

HAVE ORGANIZED TO RECALL GOV. HUNT

The first organization steps looking to the recall of Governor Hunt were taken at Phoenix Monday, when an executive committee of twenty-one was organized under the name of the "Recall Committee" and opened headquarters in Room 229 at the Goodrich Building, this city. The chairman of the committee is Senator O. H. Stapley, of Mesa; secretary, Rev. J. A. Ray, pastor of Bethel M. E. church; treasurer, Henry Mitchell.

BIG GOLD MILL FOR UNITED EASTERN

The management of the United Eastern Mining Company is proceeding with preparations incident to the construction on its famous property at Oatman in the San Francisco district, 26 miles southwest of Kingman of a mill for the reduction of the vast tonnage of ore blocked out. A new vertical working shaft, three-compartment in size, measuring 5 by 15 feet in the clear has been started and will be sent down to a depth of 600 feet. The new shaft is located 700 feet north of the present working shaft and 125 feet northeast of the point at which the mill bins will be situated. A double drum 150-horsepower electric hoist and other machinery has been ordered for the new shaft. A two-story office building, 43 by 65 feet in dimensions, will soon be started, as will also the construction of the mill building.

LOOKING FOR BANK BUILDING SITE AT OATMAN

T. E. Pollock of the Arizona Central Bank went out to Oatman yesterday, accompanied by H. H. Watkins and Henry Lovin. They were looking for a site for the branch of the Arizona Central Bank that is to be established in the big gold camp within the next month. This bank has grown to wonderful proportions during the past year, not being far behind the largest bank in the state in point of deposits. That it has concluded to go into Oatman and build a home of its own in Kingman is one of the signs that the prosperity of the county is being recognized in a substantial way.—Kingman Miner.

Artist Swinnerton Comes Home

Artist James Swinnerton, father of "Little Jimmy" in the Sunday magazine sections of the Hearst papers, returned to Flagstaff last Friday from New York via San Bernardino. He was accompanied by Rex B. Goodell of San Bernardino, who is one of the most prominent lawyers on the coast. With his usual enthusiasm, Mr. Swinnerton presented some of the local points of interest to Mr. Goodell by auto. Even though this is rather the shank of the season, Mr. Goodell was mighty well pleased with his visit to Flagstaff.

LATE NEWS NOTES

Thirty employes of the Du Pont Powder Works at Wilmington, Delaware, were killed in a mysterious explosion. They were making munitions of war for the Allies and it is rumored that some outside agency caused the explosion.

The Nacoziari railroad is held by Villa's general, Rodriguez and another battle is expected across the border from Douglas.

Democratic congressmen are caucusing in Washington and preparing their program for the opening of congress.

Colonel Roosevelt issued a statement from Oyster Bay, saying he was not a candidate for the presidency and has requested the Nebraska Bull Moosers to take his name off their ticket.

Nineteen dead and eleven miners are missing as a result of a coal mine explosion at Boomer, West Virginia, Tuesday.

Officials of the San Francisco exposition report that the exposition will close with over a million dollars to its credit.

General Villa is planning raids on the border as soon as his army is chased out of Mexico, is the information received by General Funston. If caught he should be turned over to Caranza, who would undoubtedly make him a compulsory member of his "honor" squad.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS PRESENT JEWEL TO MORAN

Past Grand Knight P. J. Moran was somewhat surprised at a banquet given in his honor at the Commercial Cafe Monday night, when presented with a handsome Past Grand Knights jewel by Da Silva Council Knights of Columbus. The presentation speech was made in a happy manner by Father Vabre. When Moran had recovered from his surprise, he was eloquent in his thanks for the testimonial of regard from the members of the order.

There were about twenty-five members of the local council and visiting Knights of Columbus present at the banquet, which was in itself a pleasant feature of the evening.

Talks on the good of the order were made by James L. Byrnes, P. J. Moran, L. W. Quinlan, Ray Babbitt and others.

Mrs. Harry Gray is Improving

Word was received from Harry Gray last week too late for publication in Friday's issue, saying that Mrs. Gray, who had been dangerously ill at their winter home in Phoenix, with an attack of pneumonia had recovered sufficiently to be considered out of danger. Their many friends up north will be pleased to hear of her complete recovery.

Baggage Checks on a Trunk Line

County Attorney C. B. Wilson and Sheriff W. G. Dickinson were in Gallup Tuesday. Neither of them brought home a suit case and there was no delegation to meet them at the train. Just why they went to Gallup over the state line into wet territory neither would divulge, but it is understood they went over to see whether or not some one had not wiped out the state line with a wet sponge. The state line, as of course you all know, is a red line on the map that indicates where different kinds of morals and laws diverge. If a man stood with one foot in Arizona and one foot in New Mexico, and in that position, disposed of spirituous liquor, he could be partially arrested for it, all of which positively indicates that when you are half way up and half way down, you may not be square or half way round. The Santa Fe is a trunk line but beware of your baggage checks.

Popular Young Couple Wedded

Mr. Baxter B. Brandon, cashier of the Citizens bank, was married to Miss Alberta Proctor at the home of the bride in Oakland, California, last Wednesday evening, October 24th. The ceremony was an elaborate one which took place in a room magnificently arranged with floral decorations.

The young couple arrived in Flagstaff from San Francisco Sunday morning and will make this their home.

Both of the young people are well known and popular with the young people of Flagstaff, who welcomed them home with many active demonstrations of their high regard and esteem, which is placing the matter before the public in a most conservative manner.

VICTIM OF DRUG HABIT SUICIDES AT WINSLOW

Wm. De Brue, a character familiar about town for several years past, wearied of life, ended his existence some time Monday night. He was last seen alive at his little shack in the east part of the city, where he lived alone, last Monday night, and no signs of life appearing about the place for a couple of days, the neighbors grew suspicious Wednesday night and called in Night Marshal Harp. The officer found the house securely fastened, and gained admission by breaking in the door, when he found the body of the unfortunate man lying across the bed, with a revolver still clutched tight in his hand. He had evidently placed the weapon in his mouth to make his ending sure, and the force of the bullet had torn away nearly the whole top of his head. The body was removed to the undertaking parlor of W. A. Parr, as it was so clearly a case of suicide no inquest was deemed necessary.

DeBrue had been a victim of the drug habit, and eked out a precarious existence doing odd jobs about town. He has no relatives so far as known, and a search of his quarters failed to reveal any clew.—Winslow Mail.

COCONINO CATTLE MEN HOLD ANNUAL SESSION

The annual meeting of the Coconino Cattle Growers Association was held in Flagstaff, at the Court House, and while, owing to late shipping conditions this year, the attendance was not as large as could have been desired, still, the meeting was in every way very successful.

Among the various questions brought up before the Association and discussed was the matter of proposed changes on the Coconino and Tusayan National Forests, relative to changes in sheep and cattle allotments, on account of alleged injury to reproduction on the forest, and for other reasons concerning the forest administration, it was finally decided that this Association go on record as favoring a direct cut instead of moving stock from one part of the forest to another. The cut under contemplation by the forest service would be approximately 400 head of cattle and 2,000 head of sheep.

The question of issuing of permits by the Forest Service to outside parties for the purpose of allowing them to water their stock on the borders of the reserve on winter ranges used by regular permittees, was discussed, and a protest against the policy was forwarded to the Forest Supervisor at Williams.

The following officers were elected by the Association for the coming year.

T. E. Frier, President.
Martin Buggelin, Vice President.
H. B. Emback, Secretary.

Babbitt Big Building Near Completion

The concrete and brick work of Babbitt Bros. big three story garage has been practically completed and the interior work is now being done. Cement pilasters are up five stories over the four story elevator shaft, where the big water tank for the automatic fire system will be placed as soon as it can be moved from the old store building. The top of this big tank will reach up six stories or more in the air, where powerful pressure will be brought to bear in case the fire plugs anywhere in their building are melted out by fire.

When the building has been completely covered with cement it will be one of the best and largest buildings of the kind in the state.

ARIZONA GUARD WOULD STRIKE ON STRIKE DUTY

That the Arizona National Guard would not respond if again called to do strike duty at Clifton and Morenci is the general belief of officers and men of the organization, who base their opinion on the fact that the members of the guard have been compelled to serve without pay.

Widespread discontent followed the return of the guard from the strike district, where the men were kept in idleness for weeks. It was then announced that there were no funds out of which to pay the men for their service. Officers in close touch with the situation state that it would be extremely difficult to get the men together for anything but a fire, and that the officers, themselves discouraged and disheartened, would have a hard time with their commands. Even should the guardsmen be assembled, they admit, it is considered doubtful whether they would entrain for several weeks service without any hope of receiving pay.

The muddle over the status of certain sections of the appropriation bill, which was vetoed by Gov. Hunt last spring resulted in the refusal on the part of the auditor to honor the claims presented for the national guard until after the matter had been passed upon by the supreme court, where the case is now pending. Under the statutes the case cannot be set for argument before Dec. 9, and may not be decided for several months, in the meantime, should the rioting at Clifton grow more serious, it is believed that United States troops will be ordered to the district.

Little One Suddenly Called

The seventeen months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. John Sheehan died Tuesday suddenly as a result of a spasm. The little one was apparently in good health the day previous. The grieving parents of the little one so suddenly called have the sympathy of many friends in their loss. The funeral services will be held at the Catholic church at 10 o'clock today.

FORMER RESIDENT NOW HOLDS HIGH ARMY RANK

The following is taken from "The Aeroplane" an English publication and concerns a first cousin of Stanley Sykes, who was a resident of Flagstaff about eighteen years ago, previous to his having joined the English army. It would seem that Colonel Sykes had remarkable ability to climb up so fast.

The "Gazette" of September 21st notes the appointment of Mayor and Brevet Lieut.-Colonel F. H. Sykes, 15th Hussars, and a Wing Commander Royal Flying Corps, to be, first of all, Colonel Second Commandant Royal Marines, and then to be a Wing Captain Royal Naval Air Service in command of Air Service units. The appointment is one of the most complicated arrangements one has seen, even in this extraordinary war. On Service seniority Colonel (or Captain) Sykes is a cavalry major, on special promotion he is a brevet lieut.-colonel of the R. F. C., and on his active service grading he is a post captain in the Navy—ranking with and before a full colonel in the Army—and he is a colonel of Marines at the same time. Being temporarily a Marine his correct title is presumably "Colonel," as all Marine officers in the R. N. A. S. use their military and not their naval titles.

Colonel Sykes was Officer Commanding R. F. C. in its early days when it was controlled by General Henderson as Director of Military Training and before the Department of Military Aeronautics came into being. In this capacity he did an enormous amount of organizing of high value, and his extraordinary capacity for work enabled him to get the Corps into something like a working system long before there were sufficient aeroplanes to make it an effective force. The system he then instituted has stood the crucial test of indefinite expansion admirably.

During the earlier part of the war, when General Henderson took personal command of the R. F. C. in the field, Colonel Sykes was on the Staff and did not command any section of the force he had done so much to build up. His new appointment seems to indicate that he takes command of shore-going units of the R. N. A. S.—and possibly of seaplanes co-operating with land machines—in some part of the world other than Flanders.

Undersheriff Tom Eakins resigned his duties with the sheriff's office which took effect December 1st and Frank L. Dickinson was appointed Undersheriff in his place. Eakins has been appointed state stock inspector by the state sanitary board to have charge of the Northern counties with an increase of salary and entered on his duties December 1st. Mr. Eakins is an expert cattleman and is probably one of the best posted men on brands in this section of the country.

QUIET WEDDING OF A POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE

Miss Ruby Harriet Bayless became the charming bride of Mr. John Zalaha at the home of the bride on West Aspen avenue at 10:30 Wednesday morning, Rev. Thomas Hamby of the First M. E. church performing the ceremony that united their lives as one. The wedding was a quiet one with only immediate members of the family present.

The happy young couple sans a multitude of friends they did not wish to meet just then, boarded No. 9 for Los Angeles and will spend their honeymoon on the coast.

Their "at home" cards read that they will be at home in Flagstaff after February first, which means that by that time the splendid new bungalow in the new residence section of the city, will be completed and furnished ready for occupancy by the Zalahas.

The new Mrs. Zalaha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Norris Baty, a bright vivacious young lady who has spent the greater part of her life in Flagstaff, a graduate of the Northern Ariz. Normal school, she was also a successful teacher until Cupid interfered and took her from the ranks of that profession, though she did not grace the profession long.

Mr. Zalaha has not been on earth so many years, but each one of the years have been made to count for something. He was discovered first by T. E. Pollock at Williams when engaged as a most competent clerk in the U. S. Forest Service, and it is pretty generally conceded that when he finds a man, the man is not discovered on account of the height of his collar or the color of his neckties. He is rapidly becoming a business man to be reckoned with in coming years in the business life of Flagstaff. He is secretary of a number of large and prosperous live stock companies and is owner of a goodly bunch of cattle of his own. Worth and merit are his strong points and they lead to success.

The Sun is pleased to promise them many years of prosperity and happiness, as do their many friends in Flagstaff, who will endeavor undoubtedly to convince them of their interest when they return to Flagstaff.

Ptomaine Poisoning of Family

Section Foreman A. P. Jump, his wife, three children and Miss Elsie Anderson who is boarding with the family and teaching school at Rior-dan, were taken violently ill the latter part of last week with what was apparently ptomaine poisoning, thought to have been caused by canned goods though Dr. Sult who attended them was unable to trace the cause to its origin for a certainty.

The entire family had a bad siege for several days though fortunately there was no fatal results.

Pipe Line From Lake Mary

A survey will be made by the Santa Fe from Lake Mary through Walnut canyon to the railroad for a gravity pipe line that will carry the overflow from the lake to the railroad.

NIGHT FIRE WIPES OUT A SMALL RESIDENCE

The new auto chemical fire truck was initiated into the society for the prevention of fires in Flagstaff last Tuesday night, when the small residence of T. T. Allen burned on Grand Canyon avenue.

Jack Huff has been making his home there and was awakened by his wife at a little after 11 o'clock, who advised him that the house was on fire. Jack made an attempt to re-enter the burning building to secure some effects, but was compelled to crawl out on the floor after receiving a bad singing from the flames. No one knows what caused the fire as the cook stove had not been used by them that evening.

The auto fire truck was a few minutes late in getting there as the night watchman at the garage where it is kept did not want it taken out without due authority and proper care. However it arrived on the scene and was ready for action, though the building was practically destroyed before the alarm was turned in.

Mr. Huff lost nearly all their personal belongings in the fire.

WILL ORDER A GOOD ROADS BOND ELECTION

The board of supervisors will meet next Monday and from the general personal sentiment of the members of the board, a bond election will be put up to the people on the original proposition of issuing $200,000 bonds for completing the east and west road through the county next year. A majority of the members of the board of supervisors believe that the recommendations made by the committee, whom the people asked them to appoint to go into the subject, should be acted upon by the people at large in the county.

It is unquestionably the right thing to do. If we are to have good roads it is a certainty that they can not be built under the present system. Generations to come should pay a part of their share for the roads that are handed down by the pioneers. The question only remains to handle the money received from bonds in the best possible interest of the people at large.

The supervisors are willing to accept the committee arrangements, believing that if the east and west road is cared for financially, the roads leading into it from the north and south can be taken care of by the general road fund and more can be accomplished in a year by that method than in years to come by scattering money over all the 1300 miles they are compelled to look after. The idea is correct and should work out to the benefit of all concerned.

Mr. King was a veteran of the civil war and participated in the battles of Gettysburg and Lookout Mountain. Just a few years ago he attended the meeting of veterans on the old Gettysburg battle field.

RELIC OF PIONEER DAYS FOUND BY SHERIFF

While Sheriff Harry Wheeler was in the Apache Pass country this week rounding up bootleggers, he mounted a small hill just out of the pass to take a survey of the surrounding country thinking he might get his eye on some of the "booze" men, whom he later caught at Cochise. While on the mound he discovered a little rock fortification on the inside of which he found dozens of old rim fire shells and on scratching around found the skull and several bones of a skeleton. It is believed that it was probably an Indian who made his last stand there against either Uncle Sam's soldiers or cowboys, in the early days.—Tombstone Prospector.

Jack Crabb, manager of the D. K. outfit was in the city this week from the Valley attending the annual meeting of the Coconino Cattle Growers Association.
