TERRITORIAL NOTES.

Good rains have fallen all over the territory during the past week.

Curt W. Miller, of the "Tempe News," has been appointed postmaster at that place.

The populists of Mohave county nominated the following ticket: For the council, Kean St. Charles; for house of representatives, Ad. Cornwall; for sheriff, Col. Harley Fay; for recorder, Wm.
Carey; for probate judge, Ross H.
Blakely; for supervisors, Theo. Tarnow and Robert Kayser.

The populists of Maricopa county have placed the following ticket in the field: Assemblymen, Charles Mullen, Sam Green, W. C. Deputy and J. J.
Johnson; for treasurer, M. V. Quinn; for assessor, A. J. Johnson; for district attorney, F. H. Lyman; for probate judge, G. B. Norton; for county recorder, J. Frank Elwell; for supervisor, P. T. Burtis.

W. C. Green is in town from his ranch near Hereford. He has just finished threshing his crop of barley, which yielded 4,000 bushels. He sold it at the machine for $1.40 per hundred, which returned a value of $91 per acre. A portion of the crop yielded at the rate of 65 2-3 sacks per acre. Mr.
Green is now planting the same ground to beans. This is a record that cannot be beaten on the coast.—Prospector.

The Star says that some of the men who were most conspicuous in the strike trouble were more concerned yesterday about getting their positions back than about anything else. It is understood that more than 20 men, who were in the employ of the Southern Pacific company at Tucson before the strike, are not in its employ now, and they are not likely to be soon again.

George Clark, who was near Robinson and Logan when they were murdered by the Ceris on Tiburon island, has returned from Guaymas, after having been to the island again with the Mexican troops, which accomplished nothing by the trip, the cavalry ordered from Hermosillo failing to put in an appearance. Clark says he is satisfied, from appearances, that the Indians burned the bodies after the murder.
—Prospector.

The damage done to Mammoth by a cloudburst several nights ago was greater than at first reported. Captain Johnson was nearly drowned. The 50-stamp mill was nearly buried in sand and will not be in condition to operate for weeks. The company's firewood and other supplies to the value of $2,500 were swept away. The goods in the store were badly damaged. The loss, in the aggregate, will amount to about $15,000.—Star.

And now the postage stamps have given out. Postmaster Thomas has not had a single two-cent postage stamp for a month. His one-cent stamps gave out last week, but he has yet a small lot of stamped envelopes.
If the railroad blockade lasts another week Phoenix will be without bacon, sugar and "stamps." Fortunately we are producers, hence can boast of having abundance of nearly every other commodity of life.—Gazette.

Wm. Garland, president of the new road from Bowie to Globe, says that the recent fire at Globe is not considered as great a calamity as the announcement that the Old Dominion Copper company will shut down their works in July. Many of the persons who were burned out were arranging to build new houses at once, but they have now stopped on account of the impending calamity of a shut down by the Old Dominion.—Wilcox News.

W. W. Price, of Stanford university, who has been gathering birds and mammals in the mountain ranges of Cochise county, came in last night from Wilcox, where he has been for a few weeks past. He will go to Huachuca today to relieve one of his assistants.
The next move will be toward the White Mountains where several weeks will be spent. From there the Navajo country will be prospected. In the Chiricahua mountains, Mr. Price found a number of new birds. A fox squirrel, the first one seen in this neighborhood, was captured. In White river, in Rucker canyon, a new species of the finny tribe was found. The river swarms with them, but no one ever thought that they were other than some old variety. These fish do not grow more than five inches long, but are firm and fine flavored.—Prospector.

ADDRESS SAN FRANCISCO CAL.

Method in Climbing.

A recent visit to the Grand Canyon called attention to the fact that many, and perhaps most of those who make that trip are unacquainted with the principles which preserve the strength and allow it to be used to best advantage. Below will be found a set of rules which however incomplete, will still be of assistance in long and arduous climbing:

1. Take plenty of time. A trip usually requiring a day and one-half, if done in one day not only results in greater fatigue and even suffering, but derives the tourist of a chance to see and appreciate his surroundings.

2. The speed of the party should be that of its slowest member, yet better progress will be made when the party is small if each individual goes at his own gait. Let no rivalry exist until the end of the trip.

3. Move at a constant speed. Should it prove too fast, make it slower in the place of resting. Do not go as fast as possible for a time and then rest, but start a slow pace at the very first and keep it up. Each time a rest is found necessary it is because the system has been subjected to a strain. This causes more exhaustion than would a slow and steady gait over the same distance.
One may rest, however, first, to enjoy the scenery, and second, to cool off in occasional shady places when overheated.

4. Never run either up hill or down, but walk more rapidly on level places.

5. On steep slopes take low and short steps. This is because the leverage at the knee is far more powerful, mechanically, when the knee is but slightly bent.

6. Do not step on toes or heel, but plant the foot squarely the ground.
Breaking this rule involves much unnecessary use of the muscles in the calf of the leg.

7. Make each step slowly, and take special pains to plant the foot where it will not slip. Give attention to this when tired as well as when fresh.

8. In up hill work place the hands upon the knees, so that the arms may be of help.

9. Do not hesitate to breathe freely through the mouth, but inhale deeply.
It is a good thing to let something like like troches, or cough drops or licorice dissolve in the mouth to keep the throat moist. Too much breathing through the nose causes, in some people, an uncomfortable rise in the pulse.

10. Suspend all clothing from the shoulders; take pains to wear as little as possible over the chest. Keep neck and wrists bare. At high altitudes or in cold weather, warm felt hat, blue glasses and sweater are most serviceable. Short skirts and leggings are appropriate for ladies—any hindrance to the movement of the limbs is most fatiguing.

Wear hob-nailed shoes to which the feet have become accustomed. If the sun is likely to be hot wear a light, broad-brimmed straw hat or helmet.
Other hats may be improved by tying a white pocket handkerchief over them.
Derby and hard brimmed felt hats are not good on account of their weight and heat. Blue glasses are important in desert countries.

11. Eating: No special restrictions need be suggested. Experience has shown that at high altitudes or when people are "too tired to eat" the best things to tempt the appetite are roast chicken, hard boiled eggs with salt, bread and jam, meat broth, fruit or rare roast beef.

12. Drinking: On a severe climb, water or lemonade are the best drinkables. Alcoholic beverages stimulate the pulse too much. In cold weather and in high altitudes they should be carried, but used only in extreme cases.
In heat-exhaustion, water or other liquids may be applied to the temples and wrists with great and rapid relief.
When one begins to feel too warm no good opportunity for making their application should be neglected. Even holding the wrists against cold rocks is refreshing.

Observance of the above rules will not necessarily cause one to perform wonders in the way of climbing but it will prevent some of the suffering and exhaustion now and then experienced in the Grand Canyon. One thing must be remembered, that these are not rules for tired people, but are rules which must be enforced from the beginning of the trip when one is fresh.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. CHE-gists, 75c.

The effect of the strike on the business interests of Winslow is one of deplorable depression, and all are deeply concerned in the outcome. As the town depends almost solely on the railroad for support, the partial suspension of business and the withholding of the pay checks for past wages by the road, has had a demoralizing effect. It is hoped that the end may speedily be reached.—Winslow Mail.
