming from the direction of the hotel just before the flames were discovered. The prisoners, on being detained Sunday, made contradictory statements. A provost guard rounded up the witnesses before the grand jury, instead of Sheriff Callahan, who is a Hargis leader.
