CURRENT COMMENT.

A FRENCH scientist declares that the earth is gradually growing colder.

THE 1896 world's crop of wheat is estimated at 2,381,080,000 bushels, or about 88,000,000 bushels less than last year and 181,000,000 bushels less than 1894.

THE St. Louis Republic says: "The bicycle built for 25 opens indefinite possibilities for the future. We may yet have a train propelled by its passengers at a swifter rate than the steam locomotive can attain."

A POTTER at Rock Island, Ill., has succeeded in making a jug measuring over five feet in height and nearly three feet in diameter. It is without a flaw and is said to be the largest jug ever turned out. It will hold 116 gallons.

DURING an illness from an abscess on the brain, caused by a blow received when a child and which terminated fatally, William McAllister, a 16-year-old boy living in Washington, grew ten inches in height in the four weeks he was sick.

A DISPATCH recently received at Boston from the Lowell observatory at Flagstaff, Ariz., announced that the astronomers of the observatory had discovered that each of the planets of Mercury and Venus turned once on its axis during one revolution about the sun, making the day just equal to the year on these planets. They find further that Venus is not cloud-covered, as has been reported, but has about it a thick atmosphere, while Mercury has none.

LIEUT. JOSEPH E. MAXWELL, chief signal officer of the department of the Missouri, and now stationed in Chicago, will soon make an ascent on a man-carrying kite, to be built by Octave Chanute. The ascent will be made in an arm chair fastened to a portion of the kite frame, and will be for the purpose of testing the efficiency of a flying kite for observation purposes, as an adjunct to the balloon service, which for some time has been an important part of the signal corps' work.

At the anthropological congress, just closed in Geneva, one professor of criminology made an interesting communication concerning crime and its relation to trades and professions. For example, in a group of 10,000 farmers he showed 0.84 per cent. to be criminals; in trades, one per cent; in manufactures, 1.32 per cent., while in the professions the rate was as high as 3.36 per cent. This last, a seeming paradox, amounts to this—the greater number of criminals are found among those who toil with their brains rather than their hands.

It is a curious fact, that of all nations, the United States alone has no holiday. The only day in the least approaching the nature of a national festival is Labor day, which in the second session of the Fifty-third congress, was made a holiday for the District of Columbia. This is the only act of congress on the subject, not even the Fourth of July being a holiday authorized by congress. Nearly all the states have through their legislatures established holidays, however, which are recognized by their own laws as legal holidays.

No crowned head of Europe travels in greater ease or luxury than does Mr. Vanderbilt or Mr. Pullman, and many other Americans whose wealth has made them celebrated. The czar, Emperor William, Queen Victoria, and indeed the heads of all the principal nations of Europe have special trains set aside for their use that may be more gaudy, more embellished with gold and royal arms, but there are three or four private cars owned in the United States which in elegance of appointment and perfection of easy riding surpass anything enjoyed by royalty.

LOUIS GATHEMANN, the Chicago inventor, proposes to revolutionize every known industry by introducing a sun engine built on a plan that is entirely new and original. With a plant composed of a large collection of utilizers of solar heat, he claims that he will not only furnish light and power for any city or community in the land, but will also store up summer scorchlets and deal them out in the dead of winter, when they can be best appreciated. If he can do as much with his machine as he claims the wildest vision of the dreamer will be realized.

THE crusade in New York city against long skirts for wet weather is to be carried on, and the Rainy Day club is now an established fact. On or about November 1 the club will be seen on dress parade. Everything suggestive of the bloomer girl has been carefully avoided by the women who propose to fight the uplifted skirts. Mrs. Welby, the founder of the movement, thinks the costume adopted an eminently proper one, and believes that as the public appreciates the idea of dress reform in rainy weather there will be increased enthusiasm and more members of the Rainy Day club.

MERCHANT ROSENBLUM, of Omaha, Neb., was recently refused his citizenship papers in the district court because he could not name the number of representatives each state has in congress. Rosenblum was subjected to a severe fire of cross-questioning, but answered correctly as to the manner of electing the president of this country, the requirements of a foreign citizen desiring to become naturalized, the number of senators and representatives Nebraska has in congress, but when asked to name the number of representatives each state has in congress he was stumped.

In less than two hours the blocks were in ruins and $200,000 worth of property had been destroyed.

The report shows that the total railroad mileage of the United States is 177,746 miles, an increase of 2,056 miles during the year. The financial results from operation were fairly satisfactory. The figures are as follows: Gross earnings, $1,075,371,642; operating expenses, $725,720,415; net earnings, $349,651,047; net income, $483,083,180; fixed charges, $425,906,921; surplus, $56,116,259; dividend paid, $85,961,500; deficit, $29,845,241. VAULTS FULL OF CASH.

Banks of Kansas City, Mo., Have More Than $10,000,000 on Hand. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 12.—Kansas City bank vaults never contained as much cash as they hold at present. It is such a cash reserve as was never carried before by the banks of this city, and it may safely be said that the banks of any other city in the United States never carried such a large proportion of their deposits in cash. The cash holdings of the banks have increased almost $2,500,000 in 12 weeks—since the last statements were published. About $600,000 of this gain is due to an increase in deposits, and the remainder came from the collection of loans. The total loans and discounts have decreased $1,700,000.

Mardians for an African Explorer.

I have always something the matter with me which interferes with my efficiency. Now it will be a wretched ulcer near my knee-joint to hinder my walking; another time one near my right arm to weaken my arm and give me unsteady aim in shooting. Then I am cured of these, and feel miserable and feverish; but snap shots of deafening gunfire make me strong and cheerful, and fit to bear the strain of a few days visit from malarial neuralgia, which seizes my head, makes tender every tooth, and stabs me unmercifully with acutest pains, till the head is aching with hammering throbs, and the eyes, through pain, are tortured by a mist. In due time I recover from this, and become dyspeptic, or cannot wear my largest shirt because of a swollen spleen. I gradually reduce this, and then blisters on the feet, and erysipelas in the ankles, make walking the worst kind of agony. Illness to me in Africa is as the bubble in an aspirin-level; it moves and changes its position, but never ceases.—Glave in the Heart of Africa, in Century.

Thomas Jackson's Exit.

Thomas Jackson, comedian, was engaged December 21, 1741, to play a comic cast of character in this great theater—the world—for which he was prompted by nature to excel. The season being ended, his benefit being over, the charges all paid and his account closed, he made his exit in the tragedy of death on March 17, 1798, in full assurance of being called once more to rehearsal, when he hopes to find his forfeits all cleared, his casts of parts bettered and his situation made agreeable by Him who paid the great stock debt, the love He bore to performers in general.—Good Words.

Not Altogether Hopeless.

"I shall never marry," declared Miss Elderly in a tone meant to be firm. "Don't say that," answered her best friend, Florence. Women older than you have had proposals.—Detroit Free Press.

Reforms Need More Than a Day

To bring them about, and are always more complete and lasting when they proceed with steady regularity to a consummation. Few of the observant among us can have failed to notice that permanently beautiful changes in the human system are wrought by abrupt and violent means, and that those are the most salutary medicines which are progressive. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the chief of these. Dyspepsia, a disease of obstinate character, is obliterated by it.

THE man who sells what he does not own cannot cheat the man who never pays him for it. A great deal of business is done on that basis.—Texas Sifter.
