There had been no rain on Dancing Branch for nearly two months.

He said one and some om interviews were obtained yesterday are times two of the officers came to the shops every day except Sunday. They came very tarely at night until after the investigation began. The work proceeded night and day. He remembered only once when a naval officer, Lieut. Cowles, came to the shops after 6 p. m. They were there most of the time from 9 to 4.

Chairman Cummings asked Corey if he traw that the workings presented a testimo-

Board of Trade Publicly Discusses the Pending Bill.

CONGRESS IS ASKED TO PASS IT

Members Unanimously Vote Upon the Question-Importance and Necessity of the Improvement-Health of the City Considered-Earnest and Elequent Speakers.

had been heard, by a unanimous vote the board of trade resolved vesterday to ask Congress to pass the bill now pending authorizing the issue by the District of $7,500,000 of 3 per cent, bonds for the purpose of perfecting and extending the system of sewers and streets in the city of Washington and District of Columbia. Those present were Messrs. J. P. Agnew, George A. Arms, W. A. Ballinger, Barnes Weaver, W. D. Cabell, Lewis Clephane, W. C. Clephane, H. L. Cranford, F. L. Dieudonne, W. C. Dodge, E. F. Warner, Henry Weils, Asa Whitehead, J. B. Wright, W. A. Wimsatt and A. S. Worthington, There was also present a large number of prominent citizens, who insteaded with deep of prominent criticens, who instence with deep interest to the proceedings.

President Warner in a few opening remarks referred to the purpose of the bill. It was for the benefit of all classes, and appealed to the public spirit of all clitizens. Years ago the city got along very well without sewers, and depended on the wells for water support, but depended on the wells for water supply, but at this line the city has outgrown these con-at this line the city has outgrown these conditions.

A. M. Read, chairman of the committee on sewers, then explained the bill by the aid of two maps which hang on the wall. One showed the present system and the other the extension proposed in the bill. He pointed out how the present system deposited by twenty-two outlets in the water along the river iront the filth of the city endangering the health of the city. The highest rate of death from typhoid and malarial fevers prevails in the homes of the poor people. The new system proposed intercepting sewers rom typnoid and maisrial revers pro-rails in the homes of the poor people. The new system proposed intercepting sewers which would carry all the sewerage to the foot of New Jersey avenue, then pumped across the Eastern branch and piped across to the city three miles below the city, where it would be deposited.

The bill calls for an expenditure of $3,350, 000 for extension of the city sewers, making an annual charge for interest of $170,000, or 68 cents per capita. The new system is expected to last until 1940, when the increased population, which it is estimated will reach 550,000 would demand another and greater system. Mr. Read then read a statement of the amount expended in the various large cities of the world for sewer improvements, from which it appeared that Washington was at the bottom of the list. He said that Congress last year appropriated only $50,000 for sewer work, and at this rate it would take over fifty years to complete the system, by which time it would be necessary to do other and more extensive work.

Mr. Read maintained with much force and vigor that the whole system to be of any value must be completed at once, and all parts together. He said Washington is a beautiful city, but it is not healthy, and hundreds of people are dying annually from prevenable diseases. In conclusion, he said that an eminent medical authority has declared that for every person who dies of typhoid fever pected to last until 1940, when the increased

He said that the bill under consideration placed $1,000,000 in the hands of the Com-missioners for the suburban sewer work but they are not required to expend it according to any well-defined plan, and it is left wholly to their discretion and honesty.

MR. HOLBROOK'S APPEAL. "I appeal to you," said he, "that if the board of trade recognizes the bill in its present form the day will come when our children will curse us for having tied around their necks a millstone of debt for which they will receive no adequate returns,"

He reterred to the changes made in the composition of the Board of Commissioners. composition of the Board of Commissioners, particularly to the frequent detailing of an engineer Commissioner, and he asked "How do we know but what each succeeding engineer Commissioner would deviate from the plan of his predecessors, following his own, without intimate knowledge of the conditions existing and not for the best interests of the city." He claimed to represent not only his own views but those of four other members of the board of trade, who also belong to the Washinston. of trade, who also belong to the Washington brick exchange. He urged the adoption of resolutions passed by the latter body to be submitted to Congress as amendments to the present bill to effect first, that no portion of the item of $1,000,000 shall be extended until the schedule of work be done of the estimated the schedule of work codons of the estimated cost is submitted to Congress; and, second, that no part of the item of $3,500,000 amount is to be expended in experiments. In short, he wanted Congress to so define the work to be done so that if in the future any engineer Commissioner is transferred to other fields. his successor must adhere to the original

A few days later on the news flew up and down Dancing Branch that Prof. Drydapper, the famous government expert, was about to visit that region in order to test some of his peculiar theories in regard to producing rain by artificial means. The professor, it was said, had recently been designing the people of southern and western Texas, and now proposed to show the folks in middle Goorgia how to bamboozia nature into tears with a few chemicals artistically applied.

"By mighty, sir!" quoth the captain, "I don't believe the man can construct a decent sprinkle."

don't believe the man can construct a decent sprinkle."

But the more he looked at his shriveling corn and cotton the less skeptical he grew. Presently it was announced that Prof. Drydapper would make his first bow—so to speak—before a Dancing Branch audience on Capt. Twitchell's farm.

About that time Nisby received a letter by special messenger and furtively conveyed that seemed to put her in high good humor. She would explain nothing to anybody, but went about the house as chirping and frisky as a squifrel in nutting time. Previously she had been rather moody and preoccupied.

"Can't see what's come over the girl,"

STREET EXTENSION SUPPORTED. R. Ross Perry spoke next, and urged the adoption of the whole bill. But he especially favored the street extension section. The sewers would come afterward. It was neces-sary to have the streets extended first and then lay the big sewers in the streets, and not have to put them under houses and in back yards. The sewers would have to be arranged with respect to the streets, and if they are put under houses the buildings cannot be taken down every time it is desired to repair the sewer. He urged the board to be united in this matter and lay aside all personnilities. Col. A. S. Worthington said he had helped prepare the bill. He thought it was a dis-grace to the city that the suburban streets in many instances were not in a line with the prepare the bili. He thought it was a disgrace to the city that the suburban streets in many instances were not in a line with the city streets. The Commissioners should be given authority to institute condemnation proceedings in order to extend the streets whenever that extension was to be of public behefit, and let them conform to the city streets, so that all the thoroughfares would be in conformity with the general plan. He offered the following resolution as a substitute to the bill under consideration:

"Hesolved, That the board of trade heartily indorse the proposition to issue bonds to the amount of $7,500,000 to raise funds necessary to complete the sewerage system of the District, in accordance with the plans recommended in 1890 by the beard of sanitary engineers, and also for urban and suburban street extension and improvement of plans, and for extending the same in harmony with the present city streets and avenues, shall be approved; and further

"Resolved, That proportionate contributions by the national government toward all of these improvements without exception is a vital feature of the proposed legislation."

This was unanimously adopted, and then C. C. Glover made a few remarks in reference to the bill as it affects the sewer system. He said one-half of the cost would be paid by and urged the adoption of the bill. MONEY SPENT IN THE SUBURDS President Warner spoke briefly of the improvements which are being made in the suburbs. He said there was more money spent there by private individuals in the improvement of streets than in the city proper by the government. Two hundred thousand dollars had been spent by the Biss syndicate around Anacostia, $300,000 had been spent in improving Eck-ington, and many thousands more were being invested continually in other subtries. He urged the adoption of the bill, saying the better sewerage and streets there are the better sowerage and streets there are the more the population will increase.

J. J. Edson also spoke in favor of the measure, and urged the members to be united in their demand upon Congress, and then they would get the legislation asked for.

W. H. Moses favored the bill.

A vote was then taken. A resolution of thanks to Col. Staples for the use of the hall was passed, and the meeting adjourned.

An interesting report is being prepared by Health Officer Hammett relative to the saultary condition of the city. Statistics of the sanitary arrangements of houses in the differerent localities during the last year are being compiled in tabulated form from the resuits of a house-to-house inspection, and will be submitted to the Commissioners in about scare, Dr. Hammett is also drawing up a statement, in which he will show where the statement, in which he will show where the wells and pumps are situated, and just what proportion of the people in the vicinity of these pumps have been affected with the fever. In conversation with a Times reporter last evening, Dr. Hammett denied the report that he had ever stated that it was Potomae water and not well water that has caused so much sickness. "I cannot," he said, "positively make a comparison of the deaths from typhoid fever as resulting from drinking Potomae water or the use of pump water, as my investigation has not been carried far enough. A house-to-house inspection must be made, in vestigation has not open carried lar chough.

Deficit of Seventy-Three Millions. The eash balance in the Treasury at the close of business yesterday was $115,231,-520, of which $66,303,815 was gold reserve. The withdrawals from the subtreasury at The withdrawais from the subtreasury at New York yesterday aggregated $1,475,000, of which $225,000 was for shipment to Canada. This leaves the true amount of the reserve $44,828,815. The expenditures of the government during the twenty-nine days of the present month were only $2,501,000 in excess of the receipts, which leaves the defleit for the year to date $73,003,159. During to-day, the last day of the fiscal year, it will probably be reduced to between $72,500,000 and $73,000,000.

Appropriations Resolutions Passed. Mr. Cockrell, chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, proceeded yesterday to steal a march on Mr. Hoar, who manifested a disposition Thursday to fight the joint resolu-tion continuing the annual appropriations thirty days after June 30. Mr. Hoar was not present, and without a word of protest Mr. Cockrell steered the resolution through its parliamentary stages and had it adopted.
