One of the scientific gentlemen who was here during the week predicted that Flagstaff would be the outfitting point for many expeditions in the near future.

For Sale—Hooster grain drill, 6-inch hoe, in first-class condition. Price reasonable. Drill may be seen at my ranch, three miles north of town. W. H. Anderson. *

The contract for putting in about forty miles of fence for the Santa Fe Pacific has been secured by James Crowley. The part to be fenced is from Canyon Diablo to the cliffs east of Flagstaff.

John Pollard, the employe at Greenlaw's mill who a short time ago had his skull fractured by a flying knot, is again laid up. The unfortunate man was out in the recent storm and caught cold in the old wound, inflammation setting in. Mr. Pollard is reported as improving.

Joe Barr came in from the Eastern Star mines Tuesday and reports very favorable conditions prevailing there. The company has shipped ten carloads of ore within three months and are making a good thing on it. Niles Cameron and Col. Halford are running tunnels in the Eastern Star and Copper King and expect to connect underground in a short time.

Sunday night an attempt was made to burglarize the residence of C. F. Portz. Monday night the dwelling of J. A. Vall was entered and all the surplus change in sight appropriated, the thieves leaving a gold watch and a diamond pin behind. Expressman Burns was the next victim to make the regular nightly contribution, his Tuesday donation swelling the donation to a neat little sum. The persons committing these acts are evidently free silver and free plunder cranks, as only the white metal was taken. Wednesday Sheriff Johnson arrested two suspicious characters in the suburbs of town. One of them undertook to do a sprinting act, but was quickly halted by the peace officer "and his little gun." Both of the suspected persons were placed in the county jail and held for investigation.

School supplies of all kinds at Timerhoff's. *

An employe of the Arizona Lumber & Lumber Company named Lion had his ankle fractured Thursday. Dr. Robinson is attending the injured man.

The New Bank hotel has been refurbished and is now open to the public. Mrs. F. T. McMillan is the new manager, and will for the present run the hotel on the European plan. †

E. E. Elinwood, the Flagstaff attorney, is in the city to-day. He says the north is at present quite prosperous. Cattle are fat, feed good and everyone seems to be making money.—Gazette.

Reuben Neal reports that his room was entered Wednesday night by an expert burglar, who worked two locks with neatness and dispatch. The officers say that no complaint has been made to them in regard to the matter.

Two painters fell from a scaffold while painting the Vail building Thursday. One of them received a severe cut across the cheek and the other a badly bruised hand. Dr. Brannen dressed the wounds of the injured men.

Two soiled doves met in combat, which was not mortal. The one of the sable hue had her feathers trimmed to the extent of $10, which included trimmings, by Judge Quinlan, who had both his dignity and modesty ruffled by the language used by the litigants.

In the trouble about the boundary line fence between some of the German settlers living north of the city much amusement was caused by the testimony of "the woman in the case" in regard to the disposal of a certain bill of sale. Judge Quinlan discharged all the parties without prejudice.

The attention of the supervisor of streets is called to the nails protruding above the sidewalks in the residence parts of town. They are a dangerous nuisance in the present shape. Sunday afternoon little Harry Carter tripped on one of these nails and was thrown down, his hand being impaled on another nail, causing a very painful wound.

Typewriter papers in various weights at Timerhoff's.

A. E. Macomber made a trip to Albuquerque last week.

Married—On June 3, at 8:30 p. m., in Flagstaff, by Rev. J. H. Henry, Harry Bartlett and Miss Martha Rhamey. Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett will make their home in Flagstaff.

The reopening of the Methodist church will take place on Sunday, June 16. An all-day meeting will be held, the program of which will be announced in the papers next week.

Bring out the trusty shotgun from its accustomed hiding place and sharpen the old saber which your grandfather wore in the war of 1812, because the porch-climbers are making nocturnal visits to the dwellings of the worthy burghers of the Skylight City.

Manager De Rosear of the Postal Telegraph will combine life insurance with his other duties. He was appointed resident agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York this week by W. L. Hathaway, general agent for Arizona and New Mexico.

Harry Hibben, J. B. Jones, J. B. Smith and H. H. Hoxworth returned from a successful fishing trip to Oak creek Monday. Harry Hoxworth had the good fortune to land the largest mountain trout yet taken from that stream—four and one-half pounds. He also caught a rainbow trout only a shade smaller. It is only three years since rainbow trout were first placed in Oak creek.

A crowd assembled in front of Timerhoff's drug store to witness a blood-curdling tragedy Tuesday. A mouse was placed in the same cage with a Gila monster, while the crowd waited in breathless expectancy for the reptile to devour the little rodent. But his mouseship was not built that way. In fact he knew a thing or two about Gila monsters and their peculiarities. His first movement after being placed in the cage was to climb on top of the monster and scratch his head. This pleased the monster so much that he kissed the mouse and offered to divide the egg he was eating. An effort is being made to starve the monster into eating his little companion, but up to the time of this writing the mouse was still rubbing the back of the monster and the latter continued to like it.

Chas. Davis of Bellemont was around town Monday.

Mrs. S. Barron is seriously ill with nervous prostration.

Joseph Fisher and family returned from El Paso Monday.

A line of fine writing tablets and paperies at Timerhoff's. †

Dr. W. S. Robinson has moved his office to rooms over the postoffice. *

L. D. Yaeger, the well-known wool-grower, was around town Tuesday.

Inquire at the postoffice for the "Dinger," the best 5c cigar in town.

For Sale—Large hotel range with large pressure boiler and fixtures. Apply at this office. †

John Craig left this week for the Navajo Indian reservation, where he will take charge of Babbitt & McAdam's trading post at Willow Springs.

The scenic stationery at Dr. Brannen's pharmacy is both unique and beautiful. No better method can be employed to give an accurate idea of Arizona scenery than to write a letter to your friends on this illustrated note paper.

Married—On June 2, at 8:30 a. m., at the home of Joseph Treat, by J. H. Henry, Walter J. Bardell and Miss Myrtle Maxham. After a breakfast which would have delighted an epicure the happy couple took the train for Seligman, which will be their future home.

Judge Quinlan and Dr. O'Donnell will throw off professional cares and rusticate in the classic shades of Oak Creek next week. Several young ladies, accompanied by a chaperon, will compose a portion of the party. The cook will be kept busy frying the speckled beauties.

For Rent—On July 1, 1901, brick building on the corner of Railroad avenue and Leroux street. Good frost-proof cellar 25x60 feet, store room 50x60 feet, second story 25x60 feet. Water and sewer connections. Best location in town. For particulars apply to Julius Aubineau, Flagstaff, Arizona. *

Messrs. Amundson and Guckenberger, two university students from the East, mounted their bikes and wheeled to Mount Eldon in quest of game, large and small. They stopped at an abandoned cabin, which was already occupied by a mammoth wildcat. The young gentlemen reached town in advance of the hungry beast, minus their arms and ammunition.

Prof. Lester F. Ward, paleontologist for the Smithsonian Institution, and Professor Barnum, of the American Museum of Natural History, New York City, delivered an informal talk at the Assembly Hall of the Emerson School to a large and appreciative audience. The Smithsonian Institution is distinctly a government institution, and the American Museum of Natural History is supported by an annual appropriation of $90,000 from the city of New York and donations which amount to many times this amount from the millionaire residents of the Empire State. Prof. Brown intends to deliver an illustrated lecture here on his next trip, describing his explorations in Patagonia. An interesting interview appears in this issue of the SUN of his discoveries along the banks of the Little Colorado.
