An Infernal Machine.

The other morning two gentlemen were looking out of the window of a house on Abbott street, when they observed a cabbage roll of a market wagon that was passing. Instantly one of them began to yell and apparently sane persons began yelling after the wagon, as though the vegetable had been a gold watch or a thousand-dollar bill. The driver stopped about half a square off, looked back at the cabbage, yawned, and drove on.

"What an absurd fuss people in the street make over trivial occurrences," said one of the gentlemen. "Now, I'll bet a silk hat I can get a crowd of 500 persons around that cabbage inside of thirty minutes, and not leave this room."

"I'll take the bet," said his friend, pulling out his watch. "Are you ready?"

"Yes; give the word."

"It is now 11:30. Go!"

The proposer of the wager led his friend to the window, threw up the sash, and, taking a cane, pointed earnestly to the mud-covered cabbage with a terrified expression.

Presently a hackdriver noticed the action and began to stare at the crowd in the curbstone, then a bootblack stopped, then a billposter, a message boy, and a merchant.

"What's the matter?" inquired a policeman, approaching the innocent basis of his national dish.

"Don't touch it! Look out there! Stand back!" shouted the gentleman at the window.

At his heroic gesture the crowd fell back precipitately, and formed a dense circle around the innocent cabbage. Hundreds came running up, and the excitement increased rapidly.

"Look out there!" frantically screamed the lawyer, waving his cane. "Take that dog away quick!"

Several stones were thrown at a cur that was snuffing around the cabbage.

"Take care!" said a spectator to a policeman who was shouldering his way through the mass. "It's an infernal machine, nitroglycerine, or something."

Meanwhile the sidewalk was blocked, the street became impassable, women screamed and rushed into the shops, and a stockbroker underneath began to tie a bucket on the end of a long pole, with which to pour water on the devilish invention.

The crowd by this time numbering over a thousand, the two gentlemen moved away from the window and sat down. In a few minutes there was a hurried tap at the door, and the two gentlemen stepped out, each as a delegate from the mass meeting outside.

"I should like to know, gentlemen," he said, "what the facts are?"

"What facts?"

"Why, what there is peculiar about that cabbage out there?"

"Nothing in the world," was the soft reply, "except that it is supposed to be carried by about a thousand of the biggest fools in town. Can I do anything else for you?"

The man reflected a moment, said "guessed not," and retired.

We are wearing that hat now.—Rochester Herald.

MRS. FIELD'S GOOD FORTUNE

Relieved of the Horrors of Epilepsy After Long Suffering.

Mrs. Cora Field was a sufferer from epilepsy for years. This estimable lady is the wife of Mr. Joseph Field, formerly Proprietor of the lodging house at 1027 Ninth street northwest, but at present employed by the government as watchman at Judiciary Park. Mr. and Mrs. Field now reside at 414 First street northeast.

For six years my husband has any nothing but spend money on me for doctors," said Mrs. Field, "but none of them did me any good. We tried doctor after doctor, and all the patent medicines that were represented to be good for my trouble, but in spite of everything I continued to get worse. As a last resort my husband took me to Dr. Walker. His treatment had an immediate and wonderful effect. I have been steadily improving since the day I went to him. Previous to that time I had from six to a dozen spasms a day, and was formerly confined to my bed most of the time. Now I can walk about the streets unaided, and am happily conscious that my troubles are rapidly diminishing and passing away. Dr. Walker has won for me my case, and I cannot speak too highly of him. I only hope my experience will be the means of directing other sufferers to him. Mrs. Cora Field."

I, Joseph Field, do certify that the foregoing is true in every particular.

JOSEPH FIELD,
Sworn to and subscribed before me this 15th day of October, 1894.

WALTER A. BROWN,
Notary Public.

(Seal.) This is but a sample of many cases that might be cited, showing Dr. Walker's remarkable success in the treatment of all disorders of the brain and nervous system, disease of the skin and blood, catarrh, asthma, consumption, malaria, rheumatism, dyspepsia, gonorrhea, hemorrhoids, diseases of women, loss of vitality, sexual weakness and all affections of the lungs, throat, heart, liver, stomach, kidneys, bladder, bowels, and other organs.

Young or middle-aged men suffering from the effects of their own follies, vices or excesses, or men contemplating marriage who are conscious of any impediment, such as indigestion, or those who feel their youthful vigor and power declining should consult Dr. Walker, who has been the means of restoring hundreds of such unfortunate to health, strength, and happiness.

Dr. Walker may be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter. His well-known sanitarium, at 1411 Pennsylvania avenue, adjoining Willard's Hotel, is open daily for consultation and treatment. Office hours, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Wednesday and Saturday evenings, 7 to 9 p. m.; 10 to 12.

Charges for treatment very low.

All interviews and correspondence sacredly confidential. No cases made public without consent of patients.

It sells for 60 cents a pound—not at the grocery stores—but at the stores of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company. There are 225 of these stores in the United States—FOUR of them right here in Washington—not including our stands in the markets—five in all. We pay PARTICULAR attention to the roasting and pulverizing and BLENDING of coffees. There is no coffee in the wide world that compares with our mixture of Java and Mocha—33, 35, and 38 cents a pound. But to come back again to the SPECIAL PRESENTS. Here's just a glimpse of what we are going to give away this week with one pound of Thea-Nectar Tea at 60 cents a pound, or one pound of A. & P. baking powder at 45 cents a pound. Take your choice: Gold band cups, saucers, and plates, knife boxes, decorated eight-inch meat platters, glass sugar bowls, glass butter dishes, and cologne bottles, berry dishes, beautiful rose bowls, decorated snuff-pods, bric-a-brac, and a host of other articles too numerous to mention. These presents may be had at our main store and all branches.
