Be Careful What You Say.

In speaking of a person's ways, Pray don't forget your own; Remember those with homes of glass Should seldom throw a stone. If we have nothing else to do, Then talk of those who win, 'Tis better to commence at home, And from that point begin.

We have no right to judge a man Until he's fairly tried; Should we not like his company, We know the world is wide. Some may have faults—and who has The old as well as young; 'Tis not Perhaps we may, for aught we know, Have fifty to their one.

I'll tell you of a better plan, And find it works full well, To try my own defects to cure, Ere other's faults I tell. And though I sometimes hope to be No worse than some I know, My own shortcomings bid me let The faults of others go.

Then let us all when we begin, To slander friend or foe, Think of the harm one word may do To those who little know. Remember curses, sometimes like Our chickens roost at home; Don't speak of other's faults until We have none of our own.

ARIZONA ITEMS.

The Citizen says: Mr W. R. Morley and a party of surveyors have arrived in Florence. Mr. Morley is engineer for the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company, and his business in Arizona at this time is to determine upon the most feasible route for that road from Albuquerque, N. M., to Florence or Tucson, Arizona. The party came in by way of Railroad Pass and Arivaipa Canyon. Work on that road will be continued until the road forms a junction with the Southern Pacific. The track is now being laid over the Raton mountains. A tunnel will be built through this mountain, but in the meantime a track will be laid over the mountain with a grade of 374 feet to the mile, and the work on the New Mexico side will continue with all possible speed. The contracts for grading and building are let out as far as Las Vegas, and the line is determined upon as far as Albuquerque on the Rio Grande. Mr. Morley thinks the road will be built to the Arizona line within two years. His business in our Territory at the present time is to examine and survey the various routes so that the company may determine upon the most advantageous line. The location of the road, however, will depend somewhat upon the course of the Southern Pacific. If it goes to Tucson the eastern road will go there also, unless the California Company meet them beyond. If the Southern Pacific stops at Maricopa Wells, the eastern road may come through Railroad Pass, down Arivaipa Canyon and along the Gila to Florence.

The following military orders have been lately issued from the headquarters: The following named enlisted men are relieved from extra duty in the quartermaster's department at Whipple Depot, and report for duty as follows: Privates Charles W. Eads and Daniel Keating, Company K, Sixth Cavalry, to the commanding officer at Fort Whipple. Privates John T. Riley and Charles Jordan, Company A, Twelfth Infantry, to their Company commander.

The Depot Quartermaster Yuma Depot is, in addition to his other duties, appointed Disbursing Officer for the settlement of railway, river, stage and wagon transportation accounts for this Department.

Captain W. P. Martin, M. S. K., is assigned to duty at Camp Lowell as Depot Quartermaster, and Disbursing Officer for payment of accounts pertaining to the quartermaster's department for Tucson District; also as shipping quartermaster for the trans-shipment of stores from that point to other points in Southern Arizona.

Star: J. H. Adams and Cornelius Finley were murdered by highwaymen near Barrel Springs, in Davidson's canyon, about thirty-five miles from Tucson, on Monday, Sept. 2. Mr. Adams was ex-sheriff of Santa Clara county, California, a resident of Jan Jose. He was 58 years of age. Cornelius Finley was a resident of the same place, and an ex-county clerk of that county. These gentlemen were coming from the Washington mine, in the Patagonia district, toward Tucson, and when in the canyon at the point designated, where the huge rocks come down close to the road, they were fired upon by parties concealed in the rocks. Mr. Finley was shot directly through the heart, the ball passing through and coming out on the other side of his body. He leaves a wife and three children in San Jose.

Do not forget the store on the west side of the Plaza with the sign

E. IRVINE & CO.

Ex-Governor Safford has arrived in Tucson and been interviewed by a Star reporter. He says: "The building of a railroad into the Territory will have a wonderful stimulating effect in bringing capital and people to the Territory. That thousands would come here with means to invest if they could get here speedily and comfortably; besides, the increased facility and cheaper cost of getting goods into the Territory as well as getting ores and bullion out of it, will greatly enhance the value of the mines and will cause hundreds to pay the ore of which is now practically valueless. The directors of the Southern Pacific informed the Governor a few days ago, that it is the intention of the company to continue the construction of said road east from Yuma as soon as the weather becomes a little cooler and iron now enroute from New York arrives, and that it is not improbable that the road will be extended to Tucson before the close of another year."

Upon leaving Florence the Citizen gives it this send-off: Mineral districts build their own towns, and the mining interests will only benefit Florence indirectly unless ledges are discovered nearer town, but the agricultural resources of Florence are and will be her abiding support. The amount of arable land is being annually increased. New canals are being dug, and other improvements for irrigation are in progress. The last three or four seasons have been unusually dry, and yet an average of 3,000,000 pounds of grain has been raised in this vicinity each year. With a usual amount of rain two crops can be grown each season, and the annual produce largely increased. Notwithstanding the dry years Florence has had a fair and steady trade. Buildings have been going up gradually, but constantly. We believe Florence will increase gradually in size, and if the railroad passes through it its commanding importance will at once be manifest.

Star: We hope that the present is the last feast of San Augustine that the Common Council will sanction by the sale of ground for that purpose. It brings nothing but crime and murder. It is attraction for every thief and murderer that infests our country and Sonora. It is a gambling hell without limit; and no good can come of it. Under the cloak of religion it has been celebrated, and that beyond the confines of the church. A Saint's anniversary belongs to the church, alone. Let it be recognized within the church only. The occasion is so conducted that it is a disgrace to our city, and we hope that the end has now come. If the patron saint could see how his memory is observed, he would blush with shame. In what respect can it be termed a feast?

Sentinel: The Hackberry mine is in good luck, and is, in itself enough to keep northern Mohave county braced up until all her other mines get to turning out bullion. The lowest level on the north incline already shows, north, over 100 feet of ore that pulps $120 as it comes to dump, averaging four and a half feet in width; and south over 180 feet of the same, averaging two and a half feet width. This ore body has already a slope of over eighty feet above that level, and the incline is down sixty feet in the same stuff. This ore has rather more line than that of other parts of the mine, and makes finer bullion; late meltings of it have gone as high as 750 to 780 fine. Hackberry was pretty solid even before this last development.

Sentinel: Mexican "Independence Day," September 16, is to be celebrated in great style at Castle Dome Landing. Over $300 have been collected, in cash; booths have been erected; music engaged; and general invitations sent over the country.

Detective Evans has returned to Tucson after a three weeks trip in Sonora in pursuit of stage robbers. He was unsuccessful.

Chief Justice French was in Los Angeles at last accounts, en route for this Territory

Lord & Williams, Tucson, are agents for the Gardner mill, in the Santa Rita.

The principal streets of the city of Tucson are now lighted with street lamps.

A ten-stamp mill will shortly be erected in Prescott. It will do custom work.

The attendance at the feast, Tucson, is larger than for several years past.

Miner: J. M. Stokes, a well known sheep owner, started with his wife, a few mornings since, to their home at Walker's Lake, near San Francisco mountain, in a traveling carriage outfit. At the crossing of Granite creek, below Fort Whipple, the team balked and turned the carriage over in the stream. Mr. Stokes was caught under the vehicle and held under the water until he was drowned. Mrs. Stokes narrowly escaped with her life being in the water for a considerable length of time before any one came to her assistance.

The Sentinel, a paper that devotes much attention to mining matters in Mohave county, says that it is almost certain that a ten-stamp quartz mill, with a Howell & Pender roaster, will be put up near Free's Wash this fall. The Dean and other mines have been developed enough to show cause. It is also rumored that a similar mill and roaster will be put up near Mineral Park. A well known mill builder has carefully examined that country and says that he would be perfectly willing to put up a mill there on the prospects that he has seen.

When the Expositor, of Yuma, was obliged to issue its paper on a half sheet a few weeks since, the reason given was that the editor was drunk, no beating about the bush, but when the Sentinel comes out half its usual size, it puts it in this manner: "A number of causes entirely beyond control have made it impossible for us to get out a full paper this week."

Sentinel: Gen. Stewart, U. S. Engineer officer, who went up to the Mohave to examine the Colorado river, is favorably impressed with the practicability of improving the channel of the river at moderate cost. Congress has appropriated $5,000 for preliminary surveys and reports. Gen. Stewart will send a party down here at an early day.

Expositor: "The charge made that the Enterprise has been subsidized by Mr. Campbell was founded upon the simple fact that the job material was shipped to Campbell from San Francisco."

J. H. Mahony, post-office detective, is in Tucson.

LETTER FROM PICKET POST.

REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HERALD.

PICKET POST, Sept. 1, 1878.

"When in the course of human events it becomes necessary" to write a letter for publication in a newspaper, a decent respect for the "elevated tastes of mankind" requires that the writer should have something of importance to communicate. Picket Post is still tending upward. Ground has been broken and the walls are going up of a new store, to be occupied by a California firm. Three mills are running twenty stamps in active operation, crushing rich ores, which in a concentrated form is shipped to Frisco. Ground has been procured for another mill to be erected at an early day. Yet money is scarce and "King orders" are exceedingly popular. With their hands are paid and the necessities of life purchased. Since it has become a well known fact that very rich silver ores exist in great quantities near this point, why should not works be established here for the reduction of ores into bullion. This would give employment to a large number of hands and thus benefit Arizona as well as San Francisco. We have heard no complaint of want of rain during the past fifteen days. The thirsty earth has been blest with abundant showers. Grass is springing up everywhere like magic; stock is happy and the stock man smiles. No more rushing for miles to water with parched tongues. But great benefits seldom occur without some drawbacks. So in this case. "Dobies" did not prove equal to the emergency. The roofs of residences and stores proved but little barrier to the torrents from the clouds. Result—a great rushing to and fro, soiled garments, spoiled provisions, and men, women and children seeking shelter. The store of Messrs. Mason & Benson and one saloon were thoroughly deluged, many goods being destroyed. Messrs. Mason & Benson being heavily through their cellar, which was filled with merchandise and liquors, becoming full of water. I understand a saloon at the King mine met with a similar fate. Just the effect water would have upon whiskey, in the premises the deponent sayeth not, but I have heard that water does not detract from its intrinsic value. In the mean time we are all sorry for actual losses sustained.
